RE: David Valadao

The following report contains research on David Valadao, a Republican candidate for California’s 22nd Congressional District.

The Democratic Congressional Campaign Committee’s Research Department conducted research for this book between December 2021 and March 2022.

We examined thousands of news articles, public documents, campaign contributions and other materials in the preparation of this report.

As this document is meant to help develop a specific narrative about its subject’s career, we have intentionally and unintentionally left out certain material. Consequently, you may need to explore further certain omissions or areas.

We have made significant effort to ensure the accuracy of this report. However, before using the materials contained in this report for use in any public forum, always double-check the facts to verify your claims.

The DCCC Research Department is available at all times to assist in such fact-checking efforts.

For Further Information

We encourage questions, comments or requests for further information about this report.

If there is information missing that we should include, further information necessary on an issue or topic, or something that doesn’t appear to be correct, let us know and we’ll do our best to track it down, and if necessary, correct it.

Key Findings

David Valadao’s Farms Were Dangerous For Workers, Consumers, And The Environment

Despite paying Valadao millions, Valadao’s farm business failed to pay workers, vendors, and filed for bankruptcy. From 2012 to 2017, Valadao received up to $60 million in unearned income from Valadao Dairy and Triple V Dairy. Meanwhile, Triple V Dairy was seized by a bank after it failed to repay about $8.3 million in loans and was sued by Land O’ Lakes for nearly $800,000 in unpaid debts. Triple V Dairy agreed to pay a $325,000 settlement for wage theft, but the company ultimately did not pay because of bankruptcy proceedings. In another lawsuit, Valadao and Triple V Cattle were accused of malicious intent for failing to pay for over $1 million in animal products.

Valadao’s farm business was responsible for a worker losing a hand in an accident, for which the farm was fined thousands of dollars. An employee of Valadao Dairy fell onto a blade while cleaning a manure separator, severing his right arm below the elbow. Valadao’s business did not provide a guardrail to prevent the accident or proper training. The business was found primarily responsible for the accident and was fined over $6,000 by CalOSHA.

Valadao’s farm business had seven food safety violations, which could have led to serious health complications, like ulcers and kidney problems, and dangerous drug-resistant superbugs. Triple V Dairy had four safety violations for their cattle containing substances associated with ulcers, serious kidney problems, and hearing problems. Valadao Dairy had three safety violations, including a finding that its cows exceeded limits for penicillin, which could cause consumers to develop resistance to antibiotics, and cause the spread of “dangerous drug-resistant superbugs.” Valadao’s farm business also supplied cattle to a company that was repeatedly forced to stop its operations for unsanitary conditions and suspected plastic in its meat.

Valadao’s business was bad for the environment. For over a decade, Triple V Dairy and Valadao Dairy potentially contaminated groundwater, failed to submit proper documentation, and were flagged for unsafe water by the Central Valley Regional Water Quality Control Board.

Valadao’s campaigns were fueled by the same pesticide manufacturers that made chlorpyrifos, a dangerous pesticide used in the Central Valley that caused birth defects in children. Valadao took nearly $40,000 in campaign contributions from pesticide companies, including thousands from the manufacturer of chlorpyrifos, a neurotoxin used in orange fields near schools which more than triples the risk for birth defects in children. Then, Valadao did nothing when the EPA backed off a proposal to ban the toxic pesticide, even after it drifted and poisoned almost 50 people in Kern County.

Self-Serving Politician David Valadao Failed To Pay His Taxes On Time And In Full While Voting To Give Himself A Tax Break At Californians’ Expense

Valadao repeatedly failed to pay his taxes on time or in full. Over the years, Valadao was late or delinquent on nearly $100,000 in taxes. Twice, Valadao failed to pay his business’ property taxes on time. In 2017, Valadao Dairy was late in paying over $18,000 in property taxes resulting in a $1,800 fine. In 2014, Triple V Dairy was late in paying nearly $31,000 in property taxes resulting in a $3,000 fine. Valadao was even sued for failing to follow through on a leasing agreement to pay nearly $40,000 in irrigation taxes. When Valadao filed for bankruptcy, it was revealed that he owed the IRS $11,000 in payroll taxes for Triple V Dairy.

Valadao voted to raise taxes on regular Californians while giving himself and corporations a tax break. Valadao voted to enrich himself by voting for the Republican Tax Scam bill that benefitted the wealthy, corporations and special interests while raising taxes on the middle class. Valadao was estimated to personally benefit by between $600,000 and $1 million from the pass-through business deduction in the Republican Tax Scam
The Tax Cut and Jobs Act hurt Californians by capping the state and local tax (SALT) deduction, increasing taxes for more than 5 million California households.

Valadao Was A Swammy Politician Who Put Himself First And The Central Valley Last

Valadao repeatedly violated or evaded campaign finance and ethics rules, taking advantage of a “skeezy campaign trick.” During the 2020 election, Valadao engaged in what the media referred to as a “skeezy campaign trick” to bolster his campaign’s war chest by swapping $65,000 in leadership PAC donations with other Republican candidates, a practice that Valadao continues to do. Valadao’s leadership PAC came under scrutiny by campaign finance watchdog End Citizens United for other questionable spending. The group filed a complaint against Valadao for allegedly violating federal campaign finance laws by paying his campaign manager through his leadership PAC. Valadao used a similar scheme to pay his campaigns treasurer, freeing up $60,000 in campaign cash. Valadao potentially violated more federal laws by reimbursing four of his congressional staffers through his campaign. In 2019, Valadao’s bankruptcy filing revealed that he failed to disclose his ownership of a company for six years. In 2021, a constituent filed another complaint against Valadao for failing to disclose his creditors on a previous financial disclosure.

Valadao cashed in on his congressional contacts. Valadao has been paid thousands of dollars to consult for some of his campaign donors, including a Fresno developer whose no-bid contracts with the local school district were under federal investigation. Valadao has also taken a loan from a donor, a practice that the Center for Public Integrity said raised “serious concerns about possible conflicts of interest.” Valadao has repeatedly backed legislation that would help himself and well-connected lobbyists. He successfully offered an amendment to block construction of a high-speed rail project that would have affected the value of land owned by him and his family and introduced legislation that would have increased the value of milk sold in California, benefitting himself and his dairy farmer family. Valadao sponsored a bill crafted by Trump-connected lobbyist and future Interior secretary David Bernhardt, who lied during a confirmation hearing that he had ceased lobbying.

Valadao hypocritically benefitted from over $1.4 million in government programs he criticized. From 1997 to 2019, Valadao Dairy received more than $1.3 million in USDA subsidies. From 2006 to 2019 Valadao’s other farm, Triple V Dairy, received more than $200,000 in USDA subsidies, despite Valadao calling farm subsidies “bad public policy.” While Valadao voted against pandemic economic assistance for others, his family dairy farm received over $200,000 in pandemic relief loans from which he benefitted directly as an employee. Valadao voted against the American Rescue Plan which included over $40 million in Restaurant Revitalization Funding and $2 billion in Shuttered Venues Operators Grants to help business and venues impacted by the pandemic in California. Valadao’s own family benefited from pandemic economic assistance programs with Valadao Dairy receiving a $200,000 Paycheck Protection Loan and a $10,000 Economic Injury Disaster Loan.

Valadao Was A Fake Moderate Who Hurt California Families

While parading around as a moderate, Valadao frequently voted in line with Trump and took contributions from the sedition caucus. A CQ analysis found that Valadao voted with Trump’s positions 100% of the time and a similar analysis by 538 found he voted with Trump 97% of the time. In 2021 alone, he took over $200,000 from the so-called sedition caucus, Republicans who objected to the 2020 election results. While Valadao initially supported the creation of a 9/11-style commission to investigate the January 6th insurrection, he later voted against attempts to establish a committee.

Valadao repeatedly voted to hold back California’s economic recovery from the COVID-19 pandemic. Valadao voted against major legislation that would help the country and California: the American Rescue Plan and Build Back Better Act. ARP included $40 million in funding for restaurants in Valadao’s district and $2 billion for California venues closed because of the pandemic. Because of ARP, families in Valadao’s district received nearly $50 million in Child Tax Credit payments. Build Back Better included a one-year extension of the expanded Child Tax Credit, greatly benefitting California which had the nation’s highest child poverty rate.
Valadao was bad for California’s infrastructure and water. Valadao voted against the bipartisan Infrastructure Investment and Jobs Act that provided California $8.3 billion for water projects, $34.8 billion for highways and public transit, and $100 million for broadband access. Valadao even voted against an infrastructure bill that included $20 million in community projects funding for the State Route 41 Excelsior Corridor in Fresno. Valadao sponsored a bill that was pushed by Trump-connected lobbyists and would invalidate state laws, threaten wildlife and permanently dry up California’s second longest river.

Valadao was bad for California’s health care, repeatedly voting to repeal the Affordable Care Act. In 2017, Valadao voted for the American Health Care Act to repeal the ACA. The AHCA would have gutted protections for pre-existing conditions, slash Medicaid funding by nearly $1 trillion, and ended insurance coverage for over 60,000 of Valadao’s constituents. Valadao even tried to hide after voting for the AHCA, by “rushing to an elevator” with his suitcase.

Valadao was bad for Latinos and immigrants. Valadao claimed to support the DREAM Act and DACA but repeatedly undermined them. Valadao cosponsored the DREAM Act but voted over 20 times to block consideration of it and refused to sign on to a discharge petition. After leading an effort to bring a DREAM Act vote to the floor, Valadao bowed to Republican leadership to kill the effort. Valadao said DACA trapped families, called Trump rescinding it a “real opportunity,” and voted to allow a friend of the court brief against the program. Valadao’s former communications director made derogatory remarks about Muslims, claiming they couldn’t be president, and undocumented immigrants, calling American children of undocumented immigrants “anchor babies” and “illegal aliens.”

Valadao was bad for California workers and families. Valadao voted against a resolution calling for a reduced federal gas tax. He repeatedly voted against raising the minimum wage and extending unemployment insurance. He also voted to undermine the 40-hour work week and paid sick leave protections. Valadao voted against the PRO Act, expanding authorities of the National Labor Relations board and protecting collective bargaining rights. Valadao voted against the Build Back Better Act that would invest in child care, creating jobs and allowing parents to get back to work.

Valadao was bad for women. Valadao co-sponsored a bill to ban all abortions, IUDs, IVF, emergency contraception, and certain cancer treatments for women. Valadao signed an amicus brief supporting an extreme Mississippi law that banned abortions after 15 weeks and could potentially overturn Roe v. Wade. He then voted against codifying Roe v. Wade with the Women’s Health Protection Act. Valadao voted for a 20-week abortion ban that imposed criminal penalties on doctors and only gave exceptions for rape and incest if it had been reported to law enforcement. Valadao repeatedly voted to make the Hyde Amendment permanent and to defund Planned Parenthood. Valadao repeatedly voted against the Paycheck Fairness act aimed at reducing the wage gap even though women in California only made 88 cents for every dollar a man made.
Thematics
Valadao’s Farms Were Dangerous For Workers, Consumers And The Environment

Significant Findings

2018: Triple V Dairy, Valadao’s Family Farm, Was Seized By A Bank Following The Failure Of The Business To Repay Loans Totaling About $8.3 Million

March 2018: Triple V Dairy, A Dairy Farm Partially Owned By Valadao, Was Seized By A Bank Following The Failure Of The Business To Repay Loans Totaling About $8.3 Million. “A bank has seized a Tulare County Dairy farm owned by U.S. Rep. David Valadao and his family to resolve more than $8 million in loans that have not been repaid, according to court documents. In November, agriculture lender Rabobank sued Triple V Dairy in Fresno County Superior Court alleging failure to repay loans for cattle and feed totaling about $8.3 million. Valadao (R-Hanford) is named in the suit along with his wife, four other family members, two other farms and 50 unnamed defendants. […] Both sides agreed March 28 to hand control of the farm over to the bank until it is sold. The bank appointed a local business owner to oversee the daily operations of the farm and began to sell off livestock and farming equipment to settle the debt.” [Los Angeles Times, 6/12/18]

Valadao Was Named In Lawsuits As A General Partner For Triple V Dairy

Valadao Was Named In Lawsuits As A General Partner For Triple V Dairy, With A Stake Valued Between $1-5 Million As Of 2016. “Rep. David Valadao, R-Hanford, is named in two lawsuits against his family's Triple V Dairy business for defaulting on nearly $9 million in agriculture loans and failing to pay an animal nutrition company for its goods. Valadao is named as a general partner for Triple V Dairy, in which he has a $1 million to $5 million stake, according to his 2016 disclosure report, the most recent disclosure available. Rabobank in November filed a civil suit against Triple V Dairy in Tulare, including several family partners, for defaulting on a heifer loan and a herd/feed loan. The lawsuit also names other family members, including Valadao's brother, for defaulting on additional loans.” [Fresno Bee, 3/13/18]

Valadao Blamed “Burdensome Government Regulations” For Making It “Impossible For The Operation To Remain Open”

Valadao Blamed “Burdensome Government Regulations” For Making It “Impossible For The Operation To Remain Open.” “‘Like so many family dairy farms across the country, burdensome government regulations made it impossible for the operation to remain open,’ Valadao said in a statement. ‘While this has been an especially difficult experience, I remain hopeful that sharing my story will help those going through similar situations.’” [Los Angeles Times, 6/12/18]

2017: Triple V Dairy Defaulted On A 2012 Loan And A 2013 Loan After Rabobank Did Not Grant Them Another Extension

2017: Triple V Dairy Defaulted On A 2012 Loan And A 2013 Loan After Rabobank Did Not Grant Them Another Extension. “Triple V in November 2012 took out a $2.5 million herd/feed credit line. Rabobank and Triple V amended the agreement four times: in December 2013, September 2014, September 2015 and February 2017. The bank sent a letter to the Dairy on Sept. 8, 2017 saying it would not grant additional extensions, and the loan matured on Sept. 30, the lawsuit says. Triple V failed to pay the remaining balance, thus defaulting on the loan. A similar story played out with a heifer loan, first entered in December 2013 between Triple V and Rabobank. That loan also matured in September 2017 after Rabobank granted multiple extensions to Triple V. Triple V owes $2.3 million for the herd/feed loan, including more than $26,000 in interest, Rabobank's lawsuit says. The Dairy company owes $5.9 million for the heifer loan, including more than $65,000 in accrued interest.” [Fresno Bee, 3/13/18]

Triple V Dairy’s Cattle And Equipment Were To Be Auctioned Off To Pay Back The Unpaid Loans

Triple V Dairy’s Cattle And Equipment Were To Be Auctioned Off To Pay Back The Unpaid Loans. “A dairy owned by Hanford Rep. David Valadao and his family appears headed for the auction block, as creditors have taken control of the day-to-day operations and have begun selling off cattle and equipment to pay back more than $8 million in unpaid loans. […] Court documents dated March 28 show that both sides agreed that Rabobank would take control of Triple V Dairy until its sale can be negotiated. Rabobank appointed John Van Curen, president of Old West Ranch Company in Fresno, as its agent to handle the day-to-day affairs at Triple V. Additional orders show that Van Curen was to sell as much of Triple V’s herd as possible (including cows, breeding bulls and calves) at a May 15 auction conducted by A&M Livestock of Hanford. Van Curen was also authorized to sell dairy and breeding equipment […]. It's not yet clear whether the auction took place as planned or how much was sold. However, an inventory sheet filed with the court on May 21 showed that Triple V’s dairy, heifer facility and calf ranch had nearly 17,000 cows, heifers, breeding bulls and calves as of April 2.” [Fresno Bee, 6/11/18]

- August 2018: Triple V Dairy Was Vacant. “The vacant Triple V Dairy in southwest Tulare could soon house 2.2 million cage-free, egg-laying hens, according to a permit being processed by Tulare County officials. Property owner Kevin Kruse, of Western Milling, foreclosed on the 640-acre dairy some years back. It was most recently being used by Triple V Dairy. Goshen-based Western Milling sells feed to dairies and other livestock operations including poultry. Triple V Dairy was owned by several brothers, including Congressman David Valadao, but their operation was foreclosed on by Rabobank. The farm's assets were seized by Rabobank after the family failed to pay back $8.3 million in loans. Cattle was auctioned to pay off the debt. […] If the permit is approved, the empty dairy property will be converted into a large multi-barn egg ranch.” [Visalia Times Delta, 8/9/18]

Valadao’s Family Farm, Triple V Dairy, Was Sued For Wage Theft And Agreed To Pay A $325,000 Settlement, But The Case Closed Without Payment Due To Bankruptcy Proceedings

Workers Sued Valadao's Family Farm, Claiming They Were Denied Minimum Wage And Overtime Pay

Former Rep. David Valadao's family farm has not paid a $325,000 settlement it agreed to with workers who accused the farm of denying them minimum wage and overtime pay. The case closed without payment to the workers in in April after the Dairy declared bankruptcy, according to Santos Gomez, an attorney for the workers, and confirmed by Valadao's campaign. […] Documents show Valadao signed for about $6 million in loans to the Dairy while he held office. Valadao lost his seat in 2018 to Democrat T.J. Cox of Fresno by fewer than 1,000 votes. […] Valadao's campaign characterized the workers' lawsuit as 'frivolous' in a written statement to McClatchy. ‘No evidence supporting any claim was ever presented. The Dairy settled the lawsuit for a fraction of what the cost would have been to litigate the case in an attempt to preserve jobs and keep the Dairy open,’ said Andrew Renteria, a spokesman for Valadao's campaign.” [Fresno Bee, 9/26/19]

Valadao’s Family Farm Agreed To Pay A $325,000 Settlement, But The Case Closed Without Payment Due To Bankruptcy Proceedings. “Triple V Dairy has caused a mess of problems after it had to declare bankruptcy last year. In newly obtained court filings by McClatchy, lawyers for Rabobank and a small business called Lawley's, an animal nutrition company, dismissed lawsuits against Triple V right as Valadao started his campaign for re-election in August and September. [...] ‘Due to the nature of the litigation and the various bankruptcy proceedings, it appeared there was insufficient assets to pay the unsecured creditors, so the case was dismissed,’ said Lawley's lawyer, John Samberg. Valadao's campaign said Rabobank dismissed the suit under similar reasoning. [...] It's not the only payment that Valadao-affiliated farms walked out on following the bankruptcy. His family farm was also sued for lost wages and agreed to pay a $325,000 settlement, but the case closed without payment in April due to the bankruptcy proceedings.” [Fresno Bee, 11/21/19]

Fresno Bee: Valadao “Failed To Pay Small Businesses, Workers, And Banks That Have Filed Suit” Against Triple V Dairy And Valadao Himself. “Cox’s opponent, former Rep. David Valadao, a Republican from Hanford, had his family farm in the middle of bankruptcy proceedings in 2018. Since then, records show he’s failed to pay small businesses, workers and banks that have filed suit against the business and him in particular.” [Fresno Bee, 11/21/19]

Valadao’s Campaign Called The Wages Lawsuit “Frivolous”

Valadao’s Campaign Called The Wages Lawsuit “Frivolous.” Former Rep. David Valadao's family farm has not paid a $325,000 settlement it agreed to with workers who accused the farm of denying them minimum wage and overtime pay. The case closed without payment to the workers in in April after the Dairy declared bankruptcy, according to Santos Gomez, an attorney for the workers, and confirmed by Valadao's campaign. [...] Documents show Valadao signed for about $6 million in loans to the Dairy while he held office. Valadao lost his seat in 2018 to Democrat T.J. Cox of Fresno by fewer than 1,000 votes. [...] Valadao's campaign characterized the workers' lawsuit as 'frivolous' in a written statement to McClatchy. ‘No evidence supporting any claim was ever presented. The Dairy settled the lawsuit for a fraction of what the cost would have been to litigate the case in an attempt to preserve jobs and keep the Dairy open,’ said Andrew Renteria, a spokesman for Valadao's campaign.” [Fresno Bee, 9/26/19]

• A Stipulated Judgement Was A Form Of Settlement. “Stipulated Judgment: An agreement between the parties to a case that settles a case. For example, if you and your spouse agree on all the matters about your divorce, you can submit a stipulated judgment to the court. The stipulated judgment must be signed by both you and your spouse, and will list your agreements about the division of property and debts, child and spousal support and child custody and visitation. Once the stipulated judgment is signed by the judge, it becomes the judgment in your case.” [Justia, accessed 8/21/19]

Valadao And Triple V Cattle Were Accused Of Malicious Intent For Ordering, And Then Failing To Pay For, Over $1 Million In Animal Products To A Company

Triple V Cattle Was Accused Of Failing To Pay Farm Supply Company Lawley’s For $1 Million In Animal Products

Lawley’s Filed A Lawsuit Alleging Triple V Cattle Failed To Pay For $1 Million In Animal Products. “California agricultural bank Rabobank sued Triple V in November for breaking its contract, alleging the farm defaulted on $8.3 million in loans for heifers and feed. And Stockton cattle farm supply company Lawley’s said in a lawsuit filed last month that Triple V had failed to pay for an additional $1 million in animal nutrition and immunizer products that the farm bought on credit.” [Mercury News, 3/12/18]

Lawley’s Alleged The Defendants Owed “In Excess Of $1,000,000.” [San Joaquin County Superior Court, Case # STK-CV-UCD-2018-1580, filed 2/9/18 (Page 11)]

Lawley’s Alleged It “Filled The Orders [From Triple V], But To Date Has Yet To Be Paid For Each Of The Orders.” [San Joaquin County Superior Court, Case # STK-CV-UCD-2018-1580, filed 2/9/18 (Page 11)]

Valadao And A Triple V Partner Were Accused Of Intentional Misrepresentation With Malicious Intent

Frank Garcia Was The Husband Of Valadao’s Cousin And A Partner At Triple V Cattle. “A Lawley’s salesman befriended Frank Garcia, the husband of Valadao’s cousin and partner in Triple V. While Triple V continually made orders for Lawley’s product, the salesman repeatedly asked Garcia to fill out a Lawley’s credit application, but he never did, the lawsuit alleges.” [Fresno Bee, 3/13/18]

Lawley’s Complaint Alleged Garcia Implied “Triple V Was Not In Dire Financial Circumstances, And Was Able To Pay For The Products Order, Notwithstanding The Fact That The Polar Opposite Was True.” [San Joaquin County Superior Court, Case # STK-CV-UDC-2018-1580, filed 2/9/18 (Page 19)]

The Valadao Dairy Employee Was Cleaning A Manure Separator And Fell Onto A Blade. [California Occupational Safety and Health Appeals Board, Inspection Number 1884525, case closed 5/10/17 (Page 52)]

CAUSES AND CONCLUSIONS:

During the investigation it was discovered that Employee #1 was cleaning off the manure separator when he had slipped and fallen onto the auger blade. The employee did not ensure that the auger blades were locked out prior to standing on the platform. The employer did not provide a guardrail preventing the employee from falling off the platform.

Valadao Dairy Was Found To Be Responsible For 80 Percent Of The Accident That Resulted In An Employee Losing His Right Arm Below The Elbow

Valadao Dairy Was Found To Be Responsible For 80 Percent Of The Accident That Resulted In An Employee Losing His Right Arm Below The Elbow. “Former Rep. David Valadao’s family dairy is asking a California appeals court to reconsider part of a recent jury verdict that held the farm mostly responsible for a 2016 accident that severed an employee’s hand. His dairy’s worker’s compensation insurance carrier had been trying to limit its potential financial losses from an incident in which employee Carlos Martinez Ocampo’s arm was caught in an auger and cut off below the right elbow. A Kings County jury in October found that Valadao Dairy bore the greatest share of responsibility for the incident, assigning 80 percent of fault to the dairy, while the manufacturer of the equipment, Tulare-based U.S. Farm Systems, was deemed 20 percent responsible.” [Fresno Bee, 2/11/20]

Valadao Was Not Involved In The Farm’s Day-To-Day Operations At The Time Of The Incident

Valadao Was Not Involved In The Farm’s Day-To-Day Operations At The Time Of The Incident. “Valadao was not involved in the farm’s day-to-day operations at the time of the accident. Years earlier, before he was elected to Congress, Valadao had a role in purchasing the equipment. He was called as a witness in the civil trial and pressed in court about the dairy’s employee training. Ocampo was injured while cleaning a manure separator, which is used to create cow bedding from manure. The machine was turned on while Ocampo was cleaning it, and he fell and lost a portion of his right arm below his elbow in a large drill called an auger.” [Fresno Bee, 2/11/20]
CalOSHA Cited Valadao Dairy For Not Providing Training On The Waste Separator And For Failing To Have Guardrails Around The Platform The Worker Fell From. “The California Division of Occupational Safety and Health (CalOSHA) cited and fined Valadao Dairy for safety violations. One was that ‘the employer did not provide training and instruction for the employee who was injured operating the waste separator at the dairy.’ The second, more serious violation was for failing to have guardrails around the elevated platform where Ocampo was standing as he scraped manure solids that had clogged a screen near the auger. CalOSHA initially proposed to fine the dairy $13,275 for the violations; the penalty was later negotiated down to $6,450, which was paid in May 2017. When asked if Valadao believed the farm shared any responsibility for the accident, his campaign characterized Ocampo’s injury as a ‘tragic accident’ and said Valadao wasn’t interested in pointing fingers. Neither a lawyer for Valadao Dairy nor a lawyer for the dairy’s insurance company returned multiple requests for comment.” [Fresno Bee, 2/11/20]

A U.S. Farm Systems Representative Testified That He Told Valadao That The Power To The Machine Should Be Shut Off When A Worker Was On The Platform The Worker Fell From, But Valadao Denied Being Told That. “In a transcript from the October trial, Valadao says that he bought the manure separator in 2000 from U.S. Farm. His congressional campaign told The Fresno Bee that Valadao purchased it through a contractor. Reajan Houle, the representative from U.S. Farm Systems, testified that he told David Valadao in 2002 the power should be turned off whenever a worker went up on the top platform. That’s where Ocampo was was when he fell. ‘I am a hundred percent certain of that,’ Houle said. He said he repeated that to David Valadao when a second auger was installed in 2005, and told him how ‘dangerous’ the machine could be. David Valadao denied he had been told that. He also said that they typically left training up to the insurance company, and that he had never trained employees personally.” [Fresno Bee, 2/11/20]

2017: The Worker Injured In The Valadao Dairy Incident Sued U.S. Farm Systems, Which Manufactured The Machinery Involved In The Incident

OCampo V. U.S. Farm Systems Regarded A Severe Bodily Injury At Valadao Dairy That Occurred In October 2016.

1. At all times prior to October 16, 2016, Defendants and DOES 1-25, and each of them, negligently designed, manufactured, distributed, sold, leased, rented, maintained, inspected, repaired, and built the manure separator system located at Valadao Dairy, located in Hanford, California. Said manure separator was in use at the time of the subject incident that occurred on October 16, 2016. Based upon the lack of protective guarding, guard railing, and/or emergency stop, among other things, it was virtually certain to any reasonable person and, specifically, to Defendants and DOES 1-25, and each of them, that a worker would come in contact with the auger while using, operating, and/or maintaining the manure separator. At all relevant times, the state of the manure separator was in violation of one or more state and/or federal regulations. On or about October 16, 2016, Plaintiff was using, maintaining, and/or operating the manure separator as intended. During the course of this use, maintenance, and/or operation, and as a proximate result of the defects herein described, Plaintiff’s arm came in contact with the auger, pulling his arm into the auger component of the manure separator, causing him severe bodily injury.

9. As a direct and proximate result of Defendants and DOES 1 to 25, and each of their, aforementioned conduct, Plaintiff sustained serious and life-threatening injuries, including loss of limb, and incurred related damages including, but not limited to, past and future medical expenses, past and future wage loss and loss of earning capacity, to be proved at the time of trial.

- Flunixin’s Side-Effects Included Gastrointestinal Ulcers, Kidney Damage And Bleeding Problems.
  “Flunixin is a non-steroidal anti-inflammatory drug (NSAID) with approved use in swine and cattle to alleviate inflammation and pain associated with musculoskeletal disorders. In general, NSAIDs in animals and humans can produce gastrointestinal (GI) side effects if the drug is taken at high doses over a prolonged period. GI ulceration is the most common side effect; however, kidney damage and bleeding problems can also occur.”

As of January 1, 2018, SB 27 will prohibit the use of antibiotics on livestock ‘unless ordered by a licensed veterinarian through a prescription or veterinary feed.’ To date, this is the strictest US law limiting the use of antibiotics in livestock. The overuse of antibiotics has led to the spread of dangerous drug-resistant superbugs, such as MRSA. According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), antibiotic-resistant superbugs kill 23,000 Americans each year, and cause infection in 2 million. The rise of these superbugs is due largely to the overuse of antibiotics.” [Daily Beast, 10/21/15]

Negative Reactions To Sulfonamides Included Rashes, Vomiting And Cramping. “A sulfa allergy occurs when a person has an allergic reaction to drugs that contain chemicals called sulfonamides. Sulfa is a constituent of some antibiotics and other medications. Doctors and pharmacists use drugs that contain sulfa to treat many conditions, including skin disorders, eye infections, and rheumatoid arthritis. […] Symptoms of a sulfa allergy can include: a rash or hives on the skin itchy skin itchy eyes feeling congested swelling of the mouth or throat asthma or wheezing nausea or vomiting light-headedness abdominal cramping.” [Medical News Today, 1/14/19]

The Department Of Agriculture Food Safety And Inspection Service Listed Zero Tolerance For Gentamicin.

[Department of Agriculture Food Safety and Inspection Service, dated 2/21/13]

Gentamicin Was An Antibiotic That Could Cause Serious Kidney Problems, Hearing Problems, And Nerve Problems. “Gentamicin may cause serious kidney problems. Kidney problems may occur more often in older people or in people that are dehydrated. […] Gentamicin may cause serious hearing problems. Hearing problems may occur more often in older people. Hearing loss may be permanent in some cases. […] Gentamicin may cause nerve problems. Tell your doctor if you have or have ever had burning or tingling in the hands, arms, feet, or legs; muscle twitching or weakness; or seizures. […] Gentamicin injection is used to treat certain serious infections that are caused by bacteria such as meningitis (infection of the membranes that surround the brain and spinal cord) and infections of the blood, abdomen (stomach area), lungs, skin, bones, joints, and urinary tract. Gentamicin injection is in a class of medications called aminoglycoside antibiotics. It works by killing bacteria.” [U.S. National Library of Medicine, accessed 8/7/19]

The Department Of Agriculture Food Safety And Inspection Service Listed A .5 Parts Per Million Tolerance For Penicillin. [Department of Agriculture Food Safety and Inspection Service, dated 2/21/13]

- 1977: Penicillin Was Banned From Animal Feed By The FDA, Citing How Consuming The Drug In Food Could Lead To Resistance To Antibiotics In Humans. “The Food and Drug Administration said yesterday that it plans to ban the use in animal feeds of certain antibiotics used to treat infections in humans. The FDA’s reason is that routine, long-term use of germ-killing drugs in animals can lead to the development of bacteria that resist antibiotic treatment - first in the animals, then in the humans that handle meat, eggs and milk. Commissioner Donald Kennedy has made his immediate target penicillin, to be followed by tetracycline and ultimately by other antibiotics whose routine use in feed can build resistance to therapy in humans.” [Washington Post, 8/30/77]

- Daily Beast: “The Overuse Of Antibiotics Has Led To The Spread Of Dangerous Drug-Resistant Superbugs, Such As MRSA.” “Governor of California Jerry Brown signed a law Saturday banning the use of antibiotics to promote growth in livestock such as cows, chickens, and pigs. As of January 1, 2018, SB 27 will prohibit the use of antibiotics on livestock ‘unless ordered by a licensed veterinarian through a prescription or veterinary feed.’ To date, this is the strictest US law limiting the use of antibiotics in livestock. The overuse of antibiotics has led to the spread of dangerous drug-resistant superbugs, such as MRSA. According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), antibiotic-resistant superbugs kill 23,000 Americans each year, and cause infection in 2 million. The rise of these superbugs is due largely to the overuse of antibiotics.” [Daily Beast, 10/21/15]

Valadao’s Farm Businesses Supplied Cattle To Central Valley Meat Co., Which Was Repeatedly Forced To Stop Its Operations For Unsanitary Conditions And Suspected Plastic In Its Meat

Valadao Dairy And Triple V Dairy Supplied Cattle To Central Valley Meat Co.
2014: Central Valley Meat Co. Was Temporarily Forced To Close After Federal Inspectors Determined It Had Unsanitary Conditions. “A Hanford meat processing plant that was closed by federal inspectors on Monday because of unsanitary conditions has reopened. Central Valley Meat Co., a supplier for the National School Lunch Program, resumed operations after taking corrective action to fix the problem. Neither the company nor the U.S. Department of Agriculture disclosed what those unsanitary conditions were. The USDA’s Food Safety Inspection Service withdrew its inspectors from the plant on Monday after violations were found.” [Fresno Bee, 2/19/14]

2013: Central Valley Meat Co. Recalled Over 147,000 Pounds Of Meat Suspected To Contain Small Pieces Of Plastic. “Last fall, the 50-year-old company recalled more than 147,000 pounds of ground beef because it might have contained small pieces of plastic. The meat was shipped to distribution centers in Arkansas, Nebraska, North Carolina, California, Montana and Texas and was intended for the nation’s school lunch program.” [Fresno Bee, 2/19/14]

2012: Central Valley Meat Co. Halted Operations For A Week After An Undercover Video Showed Animal Cruelty At The Company. “In August 2012, the company temporarily suspended its operations for a week after the release of an undercover video showing acts of animal cruelty. The secretly taped video triggered the USDA to withdraw its meat inspectors, preventing the company from operating.” [Fresno Bee, 2/19/14]

2014: Valadao’s Opponent Accused Valadao Of Violating Food Safety Laws, Violations Valadao’s Campaign Dismissed As “Routine And Common”

2014: Valadao’s Opponent Accused Valadao Of Violating Food Safety Laws. Amanda Renteria accused Congressman David Valadao, R-Hanford, Tuesday of violating food safety laws by sending cattle from his dairies to slaughter with illegal levels of antibiotics in their tissues. […] Renteria's campaign manager, Michael Trujillo, said the two family dairies Valadao is associated with -- Triple V Dairy and Valadao Dairy -- sent tainted cattle to two San Joaquin Valley meat companies. […] The Renteria campaign released documents from the U.S. Department of Agriculture that show five animals from the two dairies were discovered with levels of antibiotics and other chemicals in their tissues in excess of what the law allows between 2003 and 2012.” [Bakersfield Californian, 10/28/14]

• Valadao’s Campaign Dismissed The Violations As “Routine And Common.” Valadao’s campaign said the late campaign attack is an example of just how much Renteria doesn't know about agriculture. ‘The occurrences Amanda Renteria referred to in her late night email are routine and common within the dairy industry. Anyone with a simple understanding of agriculture would know that,’ wrote Valadao campaign spokesman Tal Eslick. ‘Clearly Amanda Renteria is not equipped to represent the largest dairy district in the United States.’” [Bakersfield Californian, 10/28/14]

One Veterinary Medicine Professor Said The Five Violations Were “Not Necessarily Unusual,” And Another Expert Said “These Violations Do Occur, But They Do Not Occur Very Often”

facility in Tulare, offered some perspective. Lehenbauer […] said that if a dairy has two violations in a 12-month period, the dairy is placed on a repeat offender list online. The five animal violations in the report were May 2003, June 2007, January 2008, July 2009 and January 2012. Lehenbauer said that the number and frequency of the violations “is not necessarily unusual” for a large dairy like Valadao’s. ‘From all appearances, this looks to be within a reasonable scenario,’ he said. ‘They are [sending] hundreds and hundreds of animals to market a year.’ He noted that the two Valadao-linked dairies had no violations listed after January 2012. [Hanford Sentinel, 10/29/14]

Another Expert Said “These Violations Do Occur, But They Do Not Occur Very Often.” “Another dairy expert, Fresno State animal science professor Randy Perry, offered this take on the frequency of such violations in the industry: ‘These violations do occur, but they do not occur very often.’ Lehenbauer said that in an ideal world, there would be no mistakes where animals go to slaughterhouse with elevated antibiotic levels in their system.” [Hanford Sentinel, 10/29/14]

- Two Drugs Listed In The Violation Reports Were Not Labeled For Use With Cattle, But The Drugs Could Be Administered Under Veterinary Supervision According To Lehenbauer. “Four of the six drugs listed in the USDA report are labelled for use in cattle, and have tolerance limits for tissue samples. The remaining two substances – Sulfamethazine and gentamicin – are not labeled for use with cattle. The allowable tissue limit on those drugs is zero when the animals go to the slaughterhouse. But the drugs can be administered to cows under veterinary supervision, Lehenbauer said. ‘That happens routinely,’ he said.” [Hanford Sentinel, 10/29/14]

- Lehenbauer Said Animals Sent To Market Have A Hold Time To Rid Their Bodies Of The Drugs, But Mistakes Do Happen. “Terry Lehenbauer […] explained the context in which the violations occurred. […] Animals that have been given the kind of antibiotics documented in the Valadao violations must not be milked or sent to market before a hold time has expired. That hold time, Lehenbauer said, allows the animal’s metabolism to process the chemicals. But mistakes do happen, he said. The dairy industry is working to reduce situations where recently treated animals are accidentally sent to market because of poor tracking or mix-up or because they were given too large a dose of antibiotics. One other chemical found in a Valadao animal, however, was not allowed for use in cattle. If cattle is not listed on the label for the drug, the drug cannot be administered to cattle, Lehenbauer said. ‘Any residue found is in violation,’ he said. The USDA has been more vigilant on that rule in recent years, Lehenbauer said.” [Bakersfield Californian, 10/28/14]

2016: Triple V Dairy Did Not Have Proper Flood Protection. According to the Central Valley Regional Water Quality Control Board, Triple V Dairy had a “lack of flood protection” that was “in violation of General Specification B.3.” General Specification B.3 states, “In the Tulane Lake Basin, existing milk cow dairies in operation on or before 25 July 1975 shall be protected from inundation or washout from overflow from any stream channel during 20-year peak stream flows and existing milk cow dairies constructed after 25 July 1975 shall be protected from 100-year peak stream flows. 2016: A Triple V Dairy Well-Head And Standpipe Were Surrounded By Evidence Of Dried Wastewater. According to the Central Valley Regional Water Quality Control Board, a well-head and standpipe were surrounded by evidence of dried wastewater, a violation. “Four water supply wells are within 100 feet of fields designated as land application areas. According to the well setback plan (documented in the Dairy documents folder), wastewater and manure are not to be applied to field checks within 100 feet of water supply wells. Irrigation well Ag 3 appeared to have over-topped the standpipe, which apparently resulted in an overflow of wastewater. The well-head and standpipe were surrounded by evidence of dried wastewater. This is a violation of General Specifications, Section B.7.” [Central Valley Regional Water Quality Control Board Inspection, 3/28/17]

- B.7 States That “Manure And Process Wastewater Shall Not Be Applied Closer Than 100 Feet To Any Down Gradient Surface Water.” According to the California Regional Water Quality Control Board, “General Specification B.7 of the Order: “Manure and process wastewater shall not be applied closer than 100 feet to any down gradient surface waters, open tile line intake structures, sinkholes, agricultural or domestic well heads, or other conduits to surface waters, unless a 35-foot wide vegetated buffer or physical barrier is substituted for the 100-foot setback or alternative conservation practices or field-specific conditions will provide pollutant reductions equivalent or better than the reductions achieved by the 100-foot setback.” [California Regional Water Quality Control Board, accessed 2/3/20 (page 155)]
2009: Triple V Dairy Was Cited For A “Violation Of The Prohibitions” That “Could Cause Or Contribute To Pollution Or Contamination Of Surface Water Or Groundwater.” According to the Central Valley Regional Water Quality Control Board, Triple V Dairy was inspected and subsequently issued a violation notice. The violation was “a domestic well and three irrigation water supply wells were within 100 feet of cropland where dairy wastes are applied and no measures for protection from pollutants were observed. Land Application Specification C.9 of the General Order and SPRR, Standard Provision B.18 require a setback of 100 feet or implementation of provisions for equivalent pollutant reduction.” This violation appeared “to be in violation of the prohibitions, specifications. limitations. and/or provisions of the General Order and could cause or contribute to pollution or contamination of surface water or groundwater, or a condition of nuisance.” [Central Valley Regional Water Quality Control Board Inspection, 6/29/09]

INSPECTION REPORT, TRIPLE V DAIRY, WDID 5C54NC00194, 18193 SOUTH “I” DRIVE, TULARE, TULARE COUNTY

On 15 January 2009, Central Valley Regional Water Quality Control Board (Central Valley Water Board) staff inspected the subject dairy to assess compliance with Order No. R5-2007-0035, Waste Discharge Requirements General Order for Existing Milk Cow Dairies (General Order). The General Order implements the requirements of Title 27 of the California Code of Regulations (Title 27), the Water Control Plan for the Tulare Lake Basin, Second Edition, 1995 (Basin Plan), and State Water Resources Control Board Resolution No. 68-16 (Antidegradation Policy). By letter of 29 June 2007, you were notified that your dairy is enrolled under the General Order. Inspection staff was accompanied by Mr. David Valadao, operator, who provided information regarding the facility. The inspection was conducted by observing the production area from public roads and facility access ways and observing the conditions of the animal housing facilities, feed and waste storage areas, wastewater retention ponds, and application cropland. Staff also reviewed dairy records on-site, previously submitted reports, and Central Valley Water Board records regarding the dairy. A copy of the Facilities Inspection Report is enclosed.

The condition listed below, observed during the inspection or determined during records review, appears to be in violation of the prohibitions, specifications, limitations, and/or provisions of the General Order and could cause or contribute to pollution or contamination of surface water or groundwater, or a condition of nuisance.

- A domestic well and three irrigation water supply wells were within 100 feet of cropland where dairy wastes are applied and no measures for protection from pollutants were observed. Land Application Specification C.9 of the General Order and SPRR, Standard Provision B.13 require a setback of 100 feet or implementation of provisions for equivalent pollutant reduction.

2009: Triple V Dairy Groundwater Samples Exceeded Maximum Nitrate Levels, Resulting In A Drinking Water Warning Noting That “Nitrate In Drinking Water Is A Serious Health Concern For Infants Less Than Six Months Old.” According to the Central Valley Regional Water Quality Control Board, Triple V Dairy groundwater samples exceeded maximum nitrate levels, resulting in a drinking water warning. “Water sample results received showed nitrate levels above the nitrate standard, or maximum contaminant level (MCL), of 45 milligrams per liter. Nitrate in drinking water is a serious health concern for infants less than six months old.”

2008: Triple V Dairy May Have Had More Mature Cows Than They Were Allowed To Have. According to the Central Valley Regional Water Quality Control Board, Triple V Dairy was allowed to have at most 1,104 mature cows. However, Triple V Dairy submitted a Preliminary Dairy Facility Assessment “that reported that the facility housed 1,150 mature cows.” [Central Valley Regional Water Quality Control Board Inspection, 7/22/08]

Hanford, CA 93230

VALADAO DAIRY, 17293 AVENUE 9 1/2, KINGS COUNTY

On 14 December 2001, Annette Ferranti of our staff inspected your dairy to assess compliance with Title 27 of the California Code of Regulations (Title 27); the Water Quality Control Plan for the Tulare Lake Basin, Second Edition, 1995 (Basin Plan); and the Conditional Waiver of Waste Discharge Requirements (Waiver) and associated Monitoring and Reporting Program No. 5-00-805 (MRP) issued 1 March 2000. The corrals, wastewater retention ponds, and cropland were observed during the inspection. During the inspection, staff found you have failed to submit a groundwater and wastewater monitoring plan as required by the waiver. Enclosed is the Facilities Inspection Report.

During the inspection it was estimated there are 622 acres double cropped to corn silage and wheat available to receive the dairy waste, of which 572 acres are leased. The solid manure is either exported off site or composted for animal bedding. Your son reported that the dairy herd consists of approximately 1,500 Holstein milk cows; 176 dry cows; and 746 heifers. The milk cows and 70 heifers are housed in freestall corrals, and the remainder of the herd is kept in flushed lane corrals.

Title 27, Section 22563 requires that dairy wastes shall be applied “at rates which are reasonable for the crop, soil climate, special local situations, management system, and type of manure.” Our nutrient and irrigation management calculations suggest you have sufficient cropland to assimilate the nitrogen and salt contained in the wet waste produced by the present herd. However, the Waiver requires 1,200 tons of solid manure (at 30% moisture) be exported off site annually.

During the inspection, your son indicated there were water supply wells located on the property. No information was available regarding the construction details of the water supply wells. The inspection revealed that the water supply wells are located more than 100 feet from areas where animals are confined or wastewater is applied.

As a condition of the Waiver, Monitoring and Reporting Program No. 5-00-805 (MRP) required you to provide a groundwater and wastewater monitoring plan to the Board within 90 days of the effective date. California Environmental Protection Agency

The letter requested a response by 7 March 2002. To date we have not received the requested information. By 8 July 2002, you must submit a groundwater and wastewater monitoring plan prepared by a California registered civil engineer or registered geologist. Failure to respond may result in enforcement action against you. The 8 July 2002 date does not extend your original due date, which was 1 June 2000.” [Central Valley Regional Water Quality Control Board, 5/21/02]

Chlorpyrifos, A Dangerous Pesticide, Poisoned A Group Of Farm Workers In Kern County After It Drifted From A Nearby Field

“Chlorpyrifos is an inexpensive and effective pesticide considered essential by the agriculture industry for decades. According to government maps, it’s widely used on farms in at least 45 states that grow the food we eat every day. It’s used to protect apples, citrus fruit, grapes, broccoli, cauliflower, almonds and other crops from insects. But it can be ingested by humans through residue on food, water contamination, and most critically when it’s sprayed down onto fields from airplanes and up into trees by machines, and then carried in the wind. That’s a major point of concern for groups like Safe Ag, Safe Schools, a program that comes out of a collaboration with Californians for Pesticide Reform. Sarait Martinez explained the potential for harm to students, telling us, ‘When we have a school that is near the fields and there’s pesticides applied, the drift that happens has a different impact. It goes into their mouth, their bodies and we’re not accounting for that.’ In many farming communities, Martinez expressed concern about the lack of buffers of protection between agricultural fields, schools and homes. Even where some regulated buffers exist, like in California for example, she says they're not enough.” [Sinclair Broadcast Group, 1/16/20]

Case No.
COMPLAINT FOR BREACH OF CONTRACT AND COMMON COUNTS

The Plaintiff’s Complaint Said They Leased Valadao And His Family Farm Land To Operate A Dairy Facility In Tulare.
4. Within the past four years, the Cardozas entered into a written lease (the lease) with Defendants David Valadao, Eddie Valadao, and Dimas Valadao (the Valadaos), wherein the Valadaos agreed to lease certain real property (the premises) commonly known as 18193 South
"I" Drive, in Tulare, California, from the Cardozas for use as a dairy facility during the period from March 1, 2005, through December 31, 2010. The lease is attached to this complaint as Exhibit
A, and incorporated herein by reference as if fully set forth.

5. Pursuant to the terms of the lease, the Valadaos agreed to pay for all utilities servicing the premises during the term of the lease, and agreed to pay all irrigation district tolls and charges in connection with the delivery of water to the leased premises.

8. On or about September, 2006, the Cardozas sold the subject premises to a third party.
9. In connection with the sale of the premises, the Cardozas were required to pay irrigation taxes to the Lower Tule River Irrigation District in the amount of $38,162.33, stemming from the Valadaos’ use of the premises, which were the responsibility of the Valadaos pursuant to the terms of the lease.

10. The Cardozas have performed all other conditions, covenants and promises under the contract on their part to be performed.
11. Although Cardozas have demanded that the Valadaos pay the amount of $39,162.33 to the Cardozas, the principal sum of $39,162.33 is still due and owing to the Cardozas.
The Lease Agreement, Provided As An Exhibit In The Complaint, Showed David Valadao Signed The Lease Agreement.

March 2005: Valadao Was Included In A Lease Involving Joseph And Robbie Cardoza And Triple V Dairy.

Valadao Voted For Making Several Provisions Of The Tax Cuts And Jobs Act Permanent. In September 2018, Valadao voted for “Passage of the bill that would make permanent a number of tax provisions that would otherwise expire in 2025. The provisions from the 2017 tax overhaul (PL 115-97) that would become permanent include: reduced tax rates and modified tax bracket breakpoints for the seven tax brackets, the standard deduction amount, the elimination of personal exemptions for each taxpayer and dependent, and the increased child tax credit.” The bill passed 220-19. Valadao Voted For Final Passage Of The Republican Tax Scam Bill

Valadao Voted For Adopting The Conference Report Of The Tax Cuts And Jobs Act. In December 2017, Valadao voted for: “adoption of the conference report on the bill that would revise the federal income tax system by lowering the corporate tax rate from 35 percent to 21 percent; lowering individual tax rates through 2025; limiting state and local deductions to $10,000 through 2025; decreasing the limit on deductible mortgage debt through 2025; and creating a new system of taxing U.S. corporations with foreign subsidiaries. Specifically, it would repeal personal exemptions and would roughly double the standard deduction through 2025. It would raise the child tax credit to $2,000 through 2025, would repeal the alternative minimum tax for corporations and provide for broader exemptions to the tax for individuals through 2025. It would double individual exemptions to the estate tax and gift tax through 2025, and would establish a new top tax rate for "pass-through" business income through 2025.” The conference report was adopted 227-203. [HR 1, Vote #692, 12/19/17; CQ Floor Votes, 12/19/17]

Valadao Voted For Final Passage Of The Tax Cuts And Jobs Act By Concurring With A Senate Amendment. In December 2017, Valadao voted for: “Brady, R-Texas, motion to concur in the Senate amendment to the tax overhaul that would revise the federal income tax system by: lowering the corporate tax rate from 35 percent to 21 percent; lowering individual tax rates through 2025; limiting state and local deductions to $10,000 through 2025; decreasing the limit on deductible mortgage debt through 2025; and creating a new system of taxing U.S. corporations with foreign subsidiaries. • House Was Forced To Vote For A Second Time On The Final Bill After Small Changes Were Made To Comply With Senate Budget Rules. “The House, forced to vote a second time on the $1.5 trillion tax bill, moved swiftly to pass the final version on Wednesday, clearing the way for President Trump to sign into law the most sweeping tax overhaul in decades. House lawmakers approved the tax bill 224 to 201 on Wednesday, after being forced to vote on the bill again after last-minute revisions were made to it in the Senate, which passed the measure 51 to 48 early Wednesday morning. The final House vote was essentially a formality, as the changes, which were made to comply with Senate budget rules, did not significantly alter the overall bill.” [New York Times, 12/20/17]

Tax Cuts And Jobs Act Benefitted The Wealthy, Corporations, And Special Interests

Washington Post: Final Tax Bill Included A “Significant Tax Break For The Very Wealthy” And A Massive Tax Cut For Corporations.” “A new tax cut for the rich: The final plan lowers the top tax rate for top earners. Under current law, the highest rate is 39.6 percent for married couples earning over $470,700. The GOP bill would drop that to 37 percent and raise the threshold at which that top rate kicks in, to $500,000 for individuals and $600,000 for married couples. This amounts to a significant tax break for the very wealthy, a departure from repeated claims by Trump and his top officials that the bill would not benefit the rich. [...] A massive tax cut for corporations “A massive tax cut for corporations: Starting on Jan. 1, 2018, big businesses’ tax rate would fall from 35 percent to just 21 percent, the largest one-time rate cut in U.S. history for the nation’s largest companies.” [Washington Post, 12/15/17]

Politifact: GOP Tax Bill Would Raise Taxes For The Middle Class After Individual Tax Cut Provisions Expired In 2025. “Gillibrand said the Republican ‘tax [plan] raises middle-class taxes.’ That’s not true during the first years of the new tax provisions. If not for the sunset for the tax changes for individuals, we likely would have rated Gillibrand’s statement False or perhaps Mostly False. Middle-income taxpayers will either benefit or see no change in their tax liability through 2025. But her claim could hold up after the bill’s individual provisions expire that year. There’s no guarantee a future Congress will extend those parts of the bill.” [Politifact, 12/22/17]

The Republican Tax Cut And Jobs Act Would Increase Taxes On Millions Of Californians

The Tax Cut And Jobs Act Hurt Californians By Capping The State And Local Tax (SALT) Deduction, Increasing Taxes For More Than 5 Million California Households

The Tax Cuts And Jobs Act Would Increase Income Taxes On “More Than 5 Million Households In California.” “This week, the US House of Representatives is expected to vote on federal tax legislation proposed by House Republican leaders, with the support of President Trump, that calls for significant cuts to the federal deduction for state and local taxes (SALT). … Reducing or eliminating the SALT deduction, then, would result in double taxation, thereby increasing the income taxes paid by millions of households in the US, including more than 5 million households in California.” [California Budget & Policy Center, 11/15/17]

Los Angeles Times: The Trump Tax Plan “Hits Many Middle-Income Residents Hard In California.” “President Trump again indicated this week he might be open to revisiting the controversial new limit on state and local tax deductions that hits many middle-income residents hard in California and other high-tax, Democratic states. Even so, don’t count on any changes to the Republican tax bill that went into effect last year happening any time soon.” [Los Angeles Times, 2/16/19]

The California Franchise Tax Board Estimated 1 Million Households Would Pay Over $12 Billion In Additional Taxes Under The Trump Tax Plan. “While millions of California families saw their federal taxes fall this tax season, the Jarvis family is among an estimated 1 million households who are paying more—actually some $12 billion more, according to the Franchise Tax Board. That’s because the cap on state and local tax (SALT) deductions disproportionately impacted progressive states with high taxes by limiting the amount residents used to be able to deduct from their federal filings.” [Cal Matters, 4/10/19]

Politifact: “Residents In Higher-Tax States Like California Will Be Hurt By Changes To The State And Local Tax Deduction;” In California, New York And New Jersey, The Average Taxpayer Who Itemized SALT Would Face A Tax Increases Of Around $5,500. “But residents in higher-tax states like California will be hurt by changes to the state and local tax deduction. Previously, California residents could deduct the amount they pay in state and local taxes from their federal tax bill. As part of the 2017 tax bill, deductions will be capped at $10,000. The provision is set to end after 2025. […] The average deduction in California, New York and New Jersey are all over $17,000. If the state and local tax deduction were eliminated, ‘an average taxpayer in New York who currently itemizes SALT (state and local tax) would face a tax increase of almost $5,500.’ That figure wouldn’t be far off for a decent chunk of Californians.” [Politifact, 9/7/18]

Tax Cuts And Jobs Act Would Reduce State And Local Tax Deduction, Would Result In Double Taxation. “This week, the US House of Representatives is expected to vote on federal tax legislation proposed by House Republican leaders, with the support of President Trump, that calls for significant cuts to the federal deduction for state and local taxes (SALT). … Reducing or eliminating the SALT deduction, then, would result in double taxation, thereby increasing the income taxes paid by millions of households in the US, including more than 5 million households in California.” [California Budget & Policy Center, 11/15/17]
Valadao Was A Swampy Politician Who Put Himself First

Significant Findings

Valadao repeatedly violated or evaded campaign finance and ethics rules, taking advantage of a “skeezy campaign trick”

- 2020: In what The New Republic called a “skeezy campaign trick,” Valadao’s leadership PAC converted more than $65,000 into campaign cash by swapping donations with other Republican candidates.

- 2020: Valadao freed up roughly $60,000 in campaign funds by paying his campaign manager and treasurer out of his leadership PAC during the second half of the election year, potentially violating federal law.
  - End Citizens United filed a complaint against Valadao alleging the campaign violated federal election law by paying the campaign manager from two separate fundraising accounts.

- At least four of Valadao’s congressional staffers were paid reimbursements from Valadao’s congressional campaigns totaling more than $15,000, which potentially violated federal law.
  - Federal law prohibited house employees from making contributions to their employing members – even for expenditures reimbursed by the campaign.

- In 2021, a Valadao constituent filed an ethics complaint against him for failing to disclose his creditors on a previous financial disclosure.

- In 2019, Valadao’s bankruptcy filing revealed that he failed to disclose his ownership of Triple V Cattle for six years.

Valadao cashed in on his congressional contacts.

- Valadao was paid over $5,000 to be a consultant for Richard Spencer, a Fresno developer whose no-bid contracts with the local school district were under federal investigation.
  - Spencer and his employees contributed more than $40,000 to Valadao’s campaign.

- 2018-2020: Valadao was paid over $5,000 to be a consultant for Vertical Tank Inc., a company whose executives contributed more than $20,000 to Valadao’s campaign.

- 2008: Valadao took a loan from a campaign donor, a practice associated with “serious concerns about possible conflicts of interest.”

Valadao successfully offered an amendment to block construction of a high-speed rail that would have affected the value of land owned by him and his family.

- Valadao owned land worth more than $1.8 million along the proposed routes for the high-speed rail in California.
Valadao’s family had an additional $6.2 million in land within a mile of one or both routes.

CREW called on the OCE to investigate Valadao for not disclosing his financial interest in blocking the high-speed rail when he offered his amendment.

Valadao sponsored a bill crafted by Trump-connected lobbyist and future Interior secretary David Bernhardt, who lied during a confirmation hearing that he had ceased lobbying.

The bill’s opponents said it would invalidate state laws and take water from people who depend on the Delta, including small farmers, while giving it to a small group of well-connected agribusiness interests.

2015: Valadao accepted $1,500 from David Bernhardt.

2012-2021: Valadao accepted $7,850 from the General Manager at Westlands Water District, Thomas Birmingham.

Valadao introduced legislation that would have increased the value of milk sold in California and benefited him and his family personally as dairy farmers.

2013: Valadao introduced legislation to allow California dairy farmers to petition to be accepted into the federal milk price control system and got it added to the farm bill.

Valadao said California’s dairy pricing system “put us in a bad position” and inclusion in the federal pricing system would put California dairy farmers in the same boat as everyone else.

Valadao’s bill was partly in response to a fight between dairy producers and cheese processors in California over the price of whey.

2013: Valadao got the language of his milk bill added to the national farm bill.

- The USDA began hearings on a California federal milk marketing order based on Valadao’s language included in the 2013 farm bill.

From 2006 to 2019 Triple V Dairy received more than $200,000 in USDA subsidies, despite Valadao calling farm subsidies “bad public policy.”

While Valadao voted against economic relief for others, his family dairy farm received over $200,000 in pandemic relief loans from which he benefitted directly as an employee.

April 2020: Valadao Dairy accepted $200,000 in Paycheck Protection Program loans. The Fresno Bee reported Valadao worked at the dairy as of 2020.

June 2020: Valadao Dairy received $10,000 in Economic Injury Disaster Loans.

February/March 2021: Valadao voted against the American Rescue Plan that included over $40 million in Restaurant Revitalization Funding and $2 billion in Shuttered Venues Operators Grants to help business and venues impacted by the pandemic in California.

- Sacramento Bee editorial: Valadao “Voted Against Basic Relief For Families And Businesses Suffering From The Effects Of A Global Pandemic.”

2020: Taking Advantage Of A “Legal Loophole,” Valadao’s Leadership PAC Converted $65,000 Of Its Funds Into Campaign Cash By Swapping Donations With Other GOP Candidates

2020 Cycle: Valadao’s Leadership PAC Converted More Than $65,000 Into Campaign Cash By Mutually Swapping Leadership PAC Donations With 24 Other GOP House Candidates

2020 Cycle: Taking Advantage Of A “Legal Loophole,” Valadao’s Leadership PAC Converted More Than $65,000 Into Campaign Cash By Swapping Leadership PAC Donations With 24 Other GOP House Candidates. “In Valadao’s case, FEC records show his leadership PAC disbursed $179,561 in the 2019–20 cycle, and close to 75 percent of this was either converted into campaign cash or used to cover general campaign expenses. This included converting more than $65,000 into campaign cash by mutually swapping leadership PAC donations with 24 other GOP House candidates. Most swaps of leadership PAC donations work like this. Candidate A donates an amount from his own leadership PAC to candidate B’s campaign committee. Candidate B’s leadership PAC in turn donates a similar amount to Candidate A’s main campaign account. This allows funds in both candidates’ leadership PACs to go down as their campaign balances increase. By shuffling money between these multiple entities, campaigns create a legal loophole since technically neither campaign is spending its own PAC money directly on its own campaigns.” [New Republic, 7/16/21]
Valadao Was One Of 126 Republican House Candidates Who Took Advantage Of A Leadership PAC Loophole That Converted More Than $2.8 Million In Donations To Those PACs Into Campaign Cash.

New Republic: “Team Valadao Employed Several Unusual Tactics Involving Its Political Action Committee—Known As A ‘Leadership PAC’—That Ultimately Provided His Campaign With Upward Of $120,000 In Extra Campaign Cash.” “Valadao would win his seat back by 1,522 votes, but he trailed Cox in fundraising for most of the race. To stay financially close, Team Valadao employed several unusual tactics involving its political action committee—known as a ‘leadership PAC’—that ultimately provided his campaign with upward of $120,000 in extra campaign cash, mostly down the stretch.” [New Republic, 7/16/21]

Valadao Was One Of 126 Republican House Candidates Who Took Advantage Of A Leadership PAC Loophole That Converted More Than $2.8 Million In Donations To Those PACs Into Campaign Cash. “Valadao was hardly alone. FEC filings show he was among 126 Republican House candidates who took advantage of the same leadership PAC loophole that helped convert more than $2.8 million in donations to those PACs into campaign cash.” [New Republic, 7/16/21]

The Conversion To Campaign Cash Was Achieved Through Complex Swaps Of Nearly 800 Donations Between Candidates’ Leadership PACs And Their Campaign Committees

The Conversion To Campaign Cash Was Achieved Through Complex Swaps Of Nearly 800 Donations Between Candidates’ Leadership PACs And Their Campaign Committees. “This was achieved through complex swaps of nearly 800 donations between candidates’ leadership PACs and their main campaign committees. Though technically not illegal, the swaps show the lengths candidates are going to in order to move around large amounts of money to compete in ever more expensive House races.” [New Republic, 7/16/21]

Valadao More Than Doubled His Leadership PAC Swaps From 2016 To 2018, Then Nearly Doubled Again In 2020

Valadao Went From Swapping With 6 Candidates In 2016, To 13 Candidates In 2018 And Up To 24 Candidates In The 2020 Election Cycle. “Valadao’s increasing use of mutual leadership PAC swaps follows the Republican trend. He first opened a leadership PAC in 2014 during his second term in office, but he made no swaps that election cycle. However, after that election doubled in cost, he swapped with six other candidates during the 2016 cycle. This doubled in 2018, with swaps with 13 candidates, and then nearly doubled again to 24 last cycle.” [New Republic, 7/16/21]

In Q1 Of The 2022 Cycle, Valadao Completed Swaps With 8 Republican House Colleagues—including Reps. Dan Newhouse & Tom Rice

In Q1, Valadao Completed Swaps With 8 Republican House Colleagues. “Either way, the midterm fundraising machines have already revved up, and all indications are that mutual leadership PAC swaps will grow significantly in total dollars and participating candidates. Take the Valadao campaign in just the first quarter of 2021. Last election cycle, it didn’t complete its first mutual leadership PAC donation swap until September 2019. But in Q1, Valadao completed swaps with eight different GOP House colleagues.” [New Republic, 7/16/21]

- Valadao Swapped With Rep. Dan Newhouse And Rep. Tom Rice. “Noteworthy is the fact that two of Valadao’s early swapping partners are House colleagues who made just one swap combined last cycle. The swap newbie is Representative Dan Newhouse, who completed five swaps in Q1 for $12,500 in quick campaign cash. Tom Rice made just one last cycle, but already has four under his belt netting $9,000.” [New Republic, 7/16/21]

2020: Valadao Freed Up Roughly $60,000 In Campaign Funds By Paying Multiple Campaign Staffers Out Of His Leadership PAC, Potentially Violating Federal Law

During The Final Months Of The Campaign, Campaign Manager Andrew Renteria’s Salary From The Main Campaign Dropped To $1,500 A Month—With $4,904 Being Paid By Valadao’s Leadership PAC

October 2019-May 2020: Valadao’s Campaign Manager, Andrew Renteria, Was Initially Paid Between $6,000 And $6,400 A Month Through Valadao’s Main Campaign Account. “During the campaign, Valadao’s campaign manager, Andrew Renteria, was paid between $6,000 and $6,400 a month. From October 2019 to May 2020, he was paid completely by Valadao’s main campaign account, like any campaign staffer.” [New Republic, 7/16/21]

During The Final Six Months Of The Campaign Renteria’s Salary Payment From The Main Campaign Account Dropped To $1,500 A Month—The Difference Of $4,904 Was Paid By Valadao’s Leadership PAC. “During the campaign, Valadao’s campaign manager, Andrew Renteria, was paid between $6,000 and $6,400 a month. From October 2019 to May 2020, he was paid completely by Valadao’s main campaign account, like any campaign staffer. However, this abruptly changed in the final six months of the campaign, when Renteria’s salary payment from the main Valadao campaign account dropped to $1,500 per month, and the monthly difference ($4,904, or 75 percent of his income) was paid by the leadership PAC.” [New Republic, 7/16/21]
The Leadership PAC Listed Its Payments To Renteria As “Fundraising Consulting” Totaling Just Under $30,000 Which Had The Effect Of Freeing Up The Same Amount For Spending On Other Campaign Needs.

“The leadership PAC’s FEC filings described these payments to Renteria as for ‘Fundraising Consulting,’” and they totaled just under $30,000. This had the effect of freeing up that same amount for spending on other campaign needs. However, one of the few clear rules of leadership PACs is that no funds can be used to pay directly for campaign expenses.” [New Republic, 7/16/21]

End Citizens United Filed A Complaint Against Valadao Alleging The Campaign Violated Federal Election Law By Paying Renteria From Two Separate Political Fundraising Accounts

End Citizens United Filed A Complaint Against Valadao Alleging That Andrew Renteria Was Paid From Two Separate Political Fundraising Accounts In Violation Of Federal Election Law. “Former Rep. David Valadao while running to return to Congress this year paid his campaign manager's salary with money from two separate political fundraising accounts in a possible violation of federal election law, according to a new complaint based on campaign finance records. End Citizens United, a left-leaning political action committee that works to ‘get big money out of politics,’ filed a complaint about Valadao's alleged violation on Monday and shared it with McClatchy. Valadao, a Republican from Hanford, paid nearly $20,000 to his campaign manager, Andrew Renteria, this election cycle from his leadership political action committee, called Vitoria PAC, according to records with the Federal Election Commission.” [Fresno Bee, 10/27/20]

Andrew Renteria Was Paid Near $20,000 From Valadao’s Leadership PAC, Vitoria PAC. “Valadao, a Republican from Hanford, paid nearly $20,000 to his campaign manager. Andrew Renteria, this election cycle from his leadership political action committee, called Vitoria PAC, according to records with the Federal Election Commission.” [Fresno Bee, 10/27/20]

- Valadao’s Campaign Committee Originally Paid Andrew Renteria $6,400 Per Month For His Role As Campaign Manager At The Beginning Of 2020. “Valadao's campaign committee originally paid Renteria about $6,400 per month for his position as campaign manager, starting at the beginning of 2020, according to FEC reports.” [Fresno Bee, 10/27/20]

- July 2020: Valadao’s Campaign Committee Paid Andrew Renteria $1,500 Per Month While Vitoria PAC Paid Renteria $4,900 A Month. “But starting in July, the campaign committee paid Renteria about $1,500 per month, while Valadao's leadership PAC paid Renteria about $4,900 per month. The sum of the two payments equals the amount Renteria earned from just the campaign committee in the first half of the year.” [Fresno Bee, 10/27/20]

- July-October 2020: Andrew Renteria Received Four $4,900 Payments From Vitoria PAC. “But starting in July, the campaign committee paid Renteria about $1,500 per month, while Valadao's leadership PAC paid Renteria about $4,900 per month. The sum of the two payments equals the amount Renteria earned from just the campaign committee in the first half of the year. Renteria received four $4,900 payments from Vitoria PAC, in July, August, September and October, according to FEC reports.” [Fresno Bee, 10/27/20]

ECU Claimed That The Payment To Andrew Renteria Represented An “In-Kind Contribution” To Valadao’s Campaign And Asked The FEC To Investigate. “In the election law complaint, End Citizens United argues that the payment to Renteria represents an ‘in-kind contribution’ to Valadao's campaign under federal regulations and asked the FEC to investigate. ‘FEC regulations do not permit a federal candidate to employ their leadership PAC as a tool to circumvent limits on permissible contributions,’ the complaint reads. ‘As a former, three-term member of Congress who now seeks to reclaim to his old seat, David Valadao should know that his conduct blatantly violates longstanding federal laws and regulations.’” [Fresno Bee, 10/27/20]

Valadao Paid His Chief Of Staff, Andrew Renteria, $25,000 To Be His Campaign Manager. According to Valadao’s 2021 Year-End report, Valadao’s Chief of Staff, Andrew Renteria, was paid $25,000 for “campaign manager services.” [FEC, 10/31/21]

- Andrew Renteria Served As Valadao’s Chief Of Staff. Since January 2021, Andrew Renteria served as Valadao’s Chief of Staff. [LegiStorm, accessed 2/10/22]

Valadao’s Campaign Treasurer Switched From Receiving Most Of Her Salary From The Main Campaign To The Leadership PAC, Freeing Up To $32,000 For The Main Campaign Account

Valadao’s Campaign Treasurer Initially Received 75% Of Her Compensation From The Main Campaign Account, But Later Switched To Receiving 80% Of Her Compensation Through The Leadership PAC. “Not covered by the End Citizens United complaint was a similar shifting of compensation for the campaign treasurer. The treasurer handled FEC filings for both the campaign account and leadership PAC. For most of the campaign, the main campaign account paid about 75 percent of her compensation; however, in the last seven months of the campaign, this ratio more than flipped, with about 80 percent covered by the leadership PAC. This served to free upward of $32,000 in Valadao’s main campaign account that was instead covered by the leadership PAC.” [New Republic, 7/16/21]

Paying Valadao’s Treasurer From The Leadership PAC Instead Of The Main Campaign Account Freed Up To $32,000 In The Main Campaign Account. “Not covered by the End Citizens United complaint was a similar shifting of compensation for the campaign treasurer. The treasurer handled FEC filings for both the campaign account and leadership PAC. For most of the campaign, the main campaign account paid about 75 percent of her compensation; however, in the last seven months of the campaign, this ratio more than flipped, with about 80 percent covered by the leadership PAC. At Least Four Of Valadao’s Congressional Staffers Were Paid Reimbursements From Valadao’s Congressional Campaigns Totaling More Than $15,000, Which Potentially Violated Federal Law

House Ethics Committee: “The Prohibition Against Making a Contribution to One’s Employing Member” Applied To “Most Outlays” That A House Staffer “Makes On Behalf Of A Campaign.” “A provision of the federal criminal code, 18 U.S.C. § 603, makes it unlawful for any federal officer or employee to make certain campaign contributions to ‘the employer or employing authority of the person making the contribution.’ Accordingly, an employee of a Member office is prohibited from making a ‘contribution’ as that term is used in the statute to his or her employing Member. […] In particular, staff members should be aware that under FEC regulations, most outlays that an individual makes on behalf of a campaign are deemed to be a contribution to that campaign from that individual. This is so even if it is intended that the campaign will reimburse the individual promptly. The major exception to this rule is for outlays that an individual makes to cover expenses that he or she incurs in traveling on behalf of a campaign. Accordingly, a House employee should not make any outlay on behalf of the employing Member’s campaign, other than outlays for the employee’s personal travel expenses that are consistent with the FEC regulations, or for another purpose that is deemed not to constitute a contribution under FECA or the regulations.” [House Committee on Ethics, accessed 12/19/17]

11 CFR 116.5 Defined Contribution To Include “Payment By An Individual From His Or Her Personal Funds, Including A Personal Credit Card, For The Costs Incurred In Providing Goods Or Services To, Or Obtaining Goods Or Services That Are Used By Or On Behalf Of, A Candidate Or A Political Committee.” “The payment by an individual from his or her personal funds, including a personal credit card, for the costs incurred in providing goods or services to, or obtaining goods or services that are used by or on behalf of, a candidate or a political committee is a contribution unless the payment is exempted from the definition of contribution under 11 CFR 100.79.” [11 CFR 116.5]

The Exception To 11 CFR 116.5 Covered “Unreimbursed Payment For Transportation Expenses Incurred By Any Individual” In The Course Of A Campaign Under $1,000. [11 CFR 100.79]

Valadao’s Bankruptcy Filing Revealed That He Failed To Disclose His Ownership Of Triple V Cattle For Six Years

“Cox’s former 2018 opponent and apparent challenger in 2020, former Rep. David Valadao, a Republican from Hanford, has financial issues of his own, including an apparent failure to disclose one of his companies. Valadao’s family farm was seized in June 2018 after the dairy failed to pay back $8.3 million in loans. Rabobank sued Triple V Dairy in Fresno County Superior Court in November 2017, and the dairy was set to be auctioned off to repay the money. Valadao and his wife filed for bankruptcy protection for their dairy and cattle businesses earlier this year, citing $13 million in business debts. Valadao listed a company called Triple V Cattle, LLC in that bankruptcy filing in February, but did not disclose that business in his most recent financial disclosure, which covered the year 2017. Valadao has filed to run for the congressional seat in 2020 with the Federal Election Commission and has planned fundraisers for his campaign, but has not officially announced if he is running.” [Fresno Bee, 8/21/19]

- Valadao’s Personal Financial Disclosures Filed Between 2012 And 2018 Did Not List Triple V Cattle.

- Valadao’s Bankruptcy Stated He Abandoned His 33% Stake In Triple V Cattle In October 2018. [United States Bankruptcy Court for the Eastern District of California, Case #19-10542, Voluntary Petition for Individuals Filing for Bankruptcy, filed 2/15/19 (Page 15)]

The Company Was Only Discovered When Valadao Listed The Company In His Bankruptcy Filings

The Company Was Only Discovered When Valadao Listed The Company In His Bankruptcy Filings.

“Valadao listed a company called Triple V Cattle, LLC in that bankruptcy filing in February, but did not disclose that business in his most recent financial disclosure, which covered the year 2017.” [Fresno Bee, 8/21/19]

2021: A Valadao Constituent Filed An Ethics Complaint Against Him For Failing To Disclose His Creditors On A Previous Financial Disclosure

A Resident From Valadao’s District, Maria Martinez, Filed An Ethics Complaint Against Valadao Seeking More Information About The Unidentified Creditors Listed On Valadao’s Previous Financial Disclosures

A Resident From Valadao’s District, Maria Martinez, Filed An Ethics Complaint Against Valadao Seeking More Information About The Unidentified Creditors Listed On Valadao’s Previous Financial Disclosures.

“Members of Congress are required to make their assets and liabilities publicly available annually. They file their financial disclosures with the House Clerk’s office, which puts that information into an online, searchable database. Maria Martinez, a resident from Valadao’s district, last month filed an ethics complaint against the representative seeking more information about the unidentified creditors from Valadao’s previous disclosure forms. The complaint says it’s unlikely the unnamed creditors were each owed less than $10,000 given the limited number of people listed in the farm’s bankruptcy filings.” [McClatchy Washington Bureau, 8/23/21]

- HEADLINE: California Republican is debt free for first time in office. What happened to his creditors? [Fresno Bee, 10/12/21]

Valadao Claimed No Liabilities For 2020 But In 2019 Valadao Claimed To Have Owed At Least $16 Million To Various Creditors, Some Of Which Had Not Been Disclosed

Valadao Claimed No Liabilities For 2020 But In 2019 Valadao Claimed To Have Owed At Least $16 Million To Various Creditors, Some Of Which Had Not Been Disclosed.

“Rep. David Valadao, R-Hanford, claimed no liabilities for 2020 — a far cry from 2019, when he claimed he owed at least $16 million to various creditors, some of whom he did not disclose the identities of, in connection to one of his family’s dairy farms.” [Fresno Bee, 10/12/21]

Valadao’s Farms Declared Bankruptcy After Facing A Lawsuit In November 2017 When Triple V Dairy And Two Star Dairy Were Sued By Rabobank Over Unpaid Loans

Valadao’s Farms Declared Bankruptcy After Facing A Lawsuit In November 2017 When Triple V Dairy And Two Star Dairy Were Sued By Rabobank Over Unpaid Loans. “The farm declared bankruptcy after facing a lawsuit in November 2017 when Valadao and his family’s farms, Triple V Dairy and Two Star Dairy, were sued by Rabobank, a financial services company, over unpaid loans.” [Fresno Bee, 10/12/21]

• Valadao Signed Off On At Least Five Loans—Approximately $6 Million – From Rabobank Since 2013. “Valadao signed off on at least five loans adding up to at least $6 million from Rabobank since he was first sworn in as a congressman in 2013, according to his financial disclosures, which are available dating back to fiscal year 2012.” [Fresno Bee, 10/12/21]

2016-2018: Valadao Owned Between $5 Million And $25 Million To “Various Unsecured Creditors” Over “Outstanding Accounts Payable For Triple V Dairy Partnership.” “In addition to Rabobank in the filing for 2019, the most recent one for which Valadao listed liabilities, the congressman owed money to Kubota Credit Corporation, a financier, and Western Milling, which offers farming equipment and support. One section of his 2019 form showed that from 2016 and 2018, Valadao owed between $5 million and $25 million to ‘various unsecured creditors’ over ‘outstanding accounts payable for Triple V Dairy partnership.’” [Fresno Bee, 10/12/21]

Federal Disclosure Rules State That Congressmen Have To Provide Information About Entities Or Individuals To Whom They Owe More Than $10,000—Meaning Valadao May Still Have Some Debt Under $10,000

Federal Disclosure Rules State That Congressmen Have To Provide Information About Entities Or Individuals To Whom They Owe More Than $10,000—Meaning Valadao May Still Have Some Debt Under $10,000. “Federal disclosure rules say congressmen must provide information about any entity or individual to whom they more than $10,000. Valadao may still have some debts, but none that surpasses $10,000.” [Fresno Bee, 10/12/21]

• The Complaint Filed Against Valadao Claimed It Was Unlikely The Unnamed Creditors Were Owed Less Than $10,000 Given The Limited Number Of People Listed In The Farm’s Bankruptcy Filing. “Maria Martinez, a resident from Valadao’s district, last month filed an ethics complaint against the representative seeking more information about the unidentified creditors from Valadao’s previous disclosure forms. Valadao Was A Consultant For Richard Spencer

According To Valadao’s PFD, He Was Compensated In Excess Of $5,000 By Richard Spencer. [Valadao 2020 Public Financial Disclosure Report, filed 8/13/21]

Spencer Was A Republican Donor

Spencer Was A Republican Donor And Hosted A Fundraiser With Valadao That Benefitted The NRCC. “A Fresno fundraiser for House Speaker John Boehner attracted around 100 guests and raised a bit under $200,000, one of the people close to the organizers said Friday. The private luncheon was hosted by businessman Richard Spencer and his wife, Karen, as well as three of the Ohio Republican’s closest congressional allies — Devin Nunes, Jeff Denham and David Valadao. It was held at Spencer’s Harris Construction offices near Fresno Yosemite International Airport. It benefitted a joint fundraising committee composed of Boehner, the National Congressional Campaign Committee, The Freedom Project and the Ohio Republican Party State Central & Executive Committee.” [Fresno Bee, 3/13/15]

Richard Spencer Was A Fresno Developer Whose No-Bid Contracts With Fresno Unified School District Were Under Federal Investigation

Richard Spencer Was A Fresno Developer Whose No-Bid Contracts With Fresno Unified School District Were Under Federal Investigation. “The Fresno developer who was the biggest donor to Fresno Unified’s last school bond measure – and financially has reaped the benefits of its passage – has contributed nothing to the current Measure X campaign. The unusual halt in contributions from Richard Spencer, the head of Harris Construction, comes amid a federal investigation of no-bid construction projects he was awarded by Fresno Unified through a controversial ‘lease-leaseback’ system the district has stopped using since it was subpoenaed in 2015.” [Fresno Bee, 10/5/16]

- The District Utilized “Leaseback Contracts,” Which Allowed The District To Avoid The Competitive Bidding Process And Handpick The Contractors. “Leaseback contracts allow school districts to avoid the competitive bidding process and handpick the contractors who will do their projects. Fresno Unified’s use of leaseback contracts with Harris Construction has landed it in court, with questions raised about whether it has led to a pay-to-play system.” [Fresno Bee, 10/5/16]

- Leaseback Agreements Were Designed To Allow Cash-Strapped Districts To Build Schools By Going Outside The Traditional Competitive Bidding Process. “Leaseback agreements were designed to allow cash-strapped districts to build schools by going outside of the traditional competitive bidding process and handpicking consultants to front the cost of a project and then be repaid by the district incrementally over time. Fresno Unified used the leaseback process even though it had the money to pay for the $37 million project.” [Fresno Bee, 9/8/15]

2015: A Fresno Court Ruled That A Contract Between Spencer’s Business, Harris Construction, And Fresno Unified Was Not Genuine Because The Leaseback Contract Method Was Used Improperly

Fresno Unified School District’s petition for review, allowing local contractor Stephen Davis to head back to Fresno County Superior Court, where he will allege that the school district used the ‘leaseback’ method of financing in order to avoid the competitive bid process and guarantee that the $37 million Gaston Middle School project would go to Harris Construction. […] The Fresno-based 5th District Court of Appeal said in June that in Fresno Unified’s case, the contract was not genuine and was a leaseback agreement in name only. The district had the money to pay for the project, and the court said it used the leaseback method improperly.” [Fresno Bee, 8/31/15]

Spencer Donated About $30,000 To A School Bond Measure Before Receiving No-Bid Contracts Related To The Successful Measure Worth $115 Million

“The Fresno developer who was the biggest donor to Fresno Unified’s last school bond measure – and financially has reaped the benefits of its passage – has contributed nothing to the current Measure X campaign. […] After Spencer gave about $30,000 to the committee to pass Measure Q, a $280 million bond Fresno Unified passed in 2010, he was awarded nearly $115 million in leaseback contracts paid for by Measure Q funds. Up until then, Fresno Unified had taken the traditional route of publicly advertising projects and awarding them to builders who made the lowest offers. […] Harris Construction donated $15,000 to a political action committee that helped pass the State Center Community College District bond in June, and Richard F. Spencer & Affiliates has donated thousands in support of local school bond measures in the past month, including those for Sanger Unified, Central Unified, Caruthers Unified, and Firebaugh-Las Deltas Unified, according to documents filed with Fresno County.” [Fresno Bee, 10/5/16]

- Spencer, His Family, And Harris Construction Employees Donated Nearly $10,000 To The 2012 Campaigns Of Three Fresno Unified Trustees. “The investigation is probing district officials’ personal emails and phone records, and asks for any information related to financial dealings between the contractors and officials, including their involvement in the passage of Measure Q and campaigns to get Fresno Unified trustees elected. Harris and its owner, Richard Spencer, were the largest donors to Measure Q, contributing $30,000. And for the 2012 board election, Spencer, family members and company employees pitched in nearly $10,000 to the campaigns of three trustees.” [Fresno Bee, 9/8/15]

Emails Showed Harris Construction And Fresno Unified Discussed No-Bid Projects Long Before The School Board Approved Them

“Despite Fresno Unified’s claims that Harris Construction was not favored to win multimillion-dollar contracts that are now under federal investigation, emails obtained by The Bee show that the developer and district officials discussed no-bid projects long before the school board approved them. And now some trustees are questioning whether the relationship between district and Harris officials was too cozy. According to emails from 2011 – requested by The Bee under the Public Records Act – school district officials exchanged ‘lease-leaseback’ contracts with Harris Construction officials prior to board approval and held lunch dates with the company’s vice president, Mike Spencer. Spencer also invited district officials for a glass of wine and offered deluxe seats to a Grizzlies baseball game.” [Fresno Bee, 3/2/16]

2008: Valadao Took A Loan From A Campaign Donor, A Practice Associated With “Serious Concerns About Possible Conflicts Of Interest”

2008: Valadao Dairy Received A Loan Worth Between $1 Million And $5 Million Loan From Delbert Ellis, Who Owned A Nearby Farm And Donated Over $15,000 To Valadao’s Campaigns. “Maybe it was just ‘love’ that helped Delbert Ray Ellis and David Valadao, R-Calif., find each other. In May 2008, before he was elected to the House, Ellis loaned Valadao between $1 million and $5 million to provide ‘financing for Valadao Dairy,’ according to Valadao’s financial disclosure statement. Valadao’s dairy farm has been in the family since his parents, immigrants from Portugal, started it in 1973. Ellis’ family owned nearby Mid-Cal Farms until 2014, when the company was dissolved. […] Ellis has been a contributor to the congressman since the latter’s days in the California State Assembly, when he donated $2,500 to his first campaign. Since then Ellis has donated another $13,100 to Valadao’s campaigns for his seat in the House, according to Federal Election Commission records, maxing out in the last two election cycles.” [Center for Public Integrity, 8/29/17]

Center For Public Integrity: Taking Personal Loans From Campaign Donors Raised “Serious Concerns About Possible Conflicts Of Interest.” “There’s nothing illegal about such loans, even when the lender is also a campaign contributor. And there’s no explicit evidence of a quid pro quo in which legislative action was taken in exchange for the loan. But government watchdog groups and others say such arrangements raise serious concerns about possible conflicts of interest. A review of campaign finance data revealed that at least seven of the members with nonbank loans also received campaign contributions from their lender.” [Center for Public Integrity, 8/29/17]

Valadao Used His Office To Try To Prevent Construction Of A Highspeed Rail Line That Would Have Impacted The Value Of Property Owned By Him And His Family

Valadao Successfully Offered An Amendment To Block Construction Of A High Speed Rail That Would Have Affected The Value Of Land Owned By Him And His Family…

Fresno Bee: “Valadao Successfully Offered An Amendment To A House Appropriations Bill That Would Bar The Federal Surface Transportation Board From Approving Individual Construction Segments.” “In June, Valadao successfully offered an amendment to a House appropriations bill that would bar the federal Surface Transportation Board from approving individual construction segments of the state project. Instead, the board would be allowed only to consider the statewide high-speed train network in its entirety. The federal board, which plays a key oversight role, already has approved construction of the first 30-mile stretch of tracks from northeast of Madera to the south end of Fresno. The net effect of Valadao’s amendment, if it becomes law, would be to stall for years -- if not permanently derail -- any additional sections of the bullet-train system. It’s not clear, however, if Valadao’s colleagues on the House Appropriations Committee were aware of his property interests or how the rail line would affect those lands when they voted on his amendment.” [Fresno Bee, Editorial, 7/13/13]

• The House Appropriations Committee Passed Valadao’s Proposal To Restrict Federal Funding To California’s High Speed Rail. “On Thursday, the House Committee on Appropriations dealt a blow to California High Speed Rail with the passage of legislative proposals authored by U.S. Congressman David G.
Valadao (CA-21) within the FY2014 Transportation, Housing, and Urban Development (THUD) Appropriations Bill. Base bill language proposed by Congressman Valadao, was previously adopted by the Subcommittee and today by the Full Committee. This language prevents additional federal funds from being spent on construction of proposed California High Speed Rail projects in 2014. Additionally, during today's Committee Markup, Congressman Valadao introduced an amendment requiring all actions by the Surface Transportation Board (STB) to address California High Speed Rail may only occur if the Surface Transportation Board has permitted the project in its entirety.” [Rep. David Valadao, press release, 6/27/13]

- Rail Authority Chairman Dan Richard Said That Valadao’s Amendment Was “Very Clearly Constructed With One Purpose: To Stop The High-Speed Rail Project In Its Entirety. Period.” “Dan Richard, chairman of the rail authority, said in an interview that although the authority is prepared to seek the approval of the federal Surface Transportation Board for segments of the rail project, the Valadao amendment is ‘very clearly constructed with one purpose: to stop the high-speed rail project in its entirety. Period.’ Richard said the authority, which has received about $3.3 billion in federal funding, had no plans to seek additional federal dollars for next year. But he said the funding prohibition would hurt the authority's ability to raise private funds for the project. ‘This is the wrong time to be saying, “We want to send a message to everybody that we don't support high-speed rail,”’ he said. ‘If that stayed in there, it would simply slow our efforts to expand the funding base to include the private sector.’” [US Official News, 7/24/13]

Fresno Bee: Valadao Owned Land That Stood To Be Affected By Either Of The Two High Speed Rail Routes Being Studied In Kings County. “Republican House members up and down the San Joaquin Valley are squarely opposed to California's high-speed rail project, for which construction could begin this summer. But while the issue is largely one of political philosophy for other GOP representatives, it hits much closer to home for Rep. David Valadao, R-Hanford, whose family's Valadao Dairy owns property that stands to be affected by either of two high-speed routes being studied in Kings County. Despite repeated attempts, The Bee could not interview Valadao last week, partly because of his travel schedule. But his spokeswoman offered email responses to questions. ‘Proposed high-speed rail projects affect Congressman Valadao just like they affect the rest of the community who elected him to represent them in Washington,' Valadao spokeswoman Anna Vetter said.” [Fresno Bee, Editorial, 7/13/13]

Fresno Bee: Three Valadao Dairy Parcels Totaling 509 Acres And Worth More Than $1.8 Million Were Along One Of The Proposed Routes Through King County. “Three Valadao Dairy parcels sit directly along one of the routes through Kings County -- a line that skirts west of Hanford and generally follows the BNSF Railway freight tracks between Hanford and Corcoran. Those parcels amount to about 509 acres and have a combined assessed value of more than $1.8 million, according to a database on the Kings County Assessor's Office website. The largest of those parcels, at just over 402 acres and $1.14 million in value, also would be affected by a new road overpass associated with an east-of-Hanford bypass. Valadao's staff said last week he was unavailable to address questions about property disclosures or whether he felt he had an obligation to inform his fellow representatives when Valadao proposed his amendment and voted to report the bill out of the Appropriations Committee.” [Fresno Bee, Editorial, 7/13/13]

Fresno Bee: Besides “The Three Valadao Dairy Parcels That Would Be Directly Affected By The Project, The Dairy Owns Six Other Parcels Within A Mile Of At Least One Of The Prospective Track Options.” “In addition to the three Valadao Dairy parcels that would be directly affected by the project, the dairy owns six other parcels within a mile of at least one of the prospective track options. Those parcels represent about 209 acres and have a total combined assessed value of nearly $1.38 million. Also within a mile of one or both routes are another 455 acres owned by either Valadao's parents, Eduardo and Maria Valadao, or his uncle, Manuel Valadao, with the four parcels having assessed values totaling nearly $6.2 million.” [Fresno Bee, Editorial, 7/13/13]

That Tickets Would Be More Expensive Than What The High Speed Rail Authority Had Claimed

Valadao: Instead Of Costing $55 Per Ticket, It's Going To Cost About $120 To Ride From San Francisco To Los Angeles. “In 2008, voters were told that high-speed rail in the Central Valley would follow existing transportation corridors with limited interruption into surrounding communities. They were told that the project would cost $33 billion and that a one-way ticket from San Francisco to Los Angeles would cost $55. Valadao Said Taxpayers Were Victims Of A Bait And Switch Because The Rail Authority Wanted To Destroy Local Farmland And Homes Instead Of Using An Existing Corridor As Voters Were Told In 2008

Valadao: Taxpayers Were “Victims Of A Bait And Switch.” Because Instead Of Being Constructed On Existing Corridor, The “Rail Authority Wants To Destroy Local Farmland And Family Homes To Construct The Rail Line.” “In 2008, voters were told that high-speed rail in the Central Valley would follow existing transportation corridors with limited interruption into surrounding communities. And That His Proposal Would Stop The Surface Transportation Board From Using “Questionable Piecemeal Approaches To Circumvent Regulatory Protocol To Permit Rail Projects.”

Valadao: “The High Speed Rail Authority Has Pushed Aside, Ignored, And Mistreated Families, Businesses And Community Leaders Who Are Going To Be Substantially Impacted By This Project.” “I understand that there are going to be impacts on the local community. But it is the responsibility of project officials to be accountable; listen to the concerns of those impacted, and making appropriate revisions to project plans to minimize disruption. Unfortunately, the High Speed Rail Authority has pushed aside, ignored, and mistreated families, businesses and community leaders who are going to be substantially impacted by this project.” [David Valadao, Fresno Bee, 9/6/11]

David Valadao (R-Calif.) broke House rules last month, asserting the freshman lawmaker abused his Appropriations Committee post for his own financial benefit. Relying heavily on an article that appeared in The Fresno Bee earlier this month, Citizens for Responsibility and Ethics in Washington claimed that Valadao worked in his own interest when he authored an amendment in June that would bar the Surface Transportation Board from approving segments of a high-speed rail line in California and require the project to be dealt with in its entirety. Opponents of the bullet train project include landowners whose property values could be reduced adjacent to or near the proposed rail lines. In its report, the Bee noted that land belonging to Valadao's own business is included in that group. Working on local agricultural interests through the California Milk Advisory Board and the Western States Dairy Trade Assn. spurred an interest in politics, and Valadao was elected to Congress after serving in the state Assembly. Valadao’s stake in the Triple V and Valadao dairies has consistently made him one of the poorest members of Congress. 2013: Valadao Introduced Legislation To Allow California Dairy Farmers To Petition To Be Accepted Into The Federal Milk Price Control System And Got It Added To The Farm Bill

Valadao Said California’s Dairy Pricing System “Put Us In A Bad Position” And Inclusion In The Federal Pricing System Would Put California Dairy Farmers In The Same Boat As Everyone Else

by an unprecedented soaring of feed costs amid low milk prices, have for months petitioned California Secretary of Agriculture Karen Ross to raise the whey price. Processing companies have in turn argued that there is already overproduction in the state and that plants without whey processing capacity could go out of business. The battle has given rise to AB 31, a producer-supported California bill that would raise whey prices up to 80 percent of the price established by the federal pricing system. Processor organizations that have opposed AB 31, such as the Dairy Institute of California, aren't taking a position on the Valadao bill.” [Hanford Sentinel, 5/14/13]

2013: Valadao Got The Language Of His Milk Bill Added To The National Farm Bill

Valadao Announced That The House Committee On Agriculture Agreed To Include An Authorization For A California Federal Milk Marketing Order In The 2013 Farm Bill. “Last week, Members of the Senate and House began drafting the 2013 Farm Bill legislation. Today, Congressman David G. Valadao (CA-21) announced that the House Committee on Agriculture has agreed to include an authorization for a California Federal Milk Marketing Order that has been requested by Congressman Valadao. In March, Congressman Valadao, along with California Congressmen Jim Costa (CA-16), Devin Nunes (CA-22), Jeff Denham (CA-10), Kevin McCarthy (CA-23), and Doug LaMalfa (CA-1), introduced H.R. 1396; the California Federal Milk Marketing Order Act. The legislation would allow California dairy producers to petition the U.S. Secretary of Agriculture to be considered to join the Federal Milk Marketing Order. Following discussions with Chairman Frank Lucas and other Members of the Committee, the House Committee on Agriculture has agreed to Congressman Valadao's request and that the issue be affirmatively addressed in the comprehensive 2013 Farm Bill. Inclusion of these provisions will allow farmers in California and other states not currently included in the Federal Order to petition for inclusion.” [Rep. David Valadao, press release, 5/13/13]

David Valadao, R-Hanford. Valadao's bill, introduced in March with support from Rep. Jim Costa, D-Fresno; Rep. Jeff Denham, R-Turlock; and Rep. Doug LaMalfa, R-Richvale, was included last week in the proposed 2013 Farm Bill package. The bill would give dairy operators the option of petitioning the U.S. Secretary of Agriculture to abandon California's regional pricing scheme and join the federal milk marketing order, a move local dairy owners say would raise prices. They say California is $1.50-$2 per hundredweight below prices in surrounding states. ‘California's pricing system has put us in a bad position,’ Valadao said. ‘Putting us in the federal order puts us in the same boat as everyone else.’” [Hanford Sentinel, 5/14/13]
The USDA Began Hearings On A California Federal Milk Marketing Order Based On Valadao’s Language Included In the 2013 Farm Bill

2015: The USDA Began Hearings On A California Federal Milk Marketing Order Based On Valadao’s Language Included In the 2013 Farm Bill. “Today, Tuesday, September 22, 2015, the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) began the first stage of their federal Hearing on Proposals for a California Federal Milk Marketing Order in Clovis, California. Under current California dairy pricing structures, dairy producers face an unfair disadvantage in the federal market place. Many California dairy producers have expressed interest in entering the Federal Milk Marketing Orders (FMMOs), the guidelines under which dairy processors purchase fresh milk from dairy farmers providing milk for a marketing area, therefore providing stability in the fresh milk market. In response to constituent concerns, Congressman David G. Valadao (CA-21) introduced bipartisan legislation addressing California’s struggling dairy industry in March 2013. H.R. 1396; the California Federal Milk Marketing Order Act aimed to allow California dairy producers to petition the U.S. Secretary of Agriculture to be considered to join the Federal Milk Marketing Order. During the drafting of the 2013 Farm Bill, Congressman Valadao worked directly with Chairman Frank Lucas (OK-03) and other Members of the House Agriculture Committee to ensure inclusion of his FMMO legislation in the 2013 Farm Bill paving the way for this USDA hearing today.” [Rep. 2017: Valadao’s GROW Act Passed The House Of Representatives

Valadao Described The GROW Act As A Long Term Solution That Would Protect Users’ Water Rights. “The ‘Gaining Responsibility on Water Act,’ H.R. 23, from Rep. David Valadao and 11 other California Republicans, would reduce the cost of water delivery contracts and amend the 1992 Central Valley Project Improvement Act to give users more authority over how restoration funds are spent. … In January, Valadao described the WIIN Act language as "temporary provisions" and said his bill was necessary as a ‘long-term agreement.’ ‘My bill, the GROW Act, will enact policies to expand our water infrastructure and allow for more water conveyance while protecting the water rights of users across the state,’ he said.” [E&E News, 7/10/17]

2017: Valadao’s GROW Act Would Require “Regulators To Comply With The Bipartisan Bay-Delta Accord, Which Is Consistent With The Requirements Of The Endangered Species Act.” “In an effort to restore water deliveries for struggling communities, Congressman David G. Valadao introduced H.R. 23, the Gaining Responsibility on Water Act, also known as the GROW Act. The legislation provides relief to Californians by restoring water deliveries that have been drastically reduced over the last two decades as a result of various environmental lawsuits and illogical state and federal regulations. Rep. Valadao’s legislation requires regulators to comply with the bipartisan Bay-Delta Accord, which is consistent with the requirements of the Endangered Species Act. Furthermore, the bill will cut red tape holding back major water storage projects that have been authorized for over a decade, which will aid the entire Western United States during dry years.” [Rep. David Valadao, press release, 7/12/17]

Valadao’s Water Bill Was Crafted By Trump-Connected Lobbyist And Future Interior Secretary David Bernhardt, Who Lied During A Confirmation Hearing That He Was Done Lobbying

The California Agriculture Lobby Pushed Valadao’s GROW Act (H.R. 23). “The drought may be over and Central Valley farmers are getting more water than they have in years, but that hasn’t stopped congressional Republicans from resurrecting a bill that would strip environmental protections for fish so more water can be funeled to agriculture. … Nonetheless, the legislation by Rep. David Valadao, R-Hanford, offers a window into the unrelenting mindset of California’s agricultural lobby as it seeks to secure water for well-funded farming groups. … Valley farm groups aren’t shy about pressing their case in Washington. Westlands, for instance, spent a combined $1.3 million lobbying Congress and various federal agencies on water issues in 2015 and 2016, according to OpenSecrets.org.” [Sacramento Bee, 7/20/17]

Republican Lobbyist, David Bernhardt, Crafted Valadao’s Water Bill On Behalf Of His Client, Westlands Water District, After Lying To Congress That He Had Stopped Lobbying. “Even as lawmakers voted, only a few insiders knew the sweeping measure was in part the secret handiwork of a Washington lobbyist who soon might play a key role administering the nation’s environmental policies: David Bernhardt, President Donald Trump’s nominee to become the No. 2 executive in the U.S. Department of the Interior. Bernhardt is a longtime lobbyist for the politically powerful Westlands Water District, which has crusaded for years for more federal irrigation water – and fewer environmental rules – for growers. According to emails made public this week by the Planning and Conservation League environmental group, Bernhardt was involved in political work for Westlands well into this year, even though he told the Senate that he ceased lobbying for Westlands on Nov. 18, 2016. A confirmation vote is set for Monday. Democrats have lined up against Bernhardt because of conflict-of-interest concerns, and two good-government groups have called for investigations into whether Bernhardt violated federal lobbying laws and lied to Congress when he denied performing ‘regulated lobbying activity’ for Westlands. … The emails indicate Bernhardt’s work on the Valadao measure began Nov. 22 of last year, four days after he claimed he stopped lobbying for Westlands. … An aide to Valadao asked Bernhardt to review proposed language for the new bill concerning ‘the San Joaquin River Settlement language.’ The issue was technical but important: The bill sought to shut down a program to restore a salmon run on the lower San Joaquin River, even though the government had agreed to the effort to settle an environmental lawsuit. Should Valadao borrow language from an old bill that had failed to pass, or should new language be crafted? Bernhardt forwarded the email to Westlands. Later that day, another Valadao aide emailed Westlands, asking for a ‘letter of unequivocal support’ for the measure the lawmaker was about to introduce. Soon after, Bernhardt wrote a letter on Westlands letterhead, calling the bill ‘a solution to the long-term water supply challenges facing California.’” [Center for Investigative Reporting, 7/22/17]

Bush administration official, to become the next U.S. Interior Secretary. The nomination was approved by a vote of 56-41, largely along party lines. Democratic Sens. Kyrsten Sinema of Arizona, Joe Manchin of West Virginia and Martin Heinrich of New Mexico voted for his confirmation, as did Angus King of Maine, an independent who caucuses with Democrats.” [Colorado Independent, 4/11/19]

- While David Bernhardt Had Not Contacted Legislators Or Members Of The Executive Branch With Legal Advice On H.R. 23, He Did Provide Legal Advice On H.R. 23 And Related Issues Up To The Time Of His Nomination. “He may not have contacted legislators or members of the executive branch on Westlands’ behalf related to H.R. 23, the definition of lobbying. But Bernhardt, a lawyer, provided the district with legal advice on that bill and related issues up to the time of his nomination, according to emails cited by Reveal and obtained by Public Records Act requests by Patricia Schifferle. Schifferle, who opposes the tunnels, consults for the Planning and Conservation League. Those emails detail the extent of Westlands’ involvement in the legislation. In an email dated Dec. 13, an aide to Valadao sent a draft of what became H.R. 23 to several insiders including Westlands officials, and asked for ‘any edits you would like us to make.’” [Editorial, Sacramento Bee, 7/28/17]

Opponents Of The GROW Act Said It Would Invalidate State Laws, Threaten Species, And Permanently Dry Up California’s Second Longest River

H.R. 23 Would Ease “Flow Restrictions That Have Limited Water Deliveries To Western Kings County That Pass Through The Imperiled Ecosystem Of The Sacramento-San Joaquin River Delta”

Valadao Bill Would Ease “Flow Restrictions That Have Limited Water Deliveries To Western Kings County That Pass Through The Imperiled Ecosystem Of The Sacramento-San Joaquin River Delta.” “Valadao, R-Hanford, has introduced a major new water bill in the U.S. House of Representatives that could increase the flow of Northern California water to Kings County. Valadao announced the legislation Tuesday. ‘This Western drought has had devastating consequences on my constituents in California's Central Valley,’ Valadao said in a written statement. ‘My bill ... will enact policies to expand our water infrastructure and allow for more water conveyance while protecting the rights of water users across the state.’ The bill attempts to ease environmental flow restrictions that have limited water deliveries to western Kings County that pass through the imperiled ecosystem of the Sacramento-San Joaquin River delta. Farmers use the water to grow crops.” [Hanford Sentinel, 1/4/17]

Critics Said Valadao’s GROW Act Would Invalidate California And Federal Environmental Laws...

San Francisco Chronicle Editorial: Valadao’s H.R. 23 Would “Exempt Water Projects In California From Long-Standing State Laws Protecting The Environment, And Invalidate Iconic Federal Environmental Laws.” “One of the most dangerous and sweeping such congressional proposals is HR23, the deceptively named "Gaining Responsibility on Water Act." That bill, which has already passed the House, would reverse the federal government's century-old deference to state water law, exempt water projects in California from long-standing state laws protecting the environment, and invalidate iconic federal environmental laws applying to those projects. This attack on California water rights is the handiwork of California Republicans led by Rep. David Valadao of Tulare and House Majority Leader Kevin McCarthy of Bakersfield. Make no mistake: They drafted this bill in close collabo-ration with Central Valley agribusiness interests. If successful, HR23 would provide additional water... to California farmers and ranchers at the expense of California's environment.” [Richard Frank, San Francisco Chronicle, 8/6/17]

Valadao’s GROW Act Would “Basically Block Or Override Several State Water Laws - Contrary To Conservatives' Often-Stated Goal Of Reducing The Federal Government's Role.” “Specifically, Valadao wants to boost water deliveries to valley farms - which grow most of the country's avocados, almonds and broccoli, among other crops - leaving less water in rivers to help threatened fish in the Sacramento-San Joaquin River Delta. That trade-off has environmentalists and Democrats calling the GROW Act a water grab and an attack on state and federal environmental protections. And it could have repercussions for the entire Delta system, which provides much of the state's surface water supplies. The bill, H.R. 23, would basically block or override several state water laws - contrary to conservatives' often-stated goal of reducing the federal government's role and giving states greater power to manage resources. ‘They are trying to preempt the state from managing its rivers to balance the benefits to the economy with the need to protect the environment,’ says Doug Obegi, attorney for the Natural Resources Defense Council.” [High County News, Editorial, 8/21/17]

California Democrats Opposed GROW Act, Argued That It Usurped California Laws In Favor Of Trump Administration Having More Control And Would Damage Fisheries. “Outside the House, California officials are speaking out against the legislation. Feinstein and Sen. Kamala Harris (D-Calif.) this week issued a joint statement against the bill saying it is ‘giving the Trump administration greater control over water management in our state.’ They also argue that the bill would ‘set back the progress made’ in the WIIN Act compromise and criticized the bill's potential impact on fisheries protections. ‘Science should be at the center of all decisions affecting California's water supply. This bill would eliminate the existing biological opinions required under the Endangered Species Act,’ they said. ‘It also prevents California from using new scientific data to manage our water supply by reverting us back to outdated limits set more than two decades ago.’ Gov. Jerry Brown (D) also condemned the bill in a Monday letter to House Speaker Paul Ryan (R-Wis.), saying it interferes with his state's right to govern itself. ‘This bill overrides California water law, ignoring our state's prerogative to oversee our waters,’ he wrote. ‘Commandeering our laws for purposes defined in Washington is not right.’ He argued that managing California's water system — and balancing the needs of urban areas, rural areas and endangered species — is ‘best done at the state and local level — not in a polarized political climate 3,000 miles away.’” [E&E Daily, 7/12/17]

Valadao-Written Water Bill Was Criticized By Rep. Jerry McNerney For Usurping California Laws, Taking Water From People Who Depend On The Delta. “A controversial bill that critics say will strip California of much of its ability to regulate water supplies sailed through the Republican-controlled House of Representatives Wednesday evening. The vote was 230-190. The bill’s author is Rep. David Valadao, R-Hanford. It had 14 co-sponsors, 13 of whom are Republicans. … Supporters say the hand of the federal government will open the taps to allow the pumping of more water out of the California Delta instead of conserving it to help fish and wildlife in the Delta. Among those opposed to the legislation is Rep. Jerry McNerney, D-Stockton, whose district includes much of the Delta. ‘Yes, this is the same bill that would weaken environmental laws that protect our vital resources – specifically the Endangered Species Act, which has long been a target of the Republican Party. It pits Northern and Southern California against each other, harming those in my district and the northern part of the state to benefit a few wealthy farmers in the south. And it does nothing to create any new water,’ Mr. McNerney says. ‘However, this time, the person who would be charged with overseeing the implementation of this legislation has a clear conflict of interest. David Bernhardt, who has been nominated as Deputy Secretary of the Interior, previously lobbied for the Westlands Water District and negotiated the controversial deal that ended with the Department of Interior paying out $350 million to the water district,’ Mr. McNerney says. ‘This is the nation’s largest water district and, if Mr. Bernhardt is confirmed and this legislation enacted, he would have the power to pump even more water into the area at the expense of everyone that depends on fresh water from the Delta.’” [Central Valley Business Times, 7/12/17]
Valadao’s Water Bill Was Criticized By Rep. Jared Huffman For Taking Water Away From Fishermen, Tribes, Delta Farmers To Redistribute It To A Small Group Of Well-Connected Agribusiness Interests.

“Democrats accused the GOP of overriding California law and its power over water supplies, while significantly harming commercial fishing in the state by reapportioning water. ‘Make no mistake. If enacted, this bill will hurt a lot of people,’ said Rep. Jared Huffman (D-Calif.) ‘It takes water away from fishermen, from tribes, the environment, Delta farmers and others in order to redistribute it, primarily to a small group of some of the nation’s biggest and most politically connected agribusiness interests.’ Huffman said the bill preempts California state law in numerous ways, like blocking state protections for fisheries and its ability to manage water for the public good. He cited a letter Gov. Jerry Brown (D) wrote to the congressional delegation opposing it.” [The Hill, 7/12/17]

The GROW Act Would Threaten Species Of Fish Close To Extinction And Permanently Dry Up The San Joaquin River

Valadao Water Bill “Threatens Thousands Of Fishing Jobs” And Could “Permanently Dry Up California’s Second Longest River.” “It is the height of hypocrisy that this legislation claims to protect state water rights from federal interference, yet would pre-empt California from conditioning state water rights under state law,” said Doug Obegi, lawyer with the Natural Resources Defense Council, in a statement. ‘H.R. 23 threatens thousands of fishing jobs, would permanently dry up California’s second longest river and would destroy the delta estuary and drive native species extinct.’” [Courthouse News, 7/20/17]

Sacramento Bee: San Joaquin River Threatened By Valadao Water Bill. “Valadao’s HR 23, which passed the House earlier this month on a mostly party-line vote, overrides a quarter-century of state and federal protections for endangered fish, while fast-tracking reviews for several proposed controversial dams. A section of the bill is dedicated to killing a program that seeks to bring more flows to the San Joaquin River, where miles of river often dry up because of agricultural diversions and dams.” [Sacramento Bee, 7/20/17]

- Press-Democrat: HR 23 Was Valadao’s Latest Attempt “To Benefit Central Valley Growers By Putting Politics Ahead Of Science In Allocating California’s Water.” “The bill, HR 23, is the latest attempt by Rep. David Valadao, R-Hanford, to benefit Central Valley growers by putting politics ahead of science in allocating California’s water. Unlike past efforts that were packaged as drought relief, this bill is a straight up water grab by Big Ag interests in the Central Valley and their House allies. It was jammed through the House this month without a public hearing — and over the objections of their Northern California lawmakers. ‘Make no mistake, if enacted, this bill will hurt a lot of people,’ Rep. Jared Huffman, D-San Rafael, said on the House floor. ‘It takes water away from fisherman, tribes, the environment, Delta farmers and others, in order to redistribute it primarily to a small group of the nation’s biggest and most politically-connected agribusiness interests.’” [Editorial, Press-Democrat, 7/23/17]

HEADLINE: Critics Blast House Republicans’ California Water Grab. [Courthouse News, 7/20/17]

Sacramento Bee: “Nunes And Valadao Joke About Westlands’ Water Grab. We’re Not Laughing.” “The occasion was the passage of H.R. 23, carried by fellow San Joaquin Valley Republican, Rep. David Valadao of Hanford, although its authorship is clearly at issue. The bill is the House Republicans’ latest attempt to weaken the Endangered Species Act at the Sacramento-San Joaquin River Delta’s expense, and at the behest of the Westlands Water District, the sprawling irrigation district where some of the state’s wealthiest farmers tend their crops. Upon the bill’s passage, Nunes tweeted a photo of five cupcakes, four of which were topped with fish-shaped gummy candies. Perhaps he ate the fifth or maybe he threw it away. Whatever the gummy’s fate, the Tulare politician’s tweet thanked Valadao ‘for sending this excellent gift: smelt-themed cupcakes.’ In the sheltered offices of Congress, where Republicans talk to Republicans about burdens imposed by environmental law on their donors, Nunes’ tweet must have been a hoot.” [Editorial, Sacramento Bee, 7/28/17]

Tribal And Government Officials Said Valadao’s GROW Act “Would Virtually End Trinity River Dam Water Releases” And Eliminate Humboldt County’s Right To Water

Tribal And Government Officials Argued That Valadao Water Bill “Would Virtually End Trinity River Dam Water Releases” And Eliminate Humboldt County’s Right To Water. “Local tribal and government officials say a bill currently under U.S. Senate review would virtually end Trinity River dam water releases used to prevent fish kills and do away with Humboldt County’s 60-year right to river water in favor of providing more water to Central Valley irrigators. California Rep. Jared Huffman (D-San Rafael) said the bill — HR 23 introduced by California Rep. David Valadao (R-Hanford) — is but one of several attempts over the years by Central Valley water contractors and suppliers, namely the Fresno-based Westlands Water District, to redirect more Trinity River water for their own interests. … Local officials said this week that the bill would undo longstanding provisions adopted by Congress that protect Trinity River fish and Humboldt County’s water rights. These provisions adopted in 1955 and 1959 gave Humboldt County an annual right to 50,000 acre-feet of water from Trinity Lake and stated that Trinity River water can only be diverted to the Central Valley after enough has been provided to protect fish. Humboldt County’s water right was not formally recognized by the Interior Department until January 2015, and the water has since been used in recent years to prevent fish diseases that have devastated federally protected salmon species on the lower Klamath and Trinity rivers.” [Times-Standard, 7/28/17]

Valadao Introduced Legislation That Would Have Increased The Value Of Milk Sold In California, Personally Benefiting Him And His Family As Dairy Farmers

Los Angeles Times: “Valadao Grew Up In The Dairy Business And In 1992 Became A Partner In The Family's Central Valley Dairy"

Los Angeles Times: “Valadao Grew Up In The Dairy Business And In 1992 Became A Partner In The Family's Central Valley Dairy.” “Valadao grew up in the dairy business and in 1992 became a partner in the family’s Central Valley dairy. Working on local agricultural interests through the California Milk Advisory Board and the Western States Dairy Trade Assn. spurred an interest in politics, and Valadao was elected to Congress after serving in the state Assembly. Valadao’s stake in the Triple V and Valadao dairies has consistently made him one of the poorest members of Congress. According to his annual financial disclosure report, Valadao’s stake in each dairy is worth between $1 million and $5 million, but lines of credit against the farms and equipment give him an estimated net worth of negative $17.5 million.” [Los Angeles Times, 6/12/18]

2013: Valadao Introduced Legislation To Allow California Dairy Farmers To Petition To Be Accepted Into The Federal Milk Price Control System And Got It Added To The Farm Bill

2013: Valadao Introduced The “California Federal Milk Marketing Order Act” For “California Dairy Producers To Petition The U.S. Secretary Of Agriculture” To “Join The Federal Milk Marketing Order.” “Today, U.S. Congressman David G. Valadao (CA-21) introduced bipartisan legislation addressing California's struggling dairy industry. The California Federal Milk Marketing Order Act would allow California dairy producers to petition the U.S. Secretary of Agriculture to be considered to join the Federal Milk Marketing Order.
Under the current California pricing system, dairy producers throughout the state have closed down, resulting in lost revenue and jobs.” [Rep. David Valadao, press release, 3/22/13]

Valadao said California’s Dairy Pricing System “Put Us In A Bad Position” And Inclusion In The Federal Pricing System Would Put California Dairy Farmers In The Same Boat As Everyone Else

Valadao: “California's Pricing System Has Put Us In A Bad Position,” And “Putting Us In The Federal Order Puts Us In The Same Boat As Everyone Else.” “Dairy operators wanting to bypass California's milk pricing system and switch to a federal milk marketing order would get their chance under a bill sponsored by Rep. David Valadao, R-Hanford. Valadao's bill, introduced in March with support from Rep. Jim Costa, D-Fresno; Rep. Jeff Denham, R-Turlock; and Rep. Doug LaMalfa, R-Richvale, was included last week in the proposed 2013 Farm Bill package. The bill would give dairy operators the option of petitioning the U.S. Secretary of Agriculture to abandon California's regional pricing scheme and join the federal milk marketing order, a move local dairy owners say would raise prices. They say California is $1.50-$2 per hundredweight below prices in surrounding states. ‘California's pricing system has put us in a bad position,’ Valadao said. ‘Putting us in the federal order puts us in the same boat as everyone else.’” [Hanford Sentinel, 5/14/13]

Valadao’s Bill Was Partly In Response To A Fight Between Dairy Producers And Cheese Processors In California Over The Price Of Whey

Hanford Sentinel: Valadao’s Bill Was “Partly A Response To The Fight Going In California Between Producers And Cheese Processors Over The Price Paid For Whey.” “The bill is partly a response to the fight going in California between producers and cheese processors over the price paid for whey, the milk byproduct once considered trash but now a commodity turned into protein consumer products. Producers, hurt by an unprecedented soaring of feed costs amid low milk prices, have for months petitioned California Secretary of Agriculture Karen Ross to raise the whey price. Processing companies have in turn argued that there is already overproduction in the state and that plants without whey processing capacity could go out of business. The battle has given rise to AB 31, a producer-supported California bill that would raise whey prices up to 80 percent of the price established by the federal pricing system. Processor organizations that have opposed AB 31, such as the Dairy Institute of California, aren't taking a position on the Valadao bill.” [Hanford Sentinel, 5/14/13]

California’s Two-Tier Milk Pricing Quota System Entitled Producers To A Higher Milk Price For Some Quantity Of Milk And Quotas Could Be Bought And Sold—And Valadao’s Legislation Contemplated Keeping California’s Quota System Even If Produced Joined The Federal Milk Marketing Order System

California’s Two-Tier Milk Pricing Quota System Entitled Producers To A Higher Milk Price For Some Quantity Of Milk And Quotas Could Be Bought And Sold. “California’s unique milk marketing order also includes a two-tier pricing system, part of which is called the quota. The quota entitles a producer to a higher milk price for some quantity of milk. Quota can be bought and sold. The legislation introduced Thursday contemplates California retaining this quota system even if the state’s dairy producers decided to join the federal milk marketing order system.” [McClatchy DC, 3/22/13]

Valadao Announced That The House Committee On Agriculture Agreed To Include An Authorization For A California Federal Milk Marketing Order In The 2013 Farm Bill. “Last week, Members of the Senate and House began drafting the 2013 Farm Bill legislation. Today, Congressman David G. Valadao (CA-21) announced that the House Committee on Agriculture has agreed to include an authorization for a California Federal Milk Marketing Order that has been requested by Congressman Valadao. In March, Congressman Valadao, along with California Congressmen Jim Costa (CA-16), Devin Nunes (CA-22), Jeff Denham (CA-10), Kevin McCarthy (CA-23), and Doug LaMalfa (CA-1), introduced H.R. 1396: the California Federal Milk Marketing Order Act. The legislation would allow California dairy producers to petition the U.S. Secretary of Agriculture to be considered to join the Federal Milk Marketing Order. Following discussions with Chairman Frank Lucas and other Members of the Committee, the House Committee on Agriculture has agreed to Congressman Valadao's request and that the issue be affirmatively addressed in the comprehensive 2013 Farm Bill. Inclusion of these provisions will allow farmers in California and other states not currently included in the Federal Order to petition for inclusion.” [Rep. David Valadao, press release, 5/13/13]

The USDA Began Hearings On A California Federal Milk Marketing Order Based On Valadao’s Language Included In the 2013 Farm Bill

2015: The USDA Began Hearings On A California Federal Milk Marketing Order Based On Valadao’s Language Included In the 2013 Farm Bill. “Today, Tuesday, September 22, 2015, the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) began the first stage of their federal Hearing on Proposals for a California Federal Milk Marketing Order in Clovis, California. Under current California dairy pricing structures, dairy producers face an unfair disadvantage in the federal market place. Many California dairy producers have expressed interest in entering the Federal Milk Marketing Orders (FMMOs), the guidelines under which dairy processors purchase fresh milk from dairy farmers providing milk for a marketing area, therefore providing stability in the fresh milk market. In response to constituent concerns, Congressman David G. Valadao (CA-21) introduced bipartisan legislation addressing California's struggling dairy industry in March 2013. H.R. 1396; the California Federal Milk Marketing Order Act aimed to allow California dairy producers to petition the U.S. Secretary of Agriculture to be considered to join the Federal Milk Marketing Order. During the drafting of the 2013 Farm Bill, Congressman Valadao worked directly with Chairman Frank Lucas (OK-03) and other Members of the House Agriculture Committee to ensure inclusion of his FMMO legislation in the 2013 Farm Bill paving the way for this USDA hearing today.” [Rep. David Valadao, press release, 9/22/15]

Valadao Called Agricultural Subsidies “Bad Public Policy”

Valadao Called Agricultural Subsidies “Bad Public Policy.” “Valadao—a dairy farmer himself—called subsidies ‘bad public policy’ and said the defeat of his bill ‘is bad news for those that consume food, work in agriculture, or care about the environment, and good news for a small group of wealthy corn ethanol producers.’ Feinstein’s statement said corn ethanol was ‘the only industry that benefits from a triple crown of government intervention: its use is mandated by law, it is protected by tariffs, and companies are paid by the federal government to use it.’” [Fresno Bee, 5/8/11]

While Valadao Voted Against Economic Relief For Others, His Family Farm Received Over $200,000 In Pandemic Relief Which Valadao Benefitted Directly As An Employee

After Valadao’s Family Dairy Farm Received Over $200,000 In Pandemic Relief Loans…

April 2020: Valadao Dairy, Where Valadao Worked, Accepted $201,000 In Paycheck Protection Program Loans
April 2020: Valadao’s Family Farm, Valadao Dairy, Received A PPP Loan In April Between $150,000 And $300,000. “Valadao's family farm, called Valadao Dairy, also took out a loan in April between $150,000 and $300,000. Valadao currently works at the dairy, though he no longer has an ownership stake in the farm. ‘For over two years, David has had no ownership stake in Valadao Dairy and had no decision making authority when it came to the company applying for a PPP loan,’ said Andrew Renteria, Valadao's campaign manager.” [Fresno Bee, 7/8/20]

…Valadao Voted Against Economic Relief For Others

Valadao Voted Against Concurring In The Senate Amendment To The American Rescue Plan Act. In March 2021, Valadao voted against: “Yarmuth, D-Ky., motion to concur in the Senate amendment to the bill comprising a $1.9 trillion coronavirus relief package to further address the health and economic effects of COVID-19, including approximately $362 billion in direct aid to state and local governments; $47.8 billion for testing and contact tracing; $168 billion to assist educational institutions; and $53.6 billion to assist small businesses. It would extend federal unemployment compensation benefits through Sept. 6, 2021; provide tax rebates of $1,400 for individuals with incomes of $75,000 or less; and extend or expand a number of employer and individual tax credits, including credits to subsidize health insurance premiums. The bill would provide direct assistance of $195.3 billion for states and $130.2 billion for local governments, as well as $10 billion for grants to states to support capital projects, such as broadband access. It would provide $122.8 billion for an Education Department elementary and secondary school emergency relief fund; $39.6 billion for grants to higher education institutions; $3 billion for education programs for individuals with disabilities and $2.75 billion for non-public schools. It would provide $39 billion for child care block grants to states. It would provide $27.8 billion for emergency rental assistance and housing vouchers, $10 billion for homeownership assistance and $5 billion for assistance to individuals experiencing homelessness. It would continue the 15% increase in Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program benefits through September 2021. It would provide over $92 billion for the Health and Human Services Department, including $47.8 billion for COVID-19 testing and contact tracing; $7.5 billion for vaccine administration and distribution; $6.1 billion for vaccine and therapeutic development, manufacturing and procurement; $7.6 billion to expand the public health workforce; $7.6 billion for community health centers; $6.1 billion for Native American health programs; and $3 billion for substance abuse and mental health block grant programs. It would provide $50 billion for the Federal Emergency Management Agency disaster relief fund; $14.5 billion for veterans' health care services; $10 billion for emergency medical supply production under the Defense Production Act; $8.7 billion for COVID-19 health response efforts overseas; and $200 million for Labor Department worker protection activities, including at least half for the Occupational Safety and Health Administration. It would extend federal unemployment compensation
Valadao Voted Against Passage Of The American Rescue Plan Act. In February 2021, Valadao voted against: “Passage of the fiscal 2021 budget reconciliation bill, as amended, comprising a coronavirus relief package that would provide roughly $1.9 trillion in funding to further address the health and economic effects of COVID-19, including approximately $350 billion in direct aid to state and local governments; $47.8 billion for testing and contact tracing; $168 billion to assist educational institutions; and $50 billion to assist small businesses. It would extend and increase federal unemployment compensation benefits for 24 weeks and increase the weekly amount to $400; provide tax rebates of $1,400 for individuals with incomes of $75,000 or less; extend or expand a number of employer and individual tax credits, including credits to subsidize health insurance premiums; and gradually increase the federal minimum wage to $15 per hour. Among other provisions, the bill would provide $195.3 billion for direct assistance to states and $130.2 billion for local governments; $128.6 billion through fiscal 2023 for an Education Department elementary and secondary school emergency relief fund and $39.6 billion for grants to higher education institutions, including to provide emergency financial aid; and continue the 15% increase in Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program benefits through September 2021. It would provide $47.8 billion for COVID-19 testing and contact tracing; $7.5 billion for vaccine administration and distribution; and $6.1 billion for vaccine and therapeutic development, manufacturing and procurement. It would require Medicaid and the Children's Health Insurance Program to fully cover the cost of COVID-19 vaccines. It would expand eligibility in 2021 and 2022 for federal tax subsidies toward Affordable Care Act marketplace insurance premiums, including to fully cover premium costs for individuals earning up to 150% of the federal poverty level and cap premiums at 8.5% of household income. It would provide $50 billion for small business assistance, including $28.6 billion for restaurants and $7.25 billion for the Paycheck Protection Program. It would provide $4 billion for Agriculture Department pandemic-related assistance.” The motion was agreed to by a vote of 220-211. [HR 1319, Vote #72, 3/10/21; CQ, 3/10/21]

Valadao Claimed The American Rescue Plan Left Rural Communities Behind And Only Gave 9% To COVID Relief

Valadao Claimed The $1.9 Trillion Covid Relief Package Left Rural Communities Behind. “The COVID relief bill is a slush fund that's little more than a liberal Democratic wish list. Too much is going to help cash-rich state and local governments. And the whole $1.9 trillion package costs much too much […] That's the unified, consistent, unmistakable message from California's 11 House Republicans. They all voted against the economic relief plan passed by the House Wednesday. They all also voted against the first version of the bill last month. Rep. David Valadao, R-Hanford, also said the bill was another example of leaving rural communities behind. ‘Just as we are seeing with vaccination distribution in our state, the Bay Area is once again receiving preferential treatment over rural communities thanks to Speaker Pelosi,’ Valadao said in a statement Wednesday. ‘This package will pay off most of San Francisco's $650 million budget deficit, while the Central Valley is struggling with nearly double... the unemployment rates in San Francisco, a hurting economy, and bleak vaccination rates.’” [Sacramento Bee, 3/10/21]

Valadao Said The American Rescue Plan Was A “Giveaway” To The San Francisco Bay Area That Ignored The Rural Communities. “In response to House passage of the American Rescue Plan, the big COVID relief and economic stimulus bill, GOP Reps. Devin Nunes and David Valadao left no question about how they view their constituents, many of them among the poorest of Californians. To Nunes, the Tulare Republican, the $1.9 trillion measure is nothing more than a ‘slush fund,’ he told Fox News. Nevermind that his 22nd District has a 15.2% poverty rate. Meanwhile, Hanford's Valadao blasted the bill as a giveaway of federal largesse to House Speaker Nancy Pelosi's San Francisco district, while ignoring the millions that will come to his 21st District to help its poor residents. The 21st District's poverty rate: 23.4%.” [Fresno Bee, 3/11/21]

Valadao Claimed The $1.9 COVID Relief Package Only Gave 9% To COVID Relief. “The Democrats are playing hyper-partisan politics with a global pandemic. Read my statement on why I voted no on the $1.9 trillion COVID-19 "relief" package that actually only gives 9% to COVID relief below.” [Rep. David Valadao Twitter, 1/25/21]

Through The American Rescue Plan, California Received $43.5 Million In Economic Impact Payments And Valadao’s District Received $49.1 Million In Child Tax Credit Payments

The American Rescue Plan Provided $1,400 Direct Payments, Aid To State And Local Governments, Schools, And Small Businesses, An Expanded Child Tax Credit, And Vaccine Distribution Funds

The American Rescue Plan Provided $1,400 Direct Payments, Aid To State And Local Governments, Schools, And Small Businesses, An Expanded Child Tax Credit, And Vaccine Distribution Funds. “President Biden signed the $1.9 trillion American Rescue Plan Act into law on Thursday, finalizing an early policy victory that will send much-needed aid to millions of Americans still struggling from the COVID-19 pandemic. […] The American Rescue Plan provides $1,400 direct payments to individuals making up to $75,000 annually, $350 billion in aid to state and local governments and $14 billion for vaccine distribution. The bill also provides $130 billion to elementary, middle and high schools to assist with safe reopening. […] It includes an additional $300 billion in weekly jobless benefits through September and an expanded tax credit of up to $3,600 per child, initially distributed in monthly installments. The child tax credit could raise 4 million children out of poverty, according to an analysis by the Center on Budget and Policy Priorities. More than $50 billion will be distributed to small businesses, including $7 billion for the Paycheck Protection Program. The bill also provides $25 billion for relief for small and mid-sized restaurants, which have suffered significantly during the pandemic.” [CBS News, 3/12/21]

Economic Impact Payments

Individuals In California Received $43.5 Million In Third Round Economic Impact Payments Of Up To $1,400 Through The American Rescue Plan. California received $43.5 million in Third Round Economic Impact Payments through The American Rescue Plan Act: “The U.S. Department of the Treasury and the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) released state-by-state data through early June for the 163.5 million Economic Impact Payments (EIPs) totaling nearly $390 billion received by individuals through the American Rescue Plan Act. With this round of payments, the IRS and the Bureau of the Fiscal Service (BFS) have delivered more EIPs and more total direct relief than in any previous round of direct relief. All 50 states saw more total relief with this round of payments than in previous rounds. […] The EIPs under the American Rescue Plan included payments of up to $1,400 per qualifying dependent, a significant increase over the $500 and $600 per qualifying child from the first and second rounds of payments, respectively.” [Department of the Treasury, Press Release, 6/29/21]

Child Tax Credit
According to estimates from the Joint Economic Committee made using state-level data from the Treasury, California’s 21st District received $49.1 million in Child Tax Credit payments as of August 2021. According to estimates from the Joint Economic Committee, California’s 21st district had received $49.1 million in Child Tax Credit payments as of August 2021: “Using state-level data from the Treasury Department on advance Child Tax Credit (CTC) payments, the Joint Economic Committee estimated the number of qualifying children, total number of payments, and total payment amount by congressional district in August 2021, when the second round of CTC payments was distributed.” [Joint Economic Committee, 9/9/21; Joint Economic Committee, Estimates of Advance Child Tax Credit Distribution by Congressional District, 9/9/21]

- JEC Analysis Showed The CTC Had Dramatically Reduced Food Insecurity And Financial Hardship, And Was Expected To Inject Nearly $19.3 Billion Into Local Economies Each Month. “JEC analysis of data from the Census Bureau show the expanded CTC is already having a major impact on family budgets, with dramatic declines in food insufficiency and financial hardship, and the JEC estimates that monthly CTC payments will inject nearly $19.3 billion into local economies each month. The expanded CTC will generate nearly $19.3 billion in spending in local economies across the U.S. each month. Family finances improved significantly following the first monthly expanded CTC payments in July. Data from the Census Bureau show that following the July payments, there were significant declines in the share of households with children reporting financial hardship and food insufficiency. Families are using the expanded CTC payments to meet the needs of their household. Among those who responded to the Census Bureau’s survey: 47% spent their CTC payment amount by congressional district in August 2021, when the second round of CTC payments was distributed.” [Joint Economic Committee, 9/9/21]

As Of August 2021, California Received $1.7 Billion In Child Tax Credit Payments As Part Of The American Rescue Plan. As of August 2021, California had received $1.7 billion in Child Tax Credit payments: “The U.S. Department of the Treasury and the Internal Revenue Service announced today that more than $15 billion were paid to families that include roughly 61 million eligible children in the second monthly payment of the expanded and newly-advanceable Child Tax Credit from the American Rescue Plan passed in March. […] Eligible families received a payment of up to $300 per month for each child under age 6 and up to $250 per month for each child age 6 to 17. This tax relief is having a real impact on the lives of America’s children. According to the Census Bureau’s Household Pulse Survey data released earlier this week, parents reported having less trouble covering the costs of food and other household expenses after receiving their first CTC payment. The share of families reporting that they sometimes or often did not have enough to eat in the past week dropped to the lowest percentage since the pandemic began. Parents are using their CTC payments to pay for basics for their kids.” [Department of the Treasury, Press Release, 8/13/21]

Small Business Support – Restaurant Revitalization Funding

As Of August 2021, California’s 21st District Had Received $40,093,854.51 Million In Restaurant Revitalization Funding To Help Restaurants Keep Their Doors Open As Part Of The American Rescue Plan. As of August 2021, California’s 21st district had received $40,093,854.51 million in Restaurant Revitalization Funding as part of The American Rescue Plan: “The American Rescue Plan Act established the Restaurant Revitalization Fund (RRF) to provide funding to help restaurants and other eligible businesses keep their doors open. This program will provide restaurants with funding equal to their pandemic-related revenue loss up to $10 million per business and no more than $5 million per physical location. Recipients are not required to repay the funding as long as funds are used for eligible uses no later than March 11, 2023.” [U.S. Small Business Administration, RRF FOIA, 8/18/21; U.S. Small Business Administration, accessed 9/7/21]

- As Of June 2021, California Received $5,709,959,522/Billion In Restaurant Revitalization Funding As Part Of The American Rescue Plan. [U.S. Small Business Administration, RRF Report, 6/30/21]

Small Business Support – Shuttered Venue Operators Grants

As Of December 2021, California Received $2,079,869,719 Billion In Shuttered Venues Operators Grants To Help Live Venues, Museums, And Theaters Stay Open As Part Of The American Rescue Plan. As of September 2021, California had received $2,079,869,719 million/billion in Shuttered Venues Operators Grants as part of the American Rescue Plan Act: “The Shuttered Venue Operators Grant (SVOG) program was established by the Economic Aid to Hard-Hit Small Businesses, Nonprofits, and Venues Act, and amended by the American Rescue Plan Act. The program includes over $16 billion in grants to shuttered venues, to be administered by SBA’s Office of Disaster Assistance. Eligible applicants may qualify for grants equal to 45% of their gross earned revenue, with the maximum amount available for a single grant award of $10 million. $2 billion is reserved for eligible applications with up to 50 full-time employees. […] Eligible entities include: live venue operators or promoters, theatrical producers, live performing arts organization operators, museum operators, motion picture theater operators (including owners), talent representatives.” [SBA Shuttered Venue Operators Grant Program Reports, 12/27/21; SBA accessed 9/8/21]

Elementary And Secondary School Emergency Relief

California Received $15,079,696,097 Billion In Elementary And Secondary School Emergency Relief Through The American Rescue Plan To Help Safely Reopen Schools. California received $15,079,696,097 million/billion in Elementary and Secondary School Emergency Relief through the American Rescue Plan: “This document outlines the American Rescue Plan Elementary and Secondary School Emergency Relief (ARP ESSER) Fund under the American Rescue Plan (ARP) Act of 2021, Public Law 117-2, enacted on March 11, 2021. ARP ESSER provides a total of nearly $122 billion to States and school districts to help safely reopen and sustain the safe operation of schools and address the impact of the coronavirus pandemic on the nation’s students. In addition to ARP ESSER, the ARP Act includes $3 billion for special education, $850 million for the Outlying Areas, $2.75 billion to support non-public schools, and additional funding for homeless children and youth, Tribal educational agencies, Native Hawaiians, and Alaska Natives.” [ARP ESSER Methodology and Allocation Table Revised, 6/25/21; Department of Education, Fact Sheet, 3/17/21]

Coronavirus State And Local Fiscal Recovery Funds

California Received $27,017,016,860.10 Billion In Coronavirus State And Local Fiscal Recovery Funds As Part Of The American Rescue Plan To Help Governments Respond To The Pandemic And Bring Back Jobs. California Received $27,017,016,860.10 Billion in Coronavirus State and Local Fiscal Recovery Funds as part of the American Rescue Plan: “The American Rescue Plan will deliver $350 billion for eligible state, local, territorial, and Tribal governments to respond to the COVID-19 emergency and bring back jobs. […] Recipients may use these funds to: support public health expenditures, by, for example, funding COVID-19 mitigation efforts, medical expenses, behavioral healthcare, and certain public health and safety staff, address negative economic impacts caused by the public health emergency, including economic harms to workers, households, small businesses, impacted industries, and the public sector, replace lost public sector revenue, using this funding to provide government services to the extent of the reduction in revenue experienced due to the pandemic, provide premium pay for essential workers, offering additional support to those who have and will bear the greatest health risks because of their service in critical infrastructure sectors, invest in water, sewer, and broadband infrastructure, making necessary investments to improve access to clean drinking water, support vital wastewater and stormwater infrastructure, and to expand access to broadband internet, within these overall categories, recipients have broad flexibility to decide how best to use this funding to meet the needs of their communities. [Department of the Treasury, Allocation for States, accessed 9/8/21; Department of the Treasury, accessed 9/8/21]

- Kings, Fresno, Kern, And Tulare Counties Received $489,177,058 Million In Coronavirus State And Local Fiscal Recovery Funds As A Result Of The American Rescue Plan. [Department of the Treasury, May 2021]

Coronavirus State And Local Fiscal Recovery Funds – Law Enforcement

The American Rescue Plan Provided $350 Billion In State And Local Funding To Hire Law Enforcement Officials, Pay Overtime For Community Policing, And Restore Law Enforcement To Pre-Pandemic Levels.

“Today, the Treasury Department is highlighting that communities experiencing a surge in gun violence as a result of the pandemic may use the American Rescue Plan’s $350 billion in state and local funding for purposes such as: Hiring law enforcement officials – even above pre-pandemic levels – or paying overtime where the funds are directly focused on advancing community policing strategies in those communities experiencing an increase in gun violence associated with the pandemic. […] In addition, the Treasury Department is clarifying that any community may use ARP state and local aid for the above strategies and any other public safety programs, up to the level of revenue loss the jurisdiction experienced during the pandemic. And any community may use ARP funds to rehire police officers and other public servants to restore law enforcement and courts to their pre-pandemic levels.” [White House, Press Release, 6/23/21]

Department Of The Treasury: “There Are Many Ways In Which The State And Local Fiscal Recovery Funds […] Can Support Communities Working To Reduce And Respond To Increased Violence.” “Under Treasury’s Interim Final Rule, there are many ways in which the State and Local Fiscal Recovery Funds (“Funds”) under the American Rescue Plan Act can support communities working to reduce and respond to increased violence due to the pandemic. […] In all communities, recipients may use resources to rehire police officers and other public servants to restore law enforcement and courts to their pre-pandemic levels. […] In communities where an increase in violence or increased difficulty in accessing or providing services to respond to or mitigate the effects of violence, is a result of the pandemic they may use funds to address that harm. This spending may include: Hiring law enforcement officials – even above pre-pandemic levels – or paying overtime where the funds are directly focused on advancing community policing strategies in those communities experiencing an increase in gun violence associated with the pandemic o Community Violence Intervention (CVI) programs, including capacity building efforts at CVI programs like funding and training additional intervention workers.” [Department of the Treasury, 7/19/21]

Biden: “The American Rescue Plan, Which We Passed In The First 100 Days Of My Administration, Is Providing Much-Needed, Historic Relief To Bring Back Those Law Enforcement Jobs.” President Biden: “The American Rescue Plan, which we passed in the first 100 days of my administration, is providing much-needed, historic relief to bring back those law enforcement jobs and social service jobs. Much of this relief has already arrived. The rest is on its way. And we’re now providing more guidance on how they can use the $350 billion nationally that the American Rescue Plan has available to help reduce crime and address the root causes. For example, cities experiencing an increase in gun violence were able to use the American Rescue Plan dollars to hire police officers needed for community policing and to pay their overtime. Mayors will also be able to buy crime-fighting technologies, like gunshot detection systems, to better see and stop gun violence in their communities. They can use the funding to scale up wraparound services for the residents as well, including substance abuse and mental health services that we know will make a difference in prevention of crime.” [White House, 6/23/21]

Local Newspaper Editorials Slammed Valadao’s Vote Against ARP, Saying He “Voted Against Basic Relief For Families And Businesses Suffering From The Effects Of A Global Pandemic”

Fresno Bee Editorial: “By Their Votes On The Relief Act, Nunes And Valadao Decided To Play Inside-The-Beltway Politics Of Over Making A Real Difference On Main Street.” “Valadao's district covers all of Kings
County and parts of Fresno, Tulare and Kern counties. Per-capita annual income? Just $17,875. That's less than half the California and national figures. Annual median household income? Only $46,037. That's just three-fifths of the California total, two-thirds of the national figure. Simply put, the San Joaquin Valley is a poor part of California. Wages are low, health care is limited and educational attainment lags behind. Congressional representatives have the duty to seek to make things better for their constituents. By their votes on the relief act, Nunes and Valadao decided to play inside-the-Beltway politics of over making a real difference on Main Street.” [Fresno Bee, Editorial, 3/11/21]

Sacramento Bee Editorial: “These Men Represent A Region That Was Already Hard-Hit By Poverty Before COVID. Yet They Just Voted Against Basic Relief For Families And Businesses Suffering From The Effects Of A Global Pandemic.” “President Joe Biden today signed a $1.9 trillion stimulus package designed to help Americans struggling with economic losses due to the COVID-19 pandemic. Every single Republican member of Congress voted against the American Rescue Plan. This includes the Central Valley region's Rep. Doug LaMalfa, R- Richvale, Rep. Kevin McCarthy, R- Bakersfield, Rep. Tom McClintock, R- Elk Grove, Devin Nunes, R- Tulare, and David Valadao, R- Handford. These men represent a region that was already hard-hit by poverty before COVID. Valadao repeatedly voted to hold back California’s economic recovery from the COVID-19 pandemic.

| ✓ Valadao voted against the American Rescue Plan that included over $40 million for restaurants in Valadao’s district and $2 billion in Shuttered Venues Operators Grants to help business and venues impacted by the pandemic in California. |
| ✓ Valadao voted against the Build Back Better Act and claimed the bill would increase inflation rates and would “cripple generations to come by passing on more debt to future Americans.” |
| ▪ California had the nation’s highest child poverty rate and stood to benefit from Build Back Better’s one-year extension on the child tax credit. |
| ▪ Build Back Better would help Central Valley families suffering from some of the highest rates of food insecurity by expanding free school meals and would help families purchase food in the summer. |

Valadao was bad for California’s infrastructure.

| ✓ Valadao voted against the Infrastructure Investment and Jobs Act that provided California $8.3 billion for water projects, $34.8 billion for highways and public transit, and $100 million for broadband access. |
| ✓ After securing $20 million in earmarks for the State Route 41 Excelsior Corridor in Fresno in the INVEST in America Act, Valadao voted against the bill. |

Valadao was bad for California’s water.

| ✓ Valadao sponsored a bill that was pushed by Trump-connected lobbyists and would invalidate state laws, threaten species and permanently dry up California’s second longest river. |
| ✓ Valadao voted against the Infrastructure Investment and Jobs Act that provided $8.3 billion to fund water efficiency, recycling programs and rural water projects, including the Friant-Kern Canal. |

Valadao was bad for California’s health care, repeatedly voting to repeal the Affordable Care Act.
2017: Valadao voted for the American Health Care Act (AHCA) that would gut protections for people with pre-existing conditions, slash Medicaid funding by nearly $1 trillion, and lead to 23 million more uninsured.

60,500 of Valadao’s constituents were estimated to lose coverage by 2026 under the provisions of the AHCA. Valadao had more than 400,000 constituents on Medi-Cal and 291,100 with pre-existing conditions.

- Californians with asthma could see a $4,120 premium surcharge under the AHCA.
- Valadao’s colleagues thought he would vote against the AHCA because more than half his district was on Medicaid.
- Valadao “[laid] low after the vote”, “was rushing to an elevator outside his office with a rolling suitcase, would only refer a reporter to the statement his office sent out: saying the bill will stabilize the American healthcare system.”

Valadao was bad for Latinos and immigrants.

- Valadao cosponsored the DREAM Act, but in 2017-18 voted 21 times to block consideration of the DREAM Act and refused to sign on to a DREAM Act-specific discharge petition.
- Valadao’s former communications director made derogatory remarks about Muslims and undocumented immigrants, referring to U.S.-born children of undocumented parents as “anchor babies” and “illegal aliens.”
- 2018: After leading a discharge petition to bring the DREAM Act and three other immigration reform bills to a vote, Valadao bowed to Republican leadership to help kill it.
  - The discharge petition would bring the conservative Goodlatte bill, a clean version of the DREAM Act, a Republican leadership-sponsored bill, and a bipartisan immigration compromise to the floor.
- Valadao claimed he supported DACA…
  - Valadao voted against restarting deportations of undocumented immigrants protected under DACA and DAPA.
  - Valadao voted against cutting off funding for DACA and against a bill that would roll back Obama’s executive actions on immigration.
- …but Valadao also repeatedly undermined DACA and DAPA.
  - Valadao said DACA trapped families on the U.S. side of the border.
  - Valadao voted for a resolution to allow Paul Ryan to file a friend of the court brief in support of Texas’s lawsuit against DACA and DAPA.
  - Valadao called Trump rescinding DACA “a real opportunity” and did not address Trump by name in criticisms of the DACA repeal.

Valadao was bad for California workers and families.
Valadao voted against a resolution calling for a reduced federal gas tax.

Valadao Voted For Killing A Procedural Move To Bring Up A Bill Creating An Independent Commission To Investigate Russian Interference In The 2016 Election. “House Republicans blocked a vote Wednesday on legislation to create an independent commission to investigate Russian interference in the 2016 election. A Democratic effort to force a vote failed, with only one Republican – Rep. Walter Jones of North Carolina – joining them in a procedural vote that would have allowed them to bring up the bill. But Democrats also launched a petition Wednesday that would allow them to force a vote on the bill at a later date if they get a majority of lawmakers to sign on.” [H Res 323, Vote #259, 5/17/17; USA Today, 5/17/17]

Valadao Voted Against Preventing The Underlying Bill From Applying To Any Individual Who Withheld Information From Congress Related To An Investigation Regarding Russian Influence Of The 2016 Presidential Election. In April 2017, Valadao voted against: a “motion to recommit the bill to the House Financial Services Committee with instructions to report it back immediately with an amendment that would prevent the bill’s provisions from applying to any individual that withheld information from Congress related to an investigation regarding individuals influencing the outcome of the 2016 U.S. presidential election.” The motion was rejected 228-185. [HR 1343, Vote #215, 4/4/17; CQ Floor Votes, 4/4/17]

Valadao Voted For Blocking The Creation Of A Commission Investigating Foreign Interference In The 2016 Presidential Election. In March 2017, Valadao voted for: the “Newhouse, R-Wash., motion to order the previous question (thus ending debate and possibility of amendment) on the rule (H Res 233) that would provide for House floor consideration of the bill that would establish a selection process for members of the EPA’s Science Advisory Board.” A vote in favor is a vote to prevent investigation into Russia’s interference in the 2016 election. The motion was agreed to by a vote of 232-191. [HRes 233, Vote #203, 3/29/17; CQ, 3/29/17]

Valadao Repeatedly Voted Against Releasing Trump’s Tax Returns

Valadao Voted For Blocking A Bill To Require Presidential Candidates To Release Tax Returns. In May 2018, Valadao voted for: “Newhouse, R-Wash., motion to order the previous question (thus ending debate and possibility of amendment).” According to the Democratic Leader’s office, “The Democratic Previous Question would make in order Ms. Eshoo’s bill H.R. 305. H.R. 305 would amend the Ethics in Government Act of 1978 to require the President, as well as any candidate of a major political party for the office of the President, to submit their Federal income tax returns for the three most recent years. This bill would ensure more transparency in the political process and provide the American people with additional information about potential conflicts of interest of the President or a candidate for the office of the President.” A vote for the motion was a vote to block consideration of the bill. The motion was agreed to 223-189. [H Res 879, Vote #173, 5/9/18; CQ, 5/9/18; DemocraticLeader.gov, 5/9/18]

Valadao Voted For Blocking A Bill To Require The Disclosure Of The President’s Tax Returns. In April 2018, Valadao voted for: “Newhouse, R-Wash., motion to order the previous question (thus ending debate and possibility of amendment) on the rule…” According to Rep. Polis, defeating the previous question would “amend the Ethics in Government Act of 1978 to require the disclosure of certain tax returns by Presidents and certain candidates for the office of the President, and for other purposes.” A vote for the motion was a vote to block consideration of the amendment. The motion was agreed to by a vote of 226-189. [H Res 831, Vote #143, 4/18/18; CQ, 4/18/18; Congressional Record, H 3409, 4/18/18]

Valadao Voted For Killing A Motion To Require President Trump To Disclose His Tax Returns. In July 2017, Valadao voted for: “motion to table (kill) the Cicilline, D-R.I., motion to appeal the ruling of the Chair that the Cicilline resolution related to the disclosure of President Trump’s tax returns does not constitute a question of the privileges of the House.” The motion was agreed to 235-190. [Motion, Vote #392, 7/19/17; CQ Floor Votes, 7/19/17]

[Motion, Vote #311, 6/21/17; CQ Floor Votes, 6/21/17]

Valadao Voted For Killing A Motion To Require President Trump To Disclose His Tax Returns. In June 2017, Valadao voted for: “McCaul, R-Texas, motion to table (kill) the Capuano, D-Mass., motion to appeal the ruling of the Chair that the Capuano resolution related to the disclosure of President Trump’s tax returns does not constitute a question of the privileges of the House.” The motion passed 228-186. [Motion, Vote #292, 6/7/17; CQ Floor Votes, 6/7/17]

Valadao Voted For Blocking Efforts To Force The Disclosure Of President Trump’s Tax Return. In June 2017, Valadao voted for: “Buck, R-Colo., motion to order the previous question (thus ending debate and possibility of amendment) on the rule (H Res 375).” According to The Democratic Leader’s office, “The Democratic previous question would amend the rule to allow for consideration of H.R. 305, to amend the Ethics in Government Act of 1978 to require any candidate of a major political party for the office of the president to submit their federal income tax returns for the three most recent years.” A vote for the motion was a vote to block the release of tax returns. The previous question carried 228-185. [H Res 375, Vote #290, 6/7/17; CQ, 6/7/17; DemocraticLeader.gov, 6/7/17]

Valadao Voted To Table An Amendment To Prohibit Implementation Of A Bill Until The Chairman Of Ways And Means Requested 10 Years Of President Trump’s Tax Returns. As a member of the Ways and Means Committee, Valadao voted for a “motion to table the Doggett motion to appeal the ruling of the chairman that the Doggett amendment to the Brady, R-Texas, substitute amendment was not germane. The Doggett amendment would prohibit implementation of any provision of the bill until the chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee submits a written request to the Treasury secretary for copies of the President Donald Trump’s tax returns for the past 10 years, including each business entity disclosed on the president’s ethics form.” The motion was agreed to 22-16. [House Ways and Means Committee, Committee Vote, 5/24/17; CQ Committee Coverage, 5/24/17]

Valadao Voted For Blocking Efforts To Force The Disclosure Of President Trump’s Tax Returns. In May 2017, Valadao voted for: “Buck, R-Colo., motion to table (kill) the Sanchez, D-Calif., motion to appeal the ruling of the Chair that the Sanchez resolution related to the disclosure of President Trump’s text returns does not constitute a question of the privileges of the House.” The motion passed, 225-187. [Motion, Vote #274, 5/17/17; CQ, 5/24/17]
Valadao Voted For Blocking A Bill To Require Presidential Candidates To Release Tax Returns. In May 2017, Valadao voted for: “Collins, R-Ga., motion to order the previous question (thus ending debate and possibility of amendment).” According to the Democratic Leader’s office, “The Democratic previous question would amend the rule to allow for consideration of H.R. 305, to amend the Ethics in Government Act of 1978 to require any candidate of a major political party for the office of the president to submit their federal income tax returns for the three most recent years.” A vote for the motion was a vote to block the release of tax returns. The motion passed 226-188. [H Res 324, Vote #263, 5/18/17; CQ, 5/18/17; DemocraticLeader.gov, 5/18/17]

A vote against the previous question would have allowed the bill to be considered. [HR 305 (HRes 275), Vote #224, 4/26/17; Office of the Democratic Leader, 115th Congress Previous Questions, 4/26/17]

Valadao Voted For Killing A Motion To Require President Trump To Disclose His Tax Returns. In April 2017, Valadao voted for: “Foxx, R-N.C., motion to table (kill) the Jeffries, D-N.Y., motion to appeal the ruling of the Chair that the Jeffries resolution related to the disclosure of President Trump’s tax returns does not constitute a question of the privileges of the House.” The motion passed 228-184. [Motion, Vote #219, 4/5/17; CQ Floor Votes, 4/5/17]

Valadao Voted For Killing A Motion To Require President Trump To Disclose His Tax Returns. In March 2017, Valadao voted for: “Flores, R-Texas, motion to table (kill) the Lofgren, D-Calif., motion to appeal the ruling of the Chair that the Lofgren resolution related to the disclosure of President Trump’s tax returns does not constitute a question of the privileges of the House.” The motion passed 228-190. [Motion, Vote #201, 3/28/17; CQ Floor Votes, 3/28/17]

- Republicans Blocked Procedural Effort To Obtain Trump’s Tax Returns From The IRS. “House Republicans on Tuesday blocked more attempts by Democrats to obtain President Donald Trump’s tax returns from the IRS. House Democrats tried for a third and a fourth time to use procedural votes to pry loose Trump’s returns. Republicans blocked both efforts, one on the House floor and the other in the House Ways and Means Committee. The House voted 228-190 on a mostly party-line vote to block the Democrats’ effort. The Ways and Means Committee voted 24-16 to oppose the effort.” [Associated Press, 3/28/17]

Valadao Voted For Blocking Consideration Of A Bill Requiring Trump To Disclose His Tax Returns. In March 2017, Valadao voted for: the “Burgess, R-Texas, motion to order the previous question (thus ending debate and possibility of amendment) on the rule (H Res 230).” A vote in favor is a vote against requiring Trump to release his tax returns. The motion was agreed to by a vote of 232-184. [H Res 230, Vote #199, 3/28/17; CQ, 3/28/17]
Valadao Voted For Blocking Consideration Of A Vote Appealing A Ruling That Forcing Trump To Disclose His Tax Returns Was Not A House Privilege. In March 2017, Valadao voted for: the “Cheney, R-Wyo., motion to table (kill) the Polis, D-Colo., motion to appeal the ruling of the Chair that the Polis resolution related to the disclosure of President Trump’s tax returns does not constitute a question of the privileges of the House.” The motion was agreed to by a vote of 230-189. [Motion, Vote #182, 3/22/17; CQ, 3/22/17]

- Republican Presiding Officer Cut Off The Attempt By Democrats To Force A Vote To Push Committee To Request Trump’s Tax Returns. “Democrats tried but failed Monday to force a House floor vote to push a key committee to request copies of President Trump’s tax returns. It was the fourth time in as many weeks that Democrats sought to force the vote. Rep. Jared Polis (D-Colo.) attempted to offer a resolution and trigger a House floor vote, but was cut off by the Republican presiding over the House.” [The Hill, 3/20/17]
  - Rather Than Rule The Measure Was Not Privileged, Rep. Womak, The Presiding Officer, Ruled That Rep. Polis Was No Longer Able To Speak. “Three other Democrats in recent weeks offered similar resolutions as “privileged,” which would require the House to act within two legislative days. The presiding officer in the House at those times ruled that the measure didn’t qualify as “privileged” by affecting the chamber’s dignity and integrity. Democrats demanded roll call votes to appeal those rulings. […] But on Monday, Rep. Steve Womack (R-Ark.), who was presiding over the chamber, took a different approach to block the measure. He declared the House would not at that time determine whether the resolution met the requirements to be “privileged” and ruled that Polis was no longer recognized to speak. Womack then ordered the House to resume voting on an unrelated noncontroversial bill regarding the Department of Homeland Security.” [The Hill, 3/20/17]

Valadao Voted For Killing A Motion To Require President Trump To Disclose His Tax Returns. In March 2017, Valadao voted for: “McCarthy, R-Calif., motion to table (kill) the Crowley, D-N.Y., motion to appeal the ruling of the Chair that the Crowley resolution related to the disclosure of President Trump’s tax returns does not constitute a question of the privileges of the House.” The motion passed 223-183. [Motion, Vote #161, 3/15/17; CQ Floor Votes, 3/15/17]

- Motion Would Have Forced House To Vote On A Resolution To Request Ten Years Of President Trump’s Tax Returns. “Crowley’s measure is similar to resolutions Democratic Reps. Bill Pascrell Jr. (N.J.) and Anna Eshoo (Calif.) offered on the House floor in recent weeks. It includes additional language that says the American public need to know more about Trump’s business interests in order to ‘ensure that all policies put forward by the Trump Administration solely benefit the American public and not his corporate business partners.’ As was the case in past weeks, Crowley tried to offer the resolution as ‘privileged,’ meaning the House would have to act on it within two legislative days. But Rep. Mike Simpson (R-Idaho), who was presiding over the House, ruled that the measure was not privileged, and the vast majority of Republicans voted to table Crowley’s appeal of that ruling, 223-183.” [The Hill, 3/15/17]

Valadao Did Not Vote On Killing A Motion To Require President Trump To Disclose His Tax Returns. In March 2017, Valadao did not vote on: “McCarthy, R-Calif., motion to table (kill) the Eshoo, D-Calif., motion to appeal the ruling of the Chair that the Eshoo resolution related to the disclosure of President Trump’s tax returns does not constitute a question of the privileges of the House.” The motion passed 227-186. [Motion, Vote #128, 3/7/17; CQ Floor Votes, 3/7/17]

- Motion Would Have Forced The House To Vote On A Resolution To Request Ten Years Of President Trump’s Tax Returns. “House Democrats on Tuesday furthered their push to force Republicans to take tough votes on President Trump, offering a resolution on the House floor to request Trump’s tax returns for the second time in a little over a week. The resolution was blocked on a procedural vote of 227-186. […] Rep. Anna Eshoo (D-Calif.) offered a resolution on Tuesday instructing the House to request 10 years of Trump’s tax returns so that they can be considered by the House Ways and Means Committee in a closed session.” [The Hill, 3/7/17]
Valadao Voted For Blocking Consideration Of A Bill To Require Any Candidate Of A Major Political Party To Release Three Years Of Federal Income Tax Returns. In June 2016, Valadao voted for: the “Democratic Previous Question would amend the rule to allow for consideration of H.R. 305, to amend the Ethics in Government Act of 1978 to require any candidate of a major political party for the office of the President to submit their Federal income tax returns for the three most recent years.” The previous question passed 224-191. A vote against the previous question would have allowed the bill to be considered. [H Res 150, Vote #103, 2/28/17; Office of the Democratic Leader, 115th Congress Previous Questions, 2/28/17]

Valadao Voted For Killing A Motion To Require President Trump To Disclose His Tax Returns. In February 2017, Valadao voted for: “McCarthy, R-Calif., motion to table (kill) the Pascrell, D-N.J., motion to appeal the ruling of the Chair that the Pascrell resolution related to the disclosure of President Trump’s tax returns does not constitute a question of the privileges of the House.” The motion passed 229-185. [Motion, Vote #101, 2/27/17; CQ Floor Votes, 2/27/17]

- Motion Would Have Forced The House To Vote On A Resolution To Request Ten Years Of President Trump’s Tax Returns. “A House Democratic lawmaker attempted Monday to force a House floor vote on a resolution to request President Trump’s tax returns, but the effort failed on a party line vote, 229-185, with two Republicans voting ‘present.’ The move was the latest in a series of Democratic efforts to push Congress to request Trump’s tax returns, and Democrats demanded a roll call vote to force Republicans to go on the record. […] Rep. Bill Pascrell (D-N.J.) offered a resolution that would have directed the House to request 10 years of Trump’s tax returns, have the House Ways and Means Committee review them in a closed session and then vote to send the information in the returns to the full House.” [The Hill, 2/27/17]

- Democrats Offered A Resolution To “Instruct The House To Request Trump’s Tax Returns From The Last Decade So That The House Ways And Means Committee… Can Review Them In A Closed Session.” “Democrats have offered similar resolution three other times in the last four weeks, which all resulted in procedural votes. The resolutions would instruct the House to request Trump’s tax returns from the last decade so that the House Ways and Means Committee, which has oversight of the Internal Revenue Service, could review them in a closed session. The chairmen of the House Ways and Means Committee, Senate Finance Committee and Joint Committee on Taxation have the power to request individual tax return information from the Treasury Department.” [The Hill, 3/20/17]

- After Republican Presiding Officers Ruled Measure Did Not Qualify As “Privileged” Action Under House Rules, Democrats Forced Roll Call Vote To Appeal Ruling. “Three other Democrats in recent weeks offered similar resolutions as “privileged,” which would require the House to act within two legislative days. The presiding officer in the House at those times ruled that the measure didn’t qualify as “privileged” by affecting the chamber’s dignity and integrity. Democrats demanded roll call votes to appeal those rulings.” [The Hill, 3/20/17]

Valadao Voted For Blocking Consideration Of The Presidential Tax Transparency Act. In January 2017, Valadao voted for: the “Democratic Previous Question would amend the rule to allow for consideration of H.R. 305, the Presidential Tax Transparency Act.” The previous question passed 233-187. A vote against the previous question would have allowed the bill to be considered. [H Res 55, Vote #62, 1/24/17; Office of the Democratic Leader, 115th Congress Previous Questions, 1/24/17]

SUMMARY: Valadao Repeatedly Voted Against Addressing Conflicts Of Interest In Trump’s Administration

- Valadao Voted Against Preventing Financial Regulations Changes From Being Made For The Gain Of The President, His Family, Or Other Senior Executive Branch Officials. [HR 1116, Vote #107, 3/14/18; CQ, 3/14/18]
Valadao Voted Against Preventing Financial Regulations Changes From Being Made For The Gain Of The President, His Family, Or Other Senior Executive Branch Officials. In March 2018, Valadao voted against: “Connolly D-Va., motion to recommit the bill to the House Financial Services Committee with instructions to report it back immediately with an amendment that would prevent changes in financial regulations in the bill from being made at the request of, or for the personal gain of, the president, a member of his family, or other senior Executive Branch official.” The motion to recommit failed 182-232. [HR 1116, Vote #107, 3/14/18; CQ, 3/14/18]

Valadao Voted Against Preventing Financial Regulations Changes From Being Made For The Gain Of The President, His Family, Or Other Senior Executive Branch Officials. In March 2018, Valadao voted against: “Clark, D-Mass., motion to recommit the bill to the House Financial Services Committee with instructions to report it back immediately with an amendment that would prohibit a federal financial regulator from including certain rules in its review under the Economic Growth and Regulatory Paperwork Reduction Act of 1996 if such rules were issued or made at the ‘request of and for the personal gain of’ the president, the president’s family members, or senior executive branch officials who are required to file annual financial disclosure forms.” According to Rep. Clark, the “amendment simply states that before taking any action to eliminate or change a regulation, regulators must disclose any communications from the White House or the President’s family advocating for the action and whether the President, his family, or any senior administration officials would benefit financially from such action.” The motion was rejected, 182-228. [HR 4607, Vote #94, 3/6/18; CQ, 3/6/18]

Valadao Voted For Blocking Consideration Of A Resolution Empowering The House Of Representatives To Investigate Trump’s Potential Conflicts Of Interest. In April 2017, Valadao voted for: “the Democratic Previous Question would amend the rule to allow for consideration of H. Res. 286 which would direct certain officials of the Trump Administration to provide information to the House of Representatives that will enable the House to meet its constitutional responsibility to conduct oversight of the Trump Administration by investigating potential conflicts of interests of President Donald J. Trump.” A vote yes was a vote against the Democrats’ resolution. The motion was agreed to by a vote of 230-193. [HRes 280, Vote #229, 4/27/17; Office of the Democratic Leader, 115th Congress Previous Questions, 4/27/17]

“Jayapal, D-Wash., motion to recommit the bill to the House Oversight and Government Reform Committee with instructions to report it back immediately with an amendment that would prohibit the president from making public communications that refer to a business in which the president has an equity interest and would prohibit the president from publically advocating on behalf of such business interests.” The motion was rejected by a vote of 189-232. [HR 1004, Vote #125, 3/2/17; CQ, 3/2/17]

Valadao Voted Against Recommitting The SCRUBS Act With An Amendment Exempting Rules Related To Conflict Of Interest And Bribery. In March 2017, Valadao voted against: the “Raskin, D-Md., motion to recommit the bill to the House Oversight and Government Reform Committee with instructions to report it back immediately with an amendment that would exempt from the bill’s provisions rules related to laws governing potential conflicts of interest and financial disclosures for executive branch employees, and would exempt rules related to bribery.” The motion was rejected by a vote of 190-235. [HR 998, Vote #113, 3/1/17; CQ, 3/1/17]

Valadao Voted For Blocking Consideration Of A Bill To Address The Financial Conflicts Of Interest Of The President. In January 2017, Valadao voted for: the “Democratic Previous Question would amend the rule to allow for consideration of H.R. 371, to address financial conflicts of interest of the President and Vice President.” The previous question passed 232-168. A vote against the previous question would have allowed the bill to be considered. [H Res 40, Vote #32, 1/11/17; Office of the Democratic Leader, 115th Congress Previous Questions, 1/11/17]

Valadao Initially Supported The Creation Of A 9/11-Style Commission For The January 6th Insurrection But Later Voted Against Attempts To Establish An Investigative Committee

May 2021: Valadao Voted To Create A Commission To Examine The January 6th Insurrection

May 2021: Valadao Voted To Create A Commission To Examine The January 6th Insurrection. “Rep. David Valadao’s vote Wednesday in favor of creating a commission to examine the Jan. 6 riot at the U.S. Capitol has again put the Hanford Republican at odds with his Central Valley neighbor and sometime ally in Congress, Rep. Kevin McCarthy, whose vote against the measure helped set the tone for GOP opposition to the investigation as it heads for a vote in the U.S. Senate.” [Bakersfield Californian, 5/20/21]

- Valadao Said A 9/11-Style Commission Was Needed To Prevent Future Events Like The January 6th Insurrection. “In a written statement, Valadao explained his vote by saying that finding truth shouldn’t be a partisan issue. He stated an independent 9/11-style review was needed to remove politicization and help the government ensure such events never happen again. ‘Like many Americans, I was appalled by what took place on January 6th when a mob broke down windows and doors, assaulted police officers and threatened our very democracy,’ he wrote. Valadao took a similarly independent approach in January when he voted in favor of impeaching former President Donald Trump, prompting local praise and resentment. McCarthy, a vocal Trump supporter, not only voted against the impeachment but joined 139 Republicans in objecting to Electoral College counts in Arizona and Pennsylvania.” [Bakersfield Californian, 5/20/21]

June 2021: Valadao Voted Against Creating A Committee To Investigate The January 6th Capitol Insurrection. “Rep. David Valadao voted Wednesday against creating a special Democratic-controlled committee to investigate the January 6 Capitol insurrection -- after supporting an independent commission last month. The
Valadao Said He Wouldn’t Serve On The Commission To Investigate The January 6th Insurrection If Asked

“Valadao said he wouldn’t serve on the commission to investigate the January 6th insurrection if asked. ‘There’s even scant interest among the 10 House Republicans who voted to impeach former President Donald Trump for inciting the deadly insurrection. Rep. Jaime Herrera Beutler of Washington issued multiple public statements: she told reporters she opposed the select panel and later put out a formal statement making crystal clear she wouldn’t serve on it if asked. New York Rep. John Katko, who brokered a bipartisan deal to establish an independent investigation that was blocked by Senate Republicans, said he has little appetite to participate in a ‘turbo-charged partisan exercise.’ Veteran Rep. Fred Upton of Michigan, meanwhile, quipped to CNN: It’s ‘not on my bucket list.’ Others were equally as blunt. ‘No,’ said Rep. David Valadao, a vulnerable California Republican who voted to impeach Trump and backed an independent commission. ‘Obviously, the politics of it is going to be very, very obvious, and that’s why I supported the commission,’ he said.‘’” [CNN, 7/1/21]

Valadao Voted Against Economic Relief For Californians

Valadao Voted Against Concurring In The Senate Amendment To The American Rescue Plan Act. In March 2021, Valadao voted against: “Yarmuth, D-Ky., motion to concur in the Senate amendment to the bill comprising a $1.9 trillion coronavirus relief package to further address the health and economic effects of COVID-19, including approximately $362 billion in direct aid to state and local governments; $47.8 billion for testing and contact tracing; $168 billion to assist educational institutions; and $53.6 billion to assist small businesses. It would extend federal unemployment compensation benefits through Sept. 6, 2021; provide tax rebates of $1,400 for individuals with incomes of $75,000 or less; and extend or expand a number of employer and individual tax credits, including credits to subsidize health insurance premiums. The bill would provide direct assistance of $195.3 billion for states and $130.2 billion for local governments, as well as $10 billion for grants to states to support capital projects, such as broadband access. It would provide $122.8 billion for an Education Department elementary and secondary school emergency relief fund; $39.6 billion for grants to higher education institutions; $3 billion for education programs for individuals with disabilities and $2.75 billion for non-public schools. It would provide $39 billion for child care block grants to states. It would provide $27.8 billion for emergency rental assistance and housing vouchers, $10 billion for homeownership assistance and $5 billion for assistance to individuals experiencing homelessness. It would continue the 15% increase in Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program benefits through September 2021. It would provide over $92 billion for the Health and Human Services Department, including $47.8 billion for COVID-19 testing and contact tracing; $7.5 billion for vaccine administration and distribution; $6.1 billion for vaccine and therapeutic development, manufacturing and procurement; $7.6 billion to expand the public health workforce; $7.6 billion for community health centers; $6.1 billion for Native American health programs; and
$3 billion for substance abuse and mental health block grant programs. It would provide $50 billion for the Federal Emergency Management Agency disaster relief fund; $14.5 billion for veterans' health care services; $10 billion for emergency medical supply production under the Defense Production Act; $8.7 billion for COVID-19 health response efforts overseas; and $200 million for Labor Department worker protection activities, including at least half for the Occupational Safety and Health Administration. It would extend federal unemployment compensation benefits of $300 per week through Sep. 6, 2021. It would provide an additional tax rebate of $1,400 for individuals with incomes of $75,000 or less, increased by $1,400 for each dependent. It would expand eligibility and increase the maximum earned income tax credit for childless adults and increase the child tax credit to $3,000 per child. It would expand and extend through September 2021 paid sick and family leave tax credits for employers. It would require Medicaid and the Children's Health Insurance Program to fully cover the cost of COVID-19 vaccines. It would provide for full federal subsidies of individual COBRA premiums and require the VA to waive health treatment copayments through September 2021. It would expand eligibility in 2021 and 2022 for federal tax subsidies toward Affordable Care Act marketplace insurance premiums, including to fully cover premium costs for individuals earning up to 150% of the federal poverty level and cap premiums at 8.5% of household income. It would provide for temporary increases in federal medical assistance percentages for certain services and eliminate the Medicaid drug rebate cap beginning in 2023. It would provide $50 billion for small business assistance, including $28.6 billion for restaurants and $7.25 billion for the Paycheck Protection Program. It would provide $4 billion for Agriculture Department pandemic-related assistance.” The motion was agreed to by a vote of 220-211. [HR 1319, Vote #72, 3/10/21; CQ, 3/10/21]

Valadao Voted Against Passage Of The American Rescue Plan Act. In February 2021, Valadao voted against: “Passage of the fiscal 2021 budget reconciliation bill, as amended, comprising a coronavirus relief package that would provide roughly $1.9 trillion in funding to further address the health and economic effects of COVID-19, including approximately $350 billion in direct aid to state and local governments; $47.8 billion for testing and contact tracing; $168 billion to assist educational institutions; and $50 billion to assist small businesses. It would extend and increase federal unemployment compensation benefits for 24 weeks and increase the weekly amount to $400; provide tax rebates of $1,400 for individuals with incomes of $75,000 or less; extend or expand a number of employer and individual tax credits, including credits to subsidize health insurance premiums; and gradually increase the federal minimum wage to $15 per hour. Among other provisions, the bill would provide $195.3 billion for direct assistance to states and $130.2 billion for local governments; $128.6 billion through fiscal 2023 for an Education Department elementary and secondary school emergency relief fund and $39.6 billion for grants to higher education institutions, including to provide emergency financial aid; and continue the 15% increase in Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program benefits through September 2021. It would provide $47.8 billion for COVID-19 testing and contact tracing; $7.5 billion for vaccine administration and distribution; and $6.1 billion for vaccine and therapeutic development, manufacturing and procurement. It would require Medicaid and the Children's Health Insurance Program to fully cover the cost of COVID-19 vaccines. It would expand eligibility in 2021 and 2022 for federal tax subsidies toward Affordable Care Act marketplace insurance premiums, including to fully cover premium costs for individuals earning up to 150% of the federal poverty level and cap premiums at 8.5% of household income. It would provide $50 billion for small business assistance, including $25 billion for restaurants. It would provide $30.5 billion for transit, $18 billion for airline and aviation manufacturing industry payroll support; and $4 billion for Agriculture Department pandemic-related assistance. It would incrementally increase the federal minimum wage annually to reach $15 per hour in 2025, including for tipped workers, teens and workers with disabilities. It would create a program to provide financial assistance to multiemployer pension plans.” The bill passed by a vote of 219-212. [HR 1319, Vote #49, 2/27/21; CQ, 2/27/21]

Valadao Claimed The $1.9 Trillion Covid Relief Package Left Rural Communities Behind. “The COVID relief bill is a slush fund that's little more than a liberal Democratic wish list. Too much is going to help cash-rich state and local governments. And the whole $1.9 trillion package costs much too much […] That's the unified, consistent, unmistakable message from California's 11 House Republicans. They all voted against the economic relief plan passed by the House Wednesday. They all also voted against the first version of the bill last month. Rep.
David Valadao, R-Hanford, also said the bill was another example of leaving rural communities behind. ‘Just as we are seeing with vaccination distribution in our state, the Bay Area is once again receiving preferential treatment over rural communities thanks to Speaker Pelosi,’ Valadao said in a statement Wednesday. ‘This package will pay off most of San Francisco's $650 million budget deficit, while the Central Valley is struggling with nearly double the unemployment rates in San Francisco, a hurting economy, and bleak vaccination rates.’” [Sacramento Bee, 3/10/21]

Valadao Said The American Rescue Plan Was A “Giveaway” To The San Francisco Bay Area That Ignored The Rural Communities. “In response to House passage of the American Rescue Plan, the big COVID relief and economic stimulus bill, GOP Reps. Devin Nunes and David Valadao left no question about how they view their constituents, many of them among the poorest of Californians. To Nunes, the Tulare Republican, the $1.9 trillion measure is nothing more than a ‘slush fund,’ he told Fox News. Nevermind that his 22nd District has a 15.2% poverty rate. Meanwhile, Hanford's Valadao blasted the bill as a giveaway of federal largesse to House Speaker Nancy Pelosi's San Francisco district, while ignoring the millions that will come to his 21st District to help its poor residents. The 21st District's poverty rate: 23.4%.” [Fresno Bee, 3/11/21]

Valadao Claimed The $1.9 COVID Relief Package Only Gave 9% To COVID Relief. “The Democrats are playing hyper-partisan politics with a global pandemic. Read my statement on why I voted no on the $1.9 trillion COVID-19 "relief" package that actually only gives 9% to COVID relief below.” [Rep. David Valadao Twitter, 1/25/21]

Through The American Rescue Plan, California Received $43.5 Million In Economic Impact Payments And Valadao’s District Received $49.1 Million In Child Tax Credit Payments

The American Rescue Plan Provided $1,400 Direct Payments, Aid To State And Local Governments, Schools, And Small Businesses, An Expanded Child Tax Credit, And Vaccine Distribution Funds

The American Rescue Plan Provided $1,400 Direct Payments, Aid To State And Local Governments, Schools, And Small Businesses, An Expanded Child Tax Credit, And Vaccine Distribution Funds. “President Biden signed the $1.9 trillion American Rescue Plan Act into law on Thursday, finalizing an early policy victory that will send much-needed aid to millions of Americans still struggling from the COVID-19 pandemic. [...] The American Rescue Plan provides $1,400 direct payments to individuals making up to $75,000 annually, $350 billion in aid to state and local governments and $14 billion for vaccine distribution. The bill also provides $130 billion to elementary, middle and high schools to assist with safe reopening. [...] It includes an additional $300 billion in weekly jobless benefits through September and an expanded tax credit of up to $3,600 per child, initially distributed in monthly installments. The child tax credit could raise 4 million children out of poverty, according to an analysis by the Center on Budget and Policy Priorities. More than $50 billion will be distributed to small businesses, including $7 billion for the Paycheck Protection Program. The bill also provides $25 billion for relief for small and mid-sized restaurants, which have suffered significantly during the pandemic.” [CBS News, 3/12/21]

Individuals In California Received $43.5 Million In Third Round Economic Impact Payments Of Up To $1,400 Through The American Rescue Plan. California received $43.5 million in Third Round Economic Impact Payments through The American Rescue Plan Act: “The U.S. Department of the Treasury and the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) released state-by-state data through early June for the 163.5 million Economic Impact Payments (EIPs) totaling nearly $390 billion received by individuals through the American Rescue Plan Act. With this round of payments, the IRS and the Bureau of the Fiscal Service (BFS) have delivered more EIPs and more total direct relief than in any previous round of direct relief. All 50 states saw more total relief with this round of payments than in previous rounds. [...] The EIPs under the American Rescue Plan included payments of up to $1,400 per qualifying dependent, a significant increase over the $500 and $600 per qualifying child from the first and second rounds of payments, respectively.” [Department of the Treasury, Press Release, 6/29/21]
Child Tax Credit

According To Estimates From The Joint Economic Committee Made Using State-Level Data From The Treasury, California’s 21st District Received $49.1 Million In Child Tax Credit Payments As Of August 2021. According to estimates from the Joint Economic Committee, California’s 21st district had received $49.1 million in Child Tax Credit payments as of August 2021: “Using state-level data from the Treasury Department on advance Child Tax Credit (CTC) payments, the Joint Economic Committee estimated the number of qualifying children, total number of payments, and total payment amount by congressional district in August 2021, when the second round of CTC payments was distributed.” [Joint Economic Committee, 9/9/21; Joint Economic Committee, Estimates of Advance Child Tax Credit Distribution by Congressional District, 9/9/21]

- JEC Analysis Showed The CTC Had Dramatically Reduced Food Insecurity And Financial Hardship, And Was Expected To Inject Nearly $19.3 Billion Into Local Economies Each Month. “JEC analysis of data from the Census Bureau show the expanded CTC is already having a major impact on family budgets, with dramatic declines in food insufficiency and financial hardship, and the JEC estimates that monthly CTC payments will inject nearly $19.3 billion into local economies each month. The expanded CTC will generate nearly $19.3 billion in spending in local economies across the U.S. each month. Family finances improved significantly following the first monthly expanded CTC payments in July. Data from the Census Bureau show that following the July payments, there were significant declines in the share of households with children reporting financial hardship and food insecurity. Families are using the expanded CTC payments to meet the needs of their household. Among those who responded to the Census Bureau’s survey: 47% spent their CTC payment on food, 28% spent it on internet and other utilities, 26% spent it on school expenses, and 17% of those with at least one child under age 5 spent it on child care.” [Joint Economic Committee, 9/9/21]

As Of August 2021, California Received $1.7 Billion In Child Tax Credit Payments As Part Of The American Rescue Plan. As of August 2021, California had received $1.7 billion in Child Tax Credit payments: “The U.S. Department of the Treasury and the Internal Revenue Service announced today that more than $15 billion were paid to families that include roughly 61 million eligible children in the second monthly payment of the advanced and newly-advanceable Child Tax Credit from the American Rescue Plan passed in March. […] Eligible families received a payment of up to $300 per month for each child under age 6 and up to $250 per month for each child age 6 to 17. This tax relief is having a real impact on the lives of America’s children. According to the Census Bureau’s Household Pulse Survey data released earlier this week, parents reported having less trouble covering the costs of food and other household expenses after receiving their first CTC payment. The share of families reporting that they sometimes or often did not have enough to eat in the past week dropped to the lowest percentage since the pandemic began. Parents are using their CTC payments to pay for basics for their kids.” [Department of the Treasury, Press Release, 8/13/21]

- Parents Reported Having Less Trouble Covering The Costs Of Food And Other Household Expenses After Receiving Their First Child Tax Credit Payment. “According to the Census Bureau’s Household Pulse Survey data released earlier this week, parents reported having less trouble covering the costs of food and other household expenses after receiving their first CTC payment. The share of families reporting that they sometimes or often did not have enough to eat in the past week dropped to the lowest percentage since the pandemic began. Parents are using their CTC payments to pay for basics for their kids.” [Department of the Treasury, Press Release, 8/13/21]

Small Business Support – Restaurant Revitalization Funding

As Of August 2021, California’s 21st District Had Received $40,093,854.51 Million In Restaurant Revitalization Funding To Help Restaurants Keep Their Doors Open As Part Of The American Rescue Plan. As of August 2021, California’s 21st district had received $40,093,854.51 million in Restaurant Revitalization Funding as part of The American Rescue Plan: “The American Rescue Plan Act established the Restaurant
Revisitilization Fund (RRF) to provide funding to help restaurants and other eligible businesses keep their doors open. This program will provide restaurants with funding equal to their pandemic-related revenue loss up to $10 million per business and no more than $5 million per physical location. Recipients are not required to repay the funding as long as funds are used for eligible uses no later than March 11, 2023.

- As Of June 2021, California Received $5,709,959,522/Billion In Restaurant Revitalization Funding As Part Of The American Rescue Plan. [U.S. Small Business Administration, RRF Report, 6/30/21]

Small Business Support – Shuttered Venue Operators Grants

As Of December 2021, California Received $2,079,869,719 Billion In Shuttered Venues Operators Grants To Help Live Venues, Museums, And Theaters Stay Open As Part Of The American Rescue Plan. As of September 2021, California had received $2,079,869,719 million/billion in Shuttered Venues Operators Grants as part of the American Rescue Plan Act: “The Shuttered Venue Operators Grant (SVOG) program was established by the Economic Aid to Hard-Hit Small Businesses, Nonprofits, and Venues Act, and amended by the American Rescue Plan Act. The program includes over $16 billion in grants to shuttered venues, to be administered by SBA’s Office of Disaster Assistance. Eligible applicants may qualify for grants equal to 45% of their gross earned revenue, with the maximum amount available for a single grant award of $10 million. $2 billion is reserved for eligible applications with up to 50 full-time employees. […] Eligible entities include: live venue operators or promoters, theatrical producers, live performing arts organization operators, museum operators, motion picture theater operators (including owners), talent representatives.” [SBA Shuttered Venue Operators Grant Program Reports, 12/27/21; SBA accessed 9/8/21]

Elementary And Secondary School Emergency Relief

California Received $15,079,696,097 Billion In Elementary And Secondary School Emergency Relief Through The American Rescue Plan To Help Safely Reopen Schools. California received $15,079,696,097 million/billion in Elementary and Secondary School Emergency Relief through the American Rescue Plan: “This document outlines the American Rescue Plan Elementary and Secondary School Emergency Relief (ARP ESSER) Fund under the American Rescue Plan (ARP) Act of 2021, Public Law 117-2, enacted on March 11, 2021. ARP ESSER provides a total of nearly $122 billion to States and school districts to help safely reopen and sustain the safe operation of schools and address the impact of the coronavirus pandemic on the nation’s students. In addition to ARP ESSER, the ARP Act includes $3 billion for special education, $850 million for the Outlying Areas, $2.75 billion to support non-public schools, and additional funding for homeless children and youth, Tribal educational agencies, Native Hawaiians, and Alaska Natives.” [ARP ESSER Methodology and Allocation Table Revised, 6/25/21; Department of Education, Fact Sheet, 3/17/21]

Coronavirus State And Local Fiscal Recovery Funds

California Received $27,017,016,860.10 Billion In Coronavirus State And Local Fiscal Recovery Funds As Part Of The American Rescue Plan To Help Governments Respond To The Pandemic And Bring Back Jobs. California Received $27,017,016,860.10 Billion in Coronavirus State and Local Fiscal Recovery Funds as part of the American Rescue Plan: “The American Rescue Plan will deliver $350 billion for eligible state, local, territorial, and Tribal governments to respond to the COVID-19 emergency and bring back jobs. […] Recipients may use these funds to: support public health expenditures, by, for example, funding COVID-19 mitigation efforts, medical expenses, behavioral healthcare, and certain public health and safety staff, address negative economic impacts caused by the public health emergency, including economic harms to workers, households, small businesses, impacted industries, and the public sector, replace lost public sector revenue, using this funding to provide government services to the extent of the reduction in revenue experienced due to the pandemic, provide premium pay for essential workers, offering additional support to those who have and will bear the greatest health risks because of their service in critical infrastructure sectors, invest in water, sewer, and broadband infrastructure, making necessary investments to improve access to clean drinking water, support vital wastewater and stormwater infrastructure, and to expand access to broadband internet, within these overall categories, recipients have broad flexibility to decide how best to use this funding to meet the needs of their communities. Coronavirus State And Local Fiscal Recovery Funds – Law Enforcement

The American Rescue Plan Provided $350 Billion In State And Local Funding To Hire Law Enforcement Officials, Pay Overtime For Community Policing, And Restore Law Enforcement To Pre-Pandemic Levels. “Today, the Treasury Department is highlighting that communities experiencing a surge in gun violence as a result of the pandemic may use the American Rescue Plan’s $350 billion in state and local funding for purposes such as: Hiring law enforcement officials – even above pre-pandemic levels – or paying overtime where the funds are directly focused on advancing community policing strategies in those communities experiencing an increase in gun violence associated with the pandemic. […] In addition, the Treasury Department is clarifying that any community may use ARP state and local aid for the above strategies and any other public safety programs, up to the level of revenue loss the jurisdiction experienced during the pandemic. And any community may use ARP funds to rehire police officers and other public servants to restore law enforcement and courts to their pre-pandemic levels.” [White House, Press Release, 6/23/21]

Department Of The Treasury: “There Are Many Ways In Which The State And Local Fiscal Recovery Funds […] Can Support Communities Working To Reduce And Respond To Increased Violence.” “Under Treasury’s Interim Final Rule, there are many ways in which the State and Local Fiscal Recovery Funds (“Funds”) under the American Rescue Plan Act can support communities working to reduce and respond to increased violence due to the pandemic. […] In all communities, recipients may use resources to rehire police officers and other public servants to restore law enforcement and courts to their pre-pandemic levels. […] In communities where an increase in violence or increased difficulty in accessing or providing services to respond to or mitigate the effects of violence, is a result of the pandemic they may use funds to address that harm. This spending may include: Hiring law enforcement officials – even above pre-pandemic levels – or paying overtime where the funds are directly focused on advancing community policing strategies in those communities experiencing an increase in gun violence associated with the pandemic o Community Violence Intervention (CVI) programs, including capacity building efforts at CVI programs like funding and training additional intervention workers.” [Department of the Treasury, 7/19/21]

Biden: “The American Rescue Plan, Which We Passed In The First 100 Days Of My Administration, Is Providing Much-Needed, Historic Relief To Bring Back Those Law Enforcement Jobs.” President Biden: “The American Rescue Plan, which we passed in the first 100 days of my administration, is providing much-needed, historic relief to bring back those law enforcement jobs and social service jobs. Much of this relief has already arrived. The rest is on its way. And we’re now providing more guidance on how they can use the $350 billion nationally that the American Rescue Plan has available to help reduce crime and address the root causes. For example, cities experiencing an increase in gun violence were able to use the American Rescue Plan dollars to hire police officers needed for community policing and to pay their overtime. Mayors will also be able to buy crime-fighting technologies, like gunshot detection systems, to better see and stop gun violence in their communities. They can use the funding to scale up wraparound services for the residents as well, including substance abuse and mental health services that we know will make a difference in prevention of crime.” [White House, 6/23/21]

Local Newspaper Editorials Slammed Valadao’s Vote Against ARP, Saying He “Voted Against Basic Relief For Families And Businesses Suffering From The Effects Of A Global Pandemic”
Fresno Bee Editorial: “By Their Votes On The Relief Act, Nunes And Valadao Decided To Play Inside-The-Beltway Politics Of Over Making A Real Difference On Main Street.” “Valadao's district covers all of Kings County and parts of Fresno, Tulare and Kern counties. Per-capita annual income? Just $17,875. That's less than half the California and national figures. Annual median household income? Only $46,037. That's just three-fifths of the California total, two-thirds of the national figure. Simply put, the San Joaquin Valley is a poor part of California. Wages are low, health care is limited and educational attainment lags behind. Congressional representatives have the duty to seek to make things better for their constituents. Valadao Voted Against The Build Back Better Act

Valadao Voted Against The ‘Build Back Better’ Budget Reconciliation Bill. In November 2021, Valadao voted against: “Passage of the fiscal 2022 budget reconciliation bill, as amended, that would provide approximately $2 trillion in investments and tax cuts to address climate change and child care, health care, education, housing and other social policies intended to support families. It would establish a child care and early learning entitlement program, providing approximately $100 billion for the program through fiscal 2024. It would provide $18 billion through fiscal 2024 for a free universal preschool program. It would extend through 2022 the expanded child tax credit provided by prior coronavirus relief law (PL 117-2) and provide $5 billion to administer the credit. It would establish a paid family and medical leave benefit for up to four weeks per year, beginning in 2024. It would require the Health and Human Services Department to negotiate a "maximum fair price" for insulin and select Medicare-eligible, brand-name drugs that do not have generic competition. It would require manufacturers to provide rebates for single-source drugs under Medicare Parts B and D for which prices increase faster than inflation. For Medicare Part D, it would cap annual out-of-pocket limit at $2,000 beginning in 2024. It would establish or extend expanded eligibility for certain tax credits toward Affordable Care Act marketplace insurance premiums through 2025. It would establish or expand a number of tax credits to incentivize actions by businesses and individuals to mitigate climate change, including to expand credits for renewable energy production and facilities, carbon capture facilities, use of alternative fuels and energy efficiency improvements at residential properties; and to establish individual credits for the purchase of electric vehicles. It would raise royalty rates and fees for oil and gas drilling leases and cancel or ban certain offshore leases. It would provide $29 billion to support the deployment of low- and zero-emission technologies, more than $20 billion for federal climate resiliency and environmental conservation activities and $9 billion for federal procurement of electric vehicles and related infrastructure. It would provide $65 billion for public housing improvements, $24 billion for rental assistance housing vouchers and $15 billion for down payment assistance and loan programs for first-generation homebuyers. It would provide $9.8 billion for local transit projects to support mobility and affordable housing access disadvantaged communities and $9 billion for lead remediation and water line replacement projects. It would forgive all debt owed by the National Flood Insurance Program's debt, for a total of $20.5 billion. It would provide such sums as necessary for the USDA to forgive farm loan debt for economically distressed farmers and ranchers. It would provide $6.6 billion to the Small Business Administration and Minority Business Development Agency to help underrepresented individuals with business development. It would provide $20 billion for Labor and Education department workforce development programs and $1.9 billion for Labor Department worker protection agencies. It would allow individuals who entered the United States prior to Jan. 1, 2011, to receive a grant of parole allowing them to remain temporarily in the country for a period of five years, but no later than Sept. 30, 2021. It would temporarily increase from $10,000 to $80,000 the annual cap on the deduction for state and local taxes for tax years 2021 through 2030. To offset costs, it would establish or modify various taxes on corporations and high-income individuals, including to establish a 15 percent alternative minimum tax for corporations with an annual income exceeding $1 billion; a one percent tax on stock buybacks by public companies; and an additional five percent tax on individual income over $10 million and further three percent tax on income over $25 million. It would provide $78.9 billion to improve IRS operations and tax enforcement.” Passed by a vote of 220-213. [HR 5376, Vote #385, 11/19/21, CQ 11/19/21]

- Roosevelt Institute: Build Back Better Act Would Invest In Child Care, Creating Jobs And Allowing Parents To Get Back To Work. “Convenient, affordable childcare is a major obstacle for working parents, illuminated even more so by school and daycare closures during the COVID-19 pandemic, which has disproportionately impacted women’s labor force participation. Increasing the capacity of industries in order to curb inflation of specific prices requires increasing the supply of labor. The Build Back Better Act invests in existing and new childcare facilities in underserved areas and provides subsidies to make childcare more affordable for qualifying households. Together, these investments would increase the supply of childcare, create new jobs, and allow parents to get back to work. [Roosevelt Institute, Fact Sheet, 9/28/21]

- Center For American Progress: Build Back Better Act Would Invest In Clean Electricity And Energy Efficiency, Reducing Energy Costs By $500 Per Year For The Average Household. “Build Back Better helps break the United States’ dependence on fossil fuels—an industry that’s particularly vulnerable to extreme weather, which has and will continue to be exacerbated by climate change—consumer energy costs will be reduced. Specifically, proposed investments in clean electricity and energy efficiency will make energy costs more affordable, saving the average household approximately $500 a year in reduced energy costs. This much-needed investment in clean energy would come at a time when energy prices have pushed up inflation for consecutive months.” [Center for American Progress, 11/16/21]

Valadao Claimed The Build Back Better Act Would Increase Inflation Rates And Would “Cripple Generations To Come By Passing On More Debt To Future Americans.” “David Valadao, R-Hanford, voted against ‘Build Back Better’ when the House of Representatives approved it 220-213 on Nov. 19. It was nearly a party-line vote, with only one Democrat voting no (Jared Golden of Maine). ‘Our nation simply cannot afford to keep spending money that we do not have, which is why this bill is so difficult to pass as it would only make the problem worse. Americans are experiencing record high inflation, the cost of housing is rising, grocery bills are historically high, and gas is unaffordable,’ Valadao said. ‘The Build Back Better Act would not only hurt our economy by drastically increasing our already record-high inflation rates, it would also cripple generations to come by passing on more debt to future Americans.’” [gvwire.com, 12/28/21]

Valadao Was Bad For California’s Infrastructure

Valadao Voted Against The Infrastructure Investment And Jobs Act That Provided Critical Funding For Water And Broadband Infrastructure In California

Valadao Voted Against The Infrastructure Investment And Jobs Act

Valadao Voted Against The Infrastructure Investment And Jobs Act, Providing $550 Billion In New Infrastructure Spending. In November 2021 Valadao voted against: “DeFazio, D-Ore., motion to concur in the Senate amendment to the bill that would provide approximately $550 billion in new infrastructure spending, including for surface transportation, broadband, water and energy infrastructure. In supplemental appropriations and increased contract authority, the bill would provide $110 billion for roads, bridges and major surface transportation projects, including $47.3 billion for highways; $40 billion for bridge construction and repair; $66 billion for rail, including $58 billion for Amtrak; and $39 billion for transit, including $5.3 billion for zero- and low-emission transit buses and $2 billion for accessibility improvements. It would provide $25 billion for airports and approximately $17 billion for ports and waterways, including $3.4 billion to modernize land ports of entry and $2.25 billion for water port upgrades, including resilience and electrification projects. It would provide approximately $11 billion for various transportation safety and research programs. It would provide $7.5 billion for electric vehicle charging infrastructure and $5 billion for zero- and low-emission school bus programs. It would establish requirements for many new and existing surface transportation programs to consider the environmental and equity impacts of funded activities and authorize a range of transportation programs related to emissions reduction and climate change resilience. It would provide $1 billion for activities to reconnect neighborhoods by removing or remediating the effects of transportation infrastructure construction in disadvantaged and underserved communities. The bill would provide approximately $65 billion for broadband, including $42.5 billion for grants to states to increase access in unserved areas and $14.2 billion to extend a program initially authorized in response to the coronavirus pandemic that provides stipends to help low-income families pay for internet services. It would provide approximately $62 billion for the Energy Department, including $21.5 billion for clean energy demonstration projects, $16.3 billion for energy efficiency and renewable energy programs, $8 billion for power grid resilience and other electricity projects, and $7.5 billion for fossil energy and carbon management. It would authorize or expand several programs to incentivize clean energy manufacturing, development and adoption. It would provide approximately $55 billion for water infrastructure and safety, including $30.7 billion for the Drinking Water State Revolving Fund, including $15 billion to replace lead service lines and $4 billion to address per- and polyfluoroalkyl substances and other emerging contaminants; and $12.7 billion for the Clean Water State Revolving Fund. Across various departments, the bill would provide funding for climate change response and environmental remediation, including; $11.3 billion for abandoned mine land and water reclamation projects, approximately $5.75 billion for wildfire management, $3.5 billion for the EPA hazardous substance superfund and $3.5 billion for FEMA flood mitigation. It would also provide more than $1.7 billion for cybersecurity resilience programs. The bill would include a number of provisions intended to offset spending, including by rescinding certain unobligated COVID-19 relief funding and establishing tax reporting requirements for cryptocurrency and other digital assets.” The motion was agreed to by a vote of 228-206. - Washington Post: Infrastructure Spending Included $16 Billion For “Major Projects That Are Too Large Or Complex For Traditional Funding Programs.” “The $1.2 trillion infrastructure bill adopted late Friday creates a multibillion-dollar fund to spur the type of complicated, ambitious projects that have been stymied by decades of tentative investment and inattention from Washington. Modern-day equivalents of megaprojects like the Hoover Dam can benefit broad swaths of the United States, but infrastructure experts say they have often stagnated. [...] Among the projects that could see a boost: the Gateway rail project, a vast plan to expand capacity for train traffic between New York and New Jersey; and a long-delayed effort to replace the outmoded Brent Spence Bridge connecting Kentucky and Ohio, which is one of the nation’s worst bottlenecks. [...] The infrastructure bill includes about $16 billion for ‘major projects that are too large or complex for traditional funding programs,’ but that have big economic benefits, according to the White House.” [Washington Post, 11/6/21]

- Bipartisan Infrastructure Deal Would Provide $110 Billion For Repairs To Highways, Bridges, And Roads. “The bill would provide $110 billion to repair the nation’s aging highways, bridges and roads. According to the White House, 173,000 total miles or nearly 280,000 kilometers of America’s highways and major roads and 45,000 bridges are in poor condition. And the almost $40 billion for bridges is the single largest dedicated bridge investment since the construction of the national highway system, according to the Biden administration.” [Associated Press, 11/6/21]

- Axios: The Infrastructure Bill Included $65 Billion For “Building High-Speed Internet Networks, Helping Low-Income Families Pay For Service And Digital Equity Programs.” “The infrastructure bill heading to President Biden's desk includes $65 billion to improve high-speed internet access and affordability. […] By the numbers: The funding is aimed towards building high-speed internet networks, helping low-income families pay for service and digital equity programs. $42.45 billion in grants to states for broadband projects, which can range from network deployment to data collection to help determine areas that lack service. $14.2 billion to provide a $30-a-month voucher to low-income Americans to pay for internet service. It will replace the current $50-a-month Emergency Broadband Benefit program, offering less money monthly, but increasing the number of those eligible. $2.75 billion for digital inclusion and equity projects, such as improving digital literacy or online skills for seniors. $2 billion each for a rural broadband construction program called ReConnect, run by USDA, and to the Tribal Broadband Connectivity Program run by the Commerce Department’s National Telecommunications and Information Administration (NTIA). $1 billion to build so-called ‘middle mile’ infrastructure to connect local providers to larger internet access points. $600 million for private activity bonds to finance broadband deployment projects in rural areas.” [Axios, 11/8/21]

- The Infrastructure Bill Included $1.75 Billion To Increase The Accessibility Of Transit Systems. “A $1.75 billion fund in the infrastructure package will aim to guarantee that transit stations are accessible, decades after campaigns by disability rights activists to demand lifts on buses helped to spur passage of the Americans With Disabilities Act. Almost a fifth of transit stations were not fully accessible in 2019, according to the most recent Federal Transit Administration data. […] The bill also includes language about Amtrak, requiring that a person with disabilities be appointed to the railroad’s board and mandating spending on accessibility, which Duckworth said helped show that accessibility was a national issue and not only an urban concern. About 25 million people in the United States report having a disability that limits their transportation options, and the Labor Department attributes lower rates of employment among people with disabilities, in part, to those obstacles. People with disabilities are almost twice as likely as others to use public transit to get around, according to the Transportation Department.” [Washington Post, 11/6/21]

- Bipartisan Infrastructure Deal Would Invest $44 Billion On Water And Wastewater Infrastructure, Including $15 Billion To Replace Lead Pipes And $10 Billion To Address PFAS Water Contamination. “The legislation would spend $55 billion on water and wastewater infrastructure. It has $15 billion to replace lead pipes and $10 billion to address water contamination from polyfluoroalkyl substances — chemicals that were used in the production of Teflon and have also been used in firefighting foam, water-repellent clothing and many other items.” [Associated Press, 11/6/21]

- Bipartisan Infrastructure Deal Would Invest $65 Billion To Improve The Reliability Of The Power Grid And Boost Clean Power Generation. “To protect against the power outages that have become more frequent in recent years, the bill would spend $65 billion to improve the reliability and resiliency of the power grid. It would also boost carbon capture technologies and more environmentally friendly electricity sources like clean hydrogen.” [Associated Press, 11/6/21]
• Bipartisan Infrastructure Deal Would Invest $7.5 Billion In Electrical Vehicle Charging Stations And $5 Billion In Electric And Hybrid School Buses. “The bill would spend $7.5 billion for electric vehicle charging stations, which the administration says are critical to accelerating the use of electric vehicles to curb climate change. It would also provide $5 billion for the purchase of electric school buses and hybrids, reducing reliance on school buses that run on diesel fuel.” [Associated Press, 11/6/21]

• Bipartisan Infrastructure Deal Would Invest $66 Billion In Amtrak, The Largest Federal Investment In The Service Since Its Founding. “To reduce Amtrak’s maintenance backlog, which has worsened since Superstorm Sandy nine years ago, the bill would provide $66 billion to improve the rail service’s Northeast Corridor (457 miles, 735 km), as well as other routes. It’s less than the $80 billion Biden — who famously rode Amtrak from Delaware to Washington during his time in the Senate — originally asked for, but it would be the largest federal investment in passenger rail service since Amtrak was founded 50 years ago.” [Associated Press, 11/6/21]

• Bipartisan Infrastructure Deal Would Be Funded Through Unspent Pandemic Relief, Unused Federal Unemployment Insurance, And An “Array Of Smaller Pots Of Money.” “The five-year spending package would be paid for by tapping $210 billion in unspent COVID-19 relief aid and $53 billion in unemployment insurance aid some states have halted, along with an array of smaller pots of money, like petroleum reserve sales and spectrum auctions for 5G services.” [Associated Press, 11/6/21]

The EPA Announced Over $600 Million In Water Infrastructure Funding For California Through The Bipartisan Infrastructure Law. “EPA will allocate $7.4 billion to states, Tribes, and territories for 2022, including over $600 million to assist California address the high SRF demands which have historically exceeded available funding. As of February 2021, the State received applications requesting over $10 billion in funding from its Clean Water and Drinking Water SRFs. The Bipartisan Infrastructure Law provides much-needed financial relief to communities that want to improve their water infrastructure, promote water reuse, increase their drought resilience, and implement proactive wildfire resilience projects.” [U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, 12/2/21]

The Bipartisan Infrastructure Law Allocated $84 Million Towards Protection Against Wildfires In California

The Bipartisan Infrastructure Law Allocated $84 Million Towards Protection Against Wildfires In California. “Protection against wildfires: $84 million. Californians are no strangers to wildfire's devastating impacts, which have displaced residents from Paradise to Tahoe and beyond, costing the state an estimated $50 billion to $100 billion in damages, according to the White House. Newsom's investment strategy also includes $2 billion toward the purchase of new firefighting equipment like air tankers and helicopters, as well as supporting forest and wildfire resilience strategies across the state.” [KQED, 11/8/21]

The Bipartisan Infrastructure Law Allocated $100 Million To Provide Broadband Access In California—Benefiting 31.4% Of Households In Valadao's District That Lacked Internet Access

California Would Receive $100 Million To Provide Broadband Access From The Infrastructure Bill. “California will receive at least $100 million to expand broadband coverage through the bipartisan Infrastructure Investment and Jobs Act, passed by the U.S. House of Representatives late Friday and awaiting the president’s signature. The funding is aimed at providing broadband access to the at least 545,000 Californians who currently lack it, according to a White House news release in August following the Senate’s passage of the bill. ‘Broadband internet is necessary for Americans to do their jobs, to participate equally in school learning, health care and to stay connected,’ the news release said. The federal funding supplements the state’s $6 billion broadband plan included in the 2021-22 state budget. That blueprint includes plans to expand the state’s internet infrastructure with a particular focus on areas that have historically been unserved or underserved by private internet service providers.” [EdSource, 11/8/21]

The Bipartisan Infrastructure Law Gave California $34.8 Billion For Highways And Public Transit Infrastructure

The Bipartisan Infrastructure Law Gave California $34.8 Billion For Highways And Public Transit Infrastructure. “The administration said Californians should plan for at least $44.56 billion in infrastructure funds, the biggest sum for any state, with highways and public transit alone comprising about $34.8 billion of that total.” [CNBC, 8/31/21]

Valadao Criticized The Spending Of The Infrastructure Investment & Jobs Act And Accused Those Who Supported The Bill Of “Reckless Spending”

Valadao Criticized The Spending Of The Infrastructure Investment & Jobs Act And Accused Those Who Supported The Bill Of “Reckless Spending.” “Gov. Gavin Newsom praised the passage of President Joe Biden's $1.2 trillion infrastructure bill, calling it a ‘once-in-a-generation’ investment that will modernize California's bridges and roads, create jobs, and reduce emissions. The governor’s office expects the Golden State will receive more than $30 billion from the bipartisan bill that Democrats pushed through Congress on Nov. 5 with the help of 13 Republicans […] Congressman David Valadao (R-Hanford), who eked out a victory in the state's embattled 21st District, criticized the legislation's price tag and accused its supporters of 'reckless spending.' ‘While our nation's infrastructure is in desperate need of repair, I cannot, in good conscience, vote in favor of any part of this multi-trillion dollar package,’ Valadao said in a statement. ‘This could be the largest tax increase and most expensive piece of legislation in American history. The last thing middle-class families need is to carry the burden of paying for this magnitude of reckless spending for years to come.’” [Visalia Times-Delta, 11/9/21]

Valadao Said He Voted Against The Infrastructure Package Because It Constituted The Largest Tax Increase In History. “‘While our nation’s infrastructure is in desperate need of repair, I cannot, in good conscience, vote in favor of any part of this multi-trillion dollar package. Inflation is record-high, consumer prices are rising, and our economy is still recovering from a global pandemic. This could be the largest tax increase and most expensive piece of legislation in American history. The last thing middle class families need is to carry the burden of paying for this magnitude of reckless spending for years to come,’ said Congressman Valadao.” [Rep. David Valadao, Press Release, 11/6/21]

After Securing $20 Million In Earmarks For The State Route 41 Excelsior Corridor In Fresno In The INVEST In America Act, Valadao Voted Against The Bill

The INVEST In America Act Included The Requested $20 Million In Funding For The State Route 41 Corridor

San Joaquin Valley Roads And Highways Stood To Received $20 Million In Infrastructure Funding From The INVEST In America Act. “San Joaquin Valley roads, highways and railroads could benefit from about $20 million in infrastructure funding, according to Rep. Jim Costa. Costa, D-Fresno, said Tuesday a list of projects in Fresno, Merced, Madera and other Valley counties were added to the 2021 INVEST in America Act, a $547 billion surface infrastructure transportation bill.” [Fresno Bee, 6/22/21]

However, because the Senate changed the bill so much, another House vote is needed. A final vote is expected by Sept. 27. ‘There’s a number of ways in which this bill is considerably different. I mean, basically, the size of it is three times what we’ve seen in the past,’ said Robert Phipps, deputy director of the Fresno Council of Governments. July 2021: Valadao Voted Against The INVEST In America Act

Valadao Voted Against The INVEST In America Act, Containing More Than $720 Billion In Surface Transportation And Water Infrastructure Spending. In July 2021, Valadao voted against: “Passage of the bill, as amended, that would authorize more than $720 billion in surface transportation and water infrastructure spending. It would reauthorize federal-aid highway, public transit, rail, and surface transportation safety and research programs for five years, through fiscal 2026, and reauthorize various water infrastructure programs for five or ten years. As amended, the bill would additionally authorize more than $36 billion through fiscal 2026 for activities related to electric vehicle infrastructure, access and manufacturing. It would authorize more than $548 billion through fiscal 2026 for federal surface transportation programs, including $333 billion for federal-aid highway programs; $109 billion for transit programs; and $96 billion for rail programs. It would establish requirements for many new and existing surface transportation programs to consider the environmental and equity impacts of funded activities. It would require the Transportation Department to establish a number of grant programs for project-level investments, including for carbon pollution reduction projects to reduce greenhouse gas emissions from the surface transportation system; development of electric vehicle charging and hydrogen fueling infrastructure; separation or elimination of highway-rail crossings; extreme weather resilience and mitigation improvements; activities to reconnect neighborhoods by removing or remediating the effects of transportation infrastructure construction in disadvantaged and underserved communities. It would authorize $12 billion for a new program to support large highway, transit, and rail projects of national and regional significance. It would modify a transit grant program to require the procurement of zero-emission buses and other vehicles. Within the total for rail funding, it would authorize $32 billion for Amtra; $25 billion for a new program to fund improvements to major intercity passenger rail bridges, stations, and tunnels grant; $7 billion for passenger and freight rail infrastructure and safety improvement grants; and up to $20 million annually to establish a university innovation institute to research and develop low- and zero-emission rail technologies. It would establish an independent nonprofit known as the Clean Energy and Sustainability Accelerator to facilitate the deployment of emissions reduction technologies, requiring the Energy Department to transfer $50 billion to the accelerator upon establishment and $10 billion annually for the subsequent five years. The bill would authorize more than $117.5 billion for drinking water infrastructure and $54.4 billion for wastewater treatment infrastructure over ten years. It would authorize $53 billion through 2031 for the EPA Drinking Water State Revolving Fund, which provides grants to states to provide loans and other financial assistance to public water systems, and increase the maximum percentage of such funding states may use to assist disadvantaged communities. It would authorize $4.5 billion annually through fiscal 2031 for grants to states to replace lead service lines; $4 billion available until expended for a low-income drinking water assistance program. It would authorize $40 billion through fiscal 2026 for the EPA Clean Water State Revolving Fund, which provides grants to states to provide loans and other financial assistance related to water treatment infrastructure projects. It would authorize $4 billion for a low-income wastewater assistance program, available until expended. It would authorize $2.6 billion to improve water sanitation facilities funded by the Indian Health Service. It would authorize $500 million annually through fiscal 2031 for community water system PFAS treatment grants. It would require the EPA to set national primary drinking water regulations for contaminants including per- and polyfluoroalkyl substances, microcystin toxin, chromium-6 and 1,4-dioxane.” The bill passed 221 to 201. Valadao Was Bad For California’s Water

Valadao Sponsored A Bill Pushed By Trump-Connected Lobbyist That Would Invalidate State Laws, Threaten Species, And Permanently Dry Up California’s Second Longest River

2017: Valadao’s GROW Act Passed The House Of Representatives

Valadao Described The GROW Act As A Long Term Solution That Would Protect Users’ Water Rights. “The ‘Gaining Responsibility on Water Act,’ H.R. 23, from Rep. David Valadao and 11 other California Republicans, would reduce the cost of water delivery contracts and amend the 1992 Central Valley Project Improvement Act to give users more authority over how restoration funds are spent. … In January, Valadao described the WIIN Act language as "temporary provisions" and said his bill was necessary as a ‘long-term agreement.’ ‘My bill, the GROW Act, will enact policies to expand our water infrastructure and allow for more water conveyance while protecting the water rights of users across the state,’ he said.” [E&E News, 7/10/17]
2017: Valadao’s GROW Act Would Require “Regulators To Comply With The Bipartisan Bay-Delta Accord, Which Is Consistent With The Requirements Of The Endangered Species Act.” “In an effort to restore water deliveries for struggling communities, Congressman David G. Valadao introduced H.R. 23, the Gaining Responsibility on Water Act, also known as the GROW Act. The legislation provides relief to Californians by restoring water deliveries that have been drastically reduced over the last two decades as a result of various environmental lawsuits and illogical state and federal regulations. Rep. Valadao's legislation requires regulators to comply with the bipartisan Bay-Delta Accord, which is consistent with the requirements of the Endangered Species Act. Furthermore, the bill will cut red tape holding back major water storage projects that have been authorized for over a decade, which will aid the entire Western United States during dry years.” [Rep. David Valadao, press release, 7/12/17]

Valadao’s Water Bill Was Crafted By Trump-Connected Lobbyist And Future Interior Secretary David Bernhardt, Who Lied During A Confirmation Hearing That He Was Done Lobbying

The California Agriculture Lobby Pushed Valadao’s GROW Act (H.R. 23). “The drought may be over and Central Valley farmers are getting more water than they have in years, but that hasn’t stopped congressional Republicans from resurrecting a bill that would strip environmental protections for fish so more water can be funneled to agriculture. … Nonetheless, the legislation by Rep. David Valadao, R-Hanford, offers a window into the unrelenting mindset of California’s agricultural lobby as it seeks to secure water for well-funded farming groups. … Valley farm groups aren’t shy about pressing their case in Washington. Westlands, for instance, spent a combined $1.3 million lobbying Congress and various federal agencies on water issues in 2015 and 2016, according to OpenSecrets.org.” [Sacramento Bee, 7/20/17]

Republican Lobbyist, David Bernhardt, Crafted Valadao’s Water Bill On Behalf Of His Client, Westlands Water District, After Lying To Congress That He Had Stopped Lobbying. “Even as lawmakers voted, only a few insiders knew the sweeping measure was in part the secret handiwork of a Washington lobbyist who soon might play a key role administering the nation’s environmental policies: David Bernhardt, President Donald Trump’s nominee to become the No. 2 executive in the U.S. Department of the Interior. Bernhardt is a longtime lobbyist for the politically powerful Westlands Water District, which has crusaded for years for more federal irrigation water – and fewer environmental rules – for growers. According to emails made public this week by the Planning and Conservation League environmental group, Bernhardt was involved in political work for Westlands well into this year, even though he told the Senate that he ceased lobbying for Westlands on Nov. 18, 2016. A confirmation vote is set for Monday. Democrats have lined up against Bernhardt because of conflict-of-interest concerns, and two good-government groups have called for investigations into whether Bernhardt violated federal lobbying laws and lied to Congress when he denied performing ‘regulated lobbying activity’ for Westlands. … The emails indicate Bernhardt’s work on the Valadao measure began Nov. 22 of last year, four days after he claims he stopped lobbying for Westlands. … An aide to Valadao asked Bernhardt to review proposed language for the new bill concerning ‘the San Joaquin River Settlement language.’ The issue was technical but important: The bill sought to shut down a program to restore a salmon run on the lower San Joaquin River, even though the government had agreed to the effort to settle an environmental lawsuit. Should Valadao borrow language from an old bill that had failed to pass, or should new language be crafted? Bernhardt forwarded the email to Westlands. Later that day, another Valadao aide emailed Westlands, asking for a ‘letter of unequivocal support’ for the measure the lawmaker was about to introduce. Soon after, Bernhardt wrote a letter on Westlands letterhead, calling the bill ‘a solution to the long-term water supply challenges facing California.”” [Center for Investigative Reporting, 7/22/17]

David Bernhardt Was Later Confirmed As Trump’s Interior Secretary In 2019. “The U.S. Senate voted Thursday to confirm David Bernhardt, a former lobbyist and George W. Bush administration official, to become the next U.S. Interior Secretary. The nomination was approved by a vote of 56-41, largely along party lines. Democratic Sens. Kyrsten Sinema of Arizona, Joe Manchin of West Virginia and Martin Heinrich of New Mexico voted for his confirmation, as did Angus King of Maine, an independent who caucuses with Democrats.” [Colorado Independent, 4/11/19]

While David Bernhardt Had Not Contacted Legislators Or Members Of The Executive Branch With Legal Advice On H.R. 23, He Did Provide Legal Advice On H.R. 23 And Related Issues Up To The Time Of His Nomination. “He may not have contacted legislators or members of the executive branch on Westlands’ behalf related to H.R. 23, the definition of lobbying. But Bernhardt, a lawyer, provided the district with legal advice on that bill and related issues up to the time of his nomination, according to emails cited by Reveal and obtained by Public Records Act requests by Patricia Schifferle. Schifferle, who opposes the tunnels, consults for the Planning and Conservation League. Those emails detail the extent of Westlands’ involvement in the legislation. In an email dated Dec. 13, an aide to Valadao sent a draft of what became H.R. 23 to several insiders including Westlands officials, and asked for ‘any edits you would like us to make.’” [Editorial, Sacramento Bee, 7/28/17]

H.R. 23 Would Ease “Flow Restrictions That Have Limited Water Deliveries To Western Kings County That Pass Through The Imperiled Ecosystem Of The Sacramento-San Joaquin River Delta”

Valadao Bill Would Ease “Flow Restrictions That Have Limited Water Deliveries To Western Kings County That Pass Through The Imperiled Ecosystem Of The Sacramento-San Joaquin River Delta.” “Valadao, R-Hanford, has introduced a major new water bill in the U.S. House of Representatives that could increase the flow of Northern California water to Kings County. Valadao announced the legislation Tuesday. ‘This Western drought has had devastating consequences on my constituents in California’s Central Valley,’ Valadao said in a written statement. ‘My bill ... will enact policies to expand our water infrastructure and allow for more water conveyance while protecting the rights of water users across the state.’ The bill attempts to ease environmental flow restrictions
Critics Said Valadao's GROW Act Would Invalidate California And Federal Environmental Laws…

San Francisco Chronicle Editorial: Valadao’s H.R. 23 Would “Exempt Water Projects In California From Long-Standing State Laws Protecting The Environment, And Invalidate Iconic Federal Environmental Laws.” “One of the most dangerous and sweeping such congressional proposals is HR23, the deceptively named "Gaining Responsibility on Water Act." That bill, which has already passed the House, would reverse the federal government's century-old deference to state water law, exempt water projects in California from long-standing state laws protecting the environment, and invalidate iconic federal environmental laws applying to those projects. This attack on California water rights is the handiwork of California Republicans led by Rep. David Valadao of Tulare and House Majority Leader Kevin McCarthy of Bakersfield. Make no mistake: They drafted this bill in close collabo-ration with Central Valley agribusiness interests. If successful, HR23 would provide additional water to California farmers and ranchers at the expense of California's environment.” [Richard Frank, San Francisco Chronicle, 8/6/17]

Valadao’s GROW Act Would “Basically Block Or Override Several State Water Laws - Contrary To Conservatives’ Often-Stated Goal Of Reducing The Federal Government's Role.” “Specifically, Valadao wants to boost water deliveries to valley farms - which grow most of the country's avocados, almonds and broccoli, among other crops - leaving less water in rivers to help threatened fish in the Sacramento-San Joaquin River Delta. That trade-off has environmentalists and Democrats calling the GROW Act a water grab and an attack on state and federal environmental protections. And it could have repercussions for the entire Delta system, which provides much of the state's surface water supplies. The bill, H.R. 23, would basically block or override several state water laws - contrary to conservatives' often-stated goal of reducing the federal government's role and giving states greater power to manage resources. ‘They are trying to preempt the state from managing its rivers to balance the benefits to the economy with the need to protect the environment,’ says Doug Obegi, attorney for the Natural Resources Defense Council.” [High County News, Editorial, 8/21/17]

California Democrats Opposed GROW Act, Argued That It Usurped California Laws In Favor Of Trump Administration Having More Control And Would Damage Fisheries. “Outside the House, California officials are speaking out against the legislation. Feinstein and Sen. Kamala Harris (D-Calif.) this week issued a joint statement against the bill saying it is ‘giving the Trump administration greater control over water management in our state.’ They also argue that the bill would ‘set back the progress made’ in the WIIN Act compromise and criticized the bill's potential impact on fisheries protections. ‘Science should be at the center of all decisions affecting California's water supply. This bill would eliminate the existing biological opinions required under the Endangered Species Act,’ they said. ‘It also prevents California from using new scientific data to manage our water supply by reverting us back to outdated limits set more than two decades ago.’ Gov. Jerry Brown (D) also condemned the bill in a Monday letter to House Speaker Paul Ryan (R-Wis.), saying it interferes with his state's right to govern itself. ‘This bill overrides California water law, ignoring our state's prerogative to oversee our waters,’ he wrote. ‘Commandeering our laws for purposes defined in Washington is not right.’ He argued that managing California’s water system — and balancing the needs of urban areas, rural areas and endangered species — is ‘best done at the state and local level — not in a polarized political climate 3,000 miles away.’” [E&E Daily, 7/12/17]

Valadao-Written Water Bill Was Criticized By Rep. Jerry McNERney For Usurping California Laws, Taking Water From People Who Depend On The Delta. “A controversial bill that critics say will strip California of much of its ability to regulate water supplies sailed through the Republican-controlled House of Representatives Wednesday evening. The vote was 230-190. The bill’s author is Rep. David Valadao, R-Hanford. It had 14 co-sponsors, 13 of whom are Republicans. … Supporters say the hand of the federal government will open the taps to allow the pumping of more water out of the California Delta instead of conserving it to help fish and wildlife in the Delta. Among those opposed to the legislation is Rep. Jerry McNerney, D-Stockton, whose district includes much of the Delta. ‘Yes, this is the same bill that would weaken environmental laws that protect our vital resources – specifically the Endangered Species Act, which has long been a target of the Republican Party. It pits Northern and Southern California against each other, harming those in my district and the northern part of the state to benefit a few wealthy farmers in the south. And it does nothing to create any new water,’ Mr. McNerney says. ‘However, this time, the person who would be charged with overseeing the implementation of this legislation has a clear conflict of interest. David Bernhardt, who has been nominated as Deputy Secretary of the Interior, previously lobbied for the Westlands Water District and negotiated the controversial deal that ended with the Department of Interior paying out $350 million to the water district,’ Mr. McNerney says. ‘This is the nation’s largest water district and, if Mr. Bernhardt is confirmed and this legislation enacted, he would have the power to pump even more water into the area at the expense of everyone that depends on fresh water from the Delta.’’ [Central Valley Business Times, 7/12/17]

Valadao’s Water Bill Was Criticized By Rep. Jared Huffman For Taking Water Away From Fishermen, Tribes, Delta Farmers To Redistribute It To A Small Group Of Well-Connected Agribusiness Interests. “Democrats accused the GOP of overriding California law and its power over water supplies, while significantly harming commercial fishing in the state by reapportioning water. ‘Make no mistake. If enacted, this bill will hurt a lot of people,’ said Rep. Jared Huffman (D-Calif.) ‘It takes water away from fishermen, from tribes, the environment, Delta farmers and others in order to redistribute it, primarily to a small group of some of the nation’s biggest and most politically connected agribusiness interests.’ Huffman said the bill preempts California state law in numerous ways, like blocking state protections for fisheries and its ability to manage water for the public good. He cited a letter Gov. Jerry Brown (D) wrote to the congressional delegation opposing it.” [The Hill, 7/12/17]

Valadao Water Bill “Threatens Thousands Of Fishing Jobs” And Could “Permanently Dry Up California’s Second Longest River.” “It is the height of hypocrisy that this legislation claims to protect state water rights from federal interference, yet would pre-empt California from conditioning state water rights under state law,” said Doug Obegi, lawyer with the Natural Resources Defense Council, in a statement. ‘H.R. 23 threatens thousands of fishing jobs, would permanently dry up California’s second longest river and would destroy the delta estuary and drive native species extinct.’” [Courthouse News, 7/20/17]

Sacramento Bee: San Joaquin River Threatened By Valadao Water Bill. “Valadao’s HR 23, which passed the House earlier this month on a mostly party-line vote, overrides a quarter-century of state and federal protections for endangered fish, while fast-tracking reviews for several proposed controversial dams. A section of the bill is dedicated to killing a program that seeks to bring more flows to the San Joaquin River, where miles of river often dry up because of agricultural diversions and dams.” [Sacramento Bee, 7/20/17]

- Press-Democrat: HR 23 Was Valadao’s Latest Attempt “To Benefit Central Valley Growers By Putting Politics Ahead Of Science In Allocating California’s Water.” “The bill, HR 23, is the latest attempt by Rep. David Valadao, R-Hanford, to benefit Central Valley growers by putting politics ahead of science in allocating California’s water. Unlike past efforts that were packaged as drought relief, this bill is a straight up water grab by Big Ag interests in the Central Valley and their House allies. It was jammed through the House this month without a public hearing — and over the objections of their Northern California lawmakers. ‘Make no mistake, if enacted, this bill will hurt a lot of people,’ Rep. Jared Huffman, D-San Rafael, said on the House floor. ‘It takes water away from fisherman, tribes, the environment, Delta farmers and others, in order to redistribute it primarily to a small group of the nation’s biggest and most politically-connected agribusiness interests.’” [Editorial, Press-Democrat, 7/23/17]

Sacramento Bee: “Nunes And Valadao Joke About Westlands’ Water Grab. We’re Not Laughing.” “The occasion was the passage of H.R. 23, carried by fellow San Joaquin Valley Republican, Rep. David Valadao of Hanford, although its authorship is clearly at issue. The bill is the House Republicans’ latest attempt to weaken the Endangered Species Act at the Sacramento-San Joaquin River Delta’s expense, and at the behest of the Westlands Water District, the sprawling irrigation district where some of the state’s wealthiest farmers tend their crops. Upon the bill’s passage, Nunes tweeted a photo of five cupcakes, four of which were topped with fish-shaped gummy candies. Perhaps he ate the fifth or maybe he threw it away. Whatever the gummy’s fate, the Tulare politician’s tweet thanked Valadao ‘for sending this excellent gift: smelt-themed cupcakes.’ In the sheltered offices of Congress, where Republicans talk to Republicans about burdens imposed by environmental law on their donors, Nunes’ tweet must have been a hoot.” [Editorial, Sacramento Bee, 7/28/17]

Tribal And Government Officials Said Valadao’s GROW Act “Would Virtually End Trinity River Dam Water Releases” And Eliminate Humboldt County’s Right To Water

Tribal And Government Officials Argued That Valadao Water Bill “Would Virtually End Trinity River Dam Water Releases” And Eliminate Humboldt County’s Right To Water. “Local tribal and government officials say a bill currently under U.S. Senate review would virtually end Trinity River dam water releases used to prevent fish kills and do away with Humboldt County’s 60-year right to river water in favor of providing more water to Central Valley irrigators. California Rep. Jared Huffman (D-San Rafael) said the bill — HR 23 introduced by California Rep. David Valadao (R-Hanford) — is but one of several attempts over the years by Central Valley water contractors and suppliers, namely the Fresno-based Westlands Water District, to redirect more Trinity River water for their own interests. … Local officials said this week that the bill would undo longstanding provisions adopted by Congress that protect Trinity River fish and Humboldt County’s water rights. These provisions adopted in 1955 and 1959 gave Humboldt County an annual right to 50,000 acre-feet of water from Trinity Lake and stated that Trinity River water can only be diverted to the Central Valley after enough has been provided to protect fish. Humboldt County’s water right was not formally recognized by the Interior Department until January 2015, and the water has since been used in recent years to prevent fish diseases that have devastated federally protected salmon species on the lower Klamath and Trinity rivers.” [Times-Standard, 7/28/17]

Valadao Voted Against The Infrastructure Investment And Jobs Act That Provided Critical Funding For Water And Broadband Infrastructure In California

Valadao Voted Against The Infrastructure Investment And Jobs Act, Providing $550 Billion In New Infrastructure Spending. In November 2021 Valadao voted against: “DeFazio, D-Ore., motion to concur in the Senate amendment to the bill that would provide approximately $550 billion in new infrastructure spending, including for surface transportation, broadband, water and energy infrastructure. In supplemental appropriations and increased contract authority, the bill would provide $110 billion for roads, bridges and major surface transportation projects, including $47.3 for highway infrastructure and $40 billion for bridge construction and repair; $66 billion for rail, including $58 billion for Amtrak; and $39 billion for transit, including $5.3 billion for zero- and low-emission transit buses and $2 billion for accessibility improvements. It would provide $25 billion for airports and approximately $17 billion for ports and waterways, including $3.4 billion to modernize land ports of

- The $8.3 Billion Provided Opportunities To Fund California Infrastructure Projects Like The Sites Reservoir And The Friant-Kern Canal Subsidence Project. “Erin Huston, California Farm Bureau federal policy consultant, said the $8.3 billion included in the infrastructure legislation ‘provides the opportunity for funding several California infrastructure projects such as Sites Reservoir, the Friant-Kern Canal subsidence project and many others.’ In addition, there’s $3.3 billion in the package that seeks to address the threat of wildfire, she added. ‘We’ll be monitoring implementation very closely to ensure this funding opportunity is allocated smartly and addresses the needs of California’s agricultural communities and results in actual, real structures being built in California,’ Huston said.” [AgAlert, 11/24/21]
January 2022: Valadao Attended A Ceremony Celebrating The First Phase Of The $187 Million Project To Repair The Friant-Kern Canal. “After years of planning and scouring for funding, critically needed repairs to the sinking Friant-Kern Canal broke ground near Terra Bella on Tuesday. The $187 million first phase of the project will restore flows to a 10-mile stretch of the canal in eastern Tulare County. Excessive groundwater pumping during California's droughts has caused the ground beneath the canal to sink more than 13 feet — a phenomenon known as subsidence. Subsidence has restricted the waterway’s ability to carry water to farms and communities south of the chokepoint by more than half […] The full project is expected to cost $500 million and will be paid for by the federal government and the state as well as Friant-Kern contractors and local groundwater agencies. The federal government owns the 152-mile-long canal but contracts with the Friant Water Authority to operate it […] Congressmen Jim Costa (D-Fresno) and David Valadao (R-Hanford) also attended the ceremony and highlighted the bipartisan nature of the project.” [Visalia Times Delta, 1/26/22]

Valadao Supported Extending The Federal WIIN Act And Said Money Needed To Be Allocated To Make Repairs To The Friant-Kern Canal. “He called for extending the federal WIIN Act, an Obama-administration law promoting investments in water infrastructure. He also said money must be found to make repairs to the Friant-Kern Canal, whose deliveries as far south as Kern County have been severely limited by over-pumping of local groundwater.” [Bakersfield Californian, 5/10/21]

- The Water Infrastructure Improvements For The Nation Act Established Grants To Carry Out Projects To Assist Public Water Systems Meet The Safe Drinking Water Act Requirements. “The 2016 Water Infrastructure Improvements for the Nation Act (WIIN Act) addresses, supports, and improves America's drinking water infrastructure. Included in the WIIN Act are three new drinking water grants that promote public health and the protection of the environment. Section 2104 of the WIIN Act establishes the Small, Underserved, and Disadvantaged Communities Grant Program to provide grants to eligible entities for use in carrying out projects and activities the primary purposes of which are to assist public water systems in meeting Safe Drinking Water Act requirements.” [EPA.gov, accessed 1/2/22]

The EPA Announced Over $600 Million In Water Infrastructure Funding For California Through The Bipartisan Infrastructure Law

The EPA Announced Over $600 Million In Water Infrastructure Funding For California Through The Bipartisan Infrastructure Law. “EPA will allocate $7.4 billion to states, Tribes, and territories for 2022, including over $600 million to assist California address the high SRF demands which have historically exceeded available funding. As of February 2021, the State received applications requesting over $10 billion in funding from its Clean Water and Drinking Water SRFs. The Bipartisan Infrastructure Law provides much-needed financial relief to communities that want to improve their water infrastructure, promote water reuse, increase their drought resilience, and implement proactive wildfire resilience projects.” [U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, 12/2/21]

The Bipartisan Infrastructure Law Allocated $84 Million Towards Protection Against Wildfires In California

The Bipartisan Infrastructure Law Allocated $84 Million Towards Protection Against Wildfires In California. “Protection against wildfires: $84 million. Californians are no strangers to wildfire's devastating impacts, which have displaced residents from Paradise to Tahoe and beyond, costing the state an estimated $50 billion to $100 billion in damages, according to the White House. Newsom's investment strategy also includes $2 billion toward the purchase of new firefighting equipment like air tankers and helicopters, as well as supporting forest and wildfire resilience strategies across the state.” [KQED, 11/8/21]

The Bipartisan Infrastructure Law Allocated $100 Million To Provide Broadband Access In California—Benefiting 31.4% Of Households In Valadao's District That Lacked Internet Access
California Would Receive $100 Million To Provide Broadband Access From The Infrastructure Bill.
“California will receive at least $100 million to expand broadband coverage through the bipartisan Infrastructure Investment and Jobs Act, passed by the U.S. House of Representatives late Friday and awaiting the president’s signature. The funding is aimed at providing broadband access to the at least 545,000 Californians who currently lack it, according to a White House news release in August following the Senate’s passage of the bill. ‘Broadband internet is necessary for Americans to do their jobs, to participate equally in school learning, health care and to stay connected,’ the news release said. The federal funding supplements the state’s $6 billion broadband plan included in the 2021-22 state budget. That blueprint includes plans to expand the state’s internet infrastructure with a particular focus on areas that have historically been unserved or underserved by private internet service providers.” [EdSource, 11/8/21]

Valadao Criticized The Spending Of The Infrastructure Investment & Jobs Act And Accused Those Who Supported The Bill Of “Reckless Spending”

Valadao Criticized The Spending Of The Infrastructure Investment & Jobs Act And Accused Those Who Supported The Bill Of “Reckless Spending.” “Gov. Gavin Newsom praised the passage of President Joe Biden's $1.2 trillion infrastructure bill, calling it a ‘once-in-a-generation’ investment that will modernize California's bridges and roads, create jobs, and reduce emissions. The governor's office expects the Golden State will receive more than $30 billion from the bipartisan bill that Democrats pushed through Congress on Nov. 5 with the help of 13 Republicans […] Congressman David Valadao (R-Hanford), who eked out a victory in the state's embattled 21st District, criticized the legislation's price tag and accused its supporters of ‘reckless spending.’ ‘While our nation's infrastructure is in desperate need of repair, I cannot, in good conscience, vote in favor of any part of this multi-trillion dollar package,’ Valadao said in a statement. ‘This could be the largest tax increase and most expensive piece of legislation in American history. The last thing middle-class families need is to carry the burden of paying for this magnitude of reckless spending for years to come.’” [Visalia Times-Delta, 11/9/21]

Valadao Said He Voted Against The Infrastructure Package Because It Constituted The Largest Tax Increase In History. “‘While our nation’s infrastructure is in desperate need of repair, I cannot, in good conscience, vote in favor of any part of this multi-trillion dollar package. Inflation is record-high, consumer prices are rising, and our economy is still recovering from a global pandemic. This could be the largest tax increase and most expensive piece of legislation in American history. The last thing middle class families need is to carry the burden of paying for this magnitude of reckless spending for years to come,’ said Congressman Valadao.” [Rep. David Valadao, Press Release, 11/6/21]

Valadao Was Bad For California’s Health Care, Repeatedly Voting To Repeal The Affordable Care Act

Valadao Was Initially Quiet About His Position On The AHCA And Told Constituents He Was Undecided On AHCA Day Before Vote, Said He Was Concerned About How It Would Affect Medicaid. “Rep. David Valadao (Hanford), who hails from one of those districts, was undecided on the first bill, and said the changes haven’t helped his original concerns. He’s hearing a lot of worries from people back home. ‘It’s the Medicaid. Medicaid is the issue,’ Valadao said Tuesday. The bill would gradually end federal funding for millions of people who qualified for Medicaid under the Affordable Care Act. Valadao represents one of the California districts whose residents benefited the most from the expansion.” [LA Times, 5/03/17]

Valadao Had Been Coy About His Support, Saying That He Was Still On The Fence Up Until The Vote.” [The Business Journal, 5/04/17]
Shortly Before The Vote, Valadao Told Constituents That He Was “Leaning No” On AHCA. “Some ACA supporters believe the yes votes of the Central Valley Republicans directly contradict their constituents’ needs. ‘The community is not going to forget this,’ said Sarah Hutchinson, senior policy coordinator for ACT for Women and Girls, a Tulare County organization that fosters youth leadership and advocates for health care access. The young people who participate in her program live in congressional districts represented by Nunes and Rep. David Valadao, also a Republican. Hutchinson said young people from her group visited Valadao’s office several times over the past couple of months, asking him to vote against the repeal bill. ‘He continually told us, ‘I’m not sure how I’m voting. I’m leaning no,’’ she said. On Thursday, Valadao voted yes.” [California Healthline, 5/05/17]

…But Valadao Voted For The AHCA Which Would Gut Protections For People With Pre-Existing Conditions And Lead To 23 Million More Uninsured—And Hid After His Vote

2017: Valadao Voted For The American Health Care Act – The Republican Health Care Repeal Bill

In May 2017, Valadao voted for: “Passage of the bill that would make extensive changes to the 2010 health care overhaul law, by effectively repealing the individual and employer mandates as well as most of the taxes that finance the current system. It would, in 2020, convert Medicaid into a capped entitlement that would provide fixed federal payments to states and end additional federal funding for the 2010 law’s joint federal-state Medicaid expansion. It would prohibit federal funding to any entity, such as Planned Parenthood, that performs abortions and receives more than $350 million a year in Medicaid funds. As amended, it would give states the option of receiving federal Medicaid funding as a block grant with greater state flexibility in how the funds are used, and would require states to establish their own essential health benefits standards. It would allow states to receive waivers to exempt insurers from having to provide certain minimum benefits, would provide $8 billion over five years for individuals with pre-existing conditions whose insurance premiums increased because the state was granted a waiver to raise premiums based on an individual’s health status, and would create a $15 billion federal risk sharing program to cover some of the costs of high medical claims.” The bill was passed by a vote of 217-213. [HR 1628, Vote #256, 5/4/17; CQ, 5/4/17]

Valadao Hid After Voting For The AHCA

American Health Care Act Would Gut Protections For People With Pre-Existing Conditions

Politifact Found That AHCA “Would Weaken Protections” For Those With Pre-Existing Conditions, “Would Allow States To Give Insurers The Power To Charge People Significantly More.” “An ad by the American Action Network says that under the American Health Care Act ‘people with pre-existing conditions are protected.’ The only kernel of truth here is that the amendment has language that states insurers can’t limit access to coverage for individuals with pre-existing conditions. However, the ad omits that the House GOP health plan would weaken protections for these patients. The legislation would allow states to give insurers the power to charge people significantly more if they had a pre-existing condition. While Republicans point to the fact that those patients could get help through high-risk pools, experts question their effectiveness. Current law does not allow states to charge people with pre-existing conditions significantly more. We rate this claim Mostly False.” [Politifact, 5/24/17]

American Health Care Act Would Lead To 23 Million More Uninsured – Disproportionally Older People With Lower Incomes

CBO Estimated 14 Million More People Would Be Uninsured In 2018; 23 Million More Uninsured By 2026. “CBO and JCT estimate that, in 2018, 14 million more people would be uninsured under H.R. 1628 than under current law. The increase in the number of uninsured people relative to the number under current law would reach 19 million in 2020 and 23 million in 2026 (see Table 4, at the end of this document).” [CBO, 5/24/17]

- CBO Found Increase In Uninsured Would Disproportionately Impact Older People With Lower Income. “Although the agencies expect that the legislation would increase the number of uninsured broadly, the increase would be disproportionately larger among older people with lower income—particularly people between 50 and 64 years old with income of less than 200 percent of the federal poverty level (see Figure 2).” [CBO, 5/24/17]

- CBO: Even In States Without Waivers, More People Would Be Uninsured Than Under Current Law. “CBO and JCT expect that under the current version of the legislation, the effects on health insurance coverage would be similar to those previously estimated for the half of the population that resides in states that would not obtain a waiver from the EHB or community-rating requirements. In general, under H.R. 1628, as passed by the House, fewer people would have coverage through the nongroup market, Medicaid, and employment-based coverage, and more people would be uninsured in those areas than under current law.” [CBO, 5/24/17]

American Health Care Act Would Create An Age Tax On Older Americans

American Health Care Act Allows Insurers To Charge Older Customers Five Times More Than Younger Adults. “Raises premiums for older people. The Affordable Care Act limited insurers from charging older customers more than three times what they charge younger adults. The House bill would raise that to five times. This may enable younger consumers to find cheaper coverage, but older policyholders would face higher rates.” [Huffington Post, 3/6/17]

New York Times: ACHA Achieved Lower Premiums Not Through Increased Choice And Competition, But By Making Health Insurance So Unaffordable For Many Older Americans They Would Leave The Market. “There are a lot of unpleasant numbers for Republicans in the Congressional Budget Office’s assessment of their health care bill. But congressional leadership found one to cheer: The report says that the bill will eventually cut the average insurance premiums for people who buy their own insurance by 10 percent. […] But the way the bill achieves those lower average premiums has little to do with increased choice and competition. It depends, rather, on penalizing older patients and rewarding younger ones. According to the C.B.O. report, the bill would make health insurance so unaffordable for many older Americans that they would simply leave the market and join the ranks of the uninsured.” [New York Times, 3/14/17]

2017: Valadao Voted To Block Protecting Coverage For Pre-Existing Conditions In The American Health Care Act

2017: Valadao Voted To Block An Amendment That Would Protect Health Care Coverage For Pre-Existing Conditions, Ban Lifetime Insurance Limits, Protect Medicare, Block Tax Increases On The Middle Class, And Would Require A CBO Estimate Prior To Consideration Of Any Health Care Reform Bill. In May 2017, Valadao voted for “Collins, R-Ga., motion to order the previous question (thus ending debate and possibility of amendment) on the rule (H Res 308) that would provide for House floor consideration of the bill (HR 2192) that would repeal, if the health care marketplace overhaul measure (HR 1628) is enacted” Upon defeat of the motion, Democrats planned to offer an amendment that “The amendment would restrict consideration of legislative provisions relating to health care that would result in: (1) the denial of health insurance on the basis of a preexisting condition or a requirement for individuals with a preexisting condition to pay more for coverage; (2) the elimination of the prohibition on life-time limits on dollar value of health insurance benefits; (3) the termination of the ability of individuals 26 years of age to be included on their parent’s employer or individual health insurance; (4) the reduction in the number of individuals receiving health insurance under the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act; (5) an increased cost to seniors for prescription drugs due to any changes pertaining to closing the Medicare prescription drug ‘donut hole’; (6) the requirement that individuals pay for preventive services such as mammography, health screening, and contraceptive services; (7) reduction of Medicare solvency or any changes to the Medicare guarantee; or (8) the reduction of Federal taxes on the 1% of the population with the highest income or an increase on the 80% of the population with the lowest income. Additionally, the amendment would restrict consideration of legislation relating to health care unless an easily searchable electronic estimate and comparison prepared by the Director of the Congressional Budget Office is made available on a publicly available website of the House.” A vote yes was a vote to block the amendment. The motion was agreed to by a vote of 235-193. [H.Res 308, Vote #252, 5/4/17; CQ, 5/4/17]

2017: Valadao Voted To Block An Amendment That Would Protect Health Care Coverage For Pre-Existing Conditions, Ban Lifetime Insurance Limits, Protect Medicare, Block Tax Increases On The Middle Class, And Would Require A CBO Estimate Prior To Consideration Of Any Health Care Reform Bill. In May 2017, Valadao voted for “Cole, R-Okla., motion to order the previous question (thus ending debate and possibility of amendment) on the rule (H Res 305) that would provide for House floor consideration of the Senate amendments to the bill.” Upon defeat of the motion, Democrats planned to offer an amendment to the bill that would, “restrict consideration of legislative provisions relating to health care that would result in: (1) the denial of health insurance on the basis of a preexisting condition or a requirement for individuals with a preexisting condition to pay more for coverage; (2) the elimination of the prohibition on life-time limits on dollar value of health insurance benefits; (3) the termination of the ability of individuals 26 years of age to be included on their parent’s employer or individual health insurance; (4) the reduction in the number of individuals receiving health insurance under the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act; (5) an increased cost to seniors for prescription drugs due to any changes pertaining to closing the Medicare prescription drug ‘donut hole’; (6) the requirement that individuals pay for preventive services such as mammography, health screening, and contraceptive services; (7) reduction of Medicare solvency or any changes to the Medicare guarantee; or (8) the reduction of Federal taxes on the 1% of the population with the highest income or an increase on the 80% of the population with the lowest income. Additionally, the amendment would restrict consideration of legislation relating to health care unless an easily searchable electronic estimate and comparison prepared by the Director of the Congressional Budget Office is made available on a publicly available website of the House.” A vote yes was a vote to block the amendment. The motion was agreed to by a vote of 231-192. [H.Res 305, Vote #246, 5/3/17; CQ, 5/3/17]

2017: Valadao Voted Against A Motion To Protect Individuals From Discrimination In The Health Insurance Marketplace Based On Gender Or Pre-Existing Conditions, Protect Seniors From Higher Premiums And Out-Of-Pocket Costs Under Medicare Part D. In January 2017, Valadao voted against the “Castor, D-Fla., motion to recommit the bill to the House Judiciary Committee with instructions to report back immediately with an amendment that would add an exemption to the bill for rules that prohibit health insurance companies from discriminating against individuals based on gender or preexisting conditions. The amendment also would exempt from the measure rules that prohibit higher premiums or out-of-pocket costs for seniors for medication under the Medicare Part D prescription drug program.” The motion was rejected by a vote of 183-236. [HR 21, Vote #7, 1/4/17; CQ, 1/4/17]

2017: Valadao Voted Against Exempting Any Rule That Prohibited Insurance Companies From Eliminating Coverage For Dependents Younger Than 26

2017: Valadao Voted Against Exempting From The Bill Any Rule Prohibiting Insurance From Eliminating Health Coverage For Dependents Younger Than 26. In January 2017, Valadao voted against the “Murphy, D-Fla., motion to recommit the bill to the House Judiciary Committee with instructions to report back immediately with an amendment that would exempt from the bill any rule prohibiting an insurance issuer from eliminating health coverage for dependents younger than 26 years old.” The motion was rejected by a vote of 190-235. [HR 26, Vote #22, 1/5/17; CQ, 1/5/17]

- The Purpose Of HR 26 Is To Increase Accountability For And Transparency In The Federal Regulatory Process By Requiring Congress To Approve All New Major Regulations. “This bill states that its purpose is to increase accountability for and transparency in the federal regulatory process by requiring Congress to approve all new major regulations. The bill revises provisions relating to congressional review of agency rulemaking to require federal agencies promulgating rules to: (1) identify and repeal or amend existing rules to completely offset any annual costs of new rules to the U.S. economy…” [HR 26, Summary, 1/5/17]

Valadao Voted Against Requiring A Public CBO Cost Estimate Before Consideration Of Legislation To Repeal Or Replace Obamacare

2017: Valadao Voted To Block A Requirement That A CBO Cost Estimate Be Made Publicly Available Before Considering Any Legislation To Repeal Or Replace The Affordable Care Act. In March 2017, Valadao voted for the “Byrne, R-Ala., motion to order the previous question (thus ending debate and possibility of amendment) on the rule (H Res 210) that would provide for House floor consideration of the bill that would exempt health care plans sponsored by trade and business associations from most state laws and regulations.” Rep. Jared Polis (D-CO) described the vote in a floor speech, saying, “If we defeat the previous question, I will offer an amendment to the rule that would require a CBO cost estimate that analyzes the impact of any legislation amending or repealing the Affordable Care Act, as well as the impact of any manager's amendment to that legislation, to be made publicly available before the bill may be considered on the House floor.” A vote against is a vote to allow the Democratic minority to offer an alternative plan. The motion was agreed to by a vote of 233-186. [H.Res 210, Vote #179, 3/21/17; Congressional Record, Pages H2260-H2267, 3/21/17; CQ, 3/21/17]

2017: Valadao Voted To Block An Amendment To Require A CBO Score For Any Legislation Or Amendments Repealing The Affordable Care Act Before The Legislation Could Be Considered. In March 2017, Valadao voted for the “Collins, R-Ga., motion to order the previous question (thus ending debate and possibility of amendment) on the rule (H Res 209) that would provide for House floor consideration of a bill that would eliminate most of the federal antitrust exemptions for health insurance providers that are subject to regulation at the state level.” According to Rep. Jared Polis (D-CO), “if we defeat the previous question, I will offer an amendment to the rule that would require a CBO cost estimate that analyzes the impact of any legislation amending or repealing the Affordable Care Act, as well as the impact of any manager's amendment to that legislation to be made publicly available before the bill may be considered on the House floor.” A yes vote was a vote to block the amendment. The motion was agreed to be a vote of 231-185. [H.Res 209, Vote #176, 3/21/17; Congressional Record, H2255, 3/21/17; CQ, 3/21/17; Democratic Leader—Previous Questions, 3/21/17]

Valadao Voted To Repeal An Exemption For Members Of Congress From The American Health Care Act

2017: Valadao Voted To Repeal The Republican Provision Exempting Members Of Congress From The Republican Health Care Bill. In May 2017, Valadao voted for “Passage of the bill would repeal, if the health care overhaul measure (HR 1628) is enacted, an exemption for members of Congress and staff from provisions of the health care overhaul measure that would allow state waivers of certain health insurance minimum benefit and patient protection requirements under the 2010 health care overhaul.” The bill was passed by a vote of 429-0. [HR 2192, Vote #255, 5/4/17; CQ, 5/4/17]

Valadao Claimed He Voted For The AHCA Because It Would Ensure “High Quality, Affordable Healthcare” And That It Would Strengthen Medicaid…

Valadao Defended His AHCA Vote By Saying It Would Ensure “Our Community Has Access To High Quality, Affordable Health Care”
Valadao Defended His AHCA Vote By Saying It Would Ensure “Our Community Has Access To High Quality, Affordable Health Care.” “Rep. David Valadao of Hanford was among the Republicans voting in support of the American Health Care Act, the measure that repeals and replaces Obamacare. The GOP passed the act on a 217-213 vote. In a statement issued after the vote, Valadao said he backed the act as a way to stabilize the nation’s health-care system. He said Obamacare had failed to deliver on its promises for the best health-care options for Central Valley residents. ‘The American Health Care Act will stabilize our health-care system, ensuring our community has access to high quality, affordable health care.’” [Fresno Bee, 5/04/17]

And That The AHCA “Puts More Money In Your Pocket Instead Allowing The Government To Make The Decision On What Plans Are Approved For You”

Valadao Argued That The AHCA “Puts More Money In Your Pocket Instead Allowing The Government To Make The Decision On What Plans Are Approved For You.” “The Hanford residents asked Valadao why the GOP majority in Congress insists on repealing the Affordable Care Act and revising the amount of money budgeted for Medicare, which provides health care for low-income Americans. The GOP proposal allows ‘a more free market approach, it puts more money in your pocket instead allowing the government to make the decision on what plans are approved for you,’ Valadao responded. ‘It’s not a market decision, it’s a personal decision.’” [Fresno Bee, 7/15/17]

And That It Modernized And Strengthened Medicaid, Increased Funding For Community Health Centers, And Produce Lower Costs And More Choices

Valadao: AHCA Modernizes And Strengthens Medicaid, Can’t Deny Coverage For Pre-Existing Conditions, Increases Funding For Community Health Centers, And Produce Lower Costs And More Choices. “As a parent, there is absolutely nothing more important to me than ensuring families have access to quality, affordable health insurance. The American Health Care Act will stabilize our health-care system, ensuring our community has access to high quality, affordable health care. This market-driven, patient-centered reform will decrease costs, improve care, and put patients back in charge. The American Health Care Act ensures all have access to health care by modernizing and strengthening Medicaid for those in need. Under the plan, young adults may stay on their parent’s insurance until the age of 26 and no one can be denied coverage because of a pre-existing health condition. The American Health Care Act helps Americans afford quality coverage by providing monthly health-care vouchers to individuals who don’t receive insurance through work or a government program. Furthermore, the AHCA provides states with $138 billion in funding which can be used to support high-risk pools and cut out-of-pocket costs for families in California. Additionally, this plan will increase funding for community health centers. This increased funding will greatly benefit the Central Valley, which has 57 community health centers serving the community. Free markets and fair competition implemented in this plan will produce lower costs, more choices, and better health care for the Central Valley. Building upon the American Health Care Act, administrative action in combination with stand-alone legislation will stabilize insurance markets, provide states more control, and ultimately ensure patients are in charge of their health care decisions.” [Rep. David Valadao Op-Ed, Fresno Bee, 5/18/17]

…Even Though It Would Cut $880 Billion In Funding For Medicaid And Would Lead To States To Kick Millions Off Their Programs

AHCA Would Cut $880 Billion From Medicaid Over 10 Years, Leading States To Roll Back Their Expansion, Kick Millions Off The Program, And Cut Services For Others

AHCA Would Cut $880 Billion From Medicaid Over 10 Years. “Some of the gains for the most well off will come at the expense of the vulnerable. Health insurers will be allowed to once again increase premiums on older customers who are more likely to require medical services. Over the next 10 years, $880 billion in federal funding for Medicaid would be cut.” [New York Times, 3/15/17]
Fourteen Million People Were Likely To Be Uninsured Due To Provisions Rolling Back Medicaid Expansion. “Fourteen million more people are still likely to end up uninsured under provisions rolling back Obamacare’s Medicaid expansion and enacting deep cuts to the program serving low-income and disabled Americans.” [Politico, 5/24/17]

Huffington Post: Under AHCA, “The Federal Guarantee Would Be Over, And With It, The Medicaid Program As We Know It.” “The new version of the program would upend this arrangement. It would devolve Medicaid to the states and reimburse them using a predetermined formula that, as the Congressional Budget Office and other experts have concluded, would not actually keep up with the cost of care. As the federal contribution toward Medicaid eroded over time, states could make up the difference on their own or — more likely — they could make cuts in whom or what the program covers. The federal guarantee would be over, and with it, the Medicaid program as we know it.” [Huffington Post, 3/21/17]

Vox: “Cuts Of That Scale Will Necessitate Kicking Millions Of People Off” Medicaid. “The cumulative effect, according to an analysis by the Center on Budget and Policy Priorities, is a $370 billion cut to federal funding to Medicaid over 10 years. Some of that money could be made up for by states, but most of it won't be. And because Medicaid is already the cheapest insurance there is in America — cheaper per person than either Medicare or private insurance — cuts of that scale will necessitate kicking millions of people off the program.” [Vox, 3/10/17]

Huffington Post: “No Serious Analyst Thinks It’s Possible To Take That Much Money Out Of The Program Without People Losing Access.” “Under the Republican proposal, the federal government would phase out funding for expanded Medicaid eligibility — and then, going forward, change the formula for calculating federal support for the program. The result would be $839 billion in cuts over the next 10 years. Republicans frequently insist that these Medicaid cuts won’t hurt anybody, because the program needs reform anyway and the cuts would encourage states to innovate. But Medicaid’s shortcomings have as much to do with underfunding as waste. (Many doctors won’t see patients at such low reimbursement rates, making it hard for some Medicaid recipients to find specialists.) No serious analyst thinks it’s possible to take that much money out of the program without people losing access.” [Huffington Post, 5/2/17]

Huffington Post: “Block Granting Medicaid Would Put Governors In The Position Of Having To Cut Medicaid Services, Limit Coverage, Or Drop People From The Program.” “If states exceed that cap to cover the needs of enrollees, they’re on the hook for 100 percent of their Medicaid costs. Researchers project the change will amount to a $280 billion cost shift to states over 10 years. Because Medicaid spending can fluctuate a lot year to year — depending on the cost of drugs, for example, or any health crises that arise — a cap system like this could be really punishing to state economies. And this will most certainly put governors in the position of having to pare down Medicaid services, limit coverage, or drop people from the program altogether. Medicaid researcher Joan Alker called this a politically “ingenious part of the Republican plan” because it’ll shift the burden to the governors to decide what to do to balance their books, and they’ll get blamed for the coverage losses that ensure. “They are going to have to raise taxes, cut services, or cut people off,” she added.” [Vox, 3/10/17]

• FiveThirtyEight: A Cap On Medicaid Reimbursements Could Force States To Ration Coverage Or Health Care. “How the government pays for the entire Medicaid program, not just the expansion, would also change. The federal government has historically paid for a percentage of whatever states’ Medicaid programs cost. The GOP bill would cap how much states could be reimbursed per participant, based on how much states spent in 2016. A cap would mean that when program costs go up, states would either have to reduce coverage or come up with funds to offset the costs. A recession, a disease outbreak or the release of a new, expensive drug (or a price increase to an existing one) could force states to ration coverage or health care if they don’t get additional funding from Congress.” [FiveThirtyEight, 3/7/17]

• Kaiser Family Foundation Expert Said That Medicaid Overhaul Could Shift Significant Financial Burden Onto The States. “But that discussion overlooks the fundamental Medicaid overhaul on the table that could shift significant burdens onto states, said Robin Rudowitz, a Medicaid expert with the nonpartisan Kaiser Family Foundation. ‘States, I think, maybe haven’t been paying that close attention but could be left facing a lot of risk related to financing,’ Rudowitz said. Governors from both parties have started raising concerns about the proposal — including Republicans in Ohio, Massachusetts and Illinois.” [Omaha World Herald, 5/14/17]

American Health Care Act Would Continue Higher Payments For Participants In Medicaid Expansion Indefinitely As Long As They Remain Enrolled In The Program. “The language would end new enrollment in the Medicaid expansion as of Dec. 31, 2019, but would continue the health care law's higher payments for those participants indefinitely as long as they remained enrolled in the program. Separately, the 19 states that didn’t expand Medicaid would be eligible for extra funds, about $10 billion over five years, or $2 billion a year.” [CQ News, 3/7/17]

• Study Found Fewer Than Half Of People Remain Continuously Eligible For The Medicaid Expansion Over A Year, And Only 20 Percent Are Continuously Eligible Over 4 Years. “This kind of income churn is very common. A study by Harvard's Benjamin Sommers and George Washington University's Sara Rosenbaum found that fewer than half of people eligible for the Medicaid expansion stay continuously eligible over the course of a year, and only 20 percent are continuously eligible over four years. So over a few years, most Medicaid expansion beneficiaries would fall off as their incomes rise and not be able to get back on once they fall again. “I think expansion is going to wither on the vine because of the churn that happens,” Alker told me.” [Vox, 3/10/17]

CBPP: In Seven States, The Higher Medicaid Costs Caused By AHCA Would Automatically Trigger Termination Of The Medicaid Expansion. “The reduction in the federal matching rate for the expansion, combined with the House bill’s per capita cap (discussed further below), would require the 32 current expansion states to increase their own spending on Medicaid by an estimated $253 billion over ten years in order to maintain their expansions. In 2027, this means these states would have to spend more than four times as much to continue expansion as under current law. […] In seven states (Arkansas, Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, New Hampshire, New Mexico, and Washington), these higher costs would automatically “trigger” immediate or eventual termination of the Medicaid expansion, without additional action by state policymakers. Laws in these states either explicitly require the expansion to end if the federal matching rate decreases, or they require the state to act to prevent an increase in state Medicaid costs.” [CBPP, 3/8/17]

• CBPP: “Due To The Size Of The Cost-Shift, Most Or All Of The Other 25 States That Have Expanded Medicaid Would Also Have To End Their Expansions Once The House Cuts Took Effect.” “But in practice, due to the size of the cost-shift, most or all of the other 25 states that have expanded Medicaid would also have to end their expansions once the House cuts took effect. This is especially likely since, under the House plan, funding cuts for the expansion population would be coupled with additional federal Medicaid funding cuts for the rest of states’ Medicaid programs, as discussed below.” [CBPP, 3/8/17]

Politifact Found Claim That Republican Health Care Bill Did Not Cut Medicaid “Mostly False;” “The Proposals Include Policy Changes That Will Leave Fewer People Eligible For Medicaid. That’s A Cut.” “Conway said that Republicans are not cutting the Medicaid program. The Republican health care proposals would slow the rate at which Medicaid spending increases, but spending would still increase. However, the proposals include policy changes that will leave fewer people eligible for Medicaid. That’s a cut. Conway’s claim has an element of truth but leaves out critical facts that would give a different impression. We rate the claim Mostly False.” [Politifact, 6/26/17]
• Politifact: “Fewer People Will Have Access To Medicaid No Matter How Much Money Is Spent.” “Now, Republicans propose reducing payments to states. But at least in terms of the money trends, both situations follow the same general outlines -- with one key difference: The Democrats didn’t change the eligible population, and the Republicans do. That’s a cut. Fewer people will have access to Medicaid no matter how much money is spent.” [Politifact, 6/26/17]

Washington Post Fact Check Gave “Three Pinocchios” To McCarthy’s Claim That No One Would Lose Medicaid Benefits. “McCarthy threads a thin needle here. In arguing that no one is going to lose their Medicaid benefits, he is referring to people currently on Medicaid. But Medicaid, like all health insurance markets, is constantly churning enrollees, so very quickly people currently on Medicaid will have left the system. If they try to get back into the system, however, the planned reductions in funding may mean they no longer find themselves eligible for the program — or that their benefits have been scaled back. Given the magnitude of the funding reductions for Medicaid contemplated by the AHCA, potentially forcing difficult decisions on the states, McCarthy shouldn’t try to hide behind such technical, misleading language. Three Pinocchios” [Washington Post, 5/5/17]

• Washington Post Fact Check: McCarthy Hid Behind “Technical, Misleading Language” In Arguing No One Would Lose Medicaid Benefits. “In arguing that no one is going to lose their Medicaid benefits, he is referring to people currently on Medicaid. If they try to get back into the system, however, the planned reductions in funding may mean they no longer find themselves eligible for the program — or that their benefits have been scaled back. New York Times: Republicans Claimed Health Care Bill Would Not Cut Medicaid, Despite Spending For Less Than Would Occur Under Current Law. “The explanation, echoed by many Republicans who see the bill as their best chance to repeal the Affordable Care Act, has reignited a debate over what counts as a cut, in budget parlance. The distinction has become a central talking point for Republicans to rebut claims that they are promoting a bill that could send older people packing from nursing homes and cause children from low-income families to go without medical care. […] At issue is whether the funding changes should be compared to the increases that would occur under current law, the Affordable Care Act, or whether the focus should be on the modest annual increases that would happen under the Republican bill.” [New York Times, 6/27/17]

Wall Street Journal: Because Opportunities For Greater Efficiency In Medicaid Are “Limited,” States Will Likely “Reduce Benefits, Restrict Eligibility, Cut Fees To Providers, Or Some Combination Thereof.” “Advocates argue this will encourage states to find more efficient ways to deliver health care, without hurting the poor. Those opportunities, however, are limited: administrative costs are negligible, and most states are funneling Medicaid patients into cost-conscious managed care plans. States will either have to replace the missing federal money themselves, or reduce benefits, restrict eligibility, cut fees to providers, or some combination thereof, widening the quality disparity between Medicaid and Medicare coverage.” [Wall Street Journal, 6/28/17]

Experts Said There Were No Hidden Efficiencies That Could Make Up For Medicaid Cuts Of The Magnitude Of AHCA

Managed Care Organizations On Medicaid Cuts: “There Are No Hidden Efficiencies That States Can Use To Address Gaps Of This Magnitude Without Harming Beneficiaries Or Imposing Undue Burden To Our Health Care System…” “By 2026, this would amount to a 25 percent shortfall in covering the actual cost of providing care to our nation’s neediest citizens. While this may appear positive from an immediate budgetary perspective these amounts spell deep cuts, not state flexibilities, in Medicaid. There are no hidden efficiencies that states can use to address gaps of this magnitude without harming beneficiaries or imposing undue burden to our health care system and all U.S. taxpayers. Reducing the federal government’s share of Medicaid in this manner is not meaningful reform to bend the cost curve. It is simply an enormous cost shift to the states.” [Washington Post, 6/22/17; Managed Care Organization Executives Letter To Senate, 6/20/17]
Valadao Said He Voted For The American Health Care Act Because It Included A Pilot Project To Raise Reimbursement Rates For Doctors Willing To Work In The 21st District

Valadao said he voted for the American Health Care Act because it included a pilot project to raise reimbursement rates for doctors willing to work in the 21st District. “That vote was his support of the American Health Care Act of 2017, the Republican push to ‘repeal and replace’ Obamacare. If it had been adopted, the act would have scaled back government assistance for health care and sharply reduced the number of people who would have been eligible. The 21st District is one of the poorest in the nation, and government-run assistance programs make a real difference for the people living in Kings County and parts of Kern, Tulare and Fresno counties. Valadao said he voted for the plan because it included a pilot project to raise reimbursement rates for doctors willing to work in the 21st. The district struggles to attract doctors because of poor reimbursement rates from the government.” [Fresno Bee, Editorial, 2/26/20]

Valadao Said That The AHCA Was Amending The “Failing” Affordable Care Act To Improve Access To Health Care

AP: “Valadao characterized the Republican health plan as one that amends the ‘failing’ Affordable Care Act to improve access to health care. Like Denham, Valadao represents a Central Valley district where many residents get coverage through Medi-Cal, which liberals say is endangered by the GOP bill.” [AP, 5/5/17]

Valadao Said Democrats Did Not “Reach Out” And “Offer A Compromise” That “Moderate Republicans Could Support”

Bakersfield Californian: Valadao said his vote came from a desire to create action that might bring both Democrats and Republicans to a com-promise. ‘I had to choose to move the debate forward,’ he said. He knows the hospitals in his district -- from Kern Medical Center in Bakersfield to the hospital in Coalinga -- are happy to at least be getting some money under ACA from indigent patients who they used to treat for free. But, he said, ‘people aren't happy on Medicaid. My hospitals are saying they're losing specialists. People go to the emergency room because a doctor won't see them.’ There are things in Obamacare, Valadao said, that worked. But it's far from perfect. Republican bills aren't perfect, either, he said. But Democrats won't reach out to Republicans, he said, and offer a compromise that moderate Republicans could support -- even if conservative Republicans hated it.” [Bakersfield Californian, 8/10/17]

AHCA Would Have Had A Drastic Impact On Valadao’s District By Gutting Protections For Pre-Existing Conditions And Cutting Medicaid, Which Served More Than Half Of His Constituents

Valadao’s Colleagues Thought He’d Vote Against AHCA Because More Than Half Of His District Was On Medicaid. “Rep. David Valadao's colleagues privately thought he'd vote against the House GOP bill to repeal and replace Obamacare. The California Republican's Hispanic-populated swing district went for Clinton by a whopping 15 percent margin. And with more than half his impoverished constituency here in rural San Joaquin Valley on Medicaid, opposing a bill to cut $800 billion from the low-income health care program certainly would have been the politically prudent thing to do. But after weeks of internal debate with his staff and fellow lawmakers, the 40-year-old dairy farmer-turned-congressman backed the measure. And now, Valadao is spending hours justifying that vote back home. ‘I've had people come to my office and say, ‘Did you take away my health care with this vote?’” Valadao said in an interview. ‘And I say, ‘Here is the situation.’ Sometimes they'll agree; sometimes they won't. ... They're seeing all this stuff in the press and so they're asking me, ‘Is this true, is that true? ... How is this going to affect me?’” [Politico, 6/05/17]

Valadao Had More Than 400,000 Constituents On Medi-Cal And 291,100 With Pre-Existing Conditions

Fight for Our Health Care Coalition: More Than 400,000 People On Medi-Cal, 291,100 Had Pre-Existing Conditions In CA-21. “A group called Fight for Our Health Coalition had scheduled a noon march and protest at Valadao's offices in Bakersfield to protest his expected ‘yes’ vote. The group's press release claimed that Valadao was voting to cut Medicaid funding that supports more than 400,000 people in his district and could cost 291,100 residents of the 21st District who have pre-existing conditions their affordable health care.” [Bakersfield Californian, 5/04/17]

Fresno Bee Editorial: Valadao Voted To Give Tax Breaks For The Rich And Kick People Off Their Insurances, Co-Sponsored Amendment That Is Inadequate For People With Pre-Existing Conditions. “If there was any doubt, it evaporated Thursday: President Donald Trump and his Republican allies in the House of Representatives want to make America sick again. … House Republicans shredded the Affordable Care Act by passing a health-care bill that is bad for America – and the San Joaquin Valley, in particular. … Access to affordable health care has always been a challenge for the working poor and even middle-class Valley residents. That longstanding hurdle finally was lowered when President Barack Obama signed the Affordable Care Act into law and California leaders – unlike those in many other states – fully embraced its provisions. Supporters of Rep. David Valadao, R-Hanford, have spent millions of dollars on campaign ads portraying him as a friend of working men and women, and veterans. But with his vote Thursday, he revealed his true colors: just another foot soldier in the Trump offensive to reward the rich and punish everyone else. Valadao did co-sponsor the Upton Amendment. It added $8 billion over five years to $130 billion in the bill to fund high-risk pools and subsidize pre-existing conditions in states that seek waivers under the AHCA. That sounds like a lot. But it’s not when you consider that 130 million Americans have pre-existing conditions. According to the left-leaning Center for American Progress, people with pre-existing conditions can now expect shockingly high surcharges on their insurance premiums if the bill passes the Senate. A few examples: diabetes, $5,510; bipolar disorder, $8,370; breast cancer, $28,230; and lung cancer, $71,880. The Center for American Progress also calculated the number of Americans with pre-existing conditions by congressional district. In Valadao’s district, it is 291,100, including 52,600 children. … In a statement released to the media, Valadao said, “The American Health Care Act will stabilize our health care system, ensuring our community has access to high quality, affordable health care.” … Don't believe either one of them. What they backed Thursday was legislation that provides $600 billion in tax cuts for the rich, deprives 24 million Americans of health insurance and raises health insurance premiums.” [Fresno Bee Editorial, 5/04/17]

Merced Sun-Star Editorial: Valadao Voted To Cut Taxes For The Rich And Give Insurance Companies A $100 Million Per Year Windfall, Eliminate Protections For Pre-Existing Conditions And Gut Medi-Cal Funding. “Ignoring the polls and the cries of hundreds of constituents, House Republicans – and only Republicans – voted to kill Obamacare on Thursday. … Under the Republicans’ version, people with pre-existing conditions – from pregnancy to diabetes to heart disease – are destined to pay more and get less. Programs for children, clinics for veterans, services for older Americans will be squeezed – some out of existence. Retirees could pay triple their current costs. But insurance companies are likely to be doing much better. One estimate puts their windfall at $100 million a year. Every single California Republican – including … David Valadao of Hanford … – embraced this mess. Why? The AHCA is a $300 billion tax cut for the very rich, and it’s the very rich who contribute the most to political campaigns. Those who are sick and vulnerable have less to give. … We doubt their lack of courage will that soon fade from memory. That’s especially true for Denham and Valadao, who tried to hide behind a promise of an additional $8 billion over five year to subsidize high-risk pools. One study puts the annual shortfall for such pools at nearly $200 billion.” [Merced Sun-Star Editorial, 5/04/17]
More Than 20,000 Of Valadao's Constituents Were Insured By The Expansion Of Medicaid Under The ACA

Medicaid Expansion Estimated To Have Insured 20,356 In CA-21. “The reason is that so many people in Valadao's 21st Congressional District received health insurance under the Affordable Care Act’s expansion of Medi-Cal, the government-funded health care program for low-income residents. Under the expansion, the number of Kings County residents in Medi-Cal increased by 20,356 to reach a total of 45,131, according to Keith Winkler, former Kings County public health director. It's likely that most of those added did not previously have health insurance. The AHCA phases out the federal funding that made the Medi-Cal expansion possible.” [The Sentinel, 5/06/17]

Fresno Bee Op-Ed: “GOP Health Plan Cripples Health Center Care For Elderly Valadao Constituents.” [Fresno Bee, Soyla Reyna-Griffin Op-Ed, 6/07/17]

Fresno Bee Op-Ed: Valadao Wrong That ACA Reduced Access To Healthcare Services And Treatment. “Valadao states that ‘ObamaCare’s devastating impact on the health-care industry effectively reduced access to health-care services and treatment for entire communities.’ This is simply not true. California’s uninsured rate fell from 17.2 percent in 2013 to a historic low of 8.6 percent in 2015. For community health centers, the rate dropped from 35 percent in 2012 to 24 percent in 2015. The ACA did not reduce access to care, but rather, gave people the access to care they deserve. At Valley Health Team, we’ve seen a 92 percent increase in patients served from 2013 to 2016.” [Fresno Bee, Soyla Reyna-Griffin Op-Ed, 6/07/17]

Fresno Bee Op-Ed: Valadao Wrong That Community Health Centers Will Be Better Off. “Valadao claims community health centers will benefit from increased funding under the AHCA. He is misinformed. Yes, under AHCA, community health centers will be given a one-time 2017-18 infusion of $422 million (nationwide), but this money is being taken from other safety-net providers leaving health centers to fill in the gaps. This amount — spread among more than 1,400 health centers nationwide — is nowhere near enough to fill in the gaps of the other safety net providers or offset cuts to the Medicaid program, which the Congressional Budget Office estimates will total $880 billion over the next 10 years. For health centers like ours around the country, cuts to Medicaid will be devastating to our patients and to our capacity to care for them.” [Fresno Bee, Soyla Reyna-Griffin Op-Ed, 6/07/17]

ACA Expanded Access To Healthcare; Area Health Centers Expanded. “Here in Los Angeles County, we’ve spoken regularly with Rep. Steve Knight, R-Santa Clarita, our area’s only Republican representative, on the impact of the Affordable Care Act (ACA) on his district, and the potential effects of replacing the ACA with the proposed AHCA. More than 80,000 people in Knight’s district currently benefit from the ACA, with close to 21,000 enrolled in Covered California and almost 60,000 adults newly covered as part of the Medi-Cal expansion. These people could all lose coverage under the AHCA. The ACA’s massive expansions in coverage allowed community providers to dramatically expand access to care. The Antelope Valley Community Clinic, for example, opened in 2010, the year the ACA was passed. In just five years, the clinic went from providing 12,000 patient visits and 25 employees to 100,000 visits and 235 employees. Thanks to the ACA, the clinic expanded its facilities and became a one-stop shop for physical, mental and oral health needs for the underserved in the High Desert. Antelope Valley residents can finally access comprehensive preventive services that keep them healthy and productive in society. If patients lose coverage under the AHCA, the clinic would be forced to choose between scaling back services or laying off staff. This would cost taxpayers more in the long run, as the newly uninsured would delay care and rely on the emergency room when they experience an avoidable health emergency.” [Los Angeles Daily News column, 6/09/17]

Central Valley Health Network Was “Disappointed” With Valadao’s Vote For The AHCA After Having Given Him An Award The Year Before For “Promoting Sensible Healthcare Policies”

could be a response to the heat they are feeling from their constituents, since the congressmen voted for the AHCA in May. … Earlier this year, before Valadao’s AHCA vote, Frey’s group had given him a “Health Champion” award for his leadership in “promoting sensible healthcare policies” and his support of community health centers in the Valley. His support for a plan that could potentially end coverage for some of the patients those health centers serve came as a surprise, Frey said. ‘Disappointment is the word that comes to mind,’ she said.” [California Healthline, 6/22/17]

And Valadao Even Tried To Reauthorize An ACA Program To Train Physicians In Rural Areas

Valadao Introduced Bill To Reauthorize Program That Trains Physicians In Rural Areas That Was Originally Created By The ACA. “Just two months before it was set to lose federal funding, Congressman David Valadao co-introduced legislation Tuesday to continue operating a critical program that trains physicians in rural areas. The Training the Next Generation of Primary Care Doctors Act of 2017 would reauthorize the Teaching Health Center Graduate Medical Education Program for three years, according to a news release issued by Valadao’s office. It would also allow for the expansion of new programs within existing centers and the creation of new teaching health centers while emphasizing the importance of establishing sustainable funding. ‘As fewer medical school graduates pursue careers in rural America, Teaching Health Centers provide critical health care services many families rely on,’ Valadao said. ‘By reauthorizing the THC Graduate Medical Education Program, and prioritizing rural and medically underserved areas, our bill will ensure our most disadvantaged communities, like California’s Central Valley, have access to the primary care services they deserve.’ Teaching Health Centers were established under the Affordable Care Act as a way of increasing the number of primary care physicians to serve those in medically underserved areas. Kern County is among them.” [Bakersfield Californian, 7/25/17]

Valadao Cosponsored A Bill To Increase Medicaid Reimbursements Rates In California, After Voting To Cut An Estimated $24 Billion A Year From Medicaid Through The AHCA

Valadao And Denham’s ACCESS Act Of 2017 Would Have Used Federal Money To Pay Doctors More To Provide Medi-Cal Services In Poor Areas Like Valadao’s Central Valley

Valadao’s Bill To Address Medicaid Reimbursement Rates Antithetical To AHCA Vote. “Representatives Jeff Denham and David Valadao have co-sponsored House Bill 2779 which would use federal money to pay doctors more for providing Medi-Cal services in some of the poorest areas of the state like the Central Valley. … A bigger concern for Perrone and other health care insiders is the vote by both Denham and Valadao for the Republican American Health Care Act. According to an independent analysis of the bill, it would cut around $800 billion dollars from the program nationwide over the next decade, likely leading to thousands being kicked off all together. The AHCA could cost California an estimated $24 billion a year. ‘This is the equivalent of asking for more legroom on an airplane when they just voted to blow out the engine,’ says Anthony Wright with Health Access California. Wright says it’s hard for him to take the new Denham/Valadao bill seriously considering their votes for the AHCA. ‘There does need to be improvement in access in the Medi-Cal program. What is the height of hypocrisy is raising that while having voted to make the situation billions of dollars worse with their vote for the house health bill,’ Wright says.” [Valley Public Radio, 6/13/17]

Critics Said Valadao Cosponsoring The ACCESS Act After Voting For The AHCA Was Like “Asking For More Legroom On An Airplane When They Just Voted To Blow Out The Engine”

Health Access California Executive Director: The ACCESS Act Was “The Equivalent Of Asking For More Legroom On An Airplane When They Just Voted To Blow Out The Engine [By Voting For The AHCA]” “Representatives Jeff Denham and David Valadao have co-sponsored House Bill 2779 which would use federal money to pay doctors more for providing Medi-Cal services in some of the poorest areas of the state like the Central Valley. … A bigger concern for Perrone and other health care insiders is the vote by both Denham and Valadao for the Republican American Health Care Act. According to an independent analysis of the bill, it would cut around $800 billion dollars from the program nationwide over the next decade, likely leading to thousands being kicked off all together. The AHCA could cost California an estimated $24 billion a year. ‘This is the equivalent of asking for more legroom on an airplane when they just voted to blow out the engine,’ says Anthony Wright with Health Access California. Wright says it’s hard for him to take the new Denham/Valadao bill seriously considering their votes for the AHCA. ‘There does need to be improvement in access in the Medi-Cal program. What is the height of hypocrisy is raising that while having voted to make the situation billions of dollars worse with their vote for the house health bill,’ Wright says.” [Valley Public Radio, 6/13/17]

And That The Bill Was “Embarrassingly Transparent In Its Attempt To Change The Focus”

Valadao’s Bill “Embarrassingly Transparent In Its Attempt To Change The Focus.” “The proposal is really embarrassingly transparent in its attempt to change the focus of discussion away from basic coverage for low-income folks,” said John Capitman, executive director of the Fresno-based Central Valley Health Policy Institute.” [California Healthline, 6/22/17]

And Short On Details Such As Costs Of Methods To Address The Doctor Shortage

Valadao’s Bill “Short On Details,” Does Not Specify Costs Of Project Or Methods To Address Doctor Shortage. “Some political observers were surprised when two Republican congressmen from California’s Central Valley voted for the GOP-led House bill to repeal the Affordable Care Act and curtail federal spending on Medicaid, the health program for low-income people. After all, thousands of people in their districts could lose their health coverage if the bill became law. Now, Reps. David Valadao (R-Hanford) and Jeff Denham (R-Turlock) have introduced legislation of their own to increase payments for doctors who treat Medicaid patients. Medicaid reimbursement rates in California are among the nation’s lowest, hampering some patients’ access to care. Critics say the bill is short on details, and they call it a ‘distraction’ from what they view as the congressmen’s votes to strip health coverage from their own constituents. … The Denham-Valadao bill does not specify the cost of the Medicaid pilot project it seeks to establish, nor does it say what kind of payment-boosting methods could be tested or how long the study would last. That lack of detail makes it difficult to analyze the legislation’s impact, some health policy experts said.” [California Healthline, 6/22/17]

Critics Argued That Increased Coverage, Not Higher Doctor Reimbursement Rates Would Draw More Doctors To Central Valley

Higher Doctor Reimbursement Rates Alone Wouldn’t Draw More Doctors To Central Valley, Must Be Done By Increasing Coverage; Boosting Rates While Stripping Coverage From People “Illogical And Would Not Make It Easier For Doctors To Sustain A Practice.” “Capitman agreed that higher reimbursement rates could encourage more Central Valley doctors to see Medi-Cal patients, but that alone wouldn’t draw more physicians to the region. Chris Perrone, director of the Improving Access team at the California Health Care Foundation, said boosting Medicaid rates while stripping coverage from some people is illogical and would not make it easier for doctors to sustain a practice. … ‘If the goal is to improve access to care, the place to start is not with reimbursements. The place to start is with coverage,’ Perrone said. ‘To vote for a bill that pulls back Medicaid expansion and then to propose this other bill is preposterous.’” [California Healthline, 6/22/17]

Valadao Introduced A Bill To Reauthorize An ACA Program To Train Physicians In Rural Areas

Valadao Introduced Bill To Would Reauthorize Program That Trains Physicians In Rural Areas, Was Originally Created By The ACA. “Just two months before it was set to lose federal funding, Congressman David Valadao co-introduced legislation Tuesday to continue operating a critical program that trains physicians in rural areas. The Training the Next Generation of Primary Care Doctors Act of 2017 would reauthorize the Teaching Health Center Graduate Medical Education Program for three years, according to a news release issued by Valadao’s office. It would also allow for the expansion of new programs within existing centers and the creation of new teaching health centers while emphasizing the importance of establishing sustainable funding. ‘As fewer medical school graduates pursue careers in rural America, Teaching Health Centers provide critical health care services many families rely on,’ Valadao said. ‘By reauthorizing the THC Graduate Medical Education Program, and prioritizing rural and medically underserved areas, our bill will ensure our most disadvantaged communities, like California’s Central Valley, have access to the primary care services they deserve.’ Teaching Health Centers were established under the Affordable Care Act as a way of increasing the number of primary care physicians to serve those in medically underserved areas. Kern County is among them.” [Bakersfield Californian, 7/25/17]

Valadao Introduced Bill That Would Expand Teaching Hospital Residencies In Rural Areas. “Today, United States Congressman David G. Valadao (CA-21), joined by Congressman Jeff Denham (CA-10), introduced legislation to further expand the Teaching Health Center (THC) Graduate Medical Education (GME) program. H.R. 3451, the Creating Additional Residency Expansion Act (CARE Act) expands the THCGME program by a total of twenty new centers, requiring the establishment of at least ten entirely new residency program centers. The legislation provides $57 million over fiscal years 2019 through 2020 to fund an additional 240 residency slots. Furthermore, the CARE Act directs the Secretary of Health and Human Services to prioritize centers located in counties with high Medicaid populations.” [Rep. David Valadao press release, 7/27/17]

Valadao Spoke About Funding Valley Fever Programs After Having Voted For AHCA. “Valley fever infects more than 13,000 people annually in Arizona and California and kills more than 100. Yet the two states spend less on public awareness about the disease in one year than what the Bakersfield City School District spends on lunch milk for a month and less than what Pima County, Arizona's Parks and Recreation Department spent on janitorial supplies in 2016. Government-funded awareness campaigns can transform public behavior and lead to different approaches by doctors and nurses. When it comes to valley fever, though, state and local agencies in both locales have historically struggled with support for one of the most important aspects of combatting the disease: warning the public of its existence. Since the beginning of 2011, valley fever — which is caused by breathing in coccidioidal fungal spores that get swept into the air — has infected more than 75,000 people in California and Arizona, the two regions with the highest number of cases. California experienced a valley fever epidemic last year and a wet winter signals that 2017 could be worse.” [Bakersfield Now, 8/26/17]

“House Passes Community Health Center Funding Bill; Valadao-Sponsored Boost In Spending For Doctors' Training Included.” “Legislation passed in the House Friday included a provision introduced by Congressman David Valadao, R-Hanford, to nearly double the funding for the Teaching Health Center Graduate Medical Education Program to $126.5 million over two years. ‘I applaud my colleagues in the House of Representatives for passing this legislation, which extends funding for the critical health care programs my constituents depend upon,’ Valadao said. ‘The Teaching Health Center Graduate Medical Education program ensures our most disadvantaged communities have access to the medical professionals and health care services they deserve.’ The program allows medical residents to practice at FQHCs. In areas like Kern County, much of which is designated by the federal government as a medically underserved area, those residents are vital to providing care, health care leaders say.” [Bakersfield, 11/03/17]

The increase in the number of uninsured people relative to the number under current law would reach 19 million in 2020 and 23 million in 2026 (see Table 4, at the end of this document).” [CBO, 5/24/17]

AARP: Under AHCA, Premiums For 60 To 64 Year Olds Would “Increase By An Average Of $3,200”

AARP: Under AHCA, Premiums For 60 To 64 Year Olds Would “Increase By An Average Of $3,200.” “Under the AHCA: Average premiums would increase for all ages starting at about age 46. Premiums for 60- to 64-year-olds would increase by an average of $3,200, amounting to average unsubsidized premiums of almost $18,000 per year. Meanwhile, 20- to 29-year-olds are expected to see significantly smaller average savings, of only $700 per year, giving them average unsubsidized premiums of $4,010 per year.” [AARP, 5/4/17]

Valadao Claimed The ACA Made The Health Care System Worse And People Rejected High Paying Jobs Because They Did Not Want To Lose Their Eligibility For Medi-Cal

Valadao Said ACA Make The Health Care System Worse And That The Medicaid Expansion Overloaded States

Valadao: “ACA Made The Health Care System Worse.” “Our nation’s health care system was struggling before Obamacare, but passage of the health-care reform bill in 2010, made it worse. Every day, I hear from my constituents about the ways in which our health-care system is failing Central Valley families. Our depleted health-care system has restricted health-care professionals’ ability to provide care, increased premiums for families and individuals across the country, eliminated patient choice, and severely reduced access to health care in our region of California. The failed law has created a health-care system that is simply unsustainable and fails to provide quality care. Health-care costs have increased by an average of 25%.” [Fresno Bee, Rep. David Valadao Op-Ed, 5/18/17]

Valadao: Medicaid Expansion Was Overloading States And Failed Policies Were Leading To A Shortage Of Medical Workers. “The Medicaid expansion is overloading states, which, in order to keep up, will have to increase taxes or increase out-of-pocket expenses to patients. Despite paying more, Americans are getting less. Nearly one-third of counties only have one insurer offering plans on the exchange, leaving patients little choice. Even worse, these failed policies are causing a shortage of doctors and medical providers, leading to increased wait times, reduced services, and again, fewer options. Obamacare’s devastating impact on the health-care industry effectively reduced access to health-care services and treatment for entire communities. Possession of an insurance card does not equate to health-care services and medical treatment. This is why I voted in favor of the American Health Care Act.” [Fresno Bee, Rep. David Valadao Op-Ed, 5/18/17]

Valadao Claimed That People Were Not Taking High Paying Jobs Because They Did Not Want To Lose Their Eligibility For Medi-Cal

Valadao Claimed That People Were Not Taking High Paying Jobs Because They Did Not Want To Lose Their Eligibility For Medi-Cal. “Valadao said that Medicaid, which in California is known as Medi-Cal, is preventing people from taking higher-paying jobs because they don’t want to lose their eligibility for the program. ‘I have people in your own group telling me that they are holding themselves back salary- and wage-wise because they wouldn’t be able to qualify for Medicaid,’ he told the protesters.” [Fresno Bee, 7/15/17]

Valadao Voted 32 Times To Cripple, Defund, Or Change the Affordable Care Act

Valadao Voted For Beginning Process Of Repealing Affordable Care Act

Valadao Voted For Beginning The Process Of Repealing Affordable Care Act. In January 2017, Valadao voted for: “Adoption of the concurrent resolution that includes reconciliation instructions for the House Energy and Commerce and Ways and Means Committees as well as the Senate Finance and Health, Education, Labor and Pensions Committees to develop legislation to reduce the deficit by at least $1 billion each over a 10-year period by January 27, 2017, which is expected to repeal parts of the 2010 health care law. The concurrent resolution also would set broad spending and revenue targets over the next 10 years. It would allow $3.3 trillion in new budget authority for fiscal 2017.” The resolution was adopted 227-198. [S Con Res 3, Vote #58, 1/13/17; CQ Floor Votes, 1/13/17]

• The Vote “Began The Process Of Dismantling The Affordable Care Act” By Allowing Republicans To Use Budget Reconciliation To Roll Back The Law. “The House of Representatives began the process of dismantling the Affordable Care Act on Friday, approving a budget resolution on a mostly party line vote. The vote was 227-198. The Senate passed the measure earlier this week. It allows Republicans on Capitol Hill to use a process known as ‘budget reconciliation’ to roll back major parts of the health care law. Top Republican leaders are also saying they plan to move to replace Obamacare along the same track, but they are still struggling to come up with the details on how it will work.” [CNN, 1/3/17]

Valadao Voted Two Times To Defund The Affordable Care Act Or Major Provisions Of The Bill

Valadao Voted For Defunding The Affordable Care Act. In September 2013, Valadao voted for: “Passage of the joint resolution that would provide continuing appropriations through Dec. 15, 2013 for government operations that would reflect an annual discretionary level of about $986.3 billion. It also would defund the 2010 health care overhaul and allow the U.S. Treasury, once the statutory debt limit is reached, to continue borrowing over the debt limit until Dec. 15, 2014. Funds could only be used to pay the principal and interest on both government debt held by the public and on obligations to the Social Security trust fund.” [H J Res 59, Vote #478, 9/20/13; CQ Floor Votes, 9/20/13]

Valadao Voted For Prohibiting The Treasury Department And IRS From Enforcing The Affordable Care Act. In August 2013, Valadao voted for: “Passage of the bill that would prohibit the Treasury secretary, or any delegate of the secretary, including the IRS, from implementing or enforcing any provisions of the 2010 health care law. Provisions of the law slated to go into effect in 2014 require individuals to have health insurance or pay a tax penalty.” [HR 2009, Vote #447, 8/2/13; CQ Floor Votes, 8/2/13]
Valadao Voted Eight Times To Delay Key Provisions Of The Affordable Care Act

Valadao Voted For Requiring Regulations and Rule Changes In The Affordable Care Act Be Subject To Congressional Approval. In July 2015, Valadao voted for: an amendment that would require “rule and regulations under the Affordable Care Act to be subject to the congressional approval process established in the bill.” The amendment passed, 242-167. [HR 427, Vote #474; CQ Floor Votes, 7/28/15]

Valadao Voted For Repealing The Sustainable Growth Rate Formula, And Delaying Tax Penalty For Individual Mandate For Five Years. In March 2014, Valadao voted for: “Passage of the bill that would repeal the sustainable growth rate formula and replace it with systems to adjust payments based on performance factors or on a provider’s participation in payment models that move them away from the fee-for-service structure. The bill would provide for an annual 0.5 percent payment increase for physicians from 2014 through 2018. As amended, the bill would delay for five years the penalties under the 2010 health care law on individuals who do not purchase health insurance.” [HR 4015, Vote #135, 3/14/14; CQ Floor Votes, 3/14/14]

Valadao Voted For Delaying Tax Penalty For Individual Mandate Under The Affordable Care Act. In March 2014, Valadao voted for: “Passage of the bill that would delay, until January 2015, the tax penalty for individuals who fail to purchase health insurance under the 2010 health care overhaul. It also would delay certain phase-in and indexing requirements related to the individual mandate penalty.” [HR 4118, Vote #97, 3/5/14; CQ Floor Votes, 3/5/14]

Valadao Voted For Delaying Individual Mandate For One Year. In September 2013, Valadao voted for: “Rogers, R-Ky., motion to recede from House amendments and concur in the Senate amendment with an additional House amendment to the joint resolution that would provide fiscal 2014 continuing appropriations. The House amendment would fund the government until Dec. 15, 2013, and delay for one year a requirement in the 2010 health care overhaul that all individuals purchase health insurance or pay a tax penalty. It also would require the president, vice president, members of Congress, congressional staff and political appointees to purchase health insurance through the health care law’s state insurance exchanges and would limit the subsidies they may receive for purchasing insurance.” [HJRes 59, Vote #504, 9/30/13; CQ Floor Votes, 9/30/13]

Valadao Voted For Delaying Implementation Of The Affordable Care Act For One Year. In September 2013, Valadao voted for: “Rogers, R-Ky., motion to concur in the Senate amendment to the joint resolution that would provide fiscal 2014 continuing appropriations with a Blackburn, R-Tenn., amendment that would delay for one year implementation of any provision of the 2010 health care overhaul that would take effect between Oct. 1, 2013, and Dec. 31, 2014, including the individual mandate and the imposition or increase of specified taxes and fees. It also would allow companies and insurance providers until 2015 to opt out of mandated birth control coverage for religious or moral reasons, and bar appropriations and transfers from the Patient-Centered Outcomes Research Fund. It also would set the expiration date for the continuing appropriations to Dec. 15, 2013.” [HJRes 59, Vote #498, 9/29/13; CQ Floor Votes, 9/29/13]

Valadao Voted For Blocking Subsidies In Affordable Care Act Until A Program To Verify Recipient Qualifications Was In Place. In September 2013, Valadao voted for: “Passage of the bill that would block premium and cost-sharing subsidies under the 2010 health care overhaul law until a program to verify recipient qualifications is in place. As amended, the bill would require the Health and Human Services inspector general to certify the program.” [HR 2775, Vote #458, 9/12/13; CQ Floor Votes, 9/12/13]

Valadao Voted For Delaying The Individual Mandate For One Year. In July 2013, Valadao voted for: “Passage of the bill that would delay for one year, until the start of 2015, the requirement in the 2010 health care overhaul that most individuals maintain health insurance coverage or pay a penalty.” [HR 2668, Vote #363, 7/17/13; CQ Floor Votes, 7/17/13]

Valadao Voted For Delaying The Employer Mandate For One Year. In July 2013, Valadao voted for: “Passage of the bill that would delay for one year, until the beginning of 2015, the requirement in the 2010 health care overhaul that businesses with 50 or more full-time employees provide health insurance to their workers or pay a penalty. It also would delay by one year associated reporting requirements for employers and insurance providers.”

[HR 2667, Vote #361, 7/17/13; CQ Floor Votes, 7/17/13]

Valadao Voted For A Motion Agreeing With Senate Amendment To Place A Moratorium On Health Care Reform’s Medical Device Tax. In December 2015, Valadao voted for: concurring with a Senate amendment to a tax package that included a two year moratorium on the 2.3 percent medical device tax implemented under the Affordable Care Act. The amendment passed, 318-109. [HR 2029, Vote #703, 12/17/15; Med Device Online, 12/17/15]

Valadao Voted For Eliminating The Independent Payment Advisory Board. “The House easily passed a repeal of Obamacare’s Independent Payment Advisory Board, with a handful of Democrats voting with Republicans against a part of the law aimed at checking the growth of Medicare spending. The Independent Payment Advisory Board has never been used. It consists of 15 members and was included in the law to control the rate of Medicare growth and to help the program come up with savings. The law said the board would make savings recommendations if Medicare spending was projected to exceed a certain target rate, but so far, spending hasn’t grown fast enough to trigger the IPAB. The 244-154 vote occurred days before an expected Supreme Court ruling on the legality of Obamacare subsidies.” The bill passed, 244-154. [HR 1190, Vote #376, 6/23/15; National Journal, 6/23/15]

Valadao Voted For A Repealing Medical Device Tax Under The Affordable Care Act. “The House defied a White House veto threat and voted Thursday to abolish a tax on medical device makers as a group of Democrats uncharacteristically joined Republicans in moving to kill part of President Barack Obama’s health care law … The Republican-led House has voted more than 50 times since 2011 to void all or part of Obama’s health care overhaul, usually along party lines.” The bill passed 280 to 140. [HR 160, Vote #375, 6/18/15; Associated Press, 6/18/15]

Valadao Voted For Repealing The Medical Device Tax. In September 2013, Valadao voted for: “Rogers, R-Ky., motion to concur in the Senate amendment to the joint resolution that would provide fiscal 2014 continuing appropriations with a Paulsen, R-Minn., amendment that would repeal the 2.3 percent medical device tax included in the 2010 health care overhaul. It also would set the expiration date for the continuing appropriations to Dec. 15, 2013; bar authority for capital construction for the Dwight D. Eisenhower Memorial Commission through Dec. 15, 2013; and extend and increase available visas for the special immigrant visa program for Iraqis who supported U.S. efforts in Iraq after March 2003.” [H J Res 59, Vote #497, 9/20/13; CQ Floor Votes, 9/20/13]

Valadao Voted Seven Times To Change The Affordable Care Act

Valadao Voted For A Bill Blocking Federal Funding For Abortion, Including ACA Tax Credits For Small Businesses Providing Healthcare That Includes Abortion Coverage. “The House did easily pass H.R. 7, the No Taxpayer Funding for Abortion and Abortion Insurance Full Disclosure Act of 2015, sponsored by Rep. Chris Smith (R-N.J.). White House advisers said they would recommend a veto should the bill reach the president’s desk. The Hyde Amendment already prevents the use of federal funds to pay for abortion, except in cases of incest, rape and life endangerment of the mother. That is passed every year as part of an appropriations bill, but this bill would make that permanent law. The House bill would also restrict small businesses from getting an Affordable Care Act tax credit if they purchase employee health plans that include abortion coverage on the Small Business Health Options Program, or SHOP exchange.” [HR 7, Vote #45, 1/22/15; Politico, 1/22/15]

Valadao Voted For Increasing The Definition Of Full-Time From 30 Hours To 40 Hours Under Affordable Care Act. “The House will vote again on Thursday to lengthen Obamacare’s full-time workweek definition to 40 hours, but the Senate has work to do before it can hope to get its first anti-Obamacare bill to the president’s desk.” The bill passed, 252-172. [HR 30, Vote #14, 1/8/15; Politico, 1/8/15]
Valadao Voted For A Bill To Allow Companies To Keep Employer-Sponsored Group Health Plans Not In Compliance With Affordable Care Act Requirements. “Another Republican effort to undo a pillar of the 2010 health care law took center stage in the House on Thursday as lawmakers passed a measure that would allow companies and workers to keep employer-sponsored group health plans not in compliance with the law’s coverage requirements. Lawmakers backed, 247-167, a bill (HR 3522) that would permit insurers to continue providing any group plans offered in 2013, regardless whether they meet criteria in the law (PL 111-148, PL 111-152). Insurers could offer those plans to existing or new enrollees through December 31, 2018, but could not offer the coverage through health insurance exchanges.” [HR 3522, Vote #495, 9/11/14; CQ News, 9/11/14]

Valadao Voted For Increasing The Definition Of Full-Time From 30 Hours To 40 Hours Under Affordable Care Act. In April 2014, Valadao voted for: “Passage of the bill that would change the definition of a full-time employee from the current 30 hours per week to 40 hours per week for purposes of the 2010 health care law’s employer mandate. It also would change how the 50-employee threshold is calculated, by requiring employers to divide the aggregate number of hours worked in a month by part-time workers by 174, rather than 120 as required by current law.” [HR 2575, Vote #156, 4/3/14; CQ Floor Votes, 4/3/14]

Valadao Voted For Requiring HHS To Provide Weekly Reports On HealthCare.gov, Including Enrollment Data. In January 2014, Valadao voted for: “Passage of the bill that would require the Health and Human Services Department to report weekly on the performance of HealthCare.gov and its affiliated call center, including health insurance enrollments, website problems and other consumer interactions. It also would require HHS to disclose the names of navigators and insurance agents who educate consumers about the health care law and assist them in purchasing health insurance through the federal website.” [HR 3362, Vote #23, 1/16/14; CQ Floor Votes, 1/16/14]

Valadao Voted For Requiring HHS To Notify Individuals Of Any Security Breach Of Data From HealthCare.gov. In January 2014, Valadao voted for: “Passage of the bill that would require the Health and Human Services Department to notify individuals within two business days of any security breach of health care exchange system information that resulted in the theft or unlawful access of individuals’ personally identifiable information from HealthCare.gov, or the state or small business exchanges’ websites.” [HR 3811, Vote #11, 1/10/14; CQ Floor Votes, 1/10/14]

Valadao Voted For Bill To Allow Companies To Keep Employer-Sponsored Group Health Plans Not In Compliance With Affordable Care Act Requirements. In November 2013, Valadao voted for: “Passage of the bill that would allow health insurance companies to continue to offer in 2014, outside of the new insurance exchanges, health care plans in the individual market that were in effect as of Jan. 1, 2013. Such policies would be treated as grandfathered health plans that satisfy the minimum essential health insurance coverage requirements set by the 2010 health care overhaul.” [HR 3350, Vote #587, 11/15/13; CQ Floor Votes, 11/15/13]

Valadao Voted Two Times To Fully Repeal The Affordable Care Act

2015: Valadao Voted For Repealing The Affordable Care Act. In February 2015, Valadao voted for: the “Passage of the bill that would repeal the 2010 health care overhaul. The bill would delay the repeal by 180 days after enactment and direct the House Education and the Workforce, Energy and Commerce, Judiciary and Ways and Means committees to submit alternative legislation with a number of provisions, including ones to increase economic growth by eliminating certain regulations; lower health care premiums through increased competition; overhaul the medical liability system; and provide states greater flexibility to administer Medicaid programs.” The bill passed 239-186. [HR 596, Vote #58, 2/3/15; CQ Floor Votes, 2/3/15]

• The Hill: The Vote Was The Fourth Vote To “Completely Repeal” The Affordable Care Act; For The First Time, The Bill Included Instructions For Committees To Replace The Bill, But With No Deadline To Finish. “The GOP House on Tuesday voted for the fourth time to completely repeal ObamaCare, but this time with instructions for several committees to replace the healthcare law with new policies. […] This is the first time the House has coupled an ObamaCare repeal vote with instructions to write a replacement, but they included a significant caveat. The legislation doesn’t impose any deadlines on committees to finish their work.” [The Hill, 2/3/15]

2013: Valadao Voted For Repealing The Affordable Care Act. In May 2013, Valadao voted for: “Passage of the bill that would repeal the 2010 health care overhaul law, which requires most individuals to buy health insurance by 2014, makes changes to government health care programs and sets requirements for health insurers. It also would repeal provisions pertaining to the Independent Payment Advisory Board. The bill would restore the provisions of law amended or repealed by the health care overhaul, and repeal certain provisions of the health care reconciliation law.” The bill passed 229-195. [HR 45, Vote #154, 5/16/13; CQ Floor Votes, 5/16/13]

- Washington Post: The Bill “Would Repeal The Health Care Law In Full.” “Since Republicans took control of the House of Representatives in 2011, the House has voted 36 times to repeal either all, or part, of President Obama’s health-care law. On Thursday, the House is scheduled to do it again, taking up another bill that would repeal the health care law in full.” [Washington Post, 5/15/13]

Valadao Voted Five Times For Republican Budget Resolutions That Fully Repealed The Affordable Care Act

2015: Valadao Voted For A Republican Conference Report On Budget That Began Process To Repeal Affordable Care Act. In April 2015, Valadao voted for: “House and Senate Republicans agreed on a unified budget plan Wednesday that would allow them to bypass Democrats and send President Barack Obama legislation to repeal or revise his landmark health-care law. The budget proposal spells out the Republican Party’s priorities by calling for $5.3 trillion in spending cuts to reach balance in nine years.” An agreement to pass the Conference Report passed 226 to 197. [S Con Res 11, Vote #183, On Agreeing to the Conference Report, 4/30/15; Bloomberg, 4/29/15]

2015: Valadao Voted For A Republican Budget That Repealed The Affordable Care Act. In March 2015, Valadao voted for: “[The Republican budget] also includes parliamentary language, called reconciliation that orders House committees to draft legislation repealing the Affordable Care Act. Under budget rules, that reconciliation repeal bill cannot be filibustered in the Senate and would need only a majority vote to pass.” The resolution passed 228 to 199. [H. Con Res. 27, Vote #142, 3/25/15; US News and World Report, 3/25/15]

2015: Valadao Voted Against Republican Study Committee Budget That Repealed The Affordable Care Act. In March 2015, Valadao voted against: the “Stutzman, R-Ind., substitute amendment that would provide for $ 2.804 trillion in new budget authority in fiscal 2016, not including off-budget accounts. The substitute would call for reducing spending by $7.1 trillion over 10 years compared to the Congressional Budget Office baseline. The proposal would call for capping discretionary spending at $975 billion in fiscal 2016, freezing it for two years, and then allowing it to grow with inflation. It would call for setting discretionary defense spending at $570 billion, non-defense discretionary spending at $405 billion and allowing for $58 billion in Overseas Contingency Operations. The measure would call for, after fiscal 2019, OCO spending being incorporated into (non-emergency) discretionary defense spending. The proposal would call for repeal of the 2010 health care overhaul, converting Medicaid and the Children’s Health Insurance Program into block grant programs and transitioning Medicare to a premium-support system. It would propose changing the inflationary index for Social Security benefits to ‘chained’
CPI for all government programs and gradually increases eligibility to age 70 for Social Security. It also would propose converting the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program into a block grant program and changing it to a discretionary program. The amendment would outline guidance for a tax overhaul, including stating that taxes should be revenue neutral based on dynamic scoring and that the alternative minimum tax be repealed. It also would propose that federal funding for transportation be limited to core federal duties, such as the interstate highway system.” [H Con Res 27, Vote #138, 3/25/15; CQ, 3/25/15]

2014: Valadao Voted For Republican Budget That Repealed The Affordable Care Act. In April 2014, Valadao voted for: “Adoption of the concurrent resolution that would provide for $2.842 trillion in new budget authority in fiscal 2015, not including off-budget accounts. It would assume $5.1 trillion in reductions over the next 10 years in both discretionary and mandatory spending. The proposal would assume the repeal of the 2010 health care overhaul. It also would propose extending the 2013 law that withheld the pay of members of Congress unless the House and Senate each approve a budget resolution. It would propose changing the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program into a block grant program and call for a decrease of $125 billion in SNAP funding over five years. The proposal would call for expanded work and job training requirements in order to receive aid from the Temporary Assistance to Needy Families Program and would propose preventing beneficiaries from receiving unemployment insurance and disability insurance concurrently. It would call for the creation of a block grant program for Medicaid run by individual states. It also would include a proposal for a 10-year ‘doc fix’ to prevent a 24 percent cut in Medicare payments to doctors. It would assume the enactment of legislation to consolidate the current seven individual tax brackets into two, allowing for the reduction of the top individual rate from 39.6 percent to 25 percent and the corporate rate from 35 percent to 25 percent and call for repeal of the alternative minimum tax. It also would call for a maximum-income cap to qualify for Pell Grants and the elimination of eligibility for less than half-time students.” The resolution was adopted 219-205. [H Con Res 96, Vote #177, 4/10/14; CQ Floor Votes, 4/10/14]

2013: Valadao Voted Against Republican Study Committee Budget That Repealed The Affordable Care Act. In March 2013, Valadao voted against: “the Republican Study Committee’s budget that would balance the federal budget in four years, rein in Washington’s huge deficits, and repeal ‘ObamaCare.’ The RSC budget failed to receive a majority vote for passage, but a subsequent vote on the Ryan budget was approved.” [H Con Res 96, Vote #175, 4/10/14; Rep. Hall, Press Release, 4/10/14]

2013: Valadao Voted For Republican Budget That Repealed The Affordable Care Act. In March 2013, Valadao voted for: “Adoption of the concurrent resolution that would provide $2.769 trillion in new budget authority in fiscal 2014, not including off-budget accounts. It would assume that the spending levels required by the sequester remain in place and that non-war discretionary spending for all future years will be at post-sequester levels. It would assume that all discretionary savings from the sequester beginning in fiscal 2014 will come from non-defense programs. It would assume $5.7 trillion in reductions over the next 10 years in both discretionary and mandatory spending. It would assume repeal of the 2010 health care overhaul and a restructuring of Medicare into a “premium support” system beginning in 2024. It would call for an overhaul of the tax code, under which the alternative minimum tax would be repealed, the six current individual income tax brackets would be consolidated into two and tax credits and deductions would be eliminated or curtailed.” The resolution passed 221-207. [H Con Res 25, Vote #88, 3/21/13; CQ, 3/21/13]

2013: Valadao Voted Against Republican Study Committee Budget That Repealed The Affordable Care Act. In March 2013, Valadao voted against: “the Republican Study Committee substitute keeps the sequester in place, repeals the Affordable Care Act, and privatizes Medicare, exempting only those 60 years or older from the changes. The measure would also cut Social Security benefits by increasing the retirement age to 70, and cap funding below 2008 levels for education, infrastructure, and other important domestic programs until 2017.” [H Con Res 25, Vote #86, 3/20/13; Rep. Hanabusa, Press Release, 3/20/13]
Valadao Voted For Repealing Major Pillars Of Affordable Care Act, Including The Individual Mandate

2016: Valadao Voted For Overturning Obama’s Veto Of A Bill That Would Repeal Major Portions Of The Affordable Care Act. In February 2016, Valadao voted for: “Passage, over President Obama’s Jan. 8 2016, veto, of the bill that would repeal portions of the 2010 health care law and block federal funding for Planned Parenthood for one year. The bill would zero-out the law’s penalties for noncompliance with the law’s requirements for most individuals to obtain health coverage and employers to offer health insurance. The bill would scrap in 2018 the law’s Medicaid expansion, as well as subsidies to help individuals buy coverage through the insurance exchanges. It also would scrap certain taxes included in the law, including the tax on certain high-value employer-sponsored health insurance plans.” A two-thirds majority was required to override the President’s veto. The motion was rejected 241-186. [HR 3762, Vote #53, 2/2/16; CQ Floor Votes, 2/2/16]

- The Bill Attempted “To Overturn President Obama’s Veto Of Legislation To Repeal Obamacare.” “House Republicans are moving on to a new round of budget fights after failing on Tuesday to overturn President Obama’s veto of legislation to repeal Obamacare and defund Planned Parenthood. Republicans were not able to rally the support of two-thirds of the House necessary to overturn the veto, leaving conservatives to turn their attention to a final year of budget fights with the president. The 241-186 vote, appropriately scheduled for Groundhog Day, was the 63rd time the House has voted to overturn all or part of Obama’s signature health care law.” [Washington Post, 2/2/16]

2016: Valadao Voted For Agreeing With Senate Amendment To Bill To Repeal Major Portions Of The Affordable Care Act, Including Individual Mandate. In January 2016, Valadao voted for: “Price, R-Ga., motion to concur in the Senate amendment to the bill that would repeal portions of the 2010 health care law and block federal funding for Planned Parenthood for one year. The bill would zero-out the law’s penalties for noncompliance with the law’s requirements for most individuals to obtain health coverage and employers to offer health insurance. The bill would scrap in 2018 the law’s Medicaid expansion, as well as subsidies to help individuals buy coverage through the insurance exchanges. It also would scrap certain taxes included in the law, including the tax on certain high-value employer-sponsored health insurance plans.” The bill passed 240-181. [HR 3762, Vote #6, 1/6/16; CQ Floor Votes, 1/6/16]

- CNN: The Legislation Would “Repeal Obamacare.” “The GOP-controlled House of Representatives on Wednesday afternoon passed legislation that would repeal Obamacare, and after more than 60 votes to roll back all or part of the law, the bill dismantle it will finally get to the President’s desk.” [CNN, 1/6/16]

2015: Valadao Voted For House Passage Of A Bill To Repeal Major Portions Of The Affordable Care Act, Including The Individual Mandate. In October 2015, Valadao voted for: “Passage of the bill that would repeal portions of the 2010 health care law, including: the requirements for most individuals to have health insurance and employers with more than 50 employees to offer it or face penalties, the 2.3 percent tax on the sale of medical devices, the tax on certain high-value employer-sponsored health insurance plans, and the Prevention and Public Health Fund. The measure also would block, for one year, federal funding for Planned Parenthood and would increase funding for community health centers by $235 million in both fiscal 2016 and 2017.” The bill passed 240-189. [HR 3762, Vote #568, 10/23/15; CQ Floor Votes, 10/23/15]

- Los Angeles Times: The Bill “Would Repeal Several Major Pillars Of President Obama’s Landmark 2010 Law, Including The Requirement That Americans Have Health Coverage.” “House Republicans pushed forward with another vote to roll back the Affordable Care Act on Friday, passing a bill that would repeal several major pillars of President Obama’s landmark 2010 law, including the requirement that Americans have health coverage.” [Los Angeles Times, 10/23/15]

- HEADLINE: House Republicans vote to repeal Obamacare, again [Los Angeles Times, 10/23/15]

- According To The CBO, The Bill Would Increase The Number Of Uninsured Americans By 32 Million. “The number of people who are uninsured would increase by 18 million in the first new plan year following enactment of the bill. Later, after the elimination of the ACA’s expansion of Medicaid eligibility and of subsidies for insurance purchased through the ACA marketplaces, that number would increase to 27 million, and then to 32 million in 2026.” [CBO, 1/2017]

- According To The CBO, The Bill Would Cause Health Insurance Premiums To Double. “Premiums in the nongroup market (for individual policies purchased through the marketplaces or directly from insurers) would increase by 20 percent to 25 percent—relative to projections under current law—in the first new plan year following enactment. The increase would reach about 50 percent in the year following the elimination of the Medicaid expansion and the marketplace subsidies, and premiums would about double by 2026.” [CBO, 1/2017]

- According To The CBO, The Bill Would Leave In Place Rules That Insurance Companies Could “Not Deny Coverage Or Vary Premiums Because Of An Enrollee’s Health Status Or Limit Coverage Because Of Preexisting Medical Conditions.” “Importantly, H.R. 3762 would leave in place a number of market reforms—rules established by the ACA that govern certain health insurance markets. Insurers who sell plans either through the marketplaces or directly to consumers are required to: Provide specific benefits and amounts of coverage; Not deny coverage or vary premiums because of an enrollee’s health status or limit coverage because of preexisting medical conditions; and Vary premiums only on the basis of age, tobacco use, and geographic location.” [CBO, 1/2017]

60,100 Individuals In Valadao’s District Stood To Lose Their Health Insurance Coverage If The Affordable Care Act Was Repealed

Los Angeles Times: “Statewide, About A Third Of Residents Receive Medi-Cal...In The San Joaquin Valley, Including Tulare, Merced And Fresno, Around Half The Population Is Enrolled In The Program.” “Tens of thousands of the newly insured receive federal subsidies to shop on the Covered California healthcare exchange, but the most dramatic impact in the region came from the expansion of Medi-Cal, subsidized care for the poor that was broadened to cover childless adults. Statewide, about a third of residents receive Medi-Cal. But in several counties in the San Joaquin Valley, including Tulare, Merced and Fresno, around half the population is enrolled in the program.” [Los Angeles Times, 2/2/17]

2013: Valadao Voted For FY 2014 Ryan Budget That Called For Restructuring Of Medicare Into A “Premium Support” System And $5.7 Trillion In Spending Cuts Over Ten Years. In March 2013, Valadao voted for: “Adoption of the concurrent resolution that would provide $2.769 trillion in new budget authority in fiscal 2014, not including off-budget accounts. It would assume that the spending levels required by the sequester remain in place and that non-war discretionary spending for all future years will be at post-sequester levels. It would assume that all discretionary savings from the sequester beginning in fiscal 2014 will come from non-defense programs. It would assume $5.7 trillion in reductions over the next 10 years in both discretionary and mandatory spending. It would assume repeal of the 2010 health care overhaul and a restructuring of Medicare into a "premium support" system beginning in 2024. It would call for an overhaul of the tax code, under which the alternative minimum tax would be repealed, the six current individual income tax brackets would be consolidated into two and tax credits and deductions would be eliminated or curtailed.” The resolution passed 221 to 207. [H. Con. Res, 25, Vote #88, 3/21/13; CQ, 3/21/13]

- National Journal: “For Those Younger Than Age 55, Medicare Could Look Unrecognizable” If Ryan Budget Were Implemented. “And, for those younger than age 55, Medicare could look unrecognizable:
People receive a fixed sum of money from the federal government to buy health insurance in their old age, regardless of the way inflation has caused health care costs to increase.” [National Journal, 3/10/13]

- CBPP: Ryan Budget Would Cut Medicare Spending By A Total Of $356 Billion.” According to an analysis of the Ryan budget conducted by the Center on Budget and Policy Priorities: “Over the 2013 to 2023 period, the Ryan budget would cut Medicare spending by a total of $356 billion. His budget would save $129 billion compared to current law from limiting medical malpractice awards, increasing income-tested premiums, and repealing the Medicare benefit improvements in health reform, including closure of the prescription drug ‘donut hole.’ Ryan’s baseline includes $138 billion in scheduled cuts from Medicare’s sustainable growth rate formula for physicians and $89 billion in Medicare cuts from sequestration, bringing his total Medicare reductions to the aforementioned $356 billion.” [Center on Budget and Policy Priorities, 3/12/13]

- CBPP: Families Making Less Than $200,000 Would Face Average Tax Hike of $3,000. “Families with children that have incomes below $200,000 would have to face tax increases averaging more than $3,000 a year, if policymakers were to avoid increasing the deficit while reaching Chairman Ryan’s 25-percent top-tax-rate goal… If policymakers enacted the same extremely ambitious reductions in tax expenditures for filers with incomes above $200,000…, filers with incomes of $1 million or more would lose tax breaks totaling about $90,000 on average – still leaving them with an average net tax cut of about $245,000…” [Center on Budget and Policy Priorities, 3/17/13]

- CBPP: Millionaires Would Likely Experience A $245,000 Net Tax Cut. According to an analysis of the Ryan Budget conducted by the Center on Budget and Policy Priorities, “If policymakers enacted the same extremely ambitious reductions in tax expenditures for filers with incomes above $200,000 that TPC assumed when it analyzed Romney’s tax plan, filers with incomes of $1 million or more would lose tax breaks totaling about $90,000 on average – still leaving them with an average net tax cut of about $245,000. Households with incomes above $200,000 would get a net cut of about $16,000.” [Center on Budget and Policy Priorities, 3/17/13]

2014: Valadao Voted For FY 2015 House Republican Budget To Repeal The Affordable Care Act, Cut SNAP Funding, And Voucherize Medicare

2014: Valadao Voted For FY 2015 House Republican Budget That Would Repeal The Affordable Care Act, Cut SNAP Funding, And Alter Medicare. In April 2014, Valadao voted for: “Adoption of the concurrent resolution that would provide for $2.842 trillion in new budget authority in fiscal 2015, not including off-budget accounts. It would assume $5.1 trillion in reductions over the next 10 years in both discretionary and mandatory spending. The proposal would assume the repeal of the 2010 health care overhaul. It also would propose extending the 2013 law that withheld the pay of members of Congress unless the House and Senate each approve a budget resolution. It would propose changing the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program into a block grant program and call for a decrease of $125 billion in SNAP funding over five years. The proposal would call for expanded work and job training requirements in order to receive aid from the Temporary Assistance to Needy Families Program and would propose preventing beneficiaries from receiving unemployment insurance and disability insurance concurrently. It would call for the creation of a block grant program for Medicaid run by individual states. It also would include a proposal for a 10-year ‘doc fix’ to prevent a 24 percent cut in Medicare payments to doctors. It would assume the enactment of legislation to consolidate the current seven individual tax brackets into two, allowing for the reduction of the top individual rate from 39.6 percent to 25 percent and the corporate rate from 35 percent to 25 percent and call for repeal of the alternative minimum tax. It also would call for a maximum-income cap to qualify for Pell Grants and the elimination of eligibility for less than half-time students.” The budget passed 219 to 205. [H.C Con. Res 96, Vote #177, 4/10/14; CQ, 4/10/14]

- AARP: Republican Budget Would Remove the Medicare Guarantee. “Chairman Ryan’s proposed budget fails to address the high costs of health care and instead shifts costs onto seniors and future retirees. Repealing the benefits of the Affordable Care Act ignores the progress we’ve made to improve access to health care and protect against discrimination based on age, gender or medical history. Removing the Medicare guarantee of affordable health coverage for older Americans by implementing a premium support system and asking seniors and future retirees to pay more is not the right direction.” [AARP Press Release, 4/1/14]

- NCPSSM: Republican Budget Would Ultimately Kill Traditional Medicare. “This is a budget that doubles-down on an ideological quest to turn Medicare into “coupon care”, making it harder for seniors to choose their own doctors and ultimately killing traditional Medicare. If the GOP/Ryan budget becomes law, seniors will immediately lose billions in prescription drug savings, free wellness visits and preventative services provided in the ACA, and the Part D donut hole returns.” [National Committee to Preserve Social Security & Medicare, 4/1/14]

- Associated Press: “The Proposal Would Reprise a Voucher-Like Medicare Program.” “The proposal would reprise a voucher-like Medicare program for future retirees that would be the basis for GOP claims that the measure would drive down government debt over the long term.” [Associated Press, 4/1/14]

- Los Angeles Times: Republican Budget Would Turn Medicare into a “Voucher-Like Program” That “May Not Fully Cover the Cost” of Medicare. “Ryan retained his idea for turning the Medicare health system into a voucher-like program for future seniors, providing a fixed amount of cash that can be applied toward the purchase of private health insurance. The voucher may also be used to enroll in traditional Medicare, but it may not fully cover the cost.” [Los Angeles Times, 4/1/14]

Valadao’s Communications Director, Faith Vander Voort, Once Argued That Muslims Couldn’t Be President

Valadao’s Communications Director, Faith Vander Voort, Once Argued That Muslims Couldn’t Be President. “A top spokeswoman for Interior Secretary Ryan Zinke made Islamophobic comments in a 2015 blog post, arguing that a Muslim ‘could never serve’ as president of the United States, HuffPost has learned. In the post, titled ‘Did I offend you?’, Faith Vander Voort came to the defense of then-Republican presidential candidate Ben Carson, who, less than two weeks earlier, said: ‘I would not advocate that we put a Muslim in charge of this nation. I absolutely would not agree with that.’ ‘A devout Muslim,’ Vander Voort wrote in her post, ‘could never serve in the Oval Office of the United States of America, not because of exclusion or discrimination, but because their own religion strictly prohibits them from taking an oath to anything other than Allah.’” [HuffPost, 7/25/18]

Vander Voort Defended The Use Of The Term “Anchor Babies” When Referring To Children Born In The U.S. To Undocumented Immigrants. “Along with the anti-Muslim comments, Vander Voort defended using the pejorative term ‘anchor babies’ when referring to children born in the U.S. to undocumented parents. She noted that a BuzzFeed video — it’s unclear which one — had suggested alternative terms, including ‘Americans.’ ‘I’m sorry
Buzzfeed, but you need to re-read the 14th amendment to the Constitution of the United States because those babies are illegal aliens,’ she wrote. ‘Not Americans. Why do we strive to make a fancy and comfortable title for someone who entered our nation illegally? Because heaven forbid we offend them. Here, let’s grant them amnesty while we’re at it.’” [HuffPost, 7/25/18]

Steve King (R-Iowa). The post was deleted sometime between October 2016 and January 2017, but can still be viewed on the Internet Archive, a digital archive of webpages.” [HuffPost, 7/25/18]

- Vander Voort: “I Will Always Be Proud To Have My Name Tied To His For The Rest Of My Professional Career.” “In another deleted blog post from December 2015, at the end of her internship with King, Vander Voort called the congressman ‘one of the good ones’ and ‘a man of principle.’ ‘I will always be proud to have my name tied to his for the rest of my professional career,’ she wrote.” [HuffPost, 7/25/18]

Rep. Steve King Said The U.S. Government Should Spy On Mosques And Said Undocumented Immigrants Have Calves The Size Of Cantaloupes “Because They’re Hauling 75 Pounds Of Marijuana Across The Desert.” “King has a long history of making bigoted and Islamophobic proclamations. He’s said the U.S. government should spy on mosques and that the undocumented young people known as Dreamers have calves the size of cantaloupes ‘because they’re hauling 75 pounds of marijuana across the desert.’ In 2013, he introduced a bill to stop children of undocumented parents from gaining citizenship, saying that ‘the current practice of extending U.S. citizenship to hundreds of thousands of ‘anchor babies’ must end because it creates a magnet for illegal immigration into our country.’” [HuffPost, 7/25/18]

Rep. Steve King Promoted A British Neo-Nazi On Twitter. “On June 12, Rep. Steve King (R-Iowa) tweeted: “Europe is waking up... Will America... in time?” and linked to an anti-immigrant tweet by a well-known British neo-Nazi named Mark Collett.” [HuffPost, 7/19/18]

After Leading The Discharge Petition Effort To Bring The DREAM Act And Three Other Immigration Bill Options To A Vote, Valadao Bowed To Republican Leadership To Help Kill It

May 9, 2018: Valadao Signed A Discharge Petition To Bring The Dream Act Up For A Floor Vote; Valadao Was A Co-Sponsor Of The Dream Act

Valadao Supported A Discharge Petition To Force A Vote On Immigration Bills Concerning DACA. “A bipartisan group of House members led by California Rep. Jeff Denham, a Republican from Turlock, filed a petition Wednesday to force a vote on four immigration bills over the objections of GOP leadership. […] If the discharge petition gets the backing of more than half of all House members, it would trigger what is called a ‘queen of the Hill’ vote on four immigration bills: one favored by the Trump administration, one preferred by Democrats, one bipartisan proposal and an immigration bill of Ryan's choice. If more than one is passed, the bill with the most votes would move forward to the Senate.” [Los Angeles Times, 5/9/18]
• Valadao Was An Initial Sponsor Of The Discharge Petition Effort. “Fifteen House Republicans have signed on to a discharge petition filed Wednesday that is intended to force votes on a series of immigration measures — including legislation to protect so-called Dreamers. […] Democrats have been pressing for an immigration vote in the House and would be expected to back the petition. If all House Democrats sign it, it would need 25 Republican signatories to force a vote. GOP Rep. Carlos Curbelo (Fla.) filed the motion, and was quickly joined by Republican Reps. Jeff Denham (Calif.), Will Hurd (Texas), Mario Díaz Balart (Fla.) and David Valadao (Calif.) as initial sponsors.” [The Hill, 5/9/18]

Valadao Signed The Discharge Petition That Would Have Brought Four Immigration Bills To The Floor For A Vote. [Discharge Petition No. 10, signed 5/9/18]

The Discharge Petition Would Bring The Conservative Goodlatte Bill, The Democratic DREAM Act, A Republican Leadership Sponsored Bill, And A Bipartisan Immigration Compromise To The Floor. “The proposals in Denham’s Queen of the Hill rule are a conservative bill proposed by Rep. Bob Goodlatte (R-Va.) that would grant temporary status to so-called Dreamers while imposing a series of restrictive measures on legal and illegal immigration; the Dream Act, which would grant a path to citizenship to at least 1.8 million Dreamers; the USA Act, a bipartisan compromise that would pair Dream Act-like measures with $25 billion in border security; and an open slot for Speaker Paul Ryan (R-Wis.) to propose an immigration bill of his choosing.” [The Hill, 5/17/18]

• The Discharge Petition Would Have Forced A Vote On Four Bills That Helped DREAMers To Varying Degrees, Though Some Paired That Help With Severe Reductions Of Legal Immigration. “All four would help Dreamers to some degree, though they differ on how much border security or immigration enforcement they include in exchange. For example, the Trump-backed bill also would dramatically reduce legal immigration and provide money to build a wall at the southern border, while the Democrats’ favored bill would deal only with legal status for Dreamers. Denham got 247 House members to sign on as co-sponsors of an earlier resolution requesting a vote, including all 39 California House Democrats and five of the state’s 14 Republicans. But some of those supporters oppose using the more aggressive tactic of a discharge petition. Denham and Rep. David Valadao, a Republican from Hanford, are the only two California Republicans to sign onto the discharge petition so far.” [Los Angeles Times, 5/9/18]

May 16, 2018: Paul Ryan And Republican Leadership Asked Republican Leaders To Halt The Discharge Petition, Citing Electoral Concerns

May 16, 2018: McCarthy And Ryan Met With Republicans Backing The Discharge Petition, Warning It Could Have Political Consequences. “The effort began in a closed-door morning meeting where Majority Leader Kevin McCarthy (R-Calif.) warned that a freewheeling immigration debate could have sharp political consequences. It continued in the evening, when the leaders of a petition effort that would sidestep were summoned to a room with House Speaker Paul D. Ryan (R-Wis.), McCarthy and three other top leaders.” [Washington Post, 5/16/18]

• Republican House Leadership Convinced Valadao And Other Republicans To Back Down. “Two Republican Bills On Tuesday night, with the petition stuck at 216 signatures, the moderates backed down, accepting a proposal by Speaker Paul D. Ryan (R-Wis.) to put aside their effort and instead have the House debate two bills next week -- both of which have only GOP support. […] All of California's 39 Democratic House members signed the petition, as have three of the state's 14 Republican representatives -- Denham and Reps. David Valadao of Hanford […].” [Los Angeles Times, 6/12/18]

districts eager to strike a compromise that would legalize ‘dreamers’ — young undocumented immigrants who arrived in the United States as children — while conservatives have been wary of granting anything that could be construed as ‘amnesty’ for lawbreakers, at least not without major policy concessions. Ryan, speaking behind closed doors to House Republicans on Wednesday morning, asked members to give him more time to work out a way forward in conjunction with President Trump, who wants major concessions in return for legalizing dreamers. McCarthy had a blunter message, according to two members present who spoke on the condition of anonymity to describe a private meeting and as first reported by Politico: Signing the discharge petition and paving the way for passage of a moderate immigration bill could hurt Republicans in November’s elections by depressing conservative turnout and upending leadership’s plans to focus on tax cuts and other GOP successes. ‘Things are going great,’ one lawmaker said, paraphrasing McCarthy. ‘Let’s stick together.’” [Washington Post, 5/16/18]

June 2018: Valadao Voted To “Effectively Kill” The Discharge Petition Effort For The DREAM Act That He Had Pushed, By Moving More Restrictive Republican-Only Bills To A Vote Instead

Valadao Voted For A Rule Bringing The Securing America’s Future Act Of 2018 To The Floor For A Vote. In June 2018, Valadao voted for: “Adoption of the rule (H Res 954) that would provide for House floor consideration of the bill (HR 4760) that would authorize $24.8 billion for fiscal 2018 through fiscal 2022 for various border security activities and would provide individuals registered under the Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals program with a three-year, renewable contingent non-immigrant legal status but with no special path to citizenship. Adoption of the rule would provide for the automatic adoption of an amendment that would modify funds authorized for border activities under the bill; authorizing $24.8 billion for fiscal 2018 through fiscal 2022, instead of authorizing $24.8 billion annually for fiscal 2018 through fiscal 2022.” The resolution passed 226 to 195. [H Res 954, Vote #280, 6/21/18; CQ, 6/21/18]

- Moderate Republicans Agreed To Process To Vote On Republican-Only Immigration Bills, Even Though It “Would Effectively Kill Their Discharge Petition” To Bring Bipartisan Immigration Fix To The Floor. “They agreed to a process that night that would effectively kill their discharge petition. With no agreement in sight, Ryan proposed two immigration votes: One on a conservative DACA bill, the other on ‘compromise’ legislation they’d continue trying to negotiate. Sensing the wind was against them, moderates reluctantly agreed.” [Politico, 6/27/17]

- Los Angeles Times: The Vote “Meant Defeat” For The Discharge Petition Effort. “An effort by moderate Republicans to force votes on a bipartisan immigration bill failed in the House on Tuesday, with members agreeing instead to vote on legislation that would guarantee funds for President Trump’s proposed border wall. The agreement meant defeat, at least for now, for an effort led by Rep. Jeff Denham of Turlock and other GOP moderates to use a rare parliamentary maneuver known as a discharge petition to force the House to vote on the bipartisan immigration plan, and three other bills, over the objections of party leaders. […] Defeat of the effort greatly reduces the chances — already slim — that Congress could pass any form of Dreamer legislation before this year’s midterm election.” [Los Angeles Times, 6/12/18]

- Ryan “Acknowledged That One Of The Main Goals Of These Votes Was To Forestall” The Discharge Petition. “At Thursday’s weekly news conference, Ryan acknowledged that one of the main goals of these votes was to forestall a renegade group of Republicans from working with Democrats to pass a more liberal overhaul of immigration laws. ‘Our goal was to prevent a discharge petition from reaching the floor, because a discharge petition would have brought legislation to the floor that the president would have surely vetoed,’ Ryan said. ‘It would have been an exercise in futility.’ So instead, he set up this tortured series of votes.” [Washington Post, 6/21/18]
New York Magazine: “The Only Real Purpose Of This Exercise Was To Preempt A Discharge Petition” That Would Have Brought A Bipartisan Immigration Bill To The Floor. “Indeed, the only real purpose of this exercise was to preempt a discharge petition that House Democrats and some politically vulnerable House Republicans had signed that might have brought a Democratic immigration bill — indeed, the original DREAM Act — to the floor under conditions where it might have actually passed. So for all the endless and interminable and redundant House GOP talk about wanting to take action on immigration, when votes were finally held it was really about preventing action on immigration.” [New York Magazine, 6/21/18]

Valadao Voted Against Replacing An Extreme Bill That Restricted Legal Immigration With The Text From The Dream Act, And Voted To Block An Amendment That Would Have Brought The Dream Act Up For A Vote

Valadao Voted Against Replacing The Text Of The Goodlatte Bill With The Text Of The DREAM Act. In June 2018, Valadao voted against: “Lujan Grisham, D-N.M., motion to recommit the bill to the House Judiciary Committee with instructions to report it back immediately with an amendment that would replace the bill’s provisions with a system that would provide a pathway to citizenship for recipients of the Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals program.” According to the Democratic Leader’s Office, the motion “would strike the text in the underlying bill and replace it with the text of Rep. Roybal-Allard’s bill H.R. 3440 – Dream Act of 2017.” The motion failed 191 to 234. [HR 4760, Vote #281, 6/21/18; CQ, 6/21/18; DemocraticLeader.gov, 6/21/18]

Valadao Voted For Blocking Amendment To The Rule To Bring Up The Four Bills From The Discharge Petition – Two Republican Bills, The DREAM Act, And A Bipartisan Bill – Under A Queen Of The Hill Rule. In June 2018, Valadao voted for: “Burgess, R-Texas, motion to order the previous question (thus ending debate and possibility of amendment) on the rule.” According to the Democratic Leader’s office, “The Democratic Previous Question would would [sic] provide for consideration of H.R. 4760 – Securing America’s Future Act, and will make in order four substitute amendments to that bill, drafted at the discretion of the authors so long as they are germane to the underlying bill. H.Res. 774 allows for the amendment that receives the most votes (and at least a simple majority) to pass the House under a rule known as “queen-of-the-hill.” The four amendments that H.Res. 774 allows for are: an amendment offered by Rep. Goodlatte, which could be similar to H.R. 4760, an amendment offered by Rep. Roybal-Allard, which could be similar to a clean DREAM Act an amendment offered by Speaker Ryan an amendment offered by Rep. Denham, which could be similar to the bipartisan bill H.R. 4796 – USA Act. If the underlying Rule passes, it will turn off the discharge petition, and allow the House GOP to bring up anti-immigrant legislation that does not solve the DACA crisis.” A vote for the motion was a vote to block consideration of the amendment. The motion was agreed to 232-190. [H Res 954, Vote #279, 6/21/18; CQ, 6/21/18; DemocraticLeader.gov, 6/21/18]

Valadao Voted For Republican Immigration “Compromise” With A Path To Citizenship For A Limited Number Of DREAMers, Restrictions On Legal Immigration, And $25 Billion For A Border Wall

Valadao Voted For Border Security and Immigration Reform Act of 2018, Which Would Appropriate Funds To Build A Border Wall With Mexico, Renew DACA For 6 Years, End The Diversity Visa Program And Require That Undocumented Immigrants Be Detained With Their Children. In June 2018, Valadao voted for: “Passage of the bill that would appropriate $23.4 billion for various border security activities. Included would be $16.6 billion for a ‘border wall system,’ which would be available from fiscal 2019 through fiscal 2027, and $6.8 billion for border security investments, which would be available from fiscal 2019 through fiscal 2023. It would provide those with Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals status a six-year renewable contingent non-immigrant legal status and would allow them to apply for a green card after five years, providing a path to citizenship. It would modify legal immigration by ending the diversity visa program and reallocating those visas to other classifications. The bill would require that undocumented immigrants who are charged with a misdemeanor offense for improper entry into the United States be detained with their minor children.” The bill failed 121-301. [HR 6136, Vote #297, 6/27/18; CQ, 6/27/18]
The Bill, Known As “Goodlatte 2,” Was Republicans Attempt At An Immigration Compromise. “House Republicans’ legislative attempt to find consensus within their own party on the divisive issue of immigration failed on the floor Wednesday, with the chamber overwhelmingly rejecting their so-called compromise bill, 121-301.” [Roll Call, 6/27/18]

The Bill Would Have Allowed Dreamers To Apply For A “Merit-Based” Visa With A Path To Citizenship. “It would have provided DACA recipients the opportunity to obtain an indefinitely renewable three-year non-immigrant legal status. Goodlatte 2 included the same provision but made it last for six years and expanded its eligibility beyond current DACA recipients to those who would qualify but had not applied. Under the compromise bill, Dreamers could also apply for a new merit-based visa and eventually citizenship, something some conservatives felt amounted to amnesty.” [Roll Call, 6/27/18]

- The Bill Added Restrictions To DACA Eligibility; The Bill Would Likely Provide A Pathway To Citizenship To Only 18 Percent Of Dreamers. “These restrictions were also in DACA, but the new bill would go even further to restrict eligibility. […] In the best case scenario, the House GOP plan would likely provide a pathway to citizenship to fewer than 630,000 Dreamers—barely a third of the president’s promise in January and just 18 percent of the entire Dreamer population. Moreover, only an estimated 421,000 immigrants are likely to become citizens.” [CATO Institute, 6/19/18]

- The Bill Would Have Required Families Who Illegally Crossed The Border To Be Housed Together, Rather Than In Criminal Custody, But Eliminated The 20 Day Cap On Administrative Custody For Accompanied Children. “The compromise bill also included language intended to prevent children from being separated from their parents when detained at the border. It would have required the Department of Homeland Security to house families together while the parents are going through criminal proceedings for the misdemeanor of first-time illegal border crossing, instead of in criminal custody, and would have eliminated the 20-day cap on administrative custody for accompanied children.” [Roll Call, 6/27/18]

- The Bill Granted $25 Billion In Funds For A Southern Border Wall. “The bill also called for granting $25 billion in funds for a southern border wall, making it more difficult for migrants to seek asylum, and allowing families to be detained indefinitely at the border in response to the Trump administration’s ‘zero-tolerance’ family separation policy. It also included provisions that would have significantly cut legal immigration levels.” [Vox, 6/27/18]

Valadao Voted Against Amending The Border Security And Immigration Reform Act Of 2018 To Prohibit Law Enforcement From Detaining, Separately From Their Child, Any Individual Accused Of Entering The U.S. Illegally. In June 2018, Valadao voted against: “Espaillat, D-N.Y., motion to recommit the bill to the House Judiciary Committee with instructions to report it back immediately with an amendment that would prohibit law enforcement from detaining, separately from their child, any individual accused of illegally entering the United States with a child, in cases in which the child is under the age of 18.” The motion failed, 190-230. [H.R. 6136, Vote #296, 6/27/18; CQ, 6/27/18]

Jim McGovern: “Mr. Speaker, I am going to urge that my colleagues vote to defeat the previous question, and I will give a little explanation why. Mr. Speaker, this past weekend, President Trump tweeted that he wants to show that ‘Democrats do not want to solve DACA, only use it.’ Well, I would beg to differ. This is the 19th time that we have attempted to bring the bipartisan bill, H.R. 3440, the Dream Act, for a vote on the House floor, and, if we defeat the previous question, we will bring that bill up. Motion agreed to by a vote of 232-187. [H.R. 695, Vote #47, 1/30/18; Congressional Record, page H694, 1/30/18; CQ, 1/30/18]

Valadao Supported DACA…

Valadao Urged Congress To Reach A Legislative Solution For DACA Recipients

Valadao Said “Congress Must Come Together Within The Next 6 Months To Reach A Legislative Solution [For DACA].” “Rep. David Valadao, R-Calif., issued the following statement on the Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals program: ‘For years, Congress has failed to repair our broken immigration system. However, in light of the President’s announcement, Congress must come together within the next six months to reach a legislative solution. I will continue to advocate on behalf of dreamers. America is the only home these young people know and I will do everything in my power to ensure those who were brought to the United States through no fault of their own are not unjustly punished.’” [Rep. David Valadao, press release, 9/5/17]

Valadao Requested That Trump Support DACA

Valadao Requested Support For DACA From Trump. “Earlier this week, United States Congressman David G. Valadao (CA-21) joined with five colleagues to request sup-port from President Donald J. Trump for the Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals program, also known as DACA. Congressman David G. Valadao stated, ‘It is clear our immigration system is in desperate need of reform and it is imperative Congress act to correct its severe shortcomings immediately. However, targeting individuals who were brought to America as children through no fault of their own is neither the way to repair our broken system nor the way to protect our nation.’ He continued, ‘Instead, by temporarily maintaining the protections of the DACA program, Congress can continue our work to repair our system, while allowing these young people to work and study without fear of deportation.’” [Rep. David Valadao, press release, 8/25/17]

Valadao Voted Against Cutting Off Funding For DACA

Valadao Voted Against Ending DACA and Make Hundreds of Thousands of DREAMers Eligible for Deportation. In August 2014, Valadao voted against making the “passage of the bill that would bar any federal agency from issuing, after July 30, 2014, policies that would expand the number of immigrants eligible for deferred action, the 2012 executive memorandum on Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals, unless explicitly authorized by law -- effectively blocking deportation relief from being provided to any additional illegal immigrants. It also would prohibit the federal government from newly authorizing deferred action for any class of immigrants who do not have lawful immigration status.” Passed by a vote of 216-192. [HR 5272, Vote #479, 8/1/14; CQ, 8/1/14]

• Los Angeles Times: Valadao “Broke From Fellow Republicans And Voted Against Cutting Off Funding” For DACA. “David Valadao, a soft-spoken California dairy farmer, was barely six months in Congress when he made a splash. He broke from fellow Republicans and voted against cutting off funding for an Obama administration program that stopped deporting young immigrants brought into the country illegally as children. ‘Obviously, I have to represent my constituents,’ said Valadao, whose Central Valley district is 71% Latino.” [Los Angeles Times, 9/1/13]

Valadao Voted Against An Amendment That Would Roll Back Obama’s Executive Actions On Immigration
Valadao Voted Against Amendment To Defund Immigration Executive Order. On January 14, 2015, Valadao voted against an amendment to defund President Obama’s executive action on immigration. “One of the amendments would choke off funding for Obama’s executive action announced in November, which would allow some illegal immigrants to stay in the country and obtain work permits.” The amendment was adopted 237 to 190. [HR 240, Vote #29, 1/14/15; The Hill, 1/14/15]

- Valadao Voted Against A Bill That Rolled Back Obama’s Executive Actions On Immigration. “Valley Republican Reps. David Valadao of Hanford and Jeff Denham of Turlock voted against a House bill Wednesday that would provide nearly $40 billion to finance the Homeland Security Department through the remainder of the budget year. The bill includes provisions rolling back President Barack Obama's actions on immigration.” [Fresno Bee, 1/14/15]

Valadao Voted Against Restarting Deportations Of Undocumented Families

2015: Valadao Voted Against Amendment To Defund Immigration Executive Order. On January 14, 2015, Valadao voted against an amendment to defund President Obama’s executive action on immigration. “One of the amendments would choke off funding for Obama’s executive action announced in November, which would allow some illegal immigrants to stay in the country and obtain work permits.” The amendment was adopted 237 to 190. [HR 240, Vote #29, 1/14/15; The Hill, 1/14/15]

Valadao Voted Against An Amendment To End Deferred Action For Childhood Arrivals. On January 24, 2015, Valadao voted against an amendment to the Department of Homeland Security funding bill that would end a program to suspend the deportation of DREAMers. “A second amendment would halt the Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals Program (DACA), which lifts deportation for some illegal immigrants who came to the United States as children.” The amendment was adopted 218 to 209. [HR 240, Vote #30, 1/14/15; The Hill, 1/14/15]

Valadao Was A Member Of The Informal Republican Working Group Trying To Come Up With A DACA Fix

Valadao Member Of Group To Come Up With DACA Fix. “Moderate House Republicans angling for a legislative fix to the Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals program have quietly created an informal working group to try and craft an immigration plan that could pass Congress, according to GOP sources. The lawmakers have met off and on for months. But it was in anticipation of President Donald Trump’s eventual decision last week to phase out the Obama-era executive action that granted hundreds of thousands of young undocumented immigrants work permits and deportation protections, said one person familiar with the group’s workings. Now that Trump has made his DACA decision official, the group will be meeting more frequently. Republicans who have engaged in the casual talks include Reps. Carlos Curbelo and Mario Diaz-Balart of Florida; Jeff Denham and David Valadao of California, Mark Amodei of Nevada and Dan Newhouse of Washington, among other lawmakers. The GOP leadership is aware of these discussions, although it’s not a group led by Speaker Paul Ryan (R-Wis.) nor his top deputies.” [Politico, 9/14/17]

Valadao And Five Other Republicans Sent Trump A Letter Defending DACA

Valadao Sent Letter To Trump Defending DACA. “Reps. Jeff Denham and David Valadao joined four other Republicans Thursday to urge President Trump to leave in place deportation protections for some people who were brought to the country illegally as children. … In a letter to Trump, the representatives encouraged the president to focus on deporting criminals and to allow the program to continue until Congress can find a permanent legislative solution for the people who qualify for the program. Denham of Turlock and Valadao of Hanford each represent agricultural districts in the Central Valley with large Latino populations, and each face potentially tough battles with Democrats in 2018.” [Los Angeles Times, 8/24/17]
“Rep. Valadao and Colleagues Request Support for DACA from President Trump.” “Congressman David G. Valadao stated, ‘It is clear our immigration system is in desperate need of reform and it is imperative Congress act to correct its severe shortcomings immediately. However, targeting individuals who were brought to America as children through no fault of their own is neither the way to repair our broken system nor the way to protect our nation.’ He continued, ‘Instead, by temporarily maintaining the protections of the DACA program, Congress can continue our work to repair our system, while allowing these young people to work and study without fear of deportation.’” [Rep. David Valadao press release, 8/25/17]

Valadao Supported the USA Act, Which Would Protect DACA Recipients And Enhance Border Security With Technology And Physical Barriers

Valadao Supported the USA Act, Which Protected DACA Recipients And Enhanced Border Security. “On Tuesday, Representatives Will Hurd (TX-23), Pete Aguilar (CA-31) and Jeff Denham (CA-10) introduced the Uniting and Securing America (USA) Act, a bipartisan bill that protects DACA recipients from deportation while implementing new commonsense border security measures through enhanced technology, manpower and physical barriers, where necessary. The bill also addresses the immigration backlog that keeps families in limbo while advancing reforms in Central America to address the factors driving migration to the United States. [...] ‘With the March deadline quickly approaching, it is more critical than ever that Congress come together to provide a legal path forward for Dreamers. The USA Act is a reasonable, bipartisan solution to ensure these young people may remain in the only home they know, the United States,’ said Rep. David G. Valadao (CA-21).” [Colton Courier, 1/18/18]

…but Valadao Helped To Undermine DACA

Valadao: Trump’s DACA Action “A Real Opportunity.” [KMPH, 9/06/17]

…and Valadao Did Not Address Trump By Name In Criticisms Of DACA Repeal

Valadao Did Not Address Trump By Name In Criticisms Of DACA Repeal. “While not directly criticizing President Trump’s decision to end the DACA program, Rep. David Valadao, R-Hanford, said he would work to help young people who are already living in America under the program. In a statement issued shortly after the president’s decision was announced, Valadao said it is up to Congress to find a solution to the issue of young people illegally brought into the United States by their undocumented parents.” [Fresno Bee, 9/05/17]

Valadao Said DACA “Did Little To Improve Our Immigration System” And Trapped “Workers On This Side Of The Border, Preventing Them From Returning To Their Families In Their Home Countries”

Valadao Criticized DACA, Claimed It “Did Little To Improve Our Immigration System” And It “Trapped Many Workers On This Side Of The Border, Preventing Them From Returning To Their Families In Their Home Countries.” “It is an unfortunate reality that the policies implemented by previous administrations did little to improve our immigration system. Instead, executive orders and regulations trapped many workers on this side of the border, preventing them from returning to their families back in their home countries, and imposing unfair ultimatums on those who contribute so much to our economy and communities.” [Rep. Valadao Op-Ed, Fresno Bee, 8/02/17]

Valadao Voted For A Resolution To Allow Paul Ryan To File A Friend Of The Court Brief In Support Of Texas’s Lawsuit Against DACA And DAPA. “Emilio Huerta, one of two Democratic challengers in this year's 21st Congressional District race, has fired a broadside at incumbent Rep. David Valadao, R-Hanford, over his vote on an immigration-related House resolution. The resolution enables Speaker of the House Paul Ryan to file a friend of the court brief in support of Texas in a court case brought by the Obama administration against the state as part of an ongoing dispute over the president's executive action to implement immigration reform. Those executive actions -- an expansion of the existing Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals program and creation of the Deferred Action for Parents of Americans program -- granted limited protections from deportation for children brought into the United States while they were minors and the undocumented parents of their citizen children who were born in the United States. Texas was one of several states that sued to block the executive action.” [Bakersfield Californian, 3/19/16]

Protestors Criticized Valadao For Vote To End DACA. “The protesters also voiced their concerns about his promise to protect DACA recipients. ‘He said he supports DACA, he supports the Bridge Act, but at the same time in 2015 he also signed on to a house resolution that was against expanding DACA and against providing protection for undocumented parents,’ said Marichel Mejia, civil engagement organizer for the United Farm Workers foundation. In 2015, Valadao voted in favor of a House resolution in support of a lawsuit being filed by a number of states against then-President Barak Obama, which claimed he overstepped his authority in creating the Deferred Action for Parents of Americans program, referred to as DAPA. House Republicans said at the time their support for the lawsuit was tied to their concern over executive overreach and not the DAPA program itself.” [Bakersfield Now, 8/15/17]

Valadao Said Obama’s Immigration Order Creating DACA Would “Only Make A Long-Term Solution More Difficult To Achieve”

2014: Valadao On Obama’s Executive Immigration Action: “The President's Strategy Of Bypassing Congress Will Only Make A Long-Term Solution More Difficult To Achieve.” “In the wake of President Barack Obama's executive action Thursday night to change immigration policy, reaction is coming in from Rep. David Valadao, R-Hanford, and local agricultural leaders. 'I am extremely disappointed with Democrats and Republicans who have failed to act on immigration reform during the 113th Congress,' Valadao said in a written statement. ‘However, the President's strategy of bypassing Congress will only make a long-term solution more difficult to achieve.’ Valadao, who has repeatedly stated his desire for comprehensive immigration reform, has been at odds with House Republican leadership over his stance. Valadao's 21st Congressional District, which includes Kings County, has a majority Hispanic population and a farm sector that depends largely on immigrant labor.” [Hanford Sentinel, 11/20/14]

Valadao Voted Against A Resolution Calling For A Reduced Federal Gas Tax

HEADLINE: “Lawmakers To Weigh Gas Tax Reduction In House Vote.” “The House is scheduled to vote Wednesday on a ‘sense of Congress’ amendment that calls for reducing the 18.4-cents-per-gallon gas tax that is traditionally used to pay for federal transportation projects by about 15 cents and transferring authority for most construction projects to states. The non-binding amendment, from Rep. Ron DeSantis (R-Fla.), seeks to establish that lawmakers think ‘it is critical for Congress to phase down the federal gas and diesel taxes and empower the states to tax and regulate their highway and infrastructure projects.’ The proposal was cleared for a floor vote during debate on a new $325 billion highway bill by the Republican-led House Rules Committee on Tuesday night. It would not create a new law requiring the gas tax to be eliminated, but it would put lawmakers on record on the idea of abandoning the current federal transportation funding system.” [The Hill, 11/4/15]

• On November 4, 2015, Valadao voted against: “DeSantis, R-Fla., amendment that would state the sense of Congress that the Transportation secretary should provide a new policy blueprint for the federal role in transportation that would give states the maximum authority for elements of the national surface transportation system that are not the direct purview of the federal government.” [Vote #606, 11/4/15; CQ, 11/4/15]

Valadao Repeatedly Voted Against Raising The Minimum Wage

Valadao Voted To Block A Bill To Increase The Minimum Wage To $15 Per Hour In Seven Years. In June 2017, Valadao voted for a motion to order the previous question. A yes vote would block consideration of “H.R. 15, The Raise The Wage Act, which would give workers the raise they deserve, and increase the federal minimum wage to $15 an hour within 7 years.” The bill passed 235-190. 2014: Valadao Voted Against Raising The Minimum Wage 5 Times

Vote 1: Valadao voted to block consideration of the Fair Minimum Wage Act of 2013. The previous question passed, 224-192. [H Res 487, Vote #65, 2/26/14; Congressional Record, 2/26/14]

Vote 2: Valadao voted to block consideration of the Fair Minimum Wage Act of 2013. The previous question passed, 225-192. [H Res 492, Vote #79, 2/27/14; Congressional Record, 2/27/14]

Vote 3: Valadao voted to block consideration of the Fair Minimum Wage Act of 2013. The previous question passed, 229-194. [H Res 530, Vote #152, 4/2/14; Congressional Record, 4/2/14]

Vote 4: Valadao voted to block consideration of the Fair Minimum Wage Act of 2013. The previous question passed, 222-193. [H Res 539, Vote #157, 4/4/14; Congressional Record, 4/4/14]

2014: Valadao Voted Against Raising the Minimum Wage to $10.10. In April 2014, Valadao voted against the Democratic budget alternative. The budget would raise the minimum wage to $10.10. Raising the minimum wage to $10.10 would increase earnings for 16.5 million workers. The budget failed. 163-261. [H Con Res 96, Vote #176, 4/10/14; House Democratic Budget Substitute, FY 2015; Politico, 2/25/14; Economic Policy Institute, 12/19/13]

2013: Valadao Voted Against Increasing The Minimum Wage To $10.10 An Hour

2013: Valadao Voted Against Increasing The Minimum Wage To $10.10 An Hour. In March 2013, Valadao voted against: “Miller, D-Calif., motion to recommit the bill to the House Education and the Workforce Committee and report it back immediately with an amendment that would clarify that nothing in the bill would repeal, deny or loosen employment protections, training opportunities or educational benefits for certain seniors, veterans, women or youth. It also would incrementally increase the federal minimum wage to $10.10 within two years of the bill's enactment.” The motion failed 184-233. [CQ, 3/15/13; H R 803, Vote #74, 3/15/13]

Valadao Voted For The “Working Families Flexibility Act,” Which Undermined The 40-Hour Work Week, And Did Not Protect Paid Sick Leave

2013: Valadao Voted For A Bill That Allowed Private-Sector Employees To Take Compensatory Time Off In Lieu Of Overtime Pay. In May 2013, Valadao voted for “Passage of the bill that would allow private-sector
employers to provide non-exempt employees compensatory time off at a rate of 1.5 hours per hour of overtime work. To be eligible, employees must have worked at least 1,000 hours in a 12-month period. Employees would be limited to 160 hours of comp time and employers would be required to provide monetary compensation by Jan. 31, for any unused comp time accrued during the preceding year. The bill’s provisions would sunset five years after enactment. As amended, it would require the Government Accountability Office to periodically report to Congress on the use of comp time allowed under the bill.” The bill passed 223 to 204. [HR 1406, Vote #137, 5/8/13; CQ, 5/8/13]

- Center For Economic And Policy Research: Bill Would “Undermine The 40-Hour Work Week” And Would Provide “Employers With A Powerful Incentive To Increase Workers’ Overtime Hours.” According to the Center for Economic and Policy Research: “The proposed legislation undermines the 40-hour work week that workers have long relied on to give them time to spend with their kids. The flexibility in this comp time bill would have employees working unpaid overtime hours beyond the 40-hour workweek and accruing as many as 160 hours of compensatory time. A low-paid worker making $10 an hour who accrued that much comp time in lieu of overtime pay would effectively give his or her employer an interest-free loan of $1,600 – equal to a month’s pay. That’s a lot to ask of a worker making about $20,000 a year. Indeed, any worker who accrues 160 hours of comp time will in effect have loaned his or her employer a month’s pay. This same arithmetic provides employers with a powerful incentive to increase workers’ overtime hours.” [The Hill, 4/8/13]

- Center for Economic and Policy Research: Proposal Would “Likely Increase Overtime Hours For Those Who Don’t Want Them and Cut Pay For Those Who Do.” In an op-ed submitted to the Huffington Post a senior economist with the Center for Economic and Policy Research wrote: “Touted by Republicans as a new comp time initiative that will give hourly-paid workers the flexibility to meet family responsibilities, it is neither new nor about giving these workers much needed time off to care for their families. The bill rehashes legislation Republicans passed in the House in 1997, some 16 years ago, and that they introduced again in most subsequent Congresses. Its major effect would be to hamstring workers – likely increasing overtime hours for those who don’t want them and cutting pay for those who do.” [Huffington Post, 4/16/13]

- National Partnership For Women And Families: “You Have No Ability to Take That Leave When You Need It. The Employer Can Decide.” “It should be called the Employer Flexibility Act, because at every turn here, the employer gets to decide… It pretends to provide a set of options to employees. But even if they elect to take the comp time instead of wages, when they can take it is fully at the discretion of the employer. You have no ability to take that leave when you need it. The employer can decide.” [Chicago Tribune, 4/22/13]

- 2013: Valadao Voted Against A Measure That Would Have Prevented Employers From Denying The Use Of Compensatory Time For Family Members Or Medical Purposes. In May 2013, Valadao voted against a “motion to recommit the bill to the House Education and Workforce Committee and report it back immediately with an amendment that would bar employers from denying the use of compensatory time for certain family or medical purposes. It also would prohibit employers found in violation of equal pay protections for women under the Equal Pay Act of 1963 from replacing monetary overtime compensation with compensatory time.” The motion failed 200 to 227. [HR 1406, Vote #136, 5/8/13; CQ, 5/8/13]

- The White House Said It Would Veto The Bill Because It Would Not “Provide Sufficient Protections” For Workers Who May Not Want Compensatory Time Off In Lieu Of Overtime Pay. The White House released a statement of policy saying the president’s advisors would recommend a veto of the bill. The White House noted that the bill “would not prevent employers from cutting the overtime hours and reducing the take-home pay of employees who currently have the right to overtime compensation. The legislation does not provide sufficient protections for employees who may not want to receive compensatory time off in lieu of overtime pay.” [Statement of Administration Policy, HR 1406, 5/6/13]
Valadao Voted Against The PRO Act, Which Expanded Authorities Of The National Labor Relations Board And Protecting Collective Bargaining Rights. In March 2021, Valadao voted against: “Passage of the bill, as amended, that would expand enforcement authorities of the National Labor Relations Board and modify procedures by which employees may unionize and elect representation under federal labor law. The bill would authorize the NLRB to enforce any orders it issues and to impose a number of civil monetary penalties, including penalties of up to $50,000 against employers who prevent or punish organizing activities by employees. It would require the NLRB to seek temporary injunctions against employers charged with engaging in unfair labor practices and allow employees to bring civil action if the board fails to seek an injunction. It would outline a number of procedures by which employees may petition for and elect representation for collective bargaining through an election directed by the NLRB. It would require the NLRB to schedule pre-election hearings within eight days of a petition being filed; prohibit employers from certain interference or participation in such elections; and require the NLRB to certify and order the employer to engage in collective bargaining with an elected labor organization. It would outline procedures for initial collective bargaining between an employer and a union, including to provide for federal mediation services if an agreement is not reached 90 days after the bargaining begins and referral to an arbitration panel if an agreement is not reached in an additional 30 days. Among other provisions, the bill would prohibit employers from taking certain retaliatory actions against employees who participate in a strike, including permanently replacing or discriminating against such employees. It would specify that employees’ right to strike is protected regardless of the duration, scope, frequency, or intermittence of the strike. It would modify definitions of ‘employee’ and ‘supervisor,’ particularly to narrow the classification of independent contractors and supervisors, two categories of employees not eligible for collective bargaining. It would also authorize the use of collective bargaining agreements that require employees to pay fees to a labor organization as a condition of employment.” The bill passed by a vote of 225-206. [HR 842, Vote #70, 3/9/21; CQ, 3/9/21]

Valadao Voted Against The ‘Build Back Better’ Budget Reconciliation Bill. In November 2021, Valadao voted against: “Passage of the fiscal 2022 budget reconciliation bill, as amended, that would provide approximately $2 trillion in investments and tax cuts to address climate change and child care, health care, education, housing and other social policies intended to support families. It would establish a child care and early learning entitlement program, providing approximately $100 billion for the program through fiscal 2024. It would provide $18 billion through fiscal 2024 for a free universal preschool program. It would extend through 2022 the expanded child tax credit provided by prior coronavirus relief law (PL 117-2) and provide $5 billion to administer the credit. It would establish a paid family and medical leave benefit for up to four weeks per year, beginning in 2024. It would require the Health and Human Services Department to negotiate a "maximum fair price" for insulin and select Medicare-eligible, brand-name drugs that do not have generic competition. It would require manufacturers to provide rebates for single-source drugs under Medicare Parts B and D for which prices increase faster than inflation. For Medicare Part D, it would cap annual out-of-pocket limit at $2,000 beginning in 2024. It would establish or extend expanded eligibility for certain tax credits toward Affordable Care Act marketplace insurance premiums through 2025. It would establish or expand a number of tax credits to incentivize actions by businesses and individuals to mitigate climate change, including to expand credits for renewable energy production and facilities, carbon capture facilities, use of alternative fuels and energy efficiency improvements at residential properties; and to establish individual credits for the purchase of electric vehicles. It would raise royalty rates and fees for oil and gas drilling leases and cancel or ban certain offshore leases. It would provide $29 billion to support the deployment of low- and zero-emission technologies, more than $20 billion for federal climate resiliency and environmental conservation activities and $9 billion for federal procurement of electric vehicles and related infrastructure. It would provide $65 billion for public housing improvements, $24 billion for rental assistance housing vouchers and $15 billion for down payment assistance and loan programs for first-generation homebuyers. It would provide $9.8 billion for local transit projects to support mobility and affordable housing access disadvantaged communities and $9 billion for lead remediation and water line replacement projects. It would forgive all debt owed by the National Flood Insurance Program's debt, for a total of $20.5 billion. It would provide such sums as necessary for the USDA to forgive farm loan debt for economically distressed farmers and ranchers. It would provide $6.6 billion to the Small Business Administration and Minority Business Development Agency to help underrepresented individuals with business development. It would provide $20 billion for Labor and Education department workforce development programs and $1.9 billion for Labor Department worker protection agencies. It would allow individuals who entered the United States prior to Jan. 1, 2011, to receive a grant of parole allowing them to remain temporarily in the country for a period of five years, but no later than Sept. 30, 2021. It would temporarily increase from $10,000 to $80,000 the annual cap on the deduction for state and local taxes for tax years 2021 through 2030. To offset costs, it would establish or modify various taxes on corporations and high-income individuals, including to establish a 15 percent alternative minimum tax for corporations with an annual income exceeding $1 billion; a one percent tax on stock buybacks by public companies; and an additional five percent tax on individual income over $10 million and further three percent tax on income over $25 million. It would provide $78.9 billion to improve IRS operations and tax enforcement.” Passed by a vote of 220-213. [HR 5376, Vote #385, 11/19/21, CQ 11/19/21]

- Roosevelt Institute: Build Back Better Act Would Invest In Child Care, Creating Jobs And Allowing Parents To Get Back To Work. “Convenient, affordable childcare is a major obstacle for working parents, illuminated even more so by school and daycare closures during the COVID-19 pandemic, which has disproportionately impacted women’s labor force participation. Increasing the capacity of industries in order to curb inflation of specific prices requires increasing the supply of labor. The Build Back Better Act invests in existing and new childcare facilities in underserved areas and provides subsidies to make childcare more affordable for qualifying households. Together, these investments would increase the supply of childcare, create new jobs, and allow parents to get back to work. [Roosevelt Institute, Fact Sheet, 9/28/21]

2013-2014: Valadao Voted Against Extending Unemployment Insurance 7 Times

2014: Valadao Voted Against Extending Unemployment Insurance. In April 2014, Valadao voted against the Democratic budget alternative. “Van Hollen, D-Md., substitute amendment that would provide for $3.078 trillion in new budget authority in fiscal 2015, not including off-budget accounts. The plan would call for repealing the sequester, including cuts to Medicare. It also would propose eliminating the non-defense discretionary sequester starting in 2016. The substitute would assume an increase of the minimum wage to $10.10 per hour and enactment of the Senate-passed immigration overhaul. It would propose extending expired unemployment benefits for one year and extending the tax credits from the 2012 extension of Bush-era income and other tax cuts due to expire at the end of 2017. It would assume implementation of the 2010 health care overhaul and assume increases in physician fees for primary care services under Medicaid. It would accommodate deficit-neutral legislation to permanently address the Medicare physician reimbursement rate issue known as the "doc fix." The plan would propose expanding tax incentives aimed at encouraging low- and middle-income taxpayers to attend college and save for retirement. It would call on Congress to raise revenue by ending tax breaks for special interests and the very wealthy.” The budget failed, 163-261. [H Con Res 96, Vote #176, 4/10/14; CQ, 4/10/14]

Vote 1: Valadao voted to block consideration of a three-month, fully paid-for extension of federal unemployment insurance. The previous question passed, 227-195. [H Res 438, Vote #637, 12/12/13; CQ, 12/12/13; Democratic Leader’s Office, 12/12/13]

Vote 2: Valadao voted to block consideration of the Emergency Unemployment Compensation Extension Act. The previous question passed, 226-191. [H Res 455, Vote #5, 1/9/14; CQ, 1/9/14; Democratic Leader’s Office, 12/12/13]

Vote 3: Valadao voted to block consideration of the Emergency Unemployment Compensation Extension Act. The previous question passed, 228-195. [H Res 458, Vote #19, 1/15/14; CQ, 1/15/14; Democratic Leader’s Office, 12/12/13]

Valadao Co-Sponsored A Federal Personhood Bill To Ban All Abortions, IUDs, IVF, Emergency Contraception, And Some Cancer Treatments For Women

Valadao Cosponsored The “Life At Conception Act.” Steel co-sponsored the “Life At Conception Act”, which “declares that the right to life guaranteed by the Constitution is vested in each human being at all stages of life, including the moment of fertilization, cloning, or other moment at which an individual comes into being. Nothing in this bill shall be construed to authorize the prosecution of any woman for the death of her unborn child.” [HR1011, 4/23/21]

The Life At Conception Act Would Ban All Abortions, In-Vitro Fertilization, IUDs, Emergency Contraception, And Certain Cancer Treatments For Women. “The bill would grant constitutional rights to fertilized eggs, embryos, fetuses, and clones. It would effectively ban abortion with no exception for rape, incest, or to save the life of the pregnant person. It would also ban birth control pills, IUDs, and emergency contraception. In addition, it would eliminate certain medical choices for women, including some cancer treatments and in vitro fertilization.” [Rewire News Group, 9/28/19]

Valadao Signed An Amicus Brief That Urged The Supreme Court To Uphold The Extreme Mississippi Pro-Life Law And Potentially Overturn Roe V. Wade

Valadao Signed An Amicus Brief To The Supreme Court, Asking Them To Overturn Roe And Casey. “The Mississippi congressional delegation and the House Pro-Life Caucus today led more than 200 members of Congress in filing an amicus brief supporting the State of Mississippi in Dobbs v. Jackson Women’s Health Organization and urging the U.S. Supreme Court to uphold Mississippi’s law protecting life. […] In addition to the House sponsors, Representatives signing the brief include: […] David G. Valadao (Calif.-21). [Sen. Roger Wicker, Press Release, 7/29/21]

- The Mississippi Abortion Law Made Most Abortions Illegal After 15 Weeks Of Pregnancy. “The Mississippi law that will be reviewed by the court makes most abortions illegal after 15 weeks of pregnancy, about two months earlier than Roe and later decisions allow. Most experts estimate fetal viability to be about 24 weeks. The law was enacted in 2018 by the Republican-dominated Mississippi Legislature but never went into effect because of an immediate legal challenge that led to a federal appellate court blocking its enforcement.” [New York Times, 12/1/21]
- The Amicus Brief Called For The Supreme Court To Reconsider And, If Appropriate, Partially Or Wholly Overturn Roe V. Wade. “if necessary to enable the people’s representatives to further vital interests in public safety, equality, and the integrity of the medical profession, Roe and Casey should be reconsidered and, if appropriate, wholly or partially overruled.” [Brief Amici Curiae Of 228 Members Of Congress In Support Of Petitioners, 7/29/21]

Valadao Voted Against The Women’s Health Protection Act

Valadao Voted Against The Women’s Health Protection Act. In September 2021, Valadao voted against: “Passage of the bill that would statutorily establish that health care providers have a right to provide and patients have a right to receive abortion services, and it would prohibit certain restrictions related to abortion services. The bill would specify that rights established by the bill may not be restricted by certain requirements or limitations related to abortion services, including prohibitions on abortion prior to fetal viability, or after fetal viability if a provider determines that continuation of a pregnancy would pose a risk to a patient's life or health; requirements that patients disclose reasons for seeking an abortion or make medically unnecessary in-person appointments; requirements that providers provide medically inaccurate information or perform specific medical tests or procedures in connection with the provision of abortion services; limitations on providers' ability to prescribe drugs based on good-faith medical judgment, provide services via telemedicine or provide immediate services when a delay would pose a risk to a patient's health; and requirements for facilities and personnel that would not apply to facilities providing medically comparable procedures. It would also prohibit requirements or limitations that are similar to those established by the bill or that impede access to abortion services and expressly or implicitly single out abortion services, providers or facilities. It would specify factors that courts may consider to determine whether a requirement or limitation impedes access to abortion services, including whether it interferes with providers' ability to provide services; poses a risk to patients' health; is likely to delay or deter patients in accessing services or necessitate in-person visits that would not otherwise be required; is likely to result in a decreased availability of services in a state or region; is likely to result in increased costs of providing or obtaining services; or imposes penalties that are not imposed on other health care providers for comparable conduct. It would require a party defending a requirement or limitation to establish that it significantly advances the safety of abortion services or patient health and that such goals cannot be advanced by a less restrictive alternative measure. It would authorize the Justice Department, health care providers and private individuals and entities to bring a civil action in U.S. district court for injunctive relief against any state or government official charged with implementing or enforcing a requirement or limitation challenged as a violation of rights established by the bill. It would authorize district courts to award appropriate equitable relief, including temporary, preliminary or permanent injunctive relief, and to award costs of litigation to a prevailing plaintiff. It would require courts to “liberally construe” provisions of the bill to effectuate its purposes.” The bill passed by a vote of 218-211. [HR 3655, Vote #295, 9/24/21; CQ, 9/24/21]

- Passage Of The WHPA Was In Response To A Restrictive Texas Abortion Law. “Passage of the Women’s Health Protection Act is a response to a Texas law that essentially bans abortion after six weeks, before most people realize they are pregnant. The U.S. Supreme Court refused to block the law from taking effect, although the decision leaves the door open for future challenges.” [NPR, 9/24/21]

- Pelosi: “This Ban Necessitates Codifying Roe V. Wade.” “In a statement, Pelosi said the Texas statute is ‘the most extreme, dangerous abortion ban in half a century, and its purpose is to destroy Roe v. Wade, and even refuses to make exceptions for cases of rape and incest. This ban necessitates codifying Roe v. Wade.’” [NPR, 9/24/21]

Valadao: “As A Catholic And Father Of Three, I Believe That Human Life Is Precious And Should Be Protected At Every Stage. I Am Strongly Against The Majority’s So-Called ‘Women’s Health Protection Act.’” “As a Catholic and father of three, I believe that human life is precious and should be protected at every stage. I am strongly against the Majority’s so-called ‘Women’s Health Protection Act.’” [Twitter, David Valadao, 9/24/21]
Valadao Claimed The Women’s Health Protection Act Removed Pro-Life Protections For The Unborn. “This bill removes nearly all pro-life protections for the unborn and overrides existing laws against late-term abortions. It is the responsibility of those of us in government to give unborn children a voice and protect them from harm.” [Twitter, David Valadao, 9/24/21]

2017: Valadao Voted For A 20-Week Abortion Ban

2017: Valadao Voted For A 20-Week Abortion Ban. In October 2017, Valadao voted for: “Passage of the bill that would prohibit abortions in cases where the probable age of the fetus is 20 weeks or later and would impose criminal penalties on doctors who violate the ban. It would provide exceptions for cases in which the woman’s life is in danger as well as for pregnancies that are a result of rape for pregnancies that are a result of rape against an adult woman, if the woman received counseling or medical treatment for the rape at least 48 hours prior to the abortion. An exception would be provided for pregnancies resulting from rape or incest against a minor if the rape or incest had been previously reported to law enforcement or another government agency authorized to act on reports of child abuse. The bill would require a second doctor trained in neonatal resuscitation to be present for abortions where the fetus has the ‘potential’ to survive outside the womb.” The rule was adopted, 237-189. [HR 36, Vote #549, 10/3/17; CQ, 10/3/17]

- Abortion Rights Groups Said The Legislation Had No Exception If The Pregnancy Threatened The Mother’s Health, And The Rape And Incest Exceptions Were Too Narrow. “Abortion rights groups and Democratic lawmakers panned the legislation ahead of its passage, arguing it is based on faulty science and contains no exception if a pregnancy would threaten a mother’s health. They also said the rape and incest exceptions are too narrow and that the bill is likely unconstitutional under existing Supreme Court rulings.” [Washington Post, 10/3/17]

2017: Valadao Voted For Consideration Of A 20-Week Abortion Ban. In October 2017, Valadao voted for: “Adoption of the rule (H Res 548) that would provide for House floor consideration of the bill (HR 36) that would prohibit abortions in cases where the probable age of the fetus is 20 weeks or later and would impose criminal penalties on doctors who violate the ban, with certain exceptions.” The rule was adopted, 233-187. 2015: Valadao Voted For A 20-Week Abortion Ban

2015: Valadao Voted For A 20-Week Abortion Ban That Required Medical Practitioners To Provide Meical Care If A Fetus Was Born Alive. In July 2015, Valadao voted for: “Passage of the bill that would prohibit abortions in cases where the probable age of the fetus is 20 weeks or later and would impose criminal penalties on doctors who violate the ban. It would provide exceptions for cases in which the woman’s life is in danger as well as for pregnancies that are a result of rape if, as amended, for pregnancies that are a result of rape against an adult woman, the woman received counseling or medical treatment for the rape at least 48 hours prior to the abortion. An exception would be provided for pregnancies resulting from rape or incest against a minor if the rape or incest had been previously reported to law enforcement or another government agency authorized to act on reports of child abuse. As amended, the bill would require a second doctor trained in neonatal resuscitation to be present for abortions where the fetus has the "potential" to survive outside the womb, and, if the fetus is born alive, the bill would require that the infant be provided medical care and immediately be transported and admitted to a hospital. As amended, women wishing to have abortions under the bill’s exceptions would need to sign (along with the doctor and a witness) an informed consent authorization form detailing the age of the fetus and stating that, if born alive, would be given medical assistance and transported to a hospital.” The bill passed by a vote of 242-184. 2013: Valadao Voted For A Ban Requiring Women Prove Rape Before Accessing An Abortion

2013: Valadao Voted For A Ban Requiring Women Prove Rape Before Accessing An Abortion. In June 2013, Valadao voted for: “Passage of the bill that would create a nationwide ban on abortions performed at 20 weeks or later, except in cases where the life of the woman is in danger. It would provide exceptions to the ban in cases of pregnancy resulting from rape or incest against a minor, if it has been reported to law enforcement or a government agency authorized to act on reports of child abuse. It also would impose criminal penalties on physicians who violate the ban and subject violators to a maximum five-year jail sentence, fines or both.” The bill passed, 228-196. Valadao Repeatedly Voted To Make The Hyde Amendment Permanent

2017: Valadao Voted For Making The Hyde Amendment Permanent And Eliminate Abortion Coverage On Any Private Health Insurance Plan Participating In The Affordable Care Act

2017: Valadao Voted For Making The Hyde Amendment Permanent And Eliminate Abortion Coverage On Any Private Health Insurance Plan Participating In The Affordable Care Act. In January 2017, Valadao voted for: “passage of the bill that would permanently prohibit federal funds from being used to pay for abortion services or health insurance plans that include abortion coverage. It also would prohibit the District of Columbia from using its own local funds to provide or pay for abortions. Individuals and small businesses also could not receive tax credits under the 2010 health care law related to purchases of health insurance plans that include abortion coverage. The bill would require the Office of Personnel Management to ensure that, starting in 2018, no multistate qualified health plan offered in a state insurance exchange provides coverage that includes abortion. The provisions would not apply to pregnancies resulting from rape or incest, or to situations where the woman would die unless an abortion is performed.” The bill passed by a vote of 238-183. [HR 7, Vote #65, 1/24/17; CQ, 1/24/17]
Valadao Voted Against Blocking Consideration Of The No Taxpayer Funding For Abortion And Abortion Insurance Full Disclosure Act Of 2021. In June 2021, Valadao Voted Against: “Agreeing to the Morelle, D-N.Y., motion to order the previous question (thus ending debate and possibility of amendment).” According to the Congressional Record, Rep. Burgess said, “If we defeat the previous question, I will offer an amendment to the rule to immediately consider H.R. 18, the No Taxpayer Funding for Abortion and Abortion Insurance Full Disclosure Act of 2021.” A vote for the motion was a vote to block consideration of the bill. The motion was agreed to, 218-209. [H Res 486, Vote #175, 6/23/21; CQ, 6/23/21; Congressional Record, 6/23/21]

- The No Taxpayer Funding For Abortion And Abortion Insurance Full Disclosure Act Of 2021 Would Have Made The Hyde Amendment Permanent. “H.R. 18 — the No Taxpayer Funding for Abortion and Abortion Insurance Full Disclosure Act of 2021 — would make the long-standing Hyde Amendment permanent and keep in place similar provisions to ensure no federal dollars are used to pay for abortion and health plans that include abortion.” [Catholic News Service, 2/10/21]

- The Hyde Amendment Ensured That No Federal Dollars Were Used To Pay For Abortion And Health Plans That Include Abortion. “H.R. 18 — the No Taxpayer Funding for Abortion and Abortion Insurance Full Disclosure Act of 2021 — would make the long-standing Hyde Amendment permanent and keep in place similar provisions to ensure no federal dollars are used to pay for abortion and health plans that include abortion.” [Catholic News Service, 2/10/21]

Valadao Said Taxpayer Dollars Shouldn’t Fund Abortions And Claimed The Hyde Amendment Has Worked To Prevent That

Valadao Said Taxpayer Dollars Shouldn’t Fund Abortions And Claimed The Hyde Amendment Has Worked To Prevent That. “Taxpayer dollars shouldn’t be used to fund abortions, & the Hyde Amendment has prevented just that through decades of bipartisan consensus. Inclusion of Hyde is critical to the millions of Americans that oppose abortion & believe all life is precious.” [Rep. David Valadao Twitter, 7/15/21]

Valadao Repeatedly Voted To Defund Or Attack Planned Parenthood

Valadao Voted To Reverse Obama Rule Preventing States From Withholding Grants From Planned Parenthood. In February 2017, Valadao voted for overturning “an Obama-era rule banning states from denying federal funds to Planned Parenthood and other health care providers that perform abortions. The rule was designed to prohibit states from withholding family planning funding from providers for reasons other than their ability to offer family-planning services.” The resolution was passed by a vote of 230-188. [HJRes 43, Vote #99, 2/16/17; USA Today, 2/16/17]

Valadao Voted To Double The Budget For Select Committee Targeting Planned Parenthood. In December 2016, Valadao voted for “an additional $800,000 for the select committee investigating abortion provider practices, doubling its budget for the year. […] The panel is now likely to spend nearly $1.6 million in total over the course of just under a year after the House previously approved a $790,000 budget.” The resolution passed 234-181. [H Res 933, Vote #595, 12/1/16; The Hill, 12/1/16]
Valadao Voted To Override The President’s Veto Of A Bill To Repeal The Affordable Care Act And Block Funding Of Planned Parenthood For A Year. In February 2016, Valadao voted for overriding the President’s veto of a bill to “repeal portions of the 2010 health care law and block federal funding for Planned Parenthood for one year. The bill would zero-out the law’s penalties for noncompliance with the law’s requirements for most individuals to obtain health coverage and employers to offer health insurance. The bill would scrap in 2018 the law’s Medicaid expansion, as well as subsidies to help individuals buy coverage through the insurance exchanges. It also would scrap certain taxes included in the law, including the tax on certain high-value employer-sponsored health insurance plans.” The override required a two-thirds majority to pass, but failed 241 to 186. [HR 3762, Vote #53, 2/2/16, 2/2/16; CQ Floor Votes, 2/2/16]

Valadao Voted To Repeal The Affordable Care Act And Defund Planned Parenthood For One Year. In January 2016, Valadao voted for repeal the Affordable Care Act and defund Planned Parenthood. “The House on Wednesday passed legislation that would repeal much of ObamaCare and defund Planned Parenthood for one year, sending the measure to President Obama's desk. The bill passed by a vote of 240 to 181.” [HR 3762, Vote #6, 1/6/16; The Hill, 1/6/16]

Valadao Voted For Reconciliation Bill To Repeal Key Sections Of The Affordable Care Act And Defund Planned Parenthood. In October, 2015, Valadao voted for a “budget reconciliation bill that seeks to gut Obamacare by repealing key sections of the law, including the individual and employer mandate and the so-called ‘cadillac’ tax, which targets high-end employer-sponsored health plans. In addition, it would block funding for Planned Parenthood for one year and divert that spending to other women’s health programs.” The bill passed 240-189. [HR 3762, Vote #568, 10/23/15; Washington Post, 10/23/15]

Valadao Voted To Establish Select Committee To Investigate Fetal Tissue Donation. In October 2015, Valadao voted for a bill that would “establish a select investigative subcommittee under the House Energy and Commerce Committee. The panel would be responsible for investigating and reporting on issues related to fetal tissue donation, fetal tissue procurement, federal funding for abortion services, and late-term abortions.” The bill passed 242-184. [H Res 461, Vote #538, 10/7/15; CQ Floor Votes, 10/7/15]

- Select Committee Targeting Planned Parenthood Was Given Broad Jurisdiction To Investigate Abortion Practices, Including Recommendations To Change Abortion Laws. Although the select committee was formed in response to videos edited to implicate that Planned Parenthood sold fetus tissue for profit, “[t]he words ‘Planned Parenthood’ do not appear in the resolution establishing the special committee. Its jurisdiction is considerably broader, encompassing ‘medical procedures and business practices used by entities involved in fetal tissue procurement’ and ‘any other relevant matters with respect to fetal tissue procurement.’ It also permits the committee to probe the subject of federal funding for abortion providers generally, the practices of providers who perform abortions in the second and third trimesters, and ‘medical procedures for the care of a child born alive as a result of an attempted abortion.’ The committee is also empowered to recommend changes in laws or regulations based on its findings.” [Washington Post, 10/7/15; USA Today, 10/7/15]

Valadao Voted To Add Language To Continuing Resolution To Defund Planned Parenthood. In September 2015, Valadao voted for “adoption of the concurrent resolution (H Con Res 79) that would require the House enrolling clerk to add language to the CR defunding Planned Parenthood before it is sent to the president.” The resolution passed 241-185. [H Con Res 79, Vote #527, 9/30/15; CQ Floor Votes, 9/30/15]
• Republicans Attempted To Attach A Measure To Defund Planned Parenthood To Spending A Measure Necessary To Avert Government Shutdown. “With only hours to spare on the last day of the fiscal year, Congress averted a government shutdown on Wednesday by approving a temporary spending measure to keep federal agencies operating through Dec. 11. […] In one last display of their fury, House Republicans on Wednesday adopted another resolution to cut off government financing to Planned Parenthood. The resolution was to be sent to the Senate, where Democrats were certain to block it.” [New York Times, 10/1/15]

Valadao Voted Against Motion To Protect Women’s Access To Life-Saving Health Services, Including Planned Parenthood. In September 2015, Valadao voted against motion to recommit the Women’s Public Health and Safety Act. “The Democratic Motion to Recommit protects American women’s access to life-saving health care services from Republicans’ attempt to defund Planned Parenthood by protecting any organization that provides life-saving health services, such as preventive care and cancer screenings, from being stripped of vital federal resources to serve America’s families.” The motion was rejected by a vote of 184-242. [HR 3495, Vote #523, 9/29/15; Democratic Leader – Motions to Recommit, 9/30/15]

Valadao Voted To Block Consideration Of Bill Making It Easier For States To Defund Planned Parenthood. In September 2015, Valadao voted for motion to order the previous question (thus ending debate and possibility of amendment) on the rule (H Res 444) that would provide for floor consideration of the bill (HR 3495) that would amend title XIX of the Social Security act to allow states to exclude medical providers who perform abortions from the state's Medicaid contracts. The motion was agreed to 243-182. A vote against the previous question would have allowed the bill to be considered. [H Res 444, Vote #521, 9/29/15; CQ Floor Votes, 9/29/15]

Valadao Voted To Defund Planned Parenthood. In September 2015, Valadao voted for the Defund Planned Parenthood Act 2015 that “prohibits, for a one-year period, the availability of federal funds for any purpose to Planned Parenthood Federation of America, Inc., or any of its affiliates or clinics, unless they certify that the affiliates and clinics will not perform, and will not provide any funds to any other entity that performs, an abortion during such period. The restriction will not apply in cases of rape or incest or where a physical condition endangers a woman’s life unless an abortion is performed.” The bill passed 241 to 187. [H.R. 3134, Vote #505, 9/18/15; CQ, 9/23/15]

Valadao Voted Against Preventing Attempt To Defund Planned Parenthood. In September 2015, Valadao voted against a motion that “shields American women’s access to lifesaving health care services from Republicans’ attempt to defund Planned Parenthood by protecting any organization that provides women’s health services, such as preventive care and cancer screenings, from being stripped of vital federal resources to serve America’s families.” A yes vote was a vote against defunding Planned Parenthood. The resolution failed, 183 to 245. [H.R. 3134, Vote #504, 9/18/15; Democratic Leader – Motions To Recommit, 9/18/15]

Valadao Voted Against Shutting Down The Government Over Planned Parenthood Funding

Valadao Voted For A Government Funding Bill That Included Funding For Planned Parenthood. In September 2015, Valadao voted for a continuing resolution that would fund the government until December 11 but would also continue federal funding of Planned Parenthood. “Congress is sending President Obama legislation to prevent a government shutdown following a 277-151 vote in the House that will keep federal agencies funded through Dec. 11. More Republicans voted against the spending bill than in favor of it, however. Republicans objected to the inclusion of money for Planned Parenthood in the bill, leading 151 GOP lawmakers to vote against the bill, compared to only 91 who supported it.” The bill passed 277 – 151. [H.R. 719, Vote #528, 9/30/15; The Hill, 9/30/15]

Valadao Voted Against The Paycheck Fairness Act. In April 2021, Valadao voted against: “Passage of the bill that would narrow the legal defense an employer may use in a lawsuit alleging pay discrimination on the basis of sex. Specifically, it would require employers to demonstrate that a difference in pay between employees is based on a business-related ‘bona fide factor other than sex, such as education, training, or experience’ as opposed to being based on ‘any factor other than sex.’ It would prohibit employers from retaliating against employees involved in lawsuits under fair labor standards law; prohibit employers from relying on a prospective employee's wage history for hiring or wage determinations; increase employers' liability for compensatory or punitive damages related to pay discrimination violations; and provide for automatic inclusion of all affected individuals in class action lawsuits related to pay discrimination. Among other provisions, the bill would authorize a new Labor Department grant program for public and private entities to carry out negotiation skills training programs to address pay disparities. It would establish an annual national award for an employer that made a ‘substantial effort to eliminate pay disparities between men and women.’ It would require the Labor Department to conduct a number of studies on sex-based pay disparities and require the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission to collect compensation data disaggregated by employees' sex, race and national origin. It would require the Labor Department and EEOC to provide technical assistance for small businesses to comply with the bill’s provisions. It would add a definition of ‘sex’ with respect to federal fair labor standards law, which would include sexual orientation or gender identity.” According to CNBC, the Paycheck Fairness Act “aims to eliminate the gender pay gap and strengthen workplace protections for women.” The bill passed 217 to 210. [HR 7, Vote #108, 4/15/21; CQ, 4/15/21; CNBC, 4/16/21]

- The Paycheck Fairness Act Aimed “To Eliminate The Gender Pay Gap And Strengthen Workplace Protections For Women.” “The Paycheck Fairness Act, which aims to eliminate the gender pay gap and strengthen workplace protections for women, passed the House of Representatives on Thursday in a 217-210 vote […] Biden added that a full passage of the Paycheck Fairness Act by Congress would address the wage gap by ‘closing loopholes that have allowed employers to justify gender pay disparities, strengthening provisions for holding employers accountable for systemic pay discrimination, and helping level the playing field for women and people of color by making it easier for workers to challenge pay disparities as a group. Additionally, he said the Paycheck Fairness Act would make it illegal for employers to ask employees about their salary history in the hiring process and promote pay transparency by requiring more employers to report pay data to the government. Right now, at least 18 states already have laws in place that ban employers from asking about salary history.” [CNBC, 4/16/21]

- Valadao Voted For An Amendment Granting A “Safe Harbor” For Employers Facing Legal Action For Pay Discrimination If They Took “Reasonable Steps” To Correct The Disparities. In April 2021, Valadao voted for: “Miller-Meeks, R-Iowa, for Stefanik, R-N.Y., substitute amendment no. 4 that would, among other provisions, provide a safe harbor such that employers would not be liable in legal action related to pay discrimination if the employer conducted a voluntary audit of its pay practices within the previous three years and took ‘reasonable steps’ to correct any compensation disparities found by the audit that may have violated fair labor law. It would prohibit employers from requesting or relying on the wage history of a prospective employee for consideration of employment, unless a prospective employee voluntarily discloses such information. It would make it unlawful for employers to prohibit employees from inquiring about, discussing or disclosing wages but allow employers to limit the time, place and circumstances during which employees may do so.” The amendment was rejected 183 to 244. [HR 7, Vote #107, 4/15/21; CQ, 4/15/21]

2015: Valadao Voted To Block Consideration Of The Paycheck Fairness Act. In April 2015 Valadao voted for “Sessions, R-Texas, motion to order the previous question (thus ending debate and possibility of amendment) on adoption of the rule (H Res 189) to provide for House floor consideration of the bill to exclude insurance paid at closing into escrow, as well as fees paid to lender-affiliated companies, from the three percent limit on points and fees imposed on qualified mortgages by redefining “points and fees” under the Truth in Lending Act. It also would provide for floor consideration of the bill to modify federal rules regarding high-cost-mortgages as they apply to manufactured housing. The rule also would take the fiscal 2016 Senate budget resolution from the Speaker’s table, adopt a substitute amendment consisting of the text of the fiscal 2016 House budget resolution, as adopted by the House, and would adopt the concurrent resolution, as amended.” According to the Democratic Leader’s office, The Democratic Previous Question demands the House vote on a key measure to end the pay gap between men and women and ensure equal pay for equal work: the Paycheck Fairness Act (HR 1619).” The previous question passed 239 to 183. A vote against the previous question would have allowed the bill to be considered. [H. Res. 189, Vote #148, 4/14/15; Bloomberg, 4/14/15; CQ, 4/14/15; Democratic Leader – Previous Questions, 4/14/15]

2014: Valadao Voted To Block Consideration Of The Paycheck Fairness Act. In April 2014, Valadao voted for “Stivers, R-Ohio, motion to order the previous question (thus ending debate and possibility of amendment) on adoption of the rule (H Res 200) that would provide for House floor consideration of the bill (HR 622) that would make permanent the ability of taxpayers to deduct state and local sales taxes in lieu of state and local income taxes, the bill (HR 1105) that would repeal the federal estate tax and repeal the generation-skipping transfer tax, and the bill (HR 1195) that would establish a small business advisory board, credit union advisory council and community bank advisory council for the Consumer Financial Protection Bureau.” According to the Democratic Leader’s office, “The Democratic Previous Question demands the House vote on a key measure to end the pay gap between men and women and ensure equal pay for equal work: the Paycheck Fairness Act (HR 1619).” The previous question passed 240 to 183. A vote against the previous question would have allowed the bill to be considered. [H. Res. 200, Vote #154, 4/15/15; CQ, 4/15/15; Democratic Leader – Previous Questions, 4/15/15]

- Bloomberg: The Legislation Protect Workers Who Share Information About Their Wages, Require Employers To Explain Pay Disparities, And Allow Employees To Seek “Unlimited” Punitive Damages In Wage Bias Cases. “The legislation would protect workers from retaliation for sharing information about their wages, require employers to explain any pay disparities among workers performing the same job, and allow employees to seek unlimited punitive damages in wage bias cases.” [Bloomberg, 4/14/15]

2013: Valadao Voted To Block Consideration Of The Paycheck Fairness Act. In May 2013, Valadao voted for a “motion to order the previous question (thus ending debate and possibility of amendment) on the rule (H Res 544) that would provide for House floor consideration of the fiscal 2015 budget resolution.” According to the Democratic Leader’s office, “The Previous Question would amend the rule to allow for consideration of the Paycheck Fairness Act and bipartisan Senate UI extension.” A vote against the previous question would have allowed the bill to be considered. The previous question passed, 219-190. [H Res 544, Vote #169, 4/8/14; CQ, 4/8/14]

2013: Valadao Voted To Block Consideration Of The Paycheck Fairness Act.
2013: Valadao Voted To Block Consideration Of The Paycheck Fairness Act. In April 2013, Valadao voted for “Foxx, R-N.C., motion to order the previous question (thus ending debate and possibility of amendment) on the rule (H Res 146) that would provide for House floor consideration of the bill that would require the National Labor Relations Board to cease all activities that require a quorum of members until certain conditions are met.” According to the Democratic Leader’s office, “The Previous Question would amend the rule to allow for consideration of the Paycheck Fairness Act (H.R. 377), which strengthens the Equal Pay Act by closing loopholes and imposing effective penalties on employers who discriminate based on gender.” A vote against the previous question would have allowed for consideration of the Paycheck Fairness Act. The previous question was approved 226-192. [H Res 146, Vote #97, 4/11/13; CQ, 4/11/13]

COVID-19 Relief

Valadao Was Criticized For Voting Against The American Rescue Plan

HEADLINE: Devin Nunes, David Valadao say relief bill is a ‘slush fund.’ That's shameful politics. [Fresno Bee, Editorial, 3/11/21]

- Fresno Bee: “In Response To House Passage Of The American Rescue Plan...GOP Reps. Devin Nunes And David Valadao Left No Question About How They View Their Constituents, Many Of Them Among The Poorest Of Californians.” “In response to House passage of the American Rescue Plan, the big COVID relief and economic stimulus bill, GOP Reps. Devin Nunes and David Valadao left no question about how they view their constituents, many of them among the poorest of Californians. To Nunes, the Tulare Republican, the $1.9 trillion measure is nothing more than a “slush fund,” he told Fox News. Nevermind that his 22nd District has a 15.2% poverty rate. Meanwhile, Hanford’s Valadao blasted the bill as a giveaway of federal largesse to House Speaker Nancy Pelosi’s San Francisco district, while ignoring the millions that will come to his 21st District to help its poor residents. The 21st District’s poverty rate: 23.4%.” [Fresno Bee, Editorial, 3/11/21]

- Fresno Bee: “Of The Three Congressmen, Valadao’s District Has The Highest Poverty Rate. Costa’s 16th District Is Next, At 23%.” “Of the three congressmen, Valadao’s district has the highest poverty rate. Costa’s 16th District is next, at 23%. Valadao’s district covers all of Kings County and parts of Fresno, Tulare and Kern counties. Per-capita annual income? Just $17,875. That’s less than half the California and national figures. Annual median household income? Only $46,037. That’s just three-fifths of the California total, two-thirds of the national figure. Simply put, the San Joaquin Valley is a poor part of California. Wages are low, health care is limited and educational attainment lags behind. Congressional representatives have the duty to seek to make things better for their constituents.” [Fresno Bee, Editorial, 3/11/21]

- Fresno Bee: “By Their Votes On The Relief Act, Nunes And Valadao Decided To Play Inside-The-Beltway Politics Of Over Making A Real Difference On Main Street.” “Simply put, the San Joaquin Valley is a poor part of California. Wages are low, health care is limited and educational attainment lags behind. Congressional representatives have the duty to seek to make things better for their constituents. By their votes on the relief act, Nunes and Valadao decided to play inside-the-Beltway politics of over making a real difference on Main Street.” [Fresno Bee, Editorial, 3/11/21]

- Fresno Bee: “Nunes, Valadao, McCarthy And The Rest Of The California GOP Delegation Had The Chance To Vote Boldly To Assist Their Districts In The Pandemic. They Decided To Stay Political.” “The House passed the relief act 220 to 211, with a single Democrat joining all the GOP members in voting no. Nunes, Valadao, McCarthy and the rest of the California GOP delegation had the chance to vote boldly to assist their districts in the pandemic. They decided to stay political. And for the next two years, the Democrats are going to win that game.” [Fresno Bee, Editorial, 3/11/21]

- Sacramento Bee: “These Men Represent A Region That Was Already Hard-Hit By Poverty Before COVID. Yet They Just Voted Against Basic Relief For Families And Businesses Suffering From The Effects Of A Global Pandemic.” “Every single Republican member of Congress voted against the American Rescue Plan. This includes the Central Valley region’s Rep. Doug LaMalfa, R- Richvale. Rep. Kevin McCarthy, R-Bakersfield, Rep. Tom McClintock, R-Elk Grove, Devin Nunes, R-Tulare, and David Valadao, R-Handford. voted against basic relief for families and businesses suffering from the effects of a global pandemic.” [Sacramento Bee, Editorial, 3/11/21]

- Sacramento Bee: “They Had No Problem Voting For Trump’s Deficit-Expanding $1.5 Trillion Tax Cut For The Rich In 2017. But When The New President Pushes A Bill To Help Local Businesses And Alleviate Poverty In The Middle Of A Deadly Pandemic, They Express Indignation. Message Received.” “Of course, they had no problem voting for Trump’s deficit-expanding $1.5 trillion tax cut for the rich in 2017. But when the new president pushes a bill to help local businesses and alleviate poverty in the middle of a deadly pandemic, they express indignation. Message received. One of the core purposes of government is to help families and businesses when they’re hit by disasters. Whether the damage is done by an earthquake, a hurricane, a terror attack or a pandemic, Americans pull together in tough times and help one another. If today’s Republicans had their way, however, they’d leave their constituents — the non-wealthy ones, anyhow — twisting in the wind.” [Sacramento Bee, Editorial, 3/11/21]

- Sacramento Bee: “The Republicans’ Unanimous Vote Against This COVID Rescue Plan Shows Exactly Why The GOP Has Become Completely Irrelevant In California.” “California’s ruling Democratic Party has repeatedly proven its incompetence, corruption and stupidity in recent years. At least, however, you can usually count on a Democratic politician to embrace the basic duty of helping people when they need it most. The Republicans’ unanimous vote against this COVID rescue plan shows exactly why the GOP has become completely irrelevant in California.” [Sacramento Bee, Editorial, 3/11/21]

Valadao Was Criticized For Owning Land On High-Speed Rail Routes

- Fresno Bee: “Valadao Successfully Offered An Amendment To A House Appropriations Bill That Would Bar The Federal Surface Transportation Board From Approving Individual Construction Segments.” “In June, Valadao successfully offered an amendment to a House appropriations bill that would bar the federal Surface Transportation Board from approving individual construction segments of the state project. Instead, the board would be allowed only to consider the statewide high-speed train network in its entirety. The federal board, which plays a key oversight role, already has approved construction of the first 30-mile stretch of tracks from northeast of Madera to the south end of Fresno. The net effect of Valadao's amendment, if it becomes law, would be to stall for years -- if not permanently derail -- any additional sections of the bullet-train system. It's not clear, however, if Valadao’s colleagues on the House Appropriations Committee were aware of his property interests or how the rail line would affect those lands when they voted on his amendment.” [Fresno Bee, Editorial, 7/13/13]

- Fresno Bee: Valadao Owned Land That Stood To Be Affected By Either Of The Two High Speed Rail Routes Being Studied In Kings County. “Republican House members up and down the San Joaquin Valley are squarely opposed to California's high-speed rail project, for which construction could begin this summer. But while the issue is largely one of political philosophy for other GOP representatives, it hits much closer to home for Rep. David Valadao, R-Hanford, whose family’s Valadao Dairy owns property that stands to be affected by either of two high-speed routes being studied in Kings County. Despite repeated attempts, The Bee could not interview Valadao last week, partly because of his travel schedule. But his spokeswoman offered email responses to questions. ‘Proposed high-speed rail projects affect Congressman Valadao just like they affect the rest of the community who elected him to represent them in Washington,’ Valadao spokeswoman Anna Vetter said.” [Fresno Bee, Editorial, 7/13/13]

- Along One Of The Proposed Routes Through King County. “Three Valadao Dairy parcels sit directly along one of the routes through Kings County -- a line that skirts west of Hanford and generally follows the BNSF Railway freight tracks between Hanford and Corcoran. Those parcels amount to about 509 acres and have a combined assessed value of more than $1.8 million, according to a database on the Kings County Assessor's Office website. The largest of those parcels, at just over 402 acres and $1.14 million in value, also would be affected by a new road overpass associated with an east-of-Hanford bypass. Valadao's staff said last week he was unavailable to address questions about property disclosures or whether he felt he had an obligation to inform his fellow representatives when Valadao proposed his amendment and voted to report the bill out of the Appropriations Committee.” [Fresno Bee, Editorial, 7/13/13]

- Fresno Bee: Besides “The Three Valadao Dairy Parcels That Would Be Directly Affected By The Project, The Dairy Owns Six Other Parcels Within A Mile Of At Least One Of The Prospective Track Options.” “In addition to the three Valadao Dairy parcels that would be directly affected by the project, the dairy owns six other parcels within a mile of at least one of the prospective track options. Those parcels represent about 209 acres and have a total combined assessed value of nearly $1.38 million. Also within a mile of one or both routes are another 455 acres owned by either Valadao's parents, Eduardo and Maria Valadao, or his uncle, Manuel Valadao, with the four parcels having assessed values totaling nearly $6.2 million.” [Fresno Bee, Editorial, 7/13/13]

Popular Mechanics: Valadao One Of Five Congressmen Holding Back The Advancement Of Science, Technology And The Future Of Manufacturing In America. “Despite the deadlock in D.C. (see the guys to the right), there still are legislators fighting for the advancement of science, technology, and the future of manufacturing in America. But first, five who are holding us back: […]’What was sold to the voters compared to what's being jammed down their throats today are two very different things.’ - Valadao on halting a new high-speed rail line whose routes would go through his family's land.’” [Popular Mechanics, 11/1/14]

Valadao Was Criticized For An Attempted “Water Grab”

• Press-Democrat: HR 23 Was Valadao’s Latest Attempt “To Benefit Central Valley Growers By Putting Politics Ahead Of Science In Allocating California’s Water.” “The bill, HR 23, is the latest attempt by Rep. David Valadao, R-Hanford, to benefit Central Valley growers by putting politics ahead of science in allocating California’s water. Unlike past efforts that were packaged as drought relief, this bill is a straight up water grab by Big Ag interests in the Central Valley and their House allies. It was jammed through the House this month without a public hearing — and over the objections of their Northern California lawmakers. ‘Make no mistake, if enacted, this bill will hurt a lot of people,’ Rep. Jared Huffman, D-San Rafael, said on the House floor. ‘It takes water away from fisherman, tribes, the environment, Delta farmers and others, in order to redistribute it primarily to a small group of the nation’s biggest and most politically-connected agribusiness interests.’” [Editorial, Press-Democrat, 7/23/17]

• Valadao’s Water Bill Was Crafted By Lobbyist Who Lied During Confirmation Hearing That He Was Done Lobbying. “Thanks to hard-nosed reporting by Lance Williams and Matt Smith of Reveal from The Center for Investigative Reporting, we now know that Westlands Water District officials and Westlands’ then-attorney, David L. Bernhardt, helped shape Valadao’s legislation. In April, President Donald Trump nominated Bernhardt to be No. 2 in the U.S. Interior Department. … Bernhardt was a partner in Westlands’ Washington, D.C., lobbying and law firm, Brownstein, Hyatt, Farber & Schreck, but assured senators in a confirmation hearing earlier this year that he had stopped lobbying for Westlands in November. He may not have contacted legislators or members of the executive branch on Westlands’ behalf related to H.R. 23, the definition of lobbying. But Bernhardt, a lawyer, provided the district with legal advice on that bill and related issues up to the time of his nomination, according to emails cited by Reveal and obtained by Public Records Act requests by Patricia Schifferle. Schifferle, who opposes the tunnels, consults for the Planning and Conservation League. Those emails detail the extent of Westlands’ involvement in the legislation. In an email dated Dec. 13, an aide to Valadao sent a draft of what became H.R. 23 to several insiders including Westlands officials, and asked for ‘any edits you would like us to make.’” [Editorial, Sacramento Bee, 7/28/17]

Valadao Was Criticized For Supporting A Bill That Would Deregulate Silencers

Valadao Supported Bill That Would Deregulate Silencers. “HR 3668 would deregulate silencers. Five California Republicans voiced support for an earlier iteration: Reps. Tom McClintock of Elk Grove, Doug LaMalfa of Richvale, David Valadao of Hanford, Dana Rohrabacher of Orange County and Duncan Hunter of San Diego. We urge them to reconsider, though McClintock issued a press release two weeks ago praising the National Rifle Association-backed bill.” [Editorial, Sacramento Bee, 10/02/17]

Valadao Was Criticized For Damaging Protections For People With Pre-Existing Conditions

Fresno Bee: “Valadao Voted To Give Tax Breaks For The Rich And Kick People Off Their Insurances, Co-Sponsored Amendment That Is Inadequate For People With Pre-Existing Conditions.” “If there was any doubt, it evaporated Thursday: President Donald Trump and his Republican allies in the House of Representatives want to make America sick again. … House Republicans shredded the Affordable Care Act by passing a healthcare bill that is bad for America – and the San Joaquin Valley, in particular. … Access to affordable health care has always been a challenge for the working poor and even middle-class Valley residents. That longstanding hurdle finally was lowered when President Barack Obama signed the Affordable Care Act into law and California leaders – unlike those in many other states – fully embraced its provisions. Supporters of Rep. David Valadao, R-Hanford, have spent millions of dollars on campaign ads portraying him as a friend of working men and women, and veterans. But with his vote Thursday, he revealed his true colors: just another foot soldier in the Trump offensive to reward the rich and punish everyone else. Valadao did co-sponsor the Upton Amendment. It added $8 billion over five years to $130 billion in the bill to fund high-risk pools and subsidize pre-existing conditions in states that seek waivers under the AHCA. That sounds like a lot. But it’s not when you consider that 130 million Americans have pre-existing conditions. According to the left-leaning Center for American Progress, people with pre-existing conditions can now expect shockingly high surcharges on their insurance premiums if the bill passes the Senate. A few examples: diabetes, $5,510; bipolar disorder, $8,370; breast cancer, $28,230; and lung cancer, $71,880. The Center for American Progress also calculated the number of Americans with pre-existing conditions by congressional district: In Valadao’s district, it is 291,100, including 52,600 children. … In a statement released to the media, Valadao said, “The American Health Care Act will stabilize our health care system, ensuring our community has access to high quality, affordable health care.” … Don’t believe either one of them. What they backed Thursday was legislation that provides $600 billion in tax cuts for the rich, deprives 24 million Americans of health insurance and raises health insurance premiums.” [Fresno Bee, Editorial, 5/04/17]

Merced Sun-Star Editorial: “Valadao Voted To Cut Taxes For The Rich And Give Insurance Companies A $100 Million Per Year Windfall, Eliminate Protections For Pre-Existing Conditions And Gut Medi-Cal Funding.” “Ignoring the polls and the cries of hundreds of constituents, House Republicans – and only Republicans – voted to kill Obamacare on Thursday. … Under the Republicans’ version, people with pre-existing conditions – from pregnancy to diabetes to heart disease – are destined to pay more and get less. Programs for children, clinics for veterans, services for older Americans will be squeezed – some out of existence. Retirees could pay triple their current costs. But insurance companies are likely to be doing much better. One estimate puts their windfall at $100 million a year. Every single California Republican – including … David Valadao of Hanford … – embraced this mess. Why? The AHCA is a $300 billion tax cut for the very rich, and it’s the very rich who contribute the most to political campaigns. Those who are sick and vulnerable have less to give. … We doubt their lack of courage will that soon fade from memory. That’s especially true for Denham and Valadao, who tried to hide behind a promise of an additional $8 billion over five year to subsidize high-risk pools. One study puts the annual shortfall for such pools at nearly $200 billion.” [Merced Sun-Star, Editorial, 5/04/17]

2018-2020: Employees Of Spencer’s Companies Contributed $13,650 To Valadao’s Campaign

Spencer’s Company Had A History Of Receiving No-Bid Contracts And Came Under Federal Investigation For The Practice

- The District Utilized “Leaseback Contracts,” Which Allowed The District To Avoid The Competitive Bidding Process And Handpick The Contractors. “Leaseback contracts allow school districts to avoid the competitive bidding process and handpick the contractors who will do their projects. Fresno Unified’s use of leaseback contracts with Harris Construction has landed it in court, with questions raised about whether it has led to a pay-to-play system.” [Fresno Bee, 10/5/16]

- Leaseback Agreements Were Designed To Allow Cash-Strapped Districts To Build Schools By Going Outside The Traditional Competitive Bidding Process. “Leaseback agreements were designed to allow cash-strapped districts to build schools by going outside of the traditional competitive bidding process and handpicking consultants to front the cost of a project and then be repaid by the district incrementally over time. Fresno Unified used the leaseback process even though it had the money to pay for the $37 million project.” [Fresno Bee, 9/8/15]
2015: A Fresno Court Ruled That A Contract Between Spencer’s Business, Harris Construction, And Fresno Unified Was Not Genuine Because The Leaseback Contract Method Was Used Improperly

“School districts are being careful about the way they handle construction projects after the state Supreme Court refused last week to depublish an appellate court decision that criticizes Fresno Unified’s use of a no-bid contract. The high court has denied Fresno Unified School District’s petition for review, allowing local contractor Stephen Davis to head back to Fresno County Superior Court, where he will allege that the school district used the ‘leaseback’ method of financing in order to avoid the competitive bid process and guarantee that the $37 million Gaston Middle School project would go to Harris Construction. […] The Fresno-based 5th District Court of Appeal said in June that in Fresno Unified’s case, the contract was not genuine and was a leaseback agreement in name only. The district had the money to pay for the project, and the court said it used the leaseback method improperly.” [Fresno Bee, 8/31/15]

Spencer Donated About $30,000 To A School Bond Measure Before Receiving No-Bid Contracts Related To The Successful Measure Worth $115 Million

“Spencer, His Family, And Harris Construction Employees Donated Nearly $10,000 To The 2012 Campaigns Of Three Fresno Unified Trustees. “The investigation is probing district officials’ personal emails and phone records, and asks for any information related to financial dealings between the contractors and officials, including their involvement in the passage of Measure Q and campaigns to get Fresno Unified trustees elected. Harris and its owner, Richard Spencer, were the largest donors to Measure Q, contributing $30,000. And for the 2012 board election, Spencer, family members and company employees pitched in nearly $10,000 to the campaigns of three trustees.” [Fresno Bee, 9/8/15]

Emails Showed Harris Construction And Fresno Unified Discussed No-Bid Projects Long Before The School Board Approved Them

“Despite Fresno Unified’s claims that Harris Construction was not favored to win multimillion-dollar contracts that are now under federal investigation, emails obtained by The Bee show that the developer and district officials discussed no-bid projects long before the school board approved them. And now some trustees are questioning whether the relationship between district and Harris officials was too cozy. According to emails from 2011 – requested by The Bee under the Public Records Act – school district officials exchanged ‘lease-leaseback’ contracts with Harris Construction officials prior to board approval and held lunch dates with the company’s vice president, Mike Spencer. Spencer also invited district officials for a glass of wine and offered deluxe seats to a Grizzlies baseball game.” [Fresno Bee, 3/2/16]

Spencer Enterprises Was Founded By Richard Spencer In 1973 As A Contracting Company

Spencer Enterprises Was Founded By Richard Spencer In 1973 As A Contracting Company. “Founded in 1973 by longtime Fresno resident Richard Spencer, the family-owned construction and development company is highly regarded throughout the community for providing the highest levels of professionalism, trustworthy and construction capabilities.” [Spencer Enterprises website, accessed 3/23/20]

Harris Construction Inc, Owned By Richard Spencer, Received “The Lion's Share” Of Fresno Unified School District's Business Since The Contract Awarding Method Was Changed To Leaseback System And After Spencer Donated To Measure Q. “Of this there is no doubt: Harris Construction Co. Inc., owned by Richard Spencer of Fresno, has received the lion's share of Fresno Unified's business since the method was changed in May 2011. Since then, Harris has received seven contracts totaling about $78 million. These contracts include building the new Rutherford B. Gaston Sr. Middle School and making major renovations at Fresno High School. […] Flavoring the debate about lease/leaseback -- particularly among Valley contractors -- is the fact that Spencer, a longtime contributor to political campaigns at the local, state and federal levels, gave $25,000 to the Measure Q campaign. Harris Construction pitched in $5,000 more. These contributions made Spencer and his company the biggest donor to a campaign that raised about $259,000.” [Fresno Bee, 10/27/12]

Measure Q Concerned Upgrading Schools, Stimulating The Construction Industry, Hiring Local Workers, And Reviving The City's Urban Core. “Fresno Unified Superintendent Michael Hanson says that lease/leaseback has helped the district make good on its Measure Q promise of upgrading schools, stimulating the hard-struck Valley construction industry, hiring local workers and helping revive the city's urban core.” [Fresno Bee, 10/27/12]

1999: Spencer Enterprises Unsuccessfully Sued The INS After The Agency Denied And Delayed Its Applications In An Immigrant Investor Program

1999: Spencer Enterprises Sued The INS After The Agency Denied And Delayed Its Applications In An Immigrant Investor Program. “A Fresno home-building company's foreign investment ties are caught in a nationwide crackdown on the Immigration Investor Act -- a program that encourages foreign investments in exchange for future U.S. citizenship. Spencer Enterprises had been working with Taiwanese investors for two years in the construction of homes in Fresno and Clovis with money generated with the help of the federal immigrant investor program. The company now believes its foreign investments are being cut off because of increased scrutiny of applicants by the [INS]. The company filed a lawsuit against the INS in federal court this month because the agency denied and delayed Spencer's investor applications beginning late last year. […] Spencer officials contend its program is legitimate and involved all-cash investments, but is being threatened by INS scrutiny. Spencer's isn't the only lawsuit against the INS regarding the Immigration Investor Act.” [Fresno Bee, 8/29/99]

Spencer Enterprises Said The Program Was Legitimate. “Spencer officials say they believed the program represented the potential to pump millions of dollars into the Fresno economy, stifled by double-digit unemployment. Spencer officials contend its program is legitimate and involved all-cash investments, but is being threatened by INS scrutiny. Spencer's isn't the only lawsuit against the INS regarding the Immigration Investor Act.” [Fresno Bee, 8/29/99]
The Courts Ruled Against Spencer Enterprises. “Spencer Enterprises eventually sued the federal government. In 2001, U.S. District Judge Oliver W. Wanger ruled in favor of the government. Last year, his decision was upheld by the 9th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.” [Fresno Bee, 7/11/04]

2008: Valadao Dairy Received A Loan Worth Between $1 Million And $5 Million Loan From Delbert Ellis, Who Owned A Nearby Farm And Donated Over $15,000 To Valadao’s Campaigns. “Maybe it was just ‘love’ that helped Delbert Ray Ellis and David Valadao, R-Calif., find each other. In May 2008, before he was elected to the House, Ellis loaned Valadao between $1 million and $5 million to provide ‘financing for Valadao Dairy,’ according to Valadao’s financial disclosure statement. Valadao’s dairy farm has been in the family since his parents, immigrants from Portugal, started it in 1973. Ellis’ family owned nearby Mid-Cal Farms until 2014, when the company was dissolved. […] Ellis has been a contributor to the congressman since the latter’s days in the California State Assembly, when he donated $2,500 to his first campaign. Since then Ellis has donated another $13,100 to Valadao’s campaigns for his seat in the House, according to Federal Election Commission records, maxing out in the last two election cycles.” [Center for Public Integrity, 8/29/17]

Center For Public Integrity: Taking Personal Loans From Campaign Donors Raised “Serious Concerns About Possible Conflicts Of Interest.” “There’s nothing illegal about such loans, even when the lender is also a campaign contributor. And there’s no explicit evidence of a quid pro quo in which legislative action was taken in exchange for the loan. But government watchdog groups and others say such arrangements raise serious concerns about possible conflicts of interest. A review of campaign finance data revealed that at least seven of the members with nonbank loans also received campaign contributions from their lender.” [Center for Public Integrity, 8/29/17]

- In Kings County, Secured Tax Bills Are Due November 1st Annually And Are Due Before December 10th Each Year. “Secured property taxes are those taxes that are assessed against real property, such as; land, lots, homes, pools, offices, orchards, etc. The tax is a lien that is “secured” by the land/structure even though no document is officially recorded. This means that if the taxes remain unpaid after a period of 5 years, the property may be sold to cover the taxes owed. Secured tax bills are mailed on or about November 1st annually and are due before December 10th and April 10th each year.” [County of Kings Tax Collector, accessed 3/28/21]

- If Tax Bills Are Not Paid By December 10th, The Installment Becomes Delinquent And A 10% Penalty Is Assessed. “If you do not pay the first installment of your tax bill to the Tax Collector by 5:00 p.m. on December 10th, that installment becomes delinquent and a 10% penalty is assessed. (U.S. Postmark on or before December 10th is considered timely payment).” [County of Kings Tax Collector, accessed 3/28/21]

Valadao Voted At Least 5 Times To Block Automatic Pay Increases For Congress

2016: Valadao Voted For A Legislative Branch Appropriations Bill That Included Freeze On COLA For Congress. In June 2016, Valadao Voted For: “Passage of the bill that would provide $3.5 billion for legislative branch operations, excluding Senate operations, in fiscal 2017. The total would include $1.2 billion for House operations, $629 million for the Library of Congress, $533 million for the Government Accountability Office, $552 million for the Architect of the Capitol and $391 million for the Capitol Police.” A vote yes was a vote to block pay increases. The bill passed 233-175. [CQ, 6/10/16; HR5325, Vote #294, 6/10/16]

2015: Valadao Voted For Passage Of An Appropriations Bill That Banned A COLA For Members Of Congress For 2016. In December 2015, Valadao Voted For: “Rogers, R-Ky., motion to concur in the Senate amendment to the bill with an amendment that would provide $1.15 trillion in discretionary appropriations through Sept. 30, 2016 for federal departments and agencies covered by the fiscal 2016 spending bills. Included in that total is: $21.75 billion for Agriculture, $55.7 billion for Commerce-Justice-Science, $572.7 billion for Defense, $37.2 billion for Energy-Water, $23.2 billion for Financial Services, $41 billion for Homeland Security, $32.2 billion for Interior-Environment, $162.1 billion for Labor-HHS-Education, $4.4 billion for Legislative, $79.9 billion Military Construction-Veterans Affairs, $52.8 billion for State-Foreign Operations, and $114 billion for Transportation-HUD. The measure would end the U.S. ban on crude oil exports and would reauthorize health care and victim compensation programs for 9/11 first-responders.” A vote yes was a vote to block a pay increase. The motion passed by a vote of 316-113. [CQ, 12/18/15; HR 2029, Vote #705, 12/18/15]

  &lt;&lt;NOTE: 2 USC 4501 note.&gt;&lt;&gt; ADJUSTMENTS TO COMPENSATION. Notwithstanding any other provision of law, no adjustment shall be made under section 601(a) of the Legislative Reorganization Act of 1946 (2 U.S.C. 4501) (relating to cost of living adjustments for Members of Congress) during fiscal year 2016.” HR 2029 became Public Law No: 114-113 on December 18, 2015. [Congress.gov, HR2029
  text, 12/18/15]

2015: Valadao Voted For Legislative Branch Appropriations That Blocked COLA For Members. In May 2015, Valadao Voted For: “Passage of the bill that would provide $3.3 billion for legislative branch operations, excluding Senate operations, in fiscal 2016. The total would include $1.2 billion for House operations, $591 million in net appropriations for the Library of Congress, $522 million for the Government Accountability Office, $492 million for the Architect of the Capitol and $369 million for the Capitol Police. As amended, the bill would provide no funding for the Open World Leadership Center.” According to the Congressional Research Service, “The
DAVID VALADAO (CA-22)

House-passed and Senate-reported versions of the FY2016 legislative branch appropriations bill (H.R. 2250) both contained a provision prohibiting this adjustment. The pay adjustment prohibition was subsequently included in the Consolidated Appropriations Act, 2016 (P.L. 114-113).” A vote yes was a vote to block pay increases. The bill passed, 357-67. [CRS, 6/21/16; CQ, 5/19/15; HR2250, Vote #247, 5/19/15]

2014: Valadao Voted For Legislative Branch Appropriations That Blocked COLA For Members. In May 2014, Valadao Voted For: “Passage of the bill that would provide $3.3 billion for legislative branch operations, excluding Senate operations, in fiscal 2015. The total would include $1.2 billion for House operations, $595 million for the Library of Congress, $519.6 million for the Government Accountability Office, $488.6 million for the Architect of the Capitol and $348 million for the Capitol Police.” According to the Congressional Research Service, “The House-passed and Senate-reported versions of the FY2015 legislative branch appropriations Act (H.R. 4487) contained a provision prohibiting any Member pay adjustment.” A vote yes was a vote to block pay increases. The bill passed 402-14. [CRS, 6/21/16; CQ, 5/1/14; HR4487, Vote #193, 5/1/14]

2013: Valadao Voted For Continuing Appropriations That Blocked COLA For Members. In May 2013, Valadao Voted For: “Passage of the bill that would provide $3.3 billion for legislative branch operations, excluding Senate operations, in fiscal 2015. The total would include $1.2 billion for House operations, $595 million for the Library of Congress, $519.6 million for the Government Accountability Office, $488.6 million for the Architect of the Capitol and $348 million for the Capitol Police.” According to the Congressional Research Service, “The Continuing Appropriations Act, 2014 (P.L. 113-46, Section 146, enacted October 17, 2013), prohibited the scheduled 2014 pay adjustment for Members of Congress.” A vote yes was a vote to block pay increases. The bill passed 285-144. [CRS, 6/21/16; CQ, 10/16/13; HR2775, Vote #550, 10/16/13]

Valadao Voted To Block Congressional Pay In The Event Of A U.S. Default

2013: Valadao Voted To Bar Congressional Pay If Nation Defaulted. In May 2013, Valadao voted for “Camp, R-Mich., amendment that would bar the Treasury secretary from using the bill's authority to borrow above the debt limit to pay for compensation for members of Congress. It also would clarify that the Treasury Department would only be required to submit weekly reports as long as the special borrowing authority is in use.” The motion passed 340-84. [CQ, 5/9/13; H R 807, Vote #140, 5/9/13]

Valadao Would Receive $20,706 Per Year In Taxpayer Funded Pension

According to the Office of Personnel Management, a “Member of Congress or Congressional Employee (or any combination of the two) must have at least 5 years of service as a Member of Congress and/or Congressional Employee” to qualify for their retirement annuity.

The annual pension is calculated as “1.7% of your high-3 average salary multiplied by your years of service as a Member of Congress or Congressional Employee which do not exceed 20, PLUS 1% of your high-3 average salary multiplied by your years of other service.” [Office of Personnel Management, accessed 7/18/17]

For Members who joined after 1991, the annual pension is calculated as:

[The Atlantic, 10/2/15; Congressional Research Service, 11/10/16]

For any current Member eligible for their pension, their High-3 would be $174,000, making the formula:

(174,000 \times 0.017 \times \text{Years of Service through 20}) + (174,000 \times 0.01 \times \text{Years of Service over 20}) = \text{Annual Pension}

As of 2022, Valadao’s pension formula was: $(174,000 \times 0.017 \times 7) + 0$, which equals 20,706
Valadao Dairy And Triple V Dairy
Significant Findings

Bankruptcy & Wage Theft Claims

- 2005: Valadao became a partial owner of Valadao Dairy, and a registrant for Triple V Dairy.

- From 1997-2019, Valadao Dairy received more than $1.3 million in USDA subsidies, and from 2006 to 2019 Triple V Dairy received more than $200,000 in USDA subsidies, despite Valadao calling farm subsidies “bad public policy.”

- In 2017 and 2018, Valadao abandoned his stakes in Valadao Dairy, Triple V Dairy and Triple V Cattle.

- Triple V Dairy, partially owned by Valadao, was seized by a bank in 2018 following the failure of the business to repay loans totaling about $8.3 million, a move Valadao blamed on “burdensome government regulations.”

- Valadao’s family farm, Triple V Dairy, was sued by its workers for wage theft and agreed to pay a $325,000 settlement, but the case closed without payment due to bankruptcy proceedings.

- Valadao and Triple V Cattle were accused of malicious intent for ordering, and then failing to pay for, over $1 million in animal products to a company.

- Valadao was sued by Land O’ Lakes, who alleged Triple V Dairy owed $792,636 for “milk-replacer products” and other unpaid debts.

- 2021: A resident from Valadao’s district, Maria Martinez, filed an ethics complaint against Valadao seeking more information about the unidentified creditors listed on Valadao’s previous financial disclosures.

Workplace Safety, Food Safety, & Water Contamination Violations

- Valadao Dairy was fined over $5,000 by CalOSHA by after a worker lost a hand in an accident.

  - Valadao Dairy was found to be responsible for 80 percent of the accident that resulted in an employee losing his right arm below the elbow.

  - The employee was injured while cleaning a manure separator and falling onto a blade.

  - Valadao Dairy was cited for failing to provide proper training and lacking guardrails.

  - The worker may have deviated from company procedure when they were injured.

- Triple V Dairy had four food safety violations from the Department of Agriculture Food Safety and Inspection Service because Triple V cattle contained substances associated with ulcers, serious kidney problems, and hearing problems.

  - Valadao Dairy cows exceeded limits for penicillin, which could cause consumers to develop resistance to antibiotics, and cause the spread of “dangerous drug-resistant superbugs.”

- Valadao’s farm businesses supplied cattle to Central Valley Meat Co., which was repeatedly forced to stop its operations for unsanitary conditions and suspected plastic in its meat.
✓ 2014: Valadao’s opponent accused Valadao of violating food safety laws, violations Valadao’s campaign dismissed as “routine and common.”

✓ 2002-2016: Triple V Dairy and Valadao Dairy potentially contaminated groundwater, failed to submit proper documentation, and were flagged for unsafe water by the Central Valley Regional Water Quality Control Board.

✓ 2009: Triple V Dairy and Valadao Dairy groundwater samples exceeded maximum nitrate levels, resulting in drinking water warnings which noted that “nitrate in drinking water is a serious health concern for infants less than six months old.”

Repeated Failure To Pay Taxes

✓ 2017: Valadao Dairy’s property taxes were not paid on time, resulting in a late fee of $1,836.37.

✓ Due to bankruptcy filings, Valadao Dairy did not pay property taxes on parcel 028-201-008-000 from 12/10/2018 to 4/10/2019.

✓ 2014: Triple V Dairy’s property taxes were not paid on time resulting in a fine of $3,083.50.

✓ After Valadao signed a lease agreement in which he agreed to pay irrigation taxes on the land, he was sued by the lessor for failing to pay $39,162 in irrigation taxes.

✓ 2019: Valadao owed the IRS $11,000 in payroll taxes related to unpaid “Triple V Payroll Taxes.”

2005: Valadao Became A Partial Owner Of Valadao Dairy

• 2004: Valadao Dairy Was Owned By Eduardo Valadao And Maria Valadao. According to the Environmental Working Group, in 2004 Valadao Dairy was owned by Eduardo and Maria Valadao, who each had a 50% stake in Valadao Dairy. [Environmental Working Group, accessed 1/27/20]

Valadao Called Agricultural Subsidies “Bad Public Policy”

“Valadao—a dairy farmer himself—called subsidies ‘bad public policy’ and said the defeat of his bill ‘is bad news for those that consume food, work in agriculture, or care about the environment, and good news for a small group of wealthy corn ethanol producers.’ Feinstein’s statement said corn ethanol was ‘the only industry that benefits from a triple crown of government intervention: its use is mandated by law, it is protected by tariffs, and companies are paid by the federal government to use it.’” [Fresno Bee, 5/8/11]

Triple V Dairy Had Locations In California, New Mexico And Washington State. “The Lawley’s lawsuit, filed in San Joaquin County, accuses Triple V of breaking an oral agreement to pay for nutrition and immunization products it bought on credit between March 2017 and January 2018. The farm’s owners failed to disclose the business was in ‘dire financial circumstances’ due to its defaulted loans, according to the lawsuit. The supplies were sent to Triple V locations in California, New Mexico and Washington State.” [Mercury News, 3/12/18]
An Ethics Complaint Was Filed Against Valadao For Failing To Disclose Who His Various Creditors Were In His Financial Disclosure Reports

Valadao Claimed At Least $16 Million In Liabilities In 2019 In His Financial Disclosure And Failed To Disclose The Identity Of Some Of His Creditors

Valadao Claimed At Least $16 Million In Liabilities In 2019 In His Financial Disclosure—But Claimed None In 2020. “Congressman David Valadao, a Republican representing the Southern San Joaquin Valley, is debt-free for the first time since he assumed office, his most recent financial disclosure shows. At least one constituent wants more details about who he owed money to in the past. Rep. David Valadao, R-Hanford, claimed no liabilities for 2020 — a far cry from 2019, when he claimed he owed at least $16 million to various creditors, some of whom he did not disclose the identities of, in connection to one of his family’s dairy farms.” [McClatchy Washington Bureau, 8/23/21]

- Valadao Did Not Disclose The Identity Of Some Of His Creditors In His 2019 Financial Disclosure. “Rep. - 2019: Valadao Listed Between $5 Million And $25 Million To “Various Unsecured Creditors” Over Outstanding Payments Related To Triple V Dairy. “One section of his 2019 form showed that from 2016 and 2018, Valadao owed between $5 million and $25 million to ‘various unsecured creditors’ over ‘outstanding accounts payable for Triple V Dairy partnership.’ Federal disclosure rules say congressmen must provide information about any entity or individual to whom they more than $10,000. Valadao may still have some debts, but none that surpasses $10,000.” [McClatchy Washington Bureau, 8/23/21]

Federal Disclosure Rules Dictate That Elected Officials Must Provide Information About Entities Or Individuals To Whom They Owe More Than $10,000. “One section of his 2019 form showed that from 2016 and 2018, Valadao owed between $5 million and $25 million to ‘various unsecured creditors’ over ‘outstanding accounts payable for Triple V Dairy partnership.’ Federal disclosure rules say congressmen must provide information about any entity or individual to whom they more than $10,000. A Resident From Valadao’s District, Maria Martinez, Filed An Ethics Complaint Against Valadao Seeking More Information About The Unidentified Creditors Listed On Valadao’s Previous Financial Disclosures

A Resident From Valadao’s District, Maria Martinez, Filed An Ethics Complaint Against Valadao Seeking More Information About The Unidentified Creditors Listed On Valadao’s Previous Financial Disclosures. “Members of Congress are required to make their assets and liabilities publicly available annually. They file their financial disclosures with the House Clerk’s office, which puts that information into an online, searchable database. Maria Martinez, a resident from Valadao’s district, last month filed an ethics complaint against the representative seeking more information about the unidentified creditors from Valadao’s previous disclosure forms. The complaint says it’s unlikely the unnamed creditors were each owed less than $10,000 given the limited number of people listed in the farm’s bankruptcy filings.” [McClatchy Washington Bureau, 8/23/21]

Valadao Claimed No Liabilities For 2020 But In 2019 Valadao Claimed To Have Owed At Least $16 Million To Various Creditors, Some Of Which Had Not Been Disclosed

“Rep. David Valadao, R-Hanford, claimed no liabilities for 2020 — a far cry from 2019, when he claimed he owed at least $16 million to various creditors, some of whom he did not disclose the identities of, in connection to one of his family’s dairy farms.” [Fresno Bee, 10/12/21]

Valadao’s Farms Declared Bankruptcy After Facing A Lawsuit In November 2017 When Triple V Dairy And Two Star Dairy Were Sued By Rabobank Over Unpaid Loans

“Valadao signed off on at least five loans—Approximately $6 Million—From Rabobank Since 2013. ‘Valadao signed off on at least five loans adding up to at least $6 million from Rabobank since he was first sworn in as a congressman in 2013, according to his financial disclosures, which are available dating back to fiscal year 2012.’” [Fresno Bee, 10/12/21]

Federal Disclosure Rules State That Congressmen Have To Provide Information About Entities Or Individuals To Whom They Owe More Than $10,000—Meaning Valadao May Still Have Some Debt Under $10,000

“The farm declared bankruptcy after facing a lawsuit in November 2017 when Valadao and his family’s farms, Triple V Dairy and Two Star Dairy, were sued by Rabobank, a financial services company, over unpaid loans.” [Fresno Bee, 10/12/21]

• Valadao Signed Off On At Least Five Loans—Approximately $6 Million – From Rabobank Since 2013.

• The Complaint Filed Against Valadao Claimed It Was Unlikely The Unnamed Creditors Were Owed Less Than $10,000 Given The Limited Number Of People Listed In The Farm’s Bankruptcy Filing.

“Maria Martinez, a resident from Valadao’s district, last month filed an ethics complaint against the representative seeking more information about the unidentified creditors from Valadao’s previous disclosure forms. The complaint says it’s unlikely the unnamed creditors were each owed less than $10,000 given the limited number of people listed in the farm’s bankruptcy filings.” [Fresno Bee, 10/12/21]
Valadao And Triple V Dairy Filed For Bankruptcy And “Failed To Pay Small Businesses, Workers, And Banks”

2018: Triple V Dairy, A Dairy Farm Partially Owned By Valadao, Was Seized By A Bank Following The Failure Of The Business To Repay Loans Totaling About $8.3 Million. “A bank has seized a Tulare County Dairy farm owned by U.S. Rep. David Valadao and his family to resolve more than $8 million in loans that have not been repaid, according to court documents. In November, agriculture lender Rabobank sued Triple V Dairy in Fresno County Superior Court alleging failure to repay loans for cattle and feed totaling about $8.3 million. Valadao (R-Hanford) is named in the suit along with his wife, four other family members, two other farms and 50 unnamed defendants. […] Both sides agreed March 28 to hand control of the farm over to the bank until it is sold. The bank appointed a local business owner to oversee the daily operations of the farm and began to sell off livestock and farming equipment to settle the debt.” [Los Angeles Times, 6/12/18]

Valadao Was Named In Lawsuits As A General Partner For Triple V Dairy

Valadao Was Named In Lawsuits As A General Partner For Triple V Dairy, With A Stake Valued Between $1-5 Million As Of 2016. “Rep. David Valadao, R-Hanford, is named in two lawsuits against his family's Triple V Dairy business for defaulting on nearly $9 million in agriculture loans and failing to pay an animal nutrition company for its goods. Valadao is named as a general partner for Triple V Dairy, in which he has a $1 million to $5 million stake, according to his 2016 disclosure report, the most recent disclosure available. Rabobank in November filed a civil suit against Triple V Dairy in Tulare, including several family partners, for defaulting on a heifer loan and a herd/feed loan. The lawsuit also names other family members, including Valadao's brother, for defaulting on additional loans.” [Fresno Bee, 3/13/18]

Valadao Blamed “Burdensome Government Regulations” For Making It “Impossible For The Operation To Remain Open”

Valadao Blamed “Burdensome Government Regulations” For Making It “Impossible For The Operation To Remain Open.” “Like so many family dairy farms across the country, burdensome government regulations made it impossible for the operation to remain open,’ Valadao said in a statement. ‘While this has been an especially difficult experience, I remain hopeful that sharing my story will help those going through similar situations.”’ [Los Angeles Times, 6/12/18]

2017: Triple V Dairy Defaulted On A 2012 Loan And A 2013 Loan After Rabobank Did Not Grant Them Another Extension. “Triple V in November 2012 took out a $2.5 million herd/feed credit line. Rabobank and Triple V amended the agreement four times: in December 2013, September 2014, September 2015 and February 2017. The bank sent a letter to the Dairy on Sept. 8, 2017 saying it would not grant additional extensions, and the loan matured on Sept. 30, the lawsuit says. Triple V failed to pay the remaining balance, thus defaulting on the loan. A similar story played out with a heifer loan, first entered in December 2013 between Triple V and Rabobank. That loan also matured in September 2017 after Rabobank granted multiple extensions to Triple V. Triple V owes $2.3 million for the herd/feed loan, including more than $26,000 in interest, Rabobank's lawsuit says. The Dairy
A dairy owned by Hanford Rep. David Valadao and his family appears headed for the auction block, as creditors have taken control of the day-to-day operations and have begun selling off cattle and equipment to pay back more than $8 million in unpaid loans. [...] Court documents dated March 28 show that both sides agreed that Rabobank would take control of Triple V Dairy until its sale can be negotiated. Rabobank appointed John Van Curen, president of Old West Ranch Company in Fresno, as its agent to handle the day-to-day affairs at Triple V. Additional orders show that Van Curen was to sell as much of Triple V's herd as possible (including cows, breeding bulls and calves) at a May 15 auction conducted by A&M Livestock of Hanford. Van Curen was also authorized to sell dairy and breeding equipment [...]. It's not yet clear whether the auction took place as planned or how much was sold. However, an inventory sheet filed with the court on May 21 showed that Triple V's dairy, heifer facility and calf ranch had nearly 17,000 cows, heifers, breeding bulls and calves as of April 2.” [Fresno Bee, 6/11/18]

August 2018: Triple V Dairy Was Vacant. “The vacant Triple V Dairy in southwest Tulare could soon house 2.2 million cage-free, egg-laying hens, according to a permit being processed by Tulare County officials. Property owner Kevin Kruse, of Western Milling, foreclosed on the 640-acre dairy some years back. It was most recently being used by Triple V Dairy. Goshen-based Western Milling sells feed to dairies and other livestock operations including poultry. Triple V Dairy was owned by several brothers, including Congressman David Valadao, but their operation was foreclosed on by Rabobank. The farm's assets were seized by Rabobank after the family failed to pay back $8.3 million in loans. Cattle was auctioned to pay off the debt. [...] If the permit is approved, the empty dairy property will be converted into a large multi-barn egg ranch.” [Visalia Times Delta, 8/9/18]

Valadao’s Family Farm, Triple V Dairy, Was Sued For Wage Theft And Agreed To Pay A $325,000 Settlement, But The Case Closed Without Payment Due To Bankruptcy Proceedings

Former Rep. David Valadao's family farm has not paid a $325,000 settlement it agreed to with workers who accused the farm of denying them minimum wage and overtime pay. The case closed without payment to the workers in April after the Dairy declared bankruptcy, according to Santos Gomez, an attorney for the workers, and confirmed by Valadao's campaign. [...] Documents show Valadao signed for about $6 million in loans to the Dairy while he held office. Valadao lost his seat in 2018 to Democrat T.J. Cox of Fresno by fewer than 1,000 votes. [...] Valadao's campaign characterized the workers' lawsuit as ‘frivolous’ in a written statement to McClatchy. ‘No evidence supporting any claim was ever presented. The Dairy settled the lawsuit for a fraction of what the cost would have been to litigate the case in an attempt to preserve jobs and keep the Dairy open,’ said Andrew Renteria, a spokesman for Valadao's campaign.” [Fresno Bee, 9/26/19]

Valadao’s Family Farm Agreed To Pay A $325,000 Settlement, But The Case Closed Without Payment Due To Bankruptcy Proceedings. “Triple V Dairy has caused a mess of problems after it had to declare bankruptcy last year. In newly obtained court filings by McClatchy, lawyers for Rabobank and a small business called Lawley's, an animal nutrition company, dismissed lawsuits against Triple V right as Valadao started his campaign for re-election in August and September. [...] ‘Due to the nature of the litigation and the various bankruptcy proceedings, it appeared there was insufficient assets to pay the unsecured creditors, so the case was dismissed,’ said Lawley's lawyer, John Samberg. Valadao's campaign said Rabobank dismissed the suit under similar reasoning. [...] It's not the only payment that Valadao-affiliated farms walked out on following the bankruptcy. His family farm was also sued for lost wages and agreed to pay a $325,000 settlement, but the case closed without payment in April due to the bankruptcy proceedings.” [Fresno Bee, 11/21/19]

David Valadao, a Republican from Hanford, had his family farm in the middle of bankruptcy proceedings in 2018. Since then, records show he’s failed to pay small businesses, workers and banks that have filed suit against the business and him in particular.” [Fresno Bee, 11/21/19]

The Settlement Agreement For The Wage Complaint Alleged Triple V Failed To Pay Workers

The Defendants In Padilla V. Valadao Alleged They Were Not Paid “With Accurate Wage Statements” And The Valadao Farms “Failed To Pay All Wages Owed To Them Upon The Termination Of Their Employment.” [Tulare County Superior Court, Joint Stipulation Of Class Action Settlement And Release Of Claims, filed 3/8/18 (page 3)]
A Stipulated Judgement Was A Form Of Settlement. “Stipulated Judgment: An agreement between the parties to a case that settles a case. For example, if you and your spouse agree on all the matters about your divorce, you can submit a stipulated judgment to the court. The stipulated judgment must be signed by both you and your spouse, and will list your agreements about the division of property and debts, child and spousal support and child custody and visitation. Once the stipulated judgment is signed by the judge, it becomes the judgment in your case.” [Justia, accessed 8/21/19]

Valadao And Triple V Cattle Were Accused Of Malicious Intent For Ordering, And Then Failing To Pay For, Over $1 Million In Animal Products To A Company

Triple V Cattle Was Accused Of Failing To Pay Farm Supply Company Lawley’s For $1 Million In Animal Products

Lawley’s Filed A Lawsuit Alleging Triple V Cattle Failed To Pay For $1 Million In Animal Products. “California agricultural bank Rabobank sued Triple V in November for breaking its contract, alleging the farm defaulted on $8.3 million in loans for heifers and feed. Valadao Dairy Was Found To Be Responsible For 80 Percent Of The Accident That Resulted In An Employee Losing His Right Arm Below The Elbow

Valadao Dairy Was Found To Be Responsible For 80 Percent Of The Accident That Resulted In An Employee Losing His Right Arm Below The Elbow. “Former Rep. David Valadao’s family dairy is asking a California appeals court to reconsider part of a recent jury verdict that held the farm mostly responsible for a 2016 accident that severed an employee’s hand. His dairy’s worker’s compensation insurance carrier had been trying to limit its potential financial losses from an incident in which employee Carlos Martinez Ocampo’s arm was caught in an auger and cut off below the right elbow. A Kings County jury in October found that Valadao Dairy bore the greatest share of responsibility for the incident, assigning 80 percent of fault to the dairy, while the manufacturer of the equipment, Tulare-based U.S. Farm Systems, was deemed 20 percent responsible.” [Fresno Bee, 2/11/20]

Valadao Was Not Involved In The Farm’s Day-To-Day Operations At The Time Of The Incident
Valadao Was Not Involved In The Farm’s Day-To-Day Operations At The Time Of The Incident. “Valadao was not involved in the farm’s day-to-day operations at the time of the accident. Years earlier, before he was elected to Congress, Valadao had a role in purchasing the equipment. He was called as a witness in the civil trial and pressed in court about the dairy’s employee training. Ocampo was injured while cleaning a manure separator, which is used to create cow bedding from manure. The machine was turned on while Ocampo was cleaning it, and he fell and lost a portion of his right arm below his elbow in a large drill called an auger.” [Fresno Bee, 2/11/20]

CalOSHA Cited Valadao Dairy For Not Providing Training On The Waste Separator And For Failing To Have Guardrails Around The Platform The Worker Fell From

CalOSHA Cited Valadao Dairy For Not Providing Training On The Waste Separator And For Failing To Have Guardrails Around The Platform The Worker Fell From. “The California Division of Occupational Safety and Health (CalOSHA) cited and fined Valadao Dairy for safety violations. One was that ‘the employer did not provide training and instruction for the employee who was injured operating the waste separator at the dairy.’ The second, more serious violation was for failing to have guardrails around the elevated platform where Ocampo was standing as he scraped manure solids that had clogged a screen near the auger. CalOSHA initially proposed to fine the dairy $13,275 for the violations; the penalty was later negotiated down to $6,450, which was paid in May 2017. When asked if Valadao believed the farm shared any responsibility for the accident, his campaign characterized Ocampo’s injury as a ‘tragic accident’ and said Valadao wasn’t interested in pointing fingers. Neither a lawyer for Valadao Dairy nor a lawyer for the dairy’s insurance company returned multiple requests for comment.” [Fresno Bee, 2/11/20]

A U.S. Farm Systems Representative Testified That He Told Valadao That The Power To The Machine Should Be Shut Off When A Worker Was On The Platform The Worker Fell From, But Valadao Denied Being Told That

A U.S. Farm Systems Representative Testified That He Told Valadao That The Power To The Machine Should Be Shut Off When A Worker Was On The Platform The Worker Fell From, But Valadao Denied Being Told That. “In a transcript from the October trial, Valadao says that he bought the manure separator in 2000 from U.S. Farm. His congressional campaign told The Fresno Bee that Valadao purchased it through a contractor. Reajan Houle, the representative from U.S. Farm Systems, testified that he told David Valadao in 2002 the power should be turned off whenever a worker went up on the top platform. That’s where Ocampo was was when he fell. ‘I am a hundred percent certain of that,’ Houle said. He said he repeated that to David Valadao when a second auger was installed in 2005, and told him how ‘dangerous’ the machine could be. David Valadao denied he had been told that. He also said that they typically left training up to the insurance company, and that he had never trained employees personally.” [Fresno Bee, 2/11/20]

[California Occupational Safety and Health Appeals Board, Inspection Number 1884525, case closed 5/10/17 (Page 52)]

CAUSES AND CONCLUSIONS:

During the investigation it was discovered that Employee #1 was cleaning off the manure separator when he had slipped and fallen onto the auger blade. The employee did not ensure that the auger blades were locked out prior to standing on the platform. The employer did not provide a guardrail preventing the employee from falling off the platform.

OCampo V. U.S. Farm Systems Regarded A Severe Bodily Injury At Valadao Dairy That Occurred In October 2016. [Kings County Superior Court, Case Number 17C-0253, Complaint, filed 9/12/17]

1. At all times prior to October 16, 2016, Defendants and DOES 1-25, and each of them, negligently designed, manufactured, distributed, sold, leased, rented, maintained, inspected, repaired, and built the manure separator system located at Valadao Dairy, located in Hanford, California. Said manure separator was in use at the time of the subject incident that occurred on October 16, 2016. Based upon the lack of protective guarding, guard railing, and/or emergency stop, among other things, it was virtually certain to any reasonable person and, specifically, to Defendants and DOES 1-25, and each of them, that a worker would come in contact with the auger while using, operating, and/or maintaining the manure separator. At all relevant times, the state of the manure separator was in violation of one or more state and/or federal regulations. On or about October 16, 2016, Plaintiff was using, maintaining, and/or operating the manure separator as intended. During the course of this use, maintenance, and/or operation, and as a proximate result of the defects herein described, Plaintiff's arm came in contact with the auger, pulling his arm into the auger component of the manure separator, causing him severe bodily injury.

9. As a direct and proximate result of Defendants and DOES 1 to 25, and each of their, aforementioned conduct, Plaintiff sustained serious and life-threatening injuries, including loss of limb, and incurred related damages including, but not limited to, past and future medical expenses, past and future wage loss and loss of earning capacity, to be proved at the time of trial.

As of January 1, 2018, SB 27 will prohibit the use of antibiotics on livestock ‘unless ordered by a licensed veterinarian through a prescription or veterinary feed.’ To date, this is the strictest US law limiting the use of antibiotics in livestock. The overuse of antibiotics has led to the spread of dangerous drug-resistant superbugs, such as MRSA. According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), antibiotic-resistant superbugs kill 23,000 Americans each year, and cause infection in 2 million. The rise of these superbugs is due largely to the overuse of antibiotics.” [Daily Beast, 10/21/15]

- 1977: Penicillin Was Banned From Animal Feed By The FDA, Citing How Consuming The Drug In Food Could Lead To Resistance To Antibiotics In Humans. “The Food and Drug Administration said yesterday that it plans to ban the use in animal feeds of certain antibiotics used to treat infections in humans. The FDA’s reason is that routine, long-term use of germ-killing drugs in animals can lead to the development of bacteria that resist antibiotic treatment - first in the animals, then in the humans that handle meat, eggs and milk. Commissioner Donald Kennedy has made his immediate target penicillin, to be followed by tetracycline and ultimately by other antibiotics whose routine use in feed can build resistance to therapy in humans.” [Washington Post, 8/30/77]

- Daily Beast: “The Overuse Of Antibiotics Has Led To The Spread Of Dangerous Drug-Resistant Superbugs, Such As MRSA.” “Governor of California Jerry Brown signed a law Saturday banning the use of antibiotics to promote growth in livestock such as cows, chickens, and pigs. As of January 1, 2018, SB 27 will prohibit the use of antibiotics on livestock ‘unless ordered by a licensed veterinarian through a prescription or veterinary feed.’ To date, this is the strictest US law limiting the use of antibiotics in livestock. The overuse of antibiotics has led to the spread of dangerous drug-resistant superbugs, such as MRSA. According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), antibiotic-resistant superbugs kill 23,000 Americans each year, and cause infection in 2 million. The rise of these superbugs is due largely to the overuse of antibiotics.” [Daily Beast, 10/21/15]

Valadao’s Farm Businesses Supplied Cattle To Central Valley Meat Co., Which Was Repeatedly Forced To Stop Its Operations For Unsanitary Conditions And Suspected Plastic In Its Meat

Valadao Dairy And Triple V Dairy Supplied Cattle To Central Valley Meat Co. [Department of Agriculture Food Safety and Inspection Service, dated 2/20/13 & 2/21/13]

2014: Central Valley Meat Co. Was Temporarily Forced To Close After Federal Inspectors Determined It Had Unsanitary Conditions. “A Hanford meat processing plant that was closed by federal inspectors on Monday because of unsanitary conditions has reopened. Central Valley Meat Co., a supplier for the National School Lunch Program, resumed operations after taking corrective action to fix the problem. Neither the company nor the U.S. Department of Agriculture disclosed what those unsanitary conditions were. The USDA’s Food Safety Inspection Service withdrew its inspectors from the plant on Monday after violations were found.” [Fresno Bee, 2/19/14]

2013: Central Valley Meat Co. Recalled Over 147,000 Pounds Of Meat Suspected To Contain Small Pieces Of Plastic. “Last fall, the 50-year-old company recalled more than 147,000 pounds of ground beef because it might have contained small pieces of plastic. The meat was shipped to distribution centers in Arkansas, Nebraska, North Carolina, California, Montana and Texas and was intended for the nation’s school lunch program.” [Fresno Bee, 2/19/14]
2012: Central Valley Meat Co. Halted Operations For A Week After An Undercover Video Showed Animal Cruelty At The Company. “In August 2012, the company temporarily suspended its operations for a week after the release of an undercover video showing acts of animal cruelty. The secretly taped video triggered the USDA to withdraw its meat inspectors, preventing the company from operating.” [Fresno Bee, 2/19/14]

2014: Valadao’s Opponent Accused Valadao Of Violating Food Safety Laws, Violations Valadao’s Campaign Dismissed As “Routine And Common”

2014: Valadao’s Opponent Accused Valadao Of Violating Food Safety Laws. Amanda Renteria accused Congressman David Valadao, R-Hanford, Tuesday of violating food safety laws by sending cattle from his dairies to slaughter with illegal levels of antibiotics in their tissues. […] Renteria’s campaign manager, Michael Trujillo, said the two family dairies Valadao is associated with -- Triple V Dairy and Valadao Dairy -- sent tainted cattle to two San Joaquin Valley meat companies. […] The Renteria campaign released documents from the U.S. Department of Agriculture that show five animals from the two dairies were discovered with levels of antibiotics and other chemicals in their tissues in excess of what the law allows between 2003 and 2012.” [Bakersfield Californian, 10/28/14]

• Valadao’s Campaign Dismissed The Violations As “Routine And Common.” Valadao’s campaign said the late campaign attack is an example of just how much Renteria doesn’t know about agriculture. ‘The occurrences Amanda Renteria referred to in her late night email are routine and common within the dairy industry. Anyone with a simple understanding of agriculture would know that,’ wrote Valadao campaign spokesman Tal Eslick. ‘Clearly Amanda Renteria is not equipped to represent the largest dairy district in the United States.’” [Bakersfield Californian, 10/28/14]

One Veterinary Medicine Professor Said The Five Violations Were “Not Necessarily Unusual,” And Another Expert Said “These Violations Do Occur, But They Do Not Occur Very Often”

One Veterinary Medicine Professor Said The Five Violations Were “Not Necessarily Unusual.” “Terry Lehenbauer, a University of California, Davis, association veterinary medicine professor working at an extension facility in Tulare, offered some perspective. Lehenbauer […] said that if a dairy has two violations in a 12-month period, the dairy is placed on a repeat offender list online. The five animal violations in the report were May 2003, June 2007, January 2008, July 2009 and January 2012. Lehenbauer said that the number and frequency of the violations “is not necessarily unusual” for a large dairy like Valadao’s. ‘From all appearances, this looks to be within a reasonable scenario,’ he said. ‘They are [sending] hundreds and hundreds of animals to market a year.’ He noted that the two Valadao-linked dairies had no violations listed after January 2012. [Hanford Sentinel, 10/29/14]

Another Expert Said “These Violations Do Occur, But They Do Not Occur Very Often.” “Another dairy expert, Fresno State animal science professor Randy Perry, offered this take on the frequency of such violations in the industry: ‘These violations do occur, but they do not occur very often.’ Lehenbauer said that in an ideal world, there would be no mistakes where animals go to slaughterhouse with elevated antibiotic levels in their system.” [Hanford Sentinel, 10/29/14]

• Two Drugs Listed In The Violation Reports Were Not Labeled For Use With Cattle, But The Drugs Could Be Administered Under Veterinary Supervision According To Lehenbauer. “Four of the six drugs listed in the USDA report are labelled for use in cattle, and have tolerance limits for tissue samples. The remaining two substances — Sulfamethazine and gentamicin — are not labeled for use with cattle. The allowable tissue limit on those drugs is zero when the animals go to the slaughterhouse. But the drugs can be administered to cows under veterinary supervision, Lehenbauer said. ‘That happens routinely,’ he said.” [Hanford Sentinel, 10/29/14]

• Lehenbauer Said Animals Sent To Market Have A Hold Time To Rid Their Bodies Of The Drugs, But Mistakes Do Happen. “Terry Lehenbauer […] explained the context in which the violations occurred. […]
Animals that have been given the kind of antibiotics documented in the Valadao violations must not be milked or sent to market before a hold time has expired. That hold time, Lehenbauer said, allows the animal’s metabolism to process the chemicals. But mistakes do happen, he said. The dairy industry is working to reduce situations where recently treated animals are accidentally sent to market because of poor tracking or mix-up or because they were given too large a dose of antibiotics. One other chemical found in a Valadao animal, however, was not allowed for use in cattle. If cattle is not listed on the label for the drug, the drug cannot be administered to cattle, Lehenbauer said. ‘Any residue found is in violation,’ he said. The USDA has been more vigilant on that rule in recent years, Lehenbauer said.” [Bakersfield Californian, 10/28/14]

2016: Triple V Dairy Did Not Have Proper Flood Protection

2016: Triple V Dairy Did Not Have Proper Flood Protection. According to the Central Valley Regional Water Quality Control Board, Triple V Dairy had a “lack of flood protection” that was “in violation of General Specification B.3.” General Specification B.3 states, “In the Tulane Lake Basin, existing milk cow dairies in operation on or before 25 July 1975 shall be protected from inundation or washout from overflow from any stream channel during 20-year peak stream flows and existing milk cow dairies constructed after 25 July 1975 shall be protected from 100-year peak stream flows. Existing milk cow dairies that were expanded after 8 December 1984 shall be protected from 100-year peak stream flows.” [Central Valley Regional Water Quality Control Board Inspection, 3/28/17]
2016: A Triple V Dairy Well-Head And Standpipe Were Surrounded By Evidence Of Dried Wastewater.

According to the Central Valley Regional Water Quality Control Board, a well-head and standpipe were surrounded by evidence of dried wastewater, a violation. “Four water supply wells are within 100 feet of fields designated as land application areas. According to the well setback plan (documented in the Dairy documents folder), wastewater and manure are not to be applied to field checks within 100 feet of water supply wells. Analytical results reported in the current Annual Report for the Valadao Dairy indicate that the groundwater sample(s) from one or more of the domestic water supply wells exceeded the Primary Maximum Contaminant Level (MCL) for nitrate as established by Title 22 of the California Code of Regulations (Title 22) §64431. Title 22 specifies the MCL for nitrate ($no_3^-$) at 45 milligrams per liter (mg/L) which is equivalent to nitrate nitrogen ($no_3^-N$) at 10 mg/L.

The California Department of Health Services has determined that nitrate poses an acute health concern at certain levels of exposure particularly for infants and pregnant women. An information sheet prepared by the California Department of Health Services concerning excess nitrate in drinking water is enclosed.

You may want to consult a toxicologist, your doctor, or other knowledgeable person to determine whether the presence of excessive nitrate in your well water poses a health risk. Your local health department may best advise you regarding an alternate drinking water supply.

TRIPLE V DAIRY, WDID 5C54NC00194, 18193 SOUTH “I” DRIVE, TULARE, TULARE COUNTY

On 7 October 2005, we received your Report of Waste Discharge (RWD) for the subject facility that reported the maximum number of mature cows (milking and dry) present in any one month between November 2004 and October 2005 was 960 animals. On 29 June 2007, we sent a letter notifying you that the Waste Discharge Requirements General Order for Existing Milk Cow Dairies, Order No. R5-2007-0035, (General Order) applied to your dairy. That letter informed you that based on your RWD received 7 October 2005, to comply with the General Order you could not exceed 1,104 mature cows on the facility.

On 12 June 2008, we received a letter prepared by Dr. Carlos Rodriguez of the Tulare Veterinary Hospital. In this letter Dr. Rodriguez stated, “I have reviewed my records that show I was at Triple V Dairy on October 15th, 2005. At that date the facility had nearly 1,000 milk cows and there seems to have been more than 100 cows in his dry cow pen.” Dr. Rodriguez’s letter did not include records documenting the number of cattle. After review, we find that Dr. Rodriguez’s letter does not provide adequate documentation to revise the number of animals reported in your RWD submitted 7 October 2005.

General Order Finding 11 defines an expansion as an increase in the number of mature cows of more than 15 percent beyond the number reported in the RWD received in October 2005. Prohibition A.15 of the General Order prohibits the expansion of existing milk cow dairy facilities. Section 13260(c) of the California Water Code (CWC) and the General Reporting Requirement C.10 of the Standard Provisions and Reporting Requirements of the General Order, require Dischargers to file a RWD at least 140 days prior to making any material change in the character, location, or volume of the discharge. An expansion as defined by the General Order constitutes a material change.

On 28 December 2007, we received your Preliminary Dairy Facility Assessment (PDFA) that reported that the facility housed 1,150 mature cows. It appears your facility may be in violation of the General Order Prohibition A.15 and CWC §13260.

NOTICE OF VIOLATION

Mr. Edward Valadao
Valadao Dairy
17293 Avenue 9 1/2

VALADAO DAIRY, 17293 AVENUE 9 ½, KINGS COUNTY

On 14 December 2001, Anne Ferranti of our staff inspected your dairy to assess compliance with Title 27 of the California Code of Regulations (Title 27); the Water Quality Control Plan for the Tulare Lake Basin, Second Edition, 1995 (Basin Plan); and the Conditional Waiver of Waste Discharge Requirements (Waiver) and associated Monitoring and Reporting Program No. 5-00-805 (MRP) issued 1 March 2000. The corrals, wastewater retention ponds, and cropland were observed during the inspection. During the inspection, staff found you have failed to submit a groundwater and wastewater monitoring plan as required by the waiver. Enclosed is the Facilities Inspection Report.

During the inspection it was estimated there are 622 acres double cropped to corn silage and wheat available to receive the dairy waste, of which 572 acres are leased. The solid manure is either exported off site or composted for animal bedding. Your son reported that the dairy herd consists of approximately 1,500 Holstein milk cows; 176 dry cows; and 746 heifers. The milk cows and 70 heifers are housed in freestall corrals, and the remainder of the herd is kept in flushed lane corrals.

Title 27, Section 22563 requires that dairy wastes shall be applied “at rates which are reasonable for the crop, soil climate, special local situations, management system, and type of manure.” Our nutrient and irrigation management calculations suggest you have sufficient cropland to assimilate the nitrogen and salt contained in the wet waste produced by the present herd. However, the Waiver requires 1,200 tons of solid manure (at 30% moisture) be exported off site annually.

During the inspection, your son indicated there were water supply wells located on the property. No information was available regarding the construction details of the water supply wells. The inspection revealed that the water supply wells are located more than 100 feet from areas where animals are confined or wastewater is applied.

As a condition of the Waiver, Monitoring and Reporting Program No. 5-00-805 (MRP) required you to provide a groundwater and wastewater monitoring plan to the Board within 90 days of the effective date.

After Valadao Signed A Lease Agreement In Which He Agreed To Pay Irrigation Taxes On The Land, He Was Sued By The Lessor For Failing To Pay $39,162 In Irrigation Taxes

2007: Valadao Was Named In A Lawsuit Claiming He Failed To Pay $39,162 In Irrigation Taxes

August 2007: Valadao Was The Lead Defendant In A Breach Of Contract Complaint. [Tulare County Superior Court, Complaint, Case # 07-224967, filed 8/23/07]
The Plaintiff’s Complaint Said They Leased Valadao And His Family Farm Land To Operate A Dairy Facility In Tulare. [Tulare County Superior Court, Complaint, Case # 07-224967, filed 8/23/07]

4. Within the past four years, the Cardozas entered into a written lease (the lease) with Defendants David Valadao, Eddie Valadao, and Dimas Valadao (the Valadaos), wherein the Valadaos agreed to lease certain real property (the premises) commonly known as 18193 South “I” Drive, in Tulare, California, from the Cardozas for use as a dairy facility during the period from March 1, 2005, through December 31, 2010. The lease is attached to this complaint as Exhibit A, and incorporated herein by reference as if fully set forth. [Tulare County Superior Court, Complaint, Case # 07-224967, filed 8/23/07]

The Complaint Alleged Valadao And His Family Farm Agreed To Pay “All Irrigation District Tolls And Charges In Connection With The Delivery Of Water To The Leased Premises.” [Tulare County Superior Court, Complaint, Case # 07-224967, filed 8/23/07]

5. Pursuant to the terms of the lease, the Valadaos agreed to pay for all utilities servicing the premises during the term of the lease, and agreed to pay all irrigation district tolls and charges in connection with the delivery of water to the leased premises. [Tulare County Superior Court, Complaint, Case # 07-224967, filed 8/23/07]

The Plaintiff Claimed They Sold The Property And Were Forced To Pay $39,162 In Irrigation Taxes That Stemmed From Valadao’s Use Of The Property To The Lower Tule River Irrigation District. [Tulare County Superior Court, Complaint, Case # 07-224967, filed 8/23/07]

8. On or about September, 2006, the Cardozas sold the subject premises to a third party.

9. In connection with the sale of the premises, the Cardozas were required to pay irrigation taxes to the Lower Tule River Irrigation District in the amount of $39,162.33, stemming from the Valadaos’ use of the premises, which were the responsibility of the Valadaos pursuant to the terms of the lease. [Tulare County Superior Court, Complaint, Case # 07-224967, filed 8/23/07]

The Plaintiff Claimed Valadao Refused To Pay The $39,162 In Irrigation Taxes. [Tulare County Superior Court, Complaint, Case # 07-224967, filed 8/23/07]
10. The Cardozas have performed all other conditions, covenants and promises under the contract on their part to be performed.

11. Although Cardozas have demanded that the Valadaos pay the amount of $39,162.33 to the Cardozas, the principal sum of $39,162.33 is still due and owing to the Cardozas.

[Tulare County Superior Court, Complaint, Case # 07-224967, filed 8/23/07]

Notable Highlights From Past Campaigns

Several Of Valadao’s Ads Were Repeatedly Proven False Or Were Considered Misleading

2016: Several Of Valadao’s Claims In An Attack Ad Against Emilio Huerta Were Proven False By Court Documents

2016: Valadao's Attack Ad That Claimed His Opponent Sued A Woman for Her Land And Wells Was Proven Wrong By Court Records. “Congressman David Valadao's newest attack ad against Democratic challenger Emilio Huerta paints him as a chainsaw-wielding madman who used intimidation to try to take a woman's land and water well. The problem: several of the ad's claims are false, according to Kern County Superior Court records. The ad, titled ‘Dangerous,’ starts with Valadao’s voice saying, ‘I approved this message’ and then slides in a reference to a Huerta land deal in Fresno County that Valadao has criticized in earlier spots. Then it moves into Chainsaw Massacre territory. ‘Huerta sued a woman to get her land and water wells,’ the female narrator states. ‘She was harassed and even threatened with a buzzsaw.’ The property battle referenced took place in 2007 and 2008 in Keene, where the United Farm Workers' headquarters, La Paz, is located. Huerta said he was an officer of Stonybrook Corp., the entity that managed the La Paz property for the UFW and its related entities. The property had a water well that the neighbors wanted, Huerta said. The situation got nasty, he said, and ended up in Kern County Superior Court in July 2007. A year later, on July 22, 2008, the court ruled that while there had been an error in recording the transfer of the property from the UFW to Stonybrook, the disputed property belonged to Stonybrook. According to court records, Valadao's ad is factually inaccurate. You can't sue someone to get 'her land and water wells’ if she does not own the land or water wells.” [Fresno Bee, 11/4/16]

Fresno Bee: Valadao’s Ad Said Haas Was “Harassed And Even Threatened With A Buzzsaw,” But, “Haas Clearly Stated In Court Documents That Huerta Wasn’t There” When The Harassment Happened. “Then it moves into Chainsaw Massacre territory. ‘Huerta sued a woman to get her land and water wells,’ the female narrator states. ‘She was harassed and even threatened with a buzzsaw.’ […] The Californian asked Valadao’s campaign to address the issue of the ownership of the property. ‘The fact is a woman filed a restraining order against Emilio Huerta because she felt threatened and frightened,’ responded Valadao spokesman Cole Rojewski. ‘While legal disputes and mediation are common, threatening a woman with physical violence is never appropriate.’ And that brings us to the bit about the chainsaw. According to Kern County Superior Court records provided by the Huerta campaign, there is no proof Haas was ever threatened. The claim was dismissed. And Haas clearly stated in court documents that Huerta wasn’t there when the harassment allegedly happened. According to the Oct. 29, 2008, ‘Request for Orders to Stop Harassment’ Haas filed with the court against Huerta, a six-person team of Stonybrook staff led by the corporation’s project manager Rudy Delgado shoved her and threatened her with sticks and a ‘buzzsaw’ on Oct. 12, 2008. Haas claimed the crew threatened her at Huerta’s direction. But he wasn’t there. Huerta said the crew never threatened her, and neither did he. ‘I never walked around with a chainsaw or sticks or stones and threatened people,’ Huerta said. Huerta said the crew was on the property, which is a natural watershed, doing an annual clean-up of brush that grows thick in the area. ‘They were using chainsaws to clean up brush and debris,’ Huerta said. The court never approved Haas’ request for a preliminary restraining order.” [Fresno Bee, 11/4/16]

2018: Fresno Bee: Valadao’s Campaign Sent Out A Mailer That “Appeared To Be Misleading” About A Local Small Business Owned In Part By TJ Cox

2018: Fresno Bee: Valadao’s Campaign Sent Out A Mailer About A Local Small Business Owned In Part By TJ Cox. “The majority owner of a Fresno senior living facility specializing in Alzheimer's care has released a video statement challenging Rep. David Valadao's characterization of her business in advertisements and public statements targeting her business partner and Valadao challenger TJ Cox. During a debate last week, Valadao was asked about the mailers and television ads his campaign had released criticizing Bella Vista and Cox, who is a minority owner and listed on state documents as a licensee for the facility.” [Fresno Bee, 11/1/18]

Fresno Bee: “One Of The Campaign Mailers’ More Egregious Claims Appears To Be Misleading.” “But one of the campaign mailers' more egregious claims appears to be misleading. The mailer features a picture of a bruised senior, and it accuses Bella Vista of failing to notify a resident's family when he or she was hurt, resulting in further injury. The campaign cited a Social Services document, dated Dec. 13. There were actually two documents filed that day on the same incident. The first document from that date shows the facility did fail to notify the resident's family when he or she was hurt, resulting in further injury. The report reads: ‘This posed a potential risk to the health/safety and/or personal rights of resident R1.’ Valadao's campaign confirmed this document was the one it referenced when preparing the mailer. However, a second investigation of the same incident concluded the facility was not responsible for the injury in question.” [Fresno Bee, 11/1/18]

Valadao’s Mailer Accused Bella Vista, A Senior Living Home, Of Failing To Notify A Resident’s Family When The Resident Was Hurt, Resulting In Further Injury. “The mailer features a picture of a bruised senior, and it accuses Bella Vista of failing to notify a resident’s family when he or she was hurt, resulting in further injury. The campaign cited a Social Services document, dated Dec. 13. There were actually two documents filed that day on the same incident.” [Fresno Bee, 11/1/18]
Documents Show Bella Vista Did Fail To Notify The Resident’s Family Of Injury But Did Not Mention That Further Injury Occurred As A Result Of This Failure. “The first document from that date shows the facility did fail to notify the resident’s family, but it does not mention that further injury occurred as a result of this failure. The report reads: “This posed a potential risk to the health/safety and/or personal rights of resident R1.” Valadao’s campaign confirmed this document was the one it referenced when preparing the mailer.” [Fresno Bee, 11/1/18]

A Second Investigation Of The Same Incident Concluded That The Facility Was Not Responsible For The Injury Of The Resident. “However, a second investigation of the same incident concluded the facility was not responsible for the injury in question. Valadao also said Cox and the facility have been sued, which is true. However, no guilt has been assessed in the lawsuit in question.” [Fresno Bee, 11/1/18]

A Former Valadao Staffer, Without Disclosing His Relationship To Valadao, Wrote A Story In The San Joaquin Valley Sun That Was Then Cited In Anti-TJ Cox Ads

Alex Tavlian, A Republican Attorney, Ran The News Outlet The San Joaquin Valley Sun. “The Board of Supervisors threw its support behind a map drawn by Alex Tavlian, a Republican attorney who has been paid as a strategist by all three of the Republican supervisors […] The Valley Future Foundation Inc. in 2019 announced its first initiative would be The San Joaquin Valley Sun, a news outlet also run by Tavlian.” [Fresno Bee, 11/15/21]

Alex Tavlian Wrote A Story In The San Joaquin Valley Sun That Was Cited In Political Ads Attacking Former Rep. TJ Cox But He Did Not Disclose His Relationship With Valadao In The Story. “In a detailed report on the rise of partisan news sites in California, CalMatters found that Tavlian used his role as executive editor of the Sun to write a story that was cited in political advertisements attacking then-Rep. TJ Cox, who was running for re-election against David Valadao, Tavlian's former boss and client. Tavlian didn't disclose his relationship with Valadao in the story. The attack ads were produced by two outside conservative groups and generated a wide paid audience on Facebook.” [Fresno Bee, 11/15/21]

Fresno Bee: Valadao Said Water Would Be His Top Issue In 2020 And Criticized A Bill Cox Cosponsored

“Water will be his top issue, and not just for farmers. ‘It's not just about the agriculture component of it,’ Valadao said. ‘We've got communities like Kettleman (City), Delano, Lanare and all these communities that truly need water. ... I think we take it for granted when we turn on the taps and we have water there.’ Valadao also criticized a proposed House of Representatives bill cosponsored by Cox for water infrastructure. Valadao said the legislation doesn't actually guarantee water will be secured for the Valley.” [Fresno Bee, 8/28/19]

Oakdale Leader: The SAVE Water Resources Act Was “Aimed At Increasing Water Storage Opportunities”

“The SAVE Water Resources Act touches on a broad range of water policy areas aimed at increasing water storage opportunities, spurring innovation in water sustainability, and making responsible federal investments in aging water infrastructure. The bill aims to improve water storage by requiring the Bureau of Reclamation to expedite feasibility studies for four specific storage projects in the Central Valley, including: Sites Reservoir, Del Puerto Canyon Reservoir, Los Vaqueros and San Luis Reservoirs and provides $100 million in storage funding. It also helps farmers prepare for SGMA by leveraging federal resources to identify prime locations for groundwater storage and recharge in California and across the Western United States. To help spur innovation, the bill creates the “X-Prize” program to incentivize private sector development of cutting-edge water projects. It also invests in water reuse and recycling by increasing funding for WaterSMART programs from $50 million to $500 million and extending the program’s authorization.” [Oakdale Leader, 5/1/19]

- The SAVE Water Resources Act Was Introduced By Rep. Josh Harder And Was Cosponsored By TJ Cox. “Representative Josh Harder today announced the Securing Access for the Central Valley and Enhancing (SAVE) Water Resources Act […] The bill is supported by elected officials of both parties. The bill is cosponsored by Congressmen John Garamendi, Ami Bera, TJ Cox, and Jim Costa.” [Representative Josh Harder, Press Release, 4/24/19]

The SAVE Water Resources Act Provided $300 Million To Establish A Water Infrastructure And Drought Solutions Fund. “Also, the bill establishes a water infrastructure and drought solutions fund to provide $300 million for water surface and groundwater storage, water reclamation and reuse, and WaterSMART program projects. It creates an innovative financing program which would provide low-interest federal loans to fund local water infrastructure projects and reauthorizes the Rural Water Supply Act, which requires the Bureau of Reclamation to work with rural communities to improve access to safe and clean sources of drinking water.” [Oakdale Leader, 5/1/19]

The Bill Was Supported By Various Local Farming And Water Groups

The SAVE Water Resources Act Was Supported By Various Local Farming Groups Like The Stanislaus County Farm Bureau And Western Growers Association. “It is also supported by a diverse set of stakeholders, including: Stanislaus County Farm Bureau, Western Growers Association, Modesto Irrigation District, Turlock Irrigation District, Oakdale Irrigation District, South San Joaquin Irrigation District, Del Puerto Water District, San Luis & Delta-Mendota Water Authority, and Stanislaus County.” [Oakdale Leader, 5/1/19]

2018: Valadao Accepted Contributions From Igor Fruman, Who Allegedly Funneled Foreign Money To US Campaigns, Valadao Pledged To Donate It To Charity

Igor Fruman Donated $2,444 To Valadao, A Donation Valadao Pledged To Donate To Charity In 2019

Igor Fruman Donated $2,444 To Valadao, A Donation Valadao Claimed To Donate To Charity. “McClatchy has reported that Fruman and Parnas, who are both U.S. citizens, made campaign donations to four Republican congressman from California: House Minority Leader Kevin McCarthy and three who lost their re-election bids last November: Jeff Denham, Steve Knight and David Valadao. Fruman gave Valadao, who is challenging the Democrat who unseated him, a donation of $2,444. Valadao's spokesman said the candidate will donate the funds to charity.” [Sacramento Bee, 10/13/19]

According To The FEC, Valadao's Congressional Campaign Made $7,845.35 In Charitable Contribution In October 2019. [FEC, accessed 3/1/22]

Fruman Was Named In A Federal Indictment Alleging Furman And His Partners Were Illegally Funneling Foreign Money To US Campaigns

Fruman Was Named In A Federal Indictment Alleging Furman And His Partners Were Illegally Funneling Foreign Money To US Campaigns. “In the federal indictment issued by a grand jury in New York last month, prosecutors allege that Kukushkin, the Sacramento cannabis investor, and three partners -- Lev Parnas, Igor Fruman and businessman David Correia -- planned to form a marijuana business that would be funded by a foreigner (identified only as ‘Foreign National-1’), McClatchy has reported. The team planned to get retail cannabis licenses approved in several states by funneling the foreign money to campaigns, the indictment alleges. It's illegal for foreigners to donate to U.S. election campaigns. Kukushkin is quoted in the indictment as saying the scheme had to be kept secret because of the unnamed financier's ‘Russian roots and current political paranoia about it.’ The men developed a plan to give up to $2 million of Foreign National-1’s money to state and federal campaigns to get the marijuana licenses approved through a ‘multi-state license strategy.’ They hid the source of the money so that Foreign National-1 wouldn't be linked to the funds, the indictment alleges.” [Sacramento Bee, 10/13/19]

2012: Fresno Bee: “We Recommend That Voters In The 21st Congressional District Support Valadao In The Nov. 6 Election.” “We have been impressed with Assemblyman David Valadao's work in the California Legislature, and believe he is prepared to represent our region in Congress. We recommend that voters in the 21st Congressional District support Valadao in the Nov. 6 election.” [Fresno Bee, Editorial 10/8/12]
Fresno Bee Editorial: Valadao “Has Attempted To Work Across Party Lines In The Democratic-Dominated Assembly, And We Believe He Would Do The Same In The House Of Representatives.” “In the wide open 21st District, we support Valadao, a Republican, and Xiong, a Democrat, and expect they will square off in the November general election. Valadao, a Hanford dairy farmer, has quickly become an important Valley voice in the California Legislature. He has attempted to work across party lines in the Democratic-dominated Assembly, and we believe he would do the same in the House of Representatives. We believe Valadao would be a good fit in this district, which is mostly rural and agricultural.” [Fresno Bee, Editorial, 5/23/12]

2014: The Fresno Bee Endorsed Valadao’s Opponent

2014: Fresno Bee: While We Acknowledge Valadao’s Efforts To Push Immigration Reform Through The Republican Controlled House,” “Voters Should Be Most Concerned About The Effectiveness Of Their Representative.” “While we acknowledge Valadao’s efforts to push immigration reform through the Republican controlled House of Representatives, voters should be most concerned about the effectiveness of their representative. Valadao has fallen short in meeting the needs of his constituents. He sought to repeal Obamacare, voted to shut down the federal government last year (a decision that cost the San Joaquin Valley’s tourism industry many millions of dollars) and failed to convince his GOP colleagues to support immigration reform. Given the lack of access to medical care by many people in his impoverished district before the implementation of Obamacare, his repeated -- and unfruitful -- attempts to repeal the law indicate that he is more in step with the whims of GOP leadership than with the concerns of residents.” [Fresno Bee, Editorial, 10/3/14]

2016: Headline: Fresno Bee: “Twice Have Demonstrated That They Like What Valadao Brings To The Job. We Concur And Recommend Him To Voters For A Third Term.” “Contrary to the advertised claims of an independent group supporting Huerta, Valadao doesn't back controversial GOP presidential nominee Donald Trump and, in fact, was among the first Republicans to distance themselves from the businessman […] But 21st District voters, despite being Democrats by a substantial margin, twice have demonstrated that they like what Valadao brings to the job. We concur and recommend him to voters for a third term.” [Fresno Bee, 10/22/16]

2018: The Fresno Bee Endorsed TJ Cox

2020: The Fresno Bee Endorsed Valadao

2020: The Fresno Bee Endorsed Valadao. “Valadao is trying to recapture a seat he previously held for three terms. In so doing, he bucked the large advantage Democrats have in registration -- a fact that remains true, with Democrats holding a 43.2% to 26.5% lead over Republicans. How did Valadao pull that off? Mostly by being moderate. ‘I am a middle of the road guy,’ he notes. Moderation is in short supply in Congress these days. Perhaps he can restore some of that quality to the GOP by working across the aisle with Democrats, as he says he plans to do if elected. Voters should give Valadao that chance.” [Fresno Bee, Editorial, 2/26/20]

2014: Valadao’s Opponent Accused Valadao Of Violating Food Safety Laws, Violations Valadao’s Campaign Dismissed As “Routine And Common”

2014: Valadao’s Opponent Accused Valadao Of Violating Food Safety Laws. “Amanda Renteria accused Congressman David Valadao, R-Hanford, Tuesday of violating food safety laws by sending cattle from his dairies to slaughter with illegal levels of antibiotics in their tissues. […] Renteria's campaign manager, Michael Trujillo, said the two family dairies Valadao is associated with -- Triple V Dairy and Valadao Dairy -- sent tainted cattle to two San Joaquin Valley meat companies. […] The Renteria campaign released documents from the U.S. Department of Agriculture that show five animals from the two dairies were discovered with levels of antibiotics and other chemicals in their tissues in excess of what the law allows between 2003 and 2012.” [Bakersfield Californian, 10/28/14]

- Valadao’s Campaign Dismissed The Violations As “Routine And Common.” Valadao’s campaign said the late campaign attack is an example of just how much Renteria doesn't know about agriculture. ‘The occurrences Amanda Renteria referred to in her late night email are routine and common within the dairy industry. Anyone with a simple understanding of agriculture would know that,’ wrote Valadao campaign spokesman Tal Eslick. ‘Clearly Amanda Renteria is not equipped to represent the largest dairy district in the United States.’” [Bakersfield Californian, 10/28/14]

One Veterinary Medicine Professor Said The Five Violations Were “Not Necessarily Unusual,” And Another Expert Said “These Violations Do Occur, But They Do Not Occur Very Often”

One Veterinary Medicine Professor Said The Five Violations Were “Not Necessarily Unusual.” “Terry Lehenbauer, a University of California, Davis, association veterinary medicine professor working at an extension facility in Tulare, offered some perspective. Lehenbauer […] said that if a dairy has two violations in a 12-month period, the dairy is placed on a repeat offender list online. The five animal violations in the report were May 2003, June 2007, January 2008, July 2009 and January 2012. Lehenbauer said that the number and frequency of the violations “is not necessarily unusual” for a large dairy like Valadao’s. ‘From all appearances, this looks to be within a reasonable scenario,’ he said. ‘They are [sending] hundreds and hundreds of animals to market a year.’ He noted that the two Valadao-linked dairies had no violations listed after January 2012. [Hanford Sentinel, 10/29/14]

Another Expert Said “These Violations Do Occur, But They Do Not Occur Very Often.” “Another dairy expert, Fresno State animal science professor Randy Perry, offered this take on the frequency of such violations in the industry: ‘These violations do occur, but they do not occur very often.’ Lehenbauer said that in an ideal world, there would be no mistakes where animals go to slaughterhouse with elevated antibiotic levels in their system.” [Hanford Sentinel, 10/29/14]

- Two Drugs Listed In The Violation Reports Were Not Labeled For Use With Cattle, But The Drugs Could Be Administered Under Veterinary Supervision According To Lehenbauer. “Four of the six drugs listed in the USDA report are labelled for use in cattle, and have tolerance limits for tissue samples. The remaining two substances – Sulfamethazine and gentamicin – are not labeled for use with cattle. The allowable tissue limit on those drugs is zero when the animals go to the slaughterhouse. But the drugs can be administered to cows under veterinary supervision, Lehenbauer said. ‘That happens routinely,’ he said.” [Hanford Sentinel, 10/29/14]

- Lehenbauer Said Animals Sent To Market Have A Hold Time To Rid Their Bodies Of The Drugs, But Mistakes Do Happen. “Terry Lehenbauer […] explained the context in which the violations occurred. […] Animals that have been given the kind of antibiotics documented in the Valadao violations must not be milked or sent to market before a hold time has expired. That hold time, Lehenbauer said, allows the animal’s metabolism to process the chemicals. But mistakes do happen, he said. The dairy industry is working to reduce situations where recently treated animals are accidentally sent to market because of poor tracking or mix-up or because they were given too large a dose of antibiotics. One other chemical found in a Valadao animal, however, was not allowed for use in cattle. If cattle is not listed on the label for the drug, the drug cannot be administered to cattle, Lehenbauer said. ‘Any residue found is in violation,’ he said. The USDA has been more vigilant on that rule in recent years, Lehenbauer said.” [Bakersfield Californian, 10/28/14]

2014: Valadao Was Criticized When A Tracker Followed His Opponent Into A Church And Recorded Her

2014: Valadao’s Opponent Renteria Called On Valadao To Apologize For A Tracker That Followed Her And Recorded Her Praying In A Church During A Campaign Events. “In the latest kerfuffle in the intensifying David Valadao/Amanda Renteria battle for Congress, Renteria fired off an open letter Monday asking Valadao to apologize for an incident involving a ‘tracker’ who videotaped Renteria kneeling down to pray in a church in Mendota on Saturday. Renteria said the unnamed man followed her down the aisle into the sanctuary of Our Lady of Guadalupe Church, videotaping and asking questions as she knelt down to pray. Renteria was at the church as part of a campaign stop on her self-dubbed ‘Valley First Tour.’ After acknowledging that it was common for paid ‘trackers’ to follow candidates around looking for material to use in attack ads, Renteria wrote that the episode ‘reached a truly absurd level of inappropriateness and personal violation.’ ‘I’m calling on you to apologize for your actions, and to show more respect for our places of worship,’ Renteria said, addressing the letter to Valadao. ‘Valadao for Congress does not employ trackers,’ said Valadao Spokesman Tal Eslick in a written statement. Eslick said Valadao has been tracked at public and private events for months by unknown people, some of whom videotaped Valadao’s home and farm south of Hanford.” [Hanford Sentinel, 8/25/14]

2014: Valadao And His Opponent Renteria Participated In A Spanish-Language Debate

Fresno Bee: Renteria And Valadao Faced Off In A Spanish-Language Debate. “The two candidates in the 21st Congressional District race took jabs at each other Saturday morning during a debate sponsored by Univision Fresno and Bakersfield at Fresno State. But unlike other debates incumbent David Valadao, R-Hanford, and Sanger Democrat Amanda Renteria have participated in, this one was conducted entirely in Spanish. It was geared toward Latino voters and focused on topics including immigration, water, agriculture and the economy.” [Fresno Bee, 10/4/14]

2011: The NRCC Elevated Valadao “To ‘On The Radar’ Status In It’s ‘Young Guns’ Program.”

“The National Republican Congressional Campaign Committee has elevated Rep. David Valadao to ‘On the Radar’ status in its ‘Young Guns’ program. Young Guns, created by Rep. Kevin McCarthy, R-Bakersfield, and two colleagues, seeks to elect Republicans to the House. ‘On the Radar’ is the second of four steps toward party support. ‘These 12 Republican candidates are demonstrating their ability to reach important organizational and fundraising benchmarks that will bring their campaigns closer to victory over the Democrats who continue to control Washington,’ the NRCC said in a press release at the time.” [Bakersfield Californian, 12/25/11]

Valadao Repeatedly Omitted That He Was A Politician In His Ballot Biography

The Frontrunner: Valadao Did Not List Himself As A State Assemblymen In His Ballot Description In 2010 Or As An Incumbent Congressman In 2012. “In a blog entry on the website of Roll Call (4/7, 76K), Nathan Gonzales wrote that while CA21 Rep. David Valadao ‘is running for re-election’ this fall, ‘you wouldn't know he's the incumbent from his ballot designation.’ Under California law, ‘candidates can choose a short description to accompany their name on the primary and general election ballots.’ Two years ago, Valadao ‘ran as 'Small Businessman/Farmer,' even though he was also serving in the state Assembly at the time. This year, Valadao’ is running as ‘Farmer/Small Businessman,’ but makes no mention of his current office.’ Gonzales added that while Valadao's decision is not ‘surprising considering the historically low job approval ratings of Congress,’ the move ‘puts him at odds with the 46 other congressional incumbents running for re-election in California who do mention their office in some form.’” [The Frontrunner, 4/8/14]

2016: Valadao Was The Lone Member Of California’s Congressional Delegation Who Did Not Mention His Elected Office Next To His Name On The Primary Ballot. “Rep. David Valadao (R) is the lone member of California's congressional delegation who does not mention his elected office next to his name on the June 7 primary ballot, Nathan Gonzales notes. He is once again utilizing ‘Farmer/Small Businessman’ as his ballot designation.” [The Hotline, 5/4/16]

Valadao’s Democratic Opponent In 2012 Dropped Out Of The Race

December 2011: Valadao’s Congressional Campaign Opponent Michael Rubio Pulled Out Of The CA-21 Race. “Bakersfield Democrat Michael Rubio on Tuesday pulled out of a budding Valley congressional race, a move that potentially clears a path to Congress for Hanford Republican David Valadao. ‘It's David's district to lose now,’ said Joel Nelsen, president of Exeter-based California Citrus Mutual. ‘The Democrats are going to have to scramble to find a viable candidate.’ That candidate could be former state Sen. Dean Florez, who has been contemplating a run in the newly constituted 21st Congressional District for months but has taken no steps toward making it a reality -- including raising money. Both Rubio and Valadao have formed federal campaign committees. Florez still hasn't. Florez did not respond to requests for comment, but last month said there was ‘plenty of time’ to make a decision. Tuesday's surprising turn of events came after Rubio -- a first-term state senator -- looked to be on a high-profile political collision course with Valadao, 34, a freshman state Assembly member.” [Fresno Bee, 12/27/11]

Ethics
Significant Findings

- 2020: In what The New Republic called a “skeevy campaign trick,” Valadao’s leadership PAC converted more than $65,000 into campaign cash by mutually swapping leadership PAC donations with 24 other Republican house candidates.
  - Valadao was one of 126 Republican House candidates who took advantage of a leadership PAC loophole that converted more than $2.8 million in donations to those PACs into campaign cash.
  - Valadao quadrupled his swapping, going from swaps with 6 candidates in 2016, up to 13 candidates in 2018 and up to 24 candidates in the 2020 election cycle.
  - In Q1 of the 2022 cycle, Valadao completed swaps with 8 Republican House colleagues, including Reps. Dan Newhouse & Tom Rice.

- 2020: Valadao freed up roughly $60,000 in campaign funds by paying his campaign manager and treasurer out of his leadership PAC during the second half of the election year.

- 2020: At least 4 of Valadao’s congressional staffers were paid reimbursements from Valadao’s congressional campaigns totaling more than $15,000, which potentially violated federal law.
  - 2020: End Citizens United filed a complaint against Valadao alleging that Andrew Renteria was paid from two separate political fundraising accounts in violation of federal election law.
  - 2021: Renteria was paid concurrently as Valadao’s campaign manager and chief of staff for his congressional office.

- 2020: Valadao spent over $70,000 in taxpayer money on what appeared to have been Christmas bonuses for his staff.

- 2013-2018: Valadao spent over $70,000 in taxpayer money on what appeared to have been Christmas bonuses for his staff.

- 2013: Valadao successfully offered an amendment to block construction of a high-speed rail that would have affected the value of land owned by him and his family.
  - Valadao owned land worth more than $1.8 million along the proposed routes for the high-speed rail in California.
  - Valadao’s family had an additional $6.2 million in land within a mile of one or both routes.
  - CREW called on the OCE to investigate Valadao for not disclosing his financial interest in blocking the high-speed rail when he offered his amendment.

- 2013: Valadao introduced legislation that would have increased the value of milk sold in California and benefited him and his family personally as dairy farmers.

- 2019: Valadao did not list one of his companies, Triple V Cattle, in his financial disclosure documents, and the company was only discovered when Valadao listed the company in his bankruptcy filings.

- 2013: Valadao accepted campaign contributions from Steve Wynn, a billionaire casino mogul accused of decades-long pattern of sexual misconduct.
Valadao Repeatedly Violated Or Evaded Campaign Finance Rules, Taking Advantage Of A “Skeezy Campaign Trick”

2020 Cycle: Valadao’s Leadership PAC Converted More Than $65,000 Into Campaign Cash By Mutually Swapping Leadership PAC Donations With 24 Other GOP House Candidates

2020 Cycle: Taking Advantage Of A “Legal Loophole,” Valadao’s Leadership PAC Converted More Than $65,000 Into Campaign Cash By Mutually Swapping Leadership PAC Donations With 24 Other GOP House Candidates. “In Valadao’s case, FEC records show his leadership PAC disbursed $179,561 in the 2019–20 cycle, and close to 75 percent of this was either converted into campaign cash or used to cover general campaign expenses. This included converting more than $65,000 into campaign cash by mutually swapping leadership PAC donations with 24 other GOP House candidates. Most swaps of leadership PAC donations work like this. Candidate A donates an amount from his own leadership PAC to candidate B’s campaign committee. Candidate B’s leadership PAC in turn donates a similar amount to Candidate A’s main campaign account. This allows funds in both candidates’ leadership PACs to go down as their campaign balances increase. By shuffling money between these multiple entities, campaigns create a legal loophole since technically neither campaign is spending its own PAC money directly on its own campaigns.” [New Republic, 7/16/21]
Valadao Was One Of 126 Republican House Candidates Who Took Advantage Of A Leadership PAC Loophole That Converted More Than $2.8 Million In Donations To Those PACs Into Campaign Cash

New Republic: “Team Valadao Employed Several Unusual Tactics Involving Its Political Action Committee—Known As A ‘Leadership PAC’—That Ultimately Provided His Campaign With Upward Of $120,000 In Extra Campaign Cash.” “Valadao would win his seat back by 1,522 votes, but he trailed Cox in fundraising for most of the race. To stay financially close, Team Valadao employed several unusual tactics involving its political action committee—known as a ‘leadership PAC’—that ultimately provided his campaign with upward of $120,000 in extra campaign cash, mostly down the stretch.” [New Republic, 7/16/21]

Valadao Was One Of 126 Republican House Candidates Who Took Advantage Of A Leadership PAC Loophole That Converted More Than $2.8 Million In Donations To Those PACs Into Campaign Cash.

“Valadao was hardly alone. FEC filings show he was among 126 Republican House candidates who took advantage... of the same leadership PAC loophole that helped convert more than $2.8 million in donations to those PACs into campaign cash.” [New Republic, 7/16/21]

The Conversion To Campaign Cash Was Achieved Through Complex Swaps Of Nearly 800 Donations Between Candidates’ Leadership PACs And Their Campaign Committees

The Conversion To Campaign Cash Was Achieved Through Complex Swaps Of Nearly 800 Donations Between Candidates’ Leadership PACs And Their Campaign Committees. “This was achieved through complex swaps of nearly 800 donations between candidates’ leadership PACs and their main campaign committees. Though technically not illegal, the swaps show the lengths candidates are going to in order to move around large amounts of money to compete in ever more expensive House races.” [New Republic, 7/16/21]

Valadao More Than Doubled His Leadership PAC Swaps From 2016 To 2018, Then Nearly Doubled Again In 2020

Valadao Went From Swapping With 6 Candidates In 2016, To 13 Candidates In 2018 And Up To 24 Candidates In The 2020 Election Cycle. “Valadao’s increasing use of mutual leadership PAC swaps follows the Republican trend. He first opened a leadership PAC in 2014 during his second term in office, but he made no swaps that election cycle. However, after that election doubled in cost, he swapped with six other candidates during the 2016 cycle. This doubled in 2018, with swaps with 13 candidates, and then nearly doubled again to 24 last cycle.” [New Republic, 7/16/21]
In Q1 Of The 2022 Cycle, Valadao Completed Swaps With 8 Republican House Colleagues—including Reps. Dan Newhouse & Tom Rice

In Q1, Valadao completed swaps with eight different GOP House colleagues. Either way, the midterm fundraising machines have already revved up, and all indications are that mutual leadership PAC swaps will grow significantly in total dollars and participating candidates. Take the Valadao campaign in just the first quarter of 2021. Last election cycle, it didn’t complete its first mutual leadership PAC donation swap until September 2019. But in Q1, Valadao completed swaps with eight different GOP House colleagues.” [New Republic, 7/16/21]

- Valadao Swapped With Rep. Dan Newhouse And Rep. Tom Rice. “Noteworthy is the fact that two of Valadao’s early swapping partners are House colleagues who made just one swap combined last cycle. The swap newbie is Representative Dan Newhouse, who completed five swaps in Q1 for $12,500 in quick campaign cash. Tom Rice made just one last cycle, but already has four under his belt netting $9,000.” [New Republic, 7/16/21]

During the final six months of the campaign, campaign manager Andrew Renteria’s salary payment from the main campaign account dropped to $1,500 a month—the difference of $4,904 was paid by Valadao’s leadership PAC.

October 2019-May 2020: Valadao’s campaign manager, Andrew Renteria, was initially paid between $6,000 and $6,400 a month through Valadao’s main campaign account. “During the campaign, Valadao’s campaign manager, Andrew Renteria, was paid between $6,000 and $6,400 a month. From October 2019 to May 2020, he was paid completely by Valadao’s main campaign account, like any campaign staffer.” [New Republic, 7/16/21]

During the final six months of the campaign, Renteria’s salary payment from the main Valadao campaign account dropped to $1,500 per month, and the monthly difference ($4,904, or 75 percent of his income) was paid by the leadership PAC.” [New Republic, 7/16/21]

The Leadership PAC’s FEC Filings Listed Its Payments To Andrew Renteria As “Fundraising Consulting” Totaling Just Under $30,000 Which Had The Effect Of Freeing Up The Same Amount For Spending On Other Campaign Needs

The Leadership PAC’s FEC Filings Listed Its Payments To Andrew Renteria As “Fundraising Consulting” Totaling Just Under $30,000 Which Had The Effect Of Freeing Up The Same Amount For Spending On Other Campaign Needs. “The leadership PAC’s FEC filings described these payments to Renteria as for “Fundraising Consulting,” and they totaled just under $30,000. This had the effect of freeing up that same amount for spending on other campaign needs. However, one of the few clear rules of leadership PACs is that no funds can be used to pay directly for campaign expenses.” [New Republic, 7/16/21]

Valadao’s Campaign Treasurer Initially Received 75% Of Her Compensation From The Main Campaign Account, But Later Switched To Receiving 80% Of Her Compensation Through The Leadership PAC, Which Freed Up To $32,000 In The Main Campaign Account

Valadao’s Campaign Treasurer Initially Received 75% Of Her Compensation From The Main Campaign Account, But Later Switched To Receiving 80% Of Her Compensation Through The Leadership PAC, Which Freed Up To $32,000 In The Main Campaign Account. “Not covered by the End Citizens United complaint was a similar shifting of compensation for the campaign treasurer. The treasurer handled FEC filings for both the campaign account and leadership PAC. For most of the campaign, the main campaign account paid about 75 percent of her compensation; however, in the last seven months of the campaign, this ratio more than flipped, with about 80 percent covered by the leadership PAC. This served to free upward of $32,000 in Valadao’s main campaign account that was instead covered by the leadership PAC.” [New Republic, 7/16/21]

Federal Law Prohibited House Employees From Making Contributions To Their Employing Members – Even For Expenditures Reimbursed By The Campaign

House Ethics Committee: “The Prohibition Against Making a Contribution to One’s Employing Member” Applied To “Most Outlays” That A House Staffer “Makes On Behalf Of A Campaign.” “A provision of the federal criminal code, 18 U.S.C. § 603, makes it unlawful for any federal officer or employee to make certain campaign contributions to ‘the employer or employing authority of the person making the contribution.’ Accordingly, an employee of a Member office is prohibited from making a ‘contribution’ as that term is used in the statute to his or her employing Member. […] In particular, staff members should be aware that under FEC regulations, most outlays that an individual makes on behalf of a campaign are deemed to be a contribution to that campaign from that individual. This is so even if it is intended that the campaign will reimburse the individual promptly. The major exception to this rule is for outlays that an individual makes to cover expenses that he or she incurs in traveling on behalf of a campaign. Accordingly, a House employee should not make any outlay on behalf of the employing Member’s campaign, other than outlays for the employee’s personal travel expenses that are consistent with the FEC regulations, or for another purpose that is deemed not to constitute a contribution under FECA or the regulations.” [House Committee on Ethics, accessed 12/19/17]

2020: Renteria Was Employed As Valadao’s Campaign Manager

2020: Andrew Renteria Was Employed As Valadao’s Campaign Manager. “Valadao, a Republican from Hanford, paid nearly $20,000 to his campaign manager, Andrew Renteria, this election cycle from his leadership political action committee, called Vitoria PAC, according to records with the Federal Election Commission.” [Fresno Bee, 10/27/20]

2020: End Citizens United Filed A Complaint Against Valadao Alleging That Andrew Renteria Was Paid From Two Separate Political Fundraising Accounts In Violation Of Federal Election Law

End Citizens United Filed A Complaint Against Valadao Alleging That Andrew Renteria Was Paid From Two Separate Political Fundraising Accounts In Violation Of Federal Election Law. “Former Rep. David Valadao while running to return to Congress this year paid his campaign manager’s salary with money from two separate political fundraising accounts in a possible violation of federal election law, according to a new complaint based on campaign finance records. End Citizens United, a left-leaning political action committee that works to ‘get big money out of politics,’ filed a complaint about Valadao's alleged violation on Monday and shared it with McClatchy. Valadao, a Republican from Hanford, paid nearly $20,000 to his campaign manager, Andrew Renteria, this election cycle from his leadership political action committee, called Vitoria PAC, according to records with the Federal Election Commission.” [Fresno Bee, 10/27/20]

Andrew Renteria Was Paid Neary $20,000 From Valadao’s Leadership PAC, Vitoria PAC. “Valadao, a Republican from Hanford, paid nearly $20,000 to his campaign manager, Andrew Renteria, this election cycle from his leadership political action committee, called Vitoria PAC, according to records with the Federal Election Commission.” [Fresno Bee, 10/27/20]
Valadao’s Campaign Committee Originally Paid Andrew Renteria $6,400 Per Month For His Role As Campaign Manager At The Beginning Of 2020. “Valadao's campaign committee originally paid Renteria about $6,400 per month for his position as campaign manager, starting at the beginning of 2020, according to FEC reports.” [Fresno Bee, 10/27/20]

July 2020: Valadao’s Campaign Committee Paid Andrew Renteria $1,500 Per Month While Vitoria PAC Paid Renteria $4,900 A Month. “But starting in July, the campaign committee paid Renteria about $1,500 per month, while Valadao's leadership PAC paid Renteria about $4,900 per month. The sum of the two payments equals the amount Renteria earned from just the campaign committee in the first half of the year.” [Fresno Bee, 10/27/20]

July-October 2020: Andrew Renteria Received Four $4,900 Payments From Vitoria PAC. “But starting in July, the campaign committee paid Renteria about $1,500 per month, while Valadao's leadership PAC paid Renteria about $4,900 per month. The sum of the two payments equals the amount Renteria earned from just the campaign committee in the first half of the year. Renteria received four $4,900 payments from Vitoria PAC, in July, August, September and October, according to FEC reports.” [Fresno Bee, 10/27/20]

ECU Claimed That The Payment To Andrew Renteria Represented An “In-Kind Contribution” To Valadao’s Campaign And Asked The FEC To Investigate. “In the election law complaint, End Citizens United argues that the payment to Renteria represents an ‘in-kind contribution’ to Valadao's campaign under federal regulations and asked the FEC to investigate. ‘FEC regulations do not permit a federal candidate to employ their leadership PAC as a tool to circumvent limits on permissible contributions,’ the complaint reads. ‘As a former, three-term member of Congress who now seeks to reclaim to his old seat, David Valadao should know that his conduct blatantly violates longstanding federal laws and regulations.’” [Fresno Bee, 10/27/20]

Self-Enrichment

In 2013, Valadao Used His Office To Try To Prevent Construction Of A Highspeed Rail Line That Would Have Impacted The Value Of Property Owned By Him And His Family…

Valadao Successfully Offered An Amendment To Block Construction Of A High Speed Rail That Would Have Affected The Value Of Land Owned By Him And His Family

Fresno Bee: “Valadao Successfully Offered An Amendment To A House Appropriations Bill That Would Bar The Federal Surface Transportation Board From Approving Individual Construction Segments.” “In June, Valadao successfully offered an amendment to a House appropriations bill that would bar the federal Surface Transportation Board from approving individual construction segments of the state project. Instead, the board would be allowed only to consider the statewide high-speed train network in its entirety. The federal board, which plays a key oversight role, already has approved construction of the first 30-mile stretch of tracks from northeast of Madera to the south end of Fresno. The net effect of Valadao's amendment, if it becomes law, would be to stall for years -- if not permanently derail -- any additional sections of the bullet-train system. It's not clear, however, if Valadao's colleagues on the House Appropriations Committee were aware of his property interests or how the rail line would affect those lands when they voted on his amendment.” [Fresno Bee, Editorial, 7/13/13]

- June 2013: The House Appropriations Committee Passed Valadao’s Proposal To Restrict Federal Funding To California’s High Speed Rail. “On Thursday, the House Committee on Appropriations dealt a blow to California High Speed Rail with the passage of legislative proposals authored by U.S. Congressman David G. Valadao (CA-21) within the FY2014 Transportation, Housing, and Urban Development (THUD) Appropriations Bill. Base bill language proposed by Congressman Valadao, was previously adopted by the Subcommittee and today by the Full Committee. This language prevents additional federal funds from being spent on construction of proposed California High Speed Rail projects in 2014. Additionally, during today's Committee Markup, Congressman Valadao introduced an amendment requiring all actions by the Surface Transportation Board (STB) to address California High Speed Rail may only occur if the Surface Transportation Board has permitted the project in its entirety.” [Rep. David Valadao, press release, 6/27/13]

- Rail Authority Chairman Dan Richard Said That Valadao’s Amendment Was “Very Clearly Constructed With One Purpose: To Stop The High-Speed Rail Project In Its Entirety. Period.” “Dan Richard, chairman of the rail authority, said in an interview that although the authority is prepared to seek the approval of the federal Surface Transportation Board for segments of the rail project, the Valadao amendment is ‘very clearly constructed with one purpose: to stop the high-speed rail project in its entirety. Period.’ Richard said the authority, which has received about $3.3 billion in federal funding, had no plans to seek additional federal dollars for next year. But he said the funding prohibition would hurt the authority's ability to raise private funds for the project. ‘This is the wrong time to be saying, ‘We want to send a message to everybody that we don't support high-speed rail,”’ he said. ‘If that stayed in there, it would simply slow our efforts to expand the funding base to include the private sector.’” [US Official News, 7/24/13]

- Fresno Bee: “The Net Effect Of Valadao's Amendment, If It Becomes Law, Would Be To Stall For Years -- If Not Permanently Derail -- Any Additional Sections Of The Bullet-Train System.” “In June, Valadao successfully offered an amendment to a House appropriations bill that would bar the federal Surface Transportation Board from approving individual construction segments of the state project. Instead, the board would be allowed only to consider the statewide high-speed train network in its entirety. It's not clear, however, if Valadao's colleagues on the House Appropriations Committee were aware of his property interests or how the rail line would affect those lands when they voted on his amendment.” [Fresno Bee, Editorial, 7/13/13]

Valadao Owned Land Worth More Than $1.8 Million Along The Proposed Routes For The High Speed Rail In California

Fresno Bee: Valadao Owned Land That Stood To Be Affected By Either Of The Two High Speed Rail Routes Being Studied In Kings County. “Republican House members up and down the San Joaquin Valley are squarely opposed to California's high-speed rail project, for which construction could begin this summer. But while the issue is largely one of political philosophy for other GOP representatives, it hits much closer to home for Rep. David Valadao, R-Hanford, whose family's Valadao Dairy owns property that stands to be affected by either of two high-speed routes being studied in Kings County. Despite repeated attempts, The Bee could not interview Valadao last week, partly because of his travel schedule. But his spokeswoman offered email responses to questions. ‘Proposed high-speed rail projects affect Congressman Valadao just like they affect the rest of the community who elected him to represent them in Washington,’ Valadao spokeswoman Anna Vetter said.” [Fresno Bee, Editorial, 7/13/13]

Fresno Bee: Three Valadao Dairy Parcels Totaling 509 Acres And Worth More Than $1.8 Million Were Along One Of The Proposed Routes Through King County. “Three Valadao Dairy parcels sit directly along one of the routes through Kings County -- a line that skirts west of Hanford and generally follows the BNSF Railway freight tracks between Hanford and Corcoran. Those parcels amount to about 509 acres and have a combined assessed value of more than $1.8 million, according to a database on the Kings County Assessor's Office website. The largest of those parcels, at just over 402 acres and $1.14 million in value, also would be affected by a new road overpass associated with an east-of-Hanford bypass. Valadao's staff said last week he was unavailable to address questions about property disclosures or whether he felt he had an obligation to inform his fellow representatives when Valadao proposed his amendment and voted to report the bill out of the Appropriations Committee.” [Fresno Bee, Editorial, 7/13/13]

Fresno Bee: Besides “The Three Valadao Dairy Parcels That Would Be Directly Affected By The Project, The Dairy Owns Six Other Parcels Within A Mile Of At Least One Of The Prospective Track Options.” “In addition to the three Valadao Dairy parcels that would be directly affected by the project, the dairy owns six other parcels within a mile of at least one of the prospective track options. Those parcels represent about 209 acres and have a total combined assessed value of nearly $1.38 million. Also within a mile of one or both routes are another 455 acres owned by either Valadao's parents, Eduardo and Maria Valadao, or his uncle, Manuel Valadao, with the four parcels having assessed values totaling nearly $6.2 million.” [Fresno Bee, Editorial, 7/13/13]

Valadao’s Family Had An Additional $6.2 Million In Land Within A Mile Of One Or Both Routes
Fresno Bee: “Within A Mile Of One Or Both Routes Are Another 455 Acres Owned By Either Valadao's Parents, Eduardo And Maria Valadao, Or His Uncle, Manuel Valadao, With The Four Parcels Having Assessed Values Totaling Nearly $6.2 Million.” “In addition to the three Valadao Dairy parcels that would be directly affected by the project, the dairy owns six other parcels within a mile of at least one of the prospective track options. ...Valadao Said His Amendment Stopped Future Waste Of Taxpayer Dollars On An Impractical Project That Costed More Than Was Advertised, Destroyed Farms And Circumvented Regulations

Valadao: “This Legislation Control Future Waste Of Taxpayer Dollars By Preventing The Use Of Federal Funds For This Impractical Project”

Valadao On Banning Funds To California’s High Speed Rail: This Legislation Would “Control Future Waste Of Taxpayer Dollars By Preventing The Use Of Federal Funds For This Impractical Project.” “Base bill language proposed by Congressman Valadao, was previously adopted by the Subcommittee and today by the Full Committee. This language prevents additional federal funds from being spent on construction of proposed California High Speed Rail projects in 2014. Additionally, during today's Committee Markup, Congressman Valadao introduced an amendment requiring all actions by the Surface Transportation Board (STB) to address California High Speed Rail may only occur if the Surface Transportation Board has permitted the project in its entirety. Congressman Valadao stated, ‘Not only does this legislation control future waste of taxpayer dollars by preventing the use of federal funds for this impractical project, it also ensures that the Surface Transportation Board can no longer use questionable piecemeal approaches to circumvent regulatory protocol to permit rail projects.’ Congressman Valadao continued, ‘It is important that impacts of this project are considered in their entirety and that due diligence reflects the entire project being pursued.’” [Rep. David Valadao, press release, 6/27/13]

And That The Project Was Expected To Cost $67 Billion Instead Of The $33 Billion Initially Projected

Valadao: “Instead Of Costing $33 Billion, The Legislative Analyst's Office Estimates” That The Rail Would Cost $67 Billion. “In 2008, voters were told that high-speed rail in the Central Valley would follow existing transportation corridors with limited interruption into surrounding communities. They were told that the project would cost $33 billion and that a one-way ticket from San Francisco to Los Angeles would cost $55. But now it is clear that taxpayers have become victims of a bait and switch. Instead of being constructed along a true existing corridor, the High Speed Rail Authority wants to destroy local farmland and family homes to construct the rail line. Instead of costing $33 billion, the Legislative Analyst's Office estimates that the project will cost $67 billion. And instead of costing $55 per ticket, it's going to cost about $120 to ride from San Francisco to Los Angeles.” [David Valadao, Fresno Bee, 9/6/11]

That Tickets Would Be More Expensive Than What The High Speed Rail Authority Had Claimed

Valadao: Instead Of Costing $55 Per Ticket, It's Going To Cost About $120 To Ride From San Francisco To Los Angeles. “In 2008, voters were told that high-speed rail in the Central Valley would follow existing transportation corridors with limited interruption into surrounding communities. They were told that the project would cost $33 billion and that a one-way ticket from San Francisco to Los Angeles would cost $55. But now it is clear that taxpayers have become victims of a bait and switch. Instead of being constructed along a true existing corridor, the High Speed Rail Authority wants to destroy local farmland and family homes to construct the rail line. And instead of costing $55 per ticket, it's going to cost about $120 to ride from San Francisco to Los Angeles.” [David Valadao, Fresno Bee, 9/6/11]
Valadao Said Taxpayers Were Victims Of A Bait And Switch Because The Rail Authority Wanted To Destroy Local Farmland And Homes Instead Of Using An Existing Corridor As Voters Were Told In 2008

Valadao: Taxpayers Were “Victims Of A Bait And Switch.” Because Instead Of Being Constructed On Existing Corridor, The “Rail Authority Wants To Destroy Local Farmland And Family Homes To Construct The Rail Line.” “In 2008, voters were told that high-speed rail in the Central Valley would follow existing transportation corridors with limited interruption into surrounding communities. They were told that the project would cost $33 billion and that a one-way ticket from San Francisco to Los Angeles would cost $55. And instead of costing $55 per ticket, it's going to cost about $120 to ride from San Francisco to Los Angeles.” [David Valadao, Fresno Bee, 9/6/11]

Valadao: “The High Speed Rail Authority Has Pushed Aside, Ignored, And Mistreated Families, Businesses And Community Leaders Who Are Going To Be Substantially Impacted By This Project.” “I understand that there are going to be impacts on the local community. But it is the responsibility of project officials to be accountable; listen to the concerns of those impacted, and making appropriate revisions to project plans to minimize disruption. Unfortunately, the High Speed Rail Authority has pushed aside, ignored, and mistreated families, businesses and community leaders who are going to be substantially impacted by this project.” [David Valadao, Fresno Bee, 9/6/11]

And That His Proposal Would Stop The Surface Transportation Board From Using “Questionable Piecemeal Approaches To Circumvent Regulatory Protocol To Permit Rail Projects.”

Valadao On Banning Funds To California's High Speed Rail: “The Surface Transportation Board Can No Longer Use Questionable Piecemeal Approaches To Circumvent Regulatory Protocol To Permit Rail Projects.” "Base bill language proposed by Congressman Valadao, was previously adopted by the Subcommittee and today by the Full Committee. This language prevents additional federal funds from being spent on construction of proposed California High Speed Rail projects in 2014. Popular Mechanics Named Valadao As One Of Five Congressmen Holding Back The Advancement Of Science And Technology Over His Opposition To The California High Speed Rail

Popular Mechanics: Valadao One Of Five Congressmen Holding Back The Advancement Of Science, Technology And The Future Of Manufacturing In America. “Despite the deadlock in D.C. (see the guys to the right), there still are legislators fighting for the advancement of science, technology, and the future of manufacturing in America. But first, five who are holding us back: […]’What was sold to the voters compared to what's being jammed down their throats today are two very different things.’ - Valadao on halting a new high-speed rail line whose routes would go through his family's land.” [Popular Mechanics, 11/1/14]

CREW Called On The OCE To Investigate Valadao For Not Disclosing His Financial Interest In Blocking The High Speed Rail When He Offered His Amendment
Citizens For Responsibility And Ethics In Washington Called On The Office Of Congressional Ethics To Review Whether Valadao Broke House Rules With Amendment To Block California High Speed Rail. “A government watchdog group today called on the Office of Congressional Ethics to review whether Rep. David Valadao (R-Calif.) broke House rules last month, asserting the freshman lawmaker abused his Appropriations Committee post for his own financial benefit. Relying heavily on an article that appeared in The Fresno Bee earlier this month, Citizens for Responsibility and Ethics in Washington claimed that Valadao worked in his own interest when he authored an amendment in June that would bar the Surface Transportation Board from approving segments of a high-speed rail line in California and require the project to be dealt with in its entirety. Opponents of the bullet train project include landowners whose property values could be reduced adjacent to or near the proposed rail lines. In its report, the Bee noted that land belonging to Valadao’s own business is included in that group. The Valadao Dairy, in which the lawmaker is a partner, would see 509 acres affected by the rail project. The newspaper reported the land has a value of $1.8 million.” [E & E News, 7/23/13]

Fresno Bee: “CREW Requested The Investigation After The Bee Reported On July 14 That Several Valadao Dairy Properties Sit Directly Along One Proposed High-Speed Rail Route Through Kings County, And That The Family Owns Other Parcels Within A Mile Of Two Route Options.” “CREW requested the investigation after The Bee reported on July 14 that several Valadao Dairy properties sit directly along one proposed high-speed rail route through Kings County, and that the family owns other parcels within a mile of two route options. The report also noted that as a member of the Appropriations Committee, Valadao last month successfully offered a spending-bill amendment that, if it became law, could delay or block construction of the high-speed rail system, including the stretch through Kings County.” [Fresno Bee, 8/30/13]

Valadao Introduced Legislation That Would Have Increased The Value Of Milk Sold In California, Personally Benefiting Him And His Family As Dairy Farmers

Los Angeles Times: “Valadao Grew Up In The Dairy Business And In 1992 Became A Partner In The Family’s Central Valley Dairy.” “Valadao grew up in the dairy business and in 1992 became a partner in the family’s Central Valley dairy. Working on local agricultural interests through the California Milk Advisory Board and the Western States Dairy Trade Assn. spurred an interest in politics, and Valadao was elected to Congress after serving in the state Assembly. Valadao’s stake in the Triple V and Valadao dairies has consistently made him one of the poorest members of Congress. According to his annual financial disclosure report, Valadao’s stake in each dairy is worth between $1 million and $5 million, but lines of credit against the farms and equipment give him an estimated net worth of negative $17.5 million.” [Los Angeles Times, 6/12/18]

2013: Valadao Introduced Legislation To Allow California Dairy Farmers To Petition To Be Accepted Into The Federal Milk Price Control System And Got It Added To The Farm Bill

2013: Valadao Introduced The “California Federal Milk Marketing Order Act” For “California Dairy Producers To Petition The U.S. Secretary Of Agriculture” To “Join The Federal Milk Marketing Order.”

“Today, U.S. Congressman David G. Valadao (CA-21) introduced bipartisan legislation addressing California's struggling dairy industry. The California Federal Milk Marketing Order Act would allow California dairy producers to petition the U.S. Secretary of Agriculture to be considered to join the Federal Milk Marketing Order. Under the current California pricing system, dairy producers throughout the state have closed down, resulting in lost revenue and jobs.” [Rep. David Valadao, press release, 3/22/13]

Valadao Said California’s Dairy Pricing System “Put Us In A Bad Position” And Inclusion In The Federal Pricing System Would Put California Dairy Farmers In The Same Boat As Everyone Else

Valadao: “California's Pricing System Has Put Us In A Bad Position,” And “Putting Us In The Federal Order Puts Us In The Same Boat As Everyone Else.” “Dairy operators wanting to bypass California's milk pricing system and switch to a federal milk marketing order would get their chance under a bill sponsored by Rep. David Valadao, R-Hanford. Valadao's bill, introduced in March with support from Rep. Jim Costa, D-Fresno; Rep. Jeff Denham, R-Turlock; and Rep. Doug LaMalfa, R-Richvale, was included last week in the proposed 2013 Farm Bill package. The bill would give dairy operators the option of petitioning the U.S. Secretary of Agriculture to abandon California's regional pricing scheme and join the federal milk marketing order, a move local dairy owners say would raise prices. They say California is $1.50-$2 per hundredweight below prices in surrounding states. ‘California's pricing system has put us in a bad position,’ Valadao said. ‘Putting us in the federal order puts us in the same boat as everyone else.’” [Hanford Sentinel, 5/14/13]

Valadao’s Bill Was Partly In Response To A Fight Between Dairy Producers And Cheese Processors In California Over The Price Of Whey

Hanford Sentinel: Valadao’s Bill Was “Partly A Response To The Fight Going In California Between Producers And Cheese Processors Over The Price Paid For Whey.” “The bill is partly a response to the fight going in California between producers and cheese processors over the price paid for whey, the milk byproduct once considered trash but now a commodity turned into protein consumer products. Producers, hurt by an unprecedented soaring of feed costs amid low milk prices, have for months petitioned California Secretary of Agriculture Karen Ross to raise the whey price. Processing companies have in turn argued that there is already overproduction in the state and that plants without whey processing capacity could go out of business. The battle has given rise to AB 31, a producer-supported California bill that would raise whey prices up to 80 percent of the federal pricing system. Processor organizations that have opposed AB 31, such as the Dairy Institute of California, aren't taking a position on the Valadao bill.” [Hanford Sentinel, 5/14/13]

California’s Two-Tier Milk Pricing Quota System Entitled Producers To A Higher Milk Price For Some Quantity Of Milk And Quotas Could Be Bought And Sold—And Valadao’s Legislation Contemplated Keeping California’s Quota System Even If Produced Joined The Federal Milk Marketing Order System

California’s Two-Tier Milk Pricing Quota System Entitled Producers To A Higher Milk Price For Some Quantity Of Milk And Quotas Could Be Bought And Sold. “California’s unique milk marketing order also includes a two-tier pricing system, part of which is called the quota. The quota entitles a producer to a higher milk price for some quantity of milk. Quota can be bought and sold. The legislation introduced Thursday contemplates California retaining this quota system even if the state’s dairy producers decided to join the federal milk marketing order system.” [McClatchy DC, 3/22/13]

Valadao Announced That The House Committee On Agriculture Agreed To Include An Authorization For A California Federal Milk Marketing Order In The 2013 Farm Bill. “Last week, Members of the Senate and House began drafting the 2013 Farm Bill legislation. Today, Congressman David G. Valadao (CA-21) announced that the House Committee on Agriculture has agreed to include an authorization for a California Federal Milk Marketing Order that has been requested by Congressman Valadao. In March, Congressman Valadao, along with California Congressmen Jim Costa (CA-16), Devin Nunes (CA-22), Jeff Denham (CA-10), Kevin McCarthy (CA-23), and Doug LaMalfa (CA-1), introduced H.R. 1396; the California Federal Milk Marketing Order Act. The legislation would allow California dairy producers to petition the U.S. Secretary of Agriculture to be considered to join the Federal Milk Marketing Order. Following discussions with Chairman Frank Lucas and other Members of the Committee, the House Committee on Agriculture has agreed to Congressman Valadao’s request and that the issue be affirmatively addressed in the comprehensive 2013 Farm Bill. Inclusion of these provisions will allow farmers in California and other states not currently included in the Federal Order to petition for inclusion.” [Rep. David Valadao, press release, 5/13/13]

2015: The USDA Began Hearings On A California Federal Milk Marketing Order Based On Valadao’s Language Included In the 2013 Farm Bill. “Today, Tuesday, September 22, 2015, the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) began the first stage of their federal Hearing on Proposals for a California Federal Milk Marketing Order in Clovis, California. Under current California dairy pricing structures, dairy producers face an unfair disadvantage in the federal market place. Many California dairy producers have expressed interest in entering the Federal Milk Marketing Orders (FMMOs), the guidelines under which dairy processors purchase fresh milk from dairy farmers providing milk for a marketing area, therefore providing stability in the fresh milk market. In response to constituent concerns, Congressman David G. Valadao (CA-21) introduced bipartisan legislation addressing California's struggling dairy industry in March 2013. H.R. 1396; the California Federal Milk Marketing Order Act aimed to allow California dairy producers to petition the U.S. Secretary of Agriculture to be considered to join the Federal Milk Marketing Order. During the drafting of the 2013 Farm Bill, Congressman Valadao worked directly with Chairman Frank Lucas (OK-03) and other Members of the House Agriculture Committee to ensure inclusion of his FMMO legislation in the 2013 Farm Bill paving the way for this USDA hearing today.” [Rep. Valadao Did Not List One Of His Companies, Triple V Cattle, In His Financial Disclosure Documents. “Cox's former 2018 opponent and apparent challenger in 2020, former Rep. David Valadao, a Republican from Hanford, has financial issues of his own, including an apparent failure to disclose one of his companies. Valadao's family farm was seized in June 2018 after the dairy failed to pay back $8.3 million in loans. Rabobank sued Triple V Dairy in Fresno County Superior Court in November 2017, and the dairy was set to be auctioned off to repay the money. Valadao and his wife filed for bankruptcy protection for their dairy and cattle businesses earlier this year, citing $13 million in business debts. Valadao listed a company called Triple V Cattle, LLC in that bankruptcy filing in February, but did not disclose that business in his most recent financial disclosure, which covered the year 2017. Valadao has filed to run for the congressional seat in 2020 with the Federal Election Commission and has planned fundraisers for his campaign, but has not officially announced if he is running.” [Fresno Bee, 8/21/19]

Valadao Accepted Campaign Contributions From A Billionaire Casino Mogul Accused Of Decades-Long Pattern Of Sexual Misconduct

Valadao Accepted Campaign Contributions From Steve Wynn, A Billionaire Casino Mogul Accused Of Decades-Long Pattern Of Sexual Misconduct. “When billionaire casino mogul and top Republican donor Steve Wynn was accused of a decades-long pattern of sexual misconduct in the midst of the #MeToo movement, elected officials across the country quickly distanced themselves from him. The news broke in January 2018, and some Republicans immediately called on their colleagues to return donations from Wynn, who was accused of pressuring employees to perform sex acts […] The recipients include Reps. Mike Garcia of Santa Clarita and David Valadao of Hanford, whose seats will be hotly contested in next year’s midterm elections because they are key to GOP hopes to retake control of the House.” [Los Angeles Times, 5/5/21]

- April 2021: Valadao donated contributions from Matt Gaetz to the Marjaree Mason Center in Fresno that supported victims of domestic abuse.
- Valadao said that censuring Paul Gosar was a waste of time and that the cartoon video of Gosar murdering Alexandria Ocasio-Cortez did not depict violence
- Valadao defended John Katko after some Republicans called for Katko to be removed as ranking member from the homeland security committee because he voted for the bipartisan infrastructure package.
- 2017: Valadao bailed on a Republican fundraiser featuring former sheriff Joe Arpaio and refused to explain why.
- Valadao seemed to have a strained relationship with the Kern County Republican Central Committee during the 2012 election.

Joe Biden

2021: Valadao Signed A Letter Pledging To Work With President Biden On Bipartisan Issues

Valadao Signed A Letter Pledging To Work With President Biden On Bipartisan Issues. “WASHINGTON, DC Rep. Beth Van Duyne (TX-24) today led 16 of her House Republican freshmen colleagues in sending a letter to President-elect Joe Biden congratulating him on the beginning of his presidency and pledging to work together on behalf of the American people. ‘After two impeachments, lengthy inter-branch investigations, and, most recently, the horrific attack on our nation’s capital, it is clear that the partisan divide between Democrats and Republicans does not serve a single American,’ they wrote. ‘Americans are tired of the partisan gridlock and simply want to see leaders from both sides of the aisle work on issues important to American families, workers, and businesses.’ […]

Co-signers of the letter include Reps. Stephanie Bice (OK-05), Jerry Carl (AL-01), Madison Cawthorn (NC-11), Scott Franklin (FL-15), Andrew Garbarino (NY-02), Carlos Gimenez (FL-26), Yvette Herrell (NM-02), Ashley Hinson (IA-01), Young Kim (CA-39), Nicole Malliotakis (NY-11), Peter Meijer (MI-03), Mariannette Miller-Meeks (IA-02), Barry Moore (AL-02), Jay Obernolte (CA-08), Burgess Owens (UT-04), and David Valadao (CA-21).” [U.S. Congresswoman Beth Van Duyne, Press Release, 1/20/21]

I think this issue is going to be fixed, and I think it's going to be fixed because of David Valadao.’” [Hotline, 10/28/16]

Vice President Mike Pence

2019: Valadao Appeared At An Event Where Pence Discussed Trade

2019: Valadao Appeared At An Event Where Pence Discussed Trade. “Vice President Mike Pence met with hundreds from the agriculture industry at a Kings County farm Wednesday afternoon and hailed the pending U.S.-Mexico-Canada trade agreement as an example of ‘free, fair and reciprocal trade deals that put American businesses first.’ […] Under the shade of a pole barn usually used to shelter alfalfa hay, a crowd of about 800 gathered to hear Pence. Among them was former congressman David Valadao, a Hanford Dairymen. The venue at the farm of Doug and Julie Freitas on Highway 41 north of Lemoore was surrounded by a protective wall of hay bales. […] Valadao was among the VIPs in attendance at the event organized by America First Policies. ‘The idea today is to get the public involved and make sure they let their representatives know that they want a vote on it and get this deal done,’ said Valadao, a Republican who lost his re-election bid in November.” [Fresno Bee, 7/10/19]

2017: Valadao Toured California With Pence

Valadao Toured California With VP Pence. “Vice President Mike Pence wrapped up a fundraising tour of California Tuesday with two stops in Kern County. He made a lunchtime visit to a private, paid event at Buck Owens’ Crystal Palace in Bakersfield and then hopped over to the Mojave Air and Space Port to tour the hangars for Virgin Galactic and Stratolaunch Systems. Pence and his wife Karen, with House Majority Leader Kevin McCarthy and Congressmen David Valadao, Jeff Denham and Steve Knight along for the ride, landed in Air Force 2 at the Space Port just before 1:50 p.m.” [Bakersfield Californian, 10/11/17]

Devin Nunes

Valadao Said That Nunes ‘Played A Vital Role In Getting Me Into Public Service’ And Praised His Leadership On The Tax Code

Valadao Said That Nunes ‘Played A Vital Role In Getting Me Into Public Service’ And Praised His Leadership On The Tax Code. “I want to thank my friend Devin Nunes for his service to the Central Valley, the state of California, and this great country. Devin played a vital role in getting me into public service, and I am incredibly grateful for his friendship and mentorship. His leadership on water issues, tax code, and trade policy made a real difference for Americans. He is a proven leader in the California delegation and the U.S. House of Representatives as a whole, and his presence in these halls will be greatly missed,' said Congressman Valadao." [Rep. David Valadao, Press Release, 12/6/21]

Devin Nunes Said He Stepped Down From Russia Investigation To Protect Vulnerable Valadao

Devin Nunes Said He Stepped Down From Russia Investigation To Protect Vulnerable Valadao. “In the video, Nunes (R-Tulare) can be seen explaining why he felt he had to make the unexpected trip to the White House that sparked an ethics investigation into whether he mishandled classified information. He says he stepped away from leading the House’s Russia investigation to help vulnerable Republicans like his district neighbor Rep. David Valadao.” [LA Times, 5/30/17]

Matt Gaetz

Valadao Donated Contributions From Matt Gaetz To The Marjaree Mason Center In Fresno That Supported Victims Of Domestic Abuse

Valadao Donated Campaign Contributions From Matt Gaetz To The Marjaree Mason Center In Fresno That Supported Victims Of Domestic Abuse. “A California Republican congressman donated campaign contributions given to him by Rep. Matt Gaetz, who is reportedly under investigation related to allegations that he broke federal sex trafficking laws. Rep. David Valadao, R-Hanford, said Friday he would be donating any contributions given to him by Gaetz, R-Florida, to a Fresno organization that supports victims of domestic abuse. ‘The Valadao for Congress Campaign has donated the contributions to the Marjaree Mason Center in Fresno to support victims of domestic abuse,’ said Andrew Renteria, spokesman for Valadao's campaign. The New York Times reported last week that Gaetz is under investigation by the Department of Justice over whether he had a sexual relationship with a 17-year-old and paid for her to travel with him. It is against federal laws to transport minors across state lines to engage in sex in exchange for money or something of value.” [Fresno Bee, 4/5/21]

Paul Gosar

Valadao Said That Censuring Paul Gosar Was A Waste Of Time And That The Cartoon Video Of Gosar Murdering Alexandria Ocasio-Cortez Did Not Depict Violence

Valadao Said That Censuring Paul Gosar Was A Waste Of Time And That His Video Did Not Depict Violence. “So this morning I got up and I watched the actual video of the anime cartoon, and I had to stop and freeze exactly what the problem was, specifically in the bill or in the video. It was a dumb video. It was childish, it was something that no member of Congress should be putting out. I would have been embarrassed to put something out like that. But to sell it as what some members are trying to put it out to be, I don't agree. And as far as the majority coming in, pulling someone off a committee over this video, I just thought was a little bit over the top. Especially when you look back at some of the previous votes we've had, over things like what Maxine Waters has done and how the Democrats handled that. I think there should have been a different approach on this one. So yeah, ultimately I voted no. I actually took the time to watch the video and I think the vote justified the situation. And I hope that members of Congress get away from focusing on things like anime cartoons and just get back to talking about the issues. We burnt a whole day in Congress talking about a cartoon when we should have been talking about inflation, we should have been talking about fuel prices, we should have been talking about the ports, we should have been talking about so many different things that have a direct impact on the American people.” [Your Central Valley, 11/17/21]

- Paul Gosar Retweeted An Anime Video Depicting Him Murdering Representative Alexandria Ocasio-Cortez. “Just minutes after being censured by the US House, the Republican congressman Paul Gosar of Arizona retweeted the violent video that depicts him murdering Democratic congresswoman Alexandria Ocasio-Cortez of New York, US media reported. While Gosar had previously deleted the video, after the House voted to censure him, Gosar retweeted the conservative podcaster Elijah Schaffer’s tweet of the video that was captioned: ‘Really well done. We love @DrPaulGosar, don’t we folks?’ The retweet appears to have since been undone.” [The Guardian, 11/18/21]
Valadao Defended John Katko After Some Republicans Called For Him To Be Removed As Ranking Member From The Homeland Security Committee After Katko Voted For The Bipartisan Infrastructure Package. “One of those fellow vulnerable moderates, Rep. David Valadao (R-Calif.), defended Katko and those who voted their conscience on infrastructure, even though he himself voted against the plan. ‘Katko represents a very difficult district. He does everything he possibly can to win. And I think he does the best he can to represent his district as effectively as he can,’ Valadao, an ally of both Katko and McCarthy, told The Hill after the meeting. ‘It’s always a situation where we have to vote what we think is right for our districts,’ Valadao added. ‘And you look at the whole northeast, it’s just a different population. I don’t know John’s district that well, but I think he does what he thinks is best.”” [The Hill, 11/16/21]

Fresno GOP Planned To Hold Fundraiser With Joe Arpaio. “Some Valley Republicans are voicing strong feelings about their party hosting ‘America’s toughest sheriff’ Joe Arpaio of Arizona, and they’re staying away from the Sept. 29 fund-raising event. Arpaio, convicted by a federal judge of criminal contempt for violating a court order over his Maricopa County department’s questioning of Hispanic drivers and pedestrians during traffic stops, is scheduled to be the featured speaker at the Fresno County Republican Party’s third annual ‘2nd Amendment Barbecue.’ Party chairman Fred Vanderhoof said that with three weeks left before the event, ‘we’ve sold more tickets to this point in time than each of the previous two years’ dinners.’” [Fresno Bee, 9/6/17]

- “Fresno Republican Party Faces Backlash For Inviting Sheriff Joe Arpaio to Fundraiser” [Your Central Valley, 9/9/17]
Valadao Did Not Attend An Arpaio Fundraiser But Refused To Explain Why. “Fresh off a presidential pardon, America’s most infamous lawman is coming to California this week as part of an effort to re-enter the political arena. … Rep. David Valadao, who represents a chunk of the Central Valley and the Fresno suburbs, will not be attending the fundraiser, a spokeswoman said without giving a reason. Valadao, who represents a heavily Latino district that voted for Democrat Hillary Clinton in 2016, is seen as one of the most vulnerable California Republican members of Congress in the 2018 midterm elections.” [Mercury News, 9/27/17]

Kern County Republican Central Committee

2012: Kern County Republican Central Committee Did Not Endorse Valadao, And Claimed They Were Taking A Stand Against Choosing Sides Before The Primary

March 2012: The Kern County Republican Central Committee Did Not Endorse Valadao, Claiming They Were Taking A Stand Against Choosing Sides Before The Primary. “Some members are crying foul over the Kern County Republican Central Committee's decision not to endorse David Valadao in his quest to pick up a valley congressional seat for the GOP. Those who agreed to withhold the endorsement say they were simply taking a stand against the California Republican Party choosing sides before the primary. But two committee members suggest it's because Valadao, a state assemblyman and the only Republican in the 21st Congressional District race, is outside a powerful circle of local political actors. Every other GOP central committee in the district -- those in Tulare, Kings and Fresno counties -- did endorse Valadao, as did the California Republican Party.” [Bakersfield Californian, 3/22/12]

• Others Said That KCRCC Did Not Endorse Valadao Because He Did Not “Retain Certain Consultants” Needed “To Be Embraced By The Local Republican Establishment.” “Central committee member Bill Lind thinks Valadao wasn't endorsed because he's outside Kern County's 'political machine' of powerful Republicans such as Congressman Kevin McCarthy, former Congressman Bill Thomas and political consultant Mark Abernathy, who have long rejected the notion there is a 'machine.' The county organization has 'a history of not supporting someone who falls outside that circle,'” Lind said. He cited as examples the committee's token support of Republican Jim Lopez in his 2008 run against Democrat Jim Costa for Congress and its ‘last minute’ backing of Republican Andy Vidak over Costa for the same post in 2010. There is a ‘pay to play’ political culture in Kern County, said Ken Mettler, another central committee member. ‘You must retain certain consultants in order to be embraced by the local Republican establishment.’ For the Kern County organization to not endorse the only Republican candidate in a Congressional race ‘stands out like a sore thumb,’ he said.” [Bakersfield Californian, 3/22/12]

But Less Than A Month Later The Kern County Republican Central Committee Endorsed Valadao

April 2012: KCRCC Turned Around A Month Later And Endorsed Valadao. “The Kern County Republican Central Committee endorsed state Assemblyman David Valadao in his run for the newly-drawn 21st Congressional District at its meeting Monday night, along with a handful of other Republican candidates for Assembly and Congressional seats. At its meeting last month, the four-member executive committee of the central committee endorsed only incumbents, saying it didn't agree with the California Republican Party's plan a couple of days later to make endorsements before the primary elections, which could be seen as narrowing the field of Republican candidates. Voters should make the choice among Republican candidates, executive committee member Dean Haddock said. The executive committee endorsed incumbents, Haddock said, because those were obvious choices to make. They told the 24 members of the central committee about the endorsement decisions after the California GOP issued its endorsements, including of Valadao.” [Bakersfield Californian, 4/10/12]
May 2012: KCRCC Decided Against Giving $10,000 to Valadao’s Campaign  “The Kern County Republican Central Committee on Monday voted down a suggestion to give $10,000 to David Valadao's campaign for a congressional seat. The donation would've represented a sizable chunk of the roughly $150,000 the organization has on hand, according to discussion at the Kern County GOP's meeting Monday night. Central Committee member Bill Lind, who made the proposal, said Valadao's bid represents a ‘special circumstance’ as a chance to pick up a valuable seat. ‘Anything we can do to bolster his ability to target funds here in Kern County in a very heavily union-controlled congressional district -- we should do it,’ Lind said. But members said donating the money to Valadao's campaign would set an unhelpful precedent and that donors give money to the party with the understanding that it will be used for voter registration efforts, not individual candidates.” [Bakersfield Californian, 5/15/12]

Impeachment

2021: Valadao Was One Of Ten Republicans Who Supported The Impeachment Of President Trump. "Ten Republicans crossed President Trump on Wednesday and voted to impeach him for ‘incitement of […]’ Rep. David Valadao, California's 21st: The Southern California congressman represents a majority-Latino district Biden won 54% to 44%. Valadao won election to this seat in 2012 before losing it in 2018 and winning it back in the fall. He's the rare case of a member of Congress who touts his willingness to work with the other party. Of his vote for impeachment, he said: ‘President Trump was, without question, a driving force in the catastrophic events that took place on January 6.’ He added, "His inciting rhetoric was un-American, abhorrent, and absolutely an impeachable offense.’’” [NPR, 1/14/21]

  "After casting his vote to impeach, Representative David Valadao of California said on Twitter that “President Trump was, without question, a driving force in the catastrophic events” that took place at the Capitol. ‘His inciting rhetoric was un-American, abhorrent, and absolutely an impeachable offense,’ he added. ‘It’s time to put country over politics.’” [New York Times, 1/12/21]

- Valadao: “His Inciting Rhetoric Was Un-American, Abhorrent, And Absolutely An Impeachable Offense. It's Time To Put Country Over Politics.” “Valadao criticized House Speaker Nancy Pelosi, D-San Francisco, for rushing the process and not allowing more time for hearings on impeachment. He said she had reduced impeachment to "a political stunt." But he still felt he had to vote to impeach. ‘Based on the facts before me, I have to go with my gut and vote my conscience. I voted to impeach President Trump,’ Valadao concluded in his statement. ‘His inciting rhetoric was un-American, abhorrent, and absolutely an impeachable offense. It's time to put country over politics.’” [Fresno Bee, 1/13/21]

At A CPAC Event, Trump Called Valadao Out As One Of The Ten Republicans Who Voted For Impeachment And Called Them “Grandstanders” In The Republican Party

At A CPAC Event, Trump Called Valadao Out As One Of The Ten Republicans Who Voted For Impeachment And Called Them “Grandstanders” In The Republican Party. “Speaking at CPAC Sunday evening, former President Donald Trump made a problem for another California politician: Republican Rep. David Valadao of Hanford. Valadao was one of the 10 Republicans in the House who voted to impeach Trump after a mob of his supporters on Jan. 6 overwhelmed the Capitol and drove lawmakers from their chambers. Trump at CPAC called out Valadao by name as he listed every Republican in the House and Senate who favored impeachment, calling them ‘grandstanders’ in the GOP.” [Sacramento Bee, 3/1/21]

Russia Investigation

Valadao Voted For Insisting That The Justice Department Fully Comply With The Document Requests And Subpoenas Issued By The Intelligence And Judiciary Committees. In June 2018, Valadao voted for: “Adoption of the resolution that would that would insist that the Justice Department fully comply with the document requests and subpoenas issued by the Intelligence and Judiciary committees with regard to potential violations of the Foreign Intelligence Surveillance Act (FISA) by Justice Department personnel and related matters, by Friday, July 6, 2018.” The resolution was adopted 226-183. [H. Res. 970, Vote #306, 6/28/18; CQ, 6/28/18]
• Freedom Caucus Leaders Spearheaded The Resolution To Pressure The Deputy Attorney General To Comply With Congressional Demands Related To FBI Investigations Of Hillary Clinton And Russian Election Interference. “The resolution, which was spearheaded by House Freedom Caucus leaders Mark Meadows and Jim Jordan, is the latest step by conservatives who have been ratcheting up the pressure on Deputy Attorney General Rod Rosenstein to comply with congressional demands related to the FBI’s Hillary Clinton and Russia investigations. The measure itself is effectively symbolic, but Republicans intend to send a message to the Justice Department that the full Congress is demanding compliance with their document requests -- or else.” [CNN, 6/26/18]

• Democratic Critics Said The Resolution Was An Attempt To Discredit The Mueller Investigation, And Give Trump An Excuse To Fire Rosenstein. “But Democratic critics say this is all a plot to discredit the Mueller investigation. They think Trump’s allies are trying to hit the Justice Department with impossible demands, so they’ll either have to turn over extremely sensitive information about an ongoing message, or look bad by withholding it. Some even think this is mainly about giving Trump an excuse to fire Rosenstein, who, again, is Mueller’s boss.” [Vox, 6/28/18]

Valadao Refused To Comment On Donald Trump, Jr. Welcoming Russian Interference During The 2016 Election

Valadao Refused To Comment On Donald Trump, Jr. Welcoming Russia’s Help To Defeat Hillary Clinton During The 2016 Election. “Kings County Republican Rep. David Valadao made it clear he had no interest in discussing the latest blockbuster as he rushed past a reporter on his way to a vote on the House floor. Publicly at least, Republicans on Wednesday were not pointing to fire in the billowing smoke surrounding multiple investigations into Russian meddling in the November election and the release Tuesday of an email exchange that showed President Trump’s eldest son welcoming Russia’s offer to help defeat Hillary Clinton.” [San Francisco Chronicle, 7/12/17]

Valadao Encouraged The Trump Administration To Be Transparent Concerning Leaks To Russians In The Oval Office. “One day after the Washington Post reported that President Donald Trump revealed classified information to the Russian foreign minister, Rep. David Valadao, R-Hanford, urged the administration to be forthcoming about the matter. ‘As an elected official, I believe it is important for all government officials, especially the President of the United States, to foster a strong level of openness and transparency within our government,’ Valadao said in a statement Tuesday. ‘As we continue to gather the facts regarding the intelligence information shared (with) Russian officials, I encourage this administration to disclose as much information as possible.’” [Modesto Bee, 5/16/17]

Valadao Repeatedly Voted Against Investigating Russian Interference In The 2016 Election

Valadao Voted For Blocking A Bipartisan Commission To Investigate Russian Interference In The 2016 Election. In November 2017, Valadao voted for: “Burgess, R-Texas, motion to order the previous question (thus ending debate and the possibility of amendment),” According to a House floor speech by Rep. Louise Slaughter, D-NY: “If we defeat the previous question, I will offer an amendment to the rule to bring up Representative Swalwell and Representative Cummings’ bill, which would create a bipartisan commission to investigate the Russian interference in the 2016 election.” A vote for the amendment was a vote to block the bipartisan commission to investigate Russian interference in the 2016 election. The motion was agreed to 230-193. [HRes 600, Vote #600, 11/2/17; CQ, 11/2/17, Congressional Record, 11/2/17]

Valadao Voted Against An Amendment Barring The Use Of Funds To Issue, Renew, Or Maintain A Security Clearance For Individuals In The Executive Office Of The President Who Deliberately Omitting Meetings With A Hostile Foreign Government On Their Application. As a member of the House
Appropriations Committee, Valadao voted against an “amendment that would bar the use of funds provided by the bill to issue, renew or maintain a security clearance for any individual in the Executive Office of the President who is under criminal investigation by a federal criminal law enforcement agency.” The amendment was rejected 22-30. [House Appropriations Committee, Committee Vote, 7/13/17; CQ Committee Coverage, 7/13/17]

Valadao Voted Against An Amendment To Bar The Use Of Funds To Allow Individuals In The Executive Office Of The President To Retain Security Clearance After Deliberately Omitting Meetings With A Hostile Foreign Government On Their Application. As a member of the House Appropriations Committee, Valadao voted against an “amendment that would bar the use of funds provided by the bill to issue, renew or maintain security clearances for officials in the Executive Office of the President who deliberately omitted meetings with a hostile foreign government on applications for a security clearance. The amendment was rejected 22-30. [House Appropriations Committee, Committee Vote, 7/13/17; CQ Committee Coverage, 7/13/17]

Valadao Voted For Blocking Consideration Of A Bill To Establish The National Commission On Foreign Interference In The 2016 Election. In June 2017, Valadao voted for: the Democratic Previous Question that “would amend the rule to allow for consideration of H.R. 356, to establish the National Commission On Foreign Interference In The 2016 Election.” The previous question passed 228-185. A vote against the previous question would have allowed the bill to be considered. [H Res 375, Vote #290, 6/7/17; Office of the Democratic Leader, 115th Congress Previous Questions, 6/7/17]

Valadao Voted For Blocking Consideration Of A Bill To Establish The National Commission On Foreign Interference In The 2016 Election. In June 2017, Valadao voted for: the Democratic Previous Question that “would amend the rule to allow for consideration of H.R. 356, to establish the National Commission On Foreign Interference In The 2016 Election.” The previous question passed 228-189. A vote against the previous question would have allowed the bill to be considered. [H Res 374, Vote #288, 6/7/17; Office of the Democratic Leader, 115th Congress Previous Questions, 6/7/17]

Valadao Voted For Killing A Procedural Move To Bring Up A Bill Creating An Independent Commission To Investigate Russian Interference In The 2016 Election. “House Republicans blocked a vote Wednesday on legislation to create an independent commission to investigate Russian interference in the 2016 election. A Democratic effort to force a vote failed, with only one Republican – Rep. Walter Jones of North Carolina – joining them in a procedural vote that would have allowed them to bring up the bill. But Democrats also launched a petition Wednesday that would allow them to force a vote on the bill at a later date if they get a majority of lawmakers to sign on.” [H Res 323, Vote #259, 5/17/17; USA Today, 5/17/17]

• HEADLINE: “GOP Blocks House Vote On Independent Russia-Donald Trump Investigation.” [USA Today, 5/17/17]

Valadao Voted Against Preventing The Underlying Bill From Applying To Any Individual Who Withheld Information From Congress Related To An Investigation Regarding Russian Influence Of The 2016 Presidential Election. In April 2017, Valadao voted against: a “motion to recommit the bill to the House Financial Services Committee with instructions to report it back immediately with an amendment that would prevent the bill’s provisions from applying to any individual that withheld information from Congress related to an investigation regarding individuals influencing the outcome of the 2016 U.S. presidential election.” The motion was rejected 228-185. [HR 1343, Vote #215, 4/4/17; CQ Floor Votes, 4/4/17]

Valadao Voted For Blocking The Creation Of A Commission Investigating Foreign Interference In The 2016 Presidential Election. In March 2017, Valadao voted for: the “Newhouse, R-Wash., motion to order the previous question (thus ending debate and possibility of amendment) on the rule (H Res 233) that would provide for House floor consideration of the bill that would establish a selection process for members of the EPA’s Science Advisory Board.” A vote in favor is a vote to prevent investigation into Russia’s interference in the 2016 election. The motion was agreed to by a vote of 232-191. [HRes 233, Vote #203, 3/29/17; CQ, 3/29/17]
Valadao Voted For Blocking Consideration Of A Bill Establishing An Investigation Into Foreign Interference In The 2016 Presidential Election. In March 2017, Valadao voted for: the “Woodall, R-Ga., motion to order the previous question (thus ending debate and possibility of amendment) on the rule (H Res 229).” A vote in favor of the motion is a vote to block consideration of a bipartisan bill, The Presidential Tax Transparency Act. The motion was agreed to by a vote of 231-189. [HRes 229, Vote #197, 3/28/17; CQ, 3/28/17]

Valadao Voted For Blocking Consideration Of A Bill Establishing The National Commission On Foreign Interference In The 2016 Election. In March 2017, Valadao voted for: the “Democratic Previous Question would amend the rule to allow for consideration of H.R. 356, to establish the National Commission on Foreign Interference in the 2016 Election.” The previous question passed 233-189. A vote against the previous question would have allowed the bill to be considered. [H Res 156, Vote #115, 3/1/17; Office of the Democratic Leader, 115th Congress Previous Questions, 3/1/17]

- Politico: Judiciary Committee Republicans Killed A Measure Pressure The Trump Administration To Disclosure Documents Detailing Ties To Russia And Conflicts Of Interest Stemming From His Business Empire. “Congressional Republicans killed a Democratic measure Tuesday to pressure the Trump administration to turn over documents detailing President Donald Trump’s ties to Russia, as well as conflicts of interest stemming from his business empire. The measure, known as a ‘resolution of inquiry,’ was defeated on an 18-16 party-line vote. The resolution would have requested that the Department of Justice provide Congress with ‘any document, record, memo, correspondence or other communication’ related to ‘criminal or counterintelligence investigations’ involving Trump or his White House staff.” [Politico, 2/28/17]

Valadao Voted For Blocking Consideration Of A Bill To Establish The National Commission On Foreign Interference In The 2016 Election. In February 2017, Valadao voted for: the “Democratic Previous Question would amend the rule to allow for consideration of H.R. 356, to establish the National Commission on Foreign Interference in the 2016 Election.” The previous question passed 233-190. A vote against the previous question would have allowed the bill to be considered. [H Res 123, Vote #93, 2/15/17; Office of the Democratic Leader, 115th Congress Previous Questions, 2/15/17]

Valadao Voted For Blocking Consideration Of A Bill To Establish The National Commission On Foreign Interference In The 2016 Election. In February 2017, Valadao voted for: the “Democratic Previous Question would amend the rule to allow for consideration of H.R. 356, to establish the National Commission on Foreign Interference in the 2016 Election.” The previous question passed 227-188. A vote against the previous question would have allowed the bill to be considered. [H Res 116, Vote #90, 2/14/17; Office of the Democratic Leader, 115th Congress Previous Questions, 2/14/17]

Valadao Voted For Blocking Consideration Of A Bill To Establish The National Commission On Foreign Interference In The 2016 Election. In January 2017, Valadao voted for: the “Democratic Previous Question would amend the rule to allow for consideration of H.R. 356, to establish the National Commission on Foreign Interference in the 2016 Election.” The previous question passed 234-179. A vote against the previous question would have allowed the bill to be considered. [HR 33, Vote #26, 1/10/17; Office of the Democratic Leader, 115th Congress Previous Questions, 1/10/17]

- Bill Would Create A 12 Member Bipartisan, Independent Commission To Examine Attempts By The Russian Government To Influence The 2016 Election. “The bill would create a 12-member, bipartisan, independent commission empowered to interview witnesses, obtain documents, issue subpoenas, and receive public testimony to examine attempts by the Russian government and others to use electronic means to influence, interfere with, or sow distrust in this year’s U.S. elections. The commission — which would examine similar efforts by any other foreign governments or entities — would issue a final report with recommendations for future security protections to Congress and the President within 18 months of the bill’s enactment.” [Oversight Committee Democrats, Press Release, 12/7/16]
2018: Valadao: “Failure To Acknowledge Russian Interference In Our Election Undermines The Unanimous Assessments Of The U.S. Intelligence Community.”

“However, in an indication of how careful Republicans are to not offend Trump's supporters during a tight election, the nine Republicans running in California congressional districts that Democrats hope to pry from GOP control in November were either restrained in their reactions or silent. […] GOP Rep. David Valadao of Hanford Kings County, another Democratic target, was the most pointed in his criticism of Trump, but did it without naming him: ‘Failure to acknowledge Russian interference in our election undermines the unanimous assessments of the U.S. intelligence community as well as the bipartisan findings of the House and Senate Intelligence Committees. Russia must be held accountable for their actions.’” [San Francisco Chronicle, 7/16/18]

Valadao Voted For Blocking A Bill To Require Presidential Candidates To Release Tax Returns. In May 2018, Valadao voted for: “Newhouse, R-Wash., motion to order the previous question (thus ending debate and possibility of amendment).” According to the Democratic Leader’s office, “The Democratic Previous Question would make in order Ms. Eshoo’s bill H.R. 305. H.R. 305 would amend the Ethics in Government Act of 1978 to require the President, as well as any candidate of a major political party for the office of the President, to submit their Federal income tax returns for the three most recent years. This bill would ensure more transparency in the political process and provide the American people with additional information about potential conflicts of interest of the President or a candidate for the office of the President.” A vote for the motion was a vote to block consideration of the bill. The motion was agreed to 223-189. [H Res 879, Vote #173, 5/9/18; CQ, 5/9/18; DemocraticLeader.gov, 5/9/18]

Valadao Voted For Blocking A Bill To Require The Disclosure Of The President’s Tax Returns. In April 2018, Valadao voted for: “Newhouse, R-Wash., motion to order the previous question (thus ending debate and possibility of amendment) on the rule…” According to Rep. Polis, defeating the previous question would “amend the Ethics in Government Act of 1978 to require the disclosure of certain tax returns by Presidents and certain candidates for the office of the President, and for other purposes.” A vote for the motion was a vote to block consideration of the amendment. The motion was agreed to by a vote of 226-189. [H Res 831, Vote #143, 4/18/18; CQ, 4/18/18; Congressional Record, H 3409, 4/18/18]

Valadao Voted For Killing A Motion To Require President Trump To Disclose His Tax Returns. In July 2017, Valadao voted for: “motion to table (kill) the Cicilline, D-R.I., motion to appeal the ruling of the Chair that the Cicilline resolution related to the disclosure of President Trump’s tax returns does not constitute a question of the privileges of the House.” The motion was agreed to 235-189. [Motion, Vote #392, 7/19/17; CQ Floor Votes, 7/19/17]

Valadao Voted For Killing A Motion To Require President Trump To Disclose His Tax Returns. In June 2017, Valadao voted for: “McCaul, R-Texas, motion to table (kill) the Capuano, D-Mass., motion to appeal the ruling of the Chair that the Capuano resolution related to the disclosure of President Trump’s tax returns does not constitute a question of the privileges of the House.” The motion passed 228-186. [Motion, Vote #292, 6/7/17; CQ Floor Votes, 6/7/17]

Valadao Voted For Blocking Efforts To Force The Disclosure Of President Trump’s Tax Return. In June 2017, Valadao voted for: “Buck, R-Colo., motion to order the previous question (thus ending debate and possibility of amendment) on the rule (H Res 375).” According to The Democratic Leader’s office, “The Democratic previous question would amend the rule to allow for consideration of H.R. 305, to amend the Ethics in Government Act of 1978 to require any candidate of a major political party for the office of the president to submit their federal income tax returns for the three most recent years.” A vote for the motion was a vote to block the release of tax returns. The previous question carried 228-185. [H Res 375, Vote #290, 6/7/17; CQ, 6/7/17; DemocraticLeader.gov, 6/7/17]

Valadao Voted To Table An Amendment To Prohibit Implementation Of A Bill Until The Chairman Of Ways And Means Requested 10 Years Of President Trump’s Tax Returns. As a member of the Ways and Means Committee, Valadao voted for a “motion to table the Doggett motion to appeal the ruling of the chairman that the Doggett amendment to the Brady, R-Texas, substitute amendment was not germane. The Doggett amendment would prohibit implementation of any provision of the bill until the chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee submits a written request to the Treasury secretary for copies of the President Donald Trump’s tax returns for the past 10 years, including each business entity disclosed on the president’s ethics form.” The motion was agreed to 22-16. [House Ways and Means Committee, Committee Vote, 5/24/17; CQ Committee Coverage, 5/24/17]

Valadao Voted For Blocking Efforts To Force The Disclosure Of President Trump’s Tax Return. In May 2017, Valadao voted for: “Buck, R-Colo., motion to table (kill) the Sanchez, D-Calif., motion to appeal the ruling of the Chair that the Sanchez resolution related to the disclosure of President Trump’s tax returns does not constitute a question of the privileges of the House.” The motion passed, 225-187. [Motion, Vote #274, 5/17/17; CQ, 5/18/17]

Valadao Voted For Blocking A Bill To Require Presidential Candidates To Release Tax Returns. In May 2017, Valadao voted for: “Collins, R-Ga., motion to order the previous question (thus ending debate and possibility of amendment).” According to the Democratic Leader’s office, “The Democratic previous question would amend the rule to allow for consideration of H.R. 305, to amend the Ethics in Government Act of 1978 to require any candidate of a major political party for the office of the president to submit their federal income tax returns for the three most recent years.” A vote for the motion was a vote to block the release of tax returns. The motion passed 226-188. [H Res 324, Vote #263, 5/18/17; CQ, 5/18/17; DemocraticLeader.gov, 5/18/17]

Valadao Voted For Blocking Efforts To Force The Disclosure Of President Trump’s Tax Return. In May 2017, Valadao voted for: “Rothfus, R-Pa., motion to table (kill) the Pascrell, D-N.J., motion to appeal the ruling of the Chair that the Pascrell resolution related to the disclosure of President Trump’s tax returns does not constitute a question of the privileges of the House.” The motion was agreed to by a vote of 229-188. [Motion, Vote #261, 5/17/17; CQ, 5/17/17]

Previous Question would amend the rule to allow for consideration of H.R. 305, to amend the Ethics in Government Act of 1978 to require any candidate of a major political party for the office of the President to submit their Federal income tax returns for the three most recent years.” The previous question passed 231-191. A vote against the previous question would have allowed the bill to be considered. [HR 305 (HRes 275), Vote #224, 4/26/17; Office of the Democratic Leader, 115th Congress Previous Questions, 4/26/17]

Valadao Voted For Killing A Motion To Require President Trump To Disclose His Tax Returns. In April 2017, Valadao voted for: “Foxx, R-N.C., motion to table (kill) the Jeffries, D-N.Y., motion to appeal the ruling of the Chair that the Jeffries resolution related to the disclosure of President Trump’s tax returns does not constitute a question of the privileges of the House.” The motion passed 228-184. [Motion, Vote #219, 4/5/17; CQ Floor Votes, 4/5/17]

- Rep. Hakeem Jeffries “Offered A Resolution... To Delay Consideration Of Tax Reform Legislation Until After Lawmakers Review Trump’s Tax Returns.” “House Republicans on Wednesday blocked a Democratic effort to demand President Trump’s tax returns for the sixth time in as many weeks. Rep. Hakeem Jeffries (D-N.Y.) offered a resolution directing the House to delay consideration of tax reform legislation until after lawmakers review Trump’s tax returns and conclude how he could benefit from changes to the tax code.” [The Hill, 4/5/17]

Valadao Voted For Killing A Motion To Require President Trump To Disclose His Tax Returns. In March 2017, Valadao voted for: “Flores, R-Texas, motion to table (kill) the Lofgren, D-Calif., motion to appeal the ruling of the Chair that the Lofgren resolution related to the disclosure of President Trump’s tax returns does not constitute a question of the privileges of the House.” The motion passed 228-190. [Motion, Vote #201, 3/28/17; CQ Floor Votes, 3/28/17]

- Republicans Blocked Procedural Effort To Obtain Trump’s Tax Returns From The IRS. “House Republicans on Tuesday blocked more attempts by Democrats to obtain President Donald Trump’s tax returns from the IRS. House Democrats tried for a third and a fourth time to use procedural votes to pry loose Trump’s returns. Republicans blocked both efforts, one on the House floor and the other in the House Ways and Means Committee. The House voted 228-190 on a mostly party-line vote to block the Democrats’ effort. The Ways and Means Committee voted 24-16 to oppose the effort.” [Associated Press, 3/28/17]

Valadao Voted For Blocking Consideration Of A Bill Requiring Trump To Disclose His Tax Returns. In March 2017, Valadao voted for: the “Burgess, R-Texas, motion to order the previous question (thus ending debate and possibility of amendment) on the rule (H Res 230).” A vote in favor is a vote against requiring Trump to release his tax returns. The motion was agreed to by a vote of 232-184. [H Res 230, Vote #199, 3/28/17; CQ, 3/28/17]

Valadao Voted For Blocking Consideration Of A Vote Appealing A Ruling That Forcing Trump To Disclose His Tax Returns Was Not A House Privilege. In March 2017, Valadao voted for: the “Cheney, R-Wyo., motion to table (kill) the Polis, D-Colo., motion to appeal the ruling of the Chair that the Polis resolution related to the disclosure of President Trump’s tax returns does not constitute a question of the privileges of the House.” The motion was agreed to by a vote of 230-189. [Motion, Vote #182, 3/22/17; CQ, 3/22/17]

- Republican Presiding Officer Cut Off The Attempt By Democrats To Force A Vote To Push Committee To Request Trump’s Tax Returns. “Democrats tried but failed Monday to force a House floor vote to push a key committee to request copies of President Trump’s tax returns. It was the fourth time in as many weeks that Democrats sought to force the vote. Rep. Jared Polis (D-Colo.) attempted to offer a resolution and trigger a House floor vote, but was cut off by the Republican presiding over the House.” [The Hill, 3/20/17]

  - Rather Than Rule The Measure Was Not Privileged, Rep. Womak, The Presiding Officer, Ruled That Rep. Polis Was No Longer Able To Speak. “Three other Democrats in recent weeks offered similar resolutions as “privileged,” which would require the House to act within two legislative days.
The presiding officer in the House at those times ruled that the measure didn’t qualify as “privileged” by affecting the chamber’s dignity and integrity. Democrats demanded roll call votes to appeal those rulings. […] But on Monday, Rep. Steve Womack (R-Ark.), who was presiding over the chamber, took a different approach to block the measure. He declared the House would not at that time determine whether the resolution met the requirements to be "privileged" and ruled that Polis was no longer recognized to speak. Womack then ordered the House to resume voting on an unrelated noncontroversial bill regarding the Department of Homeland Security.” [The Hill, 3/20/17]

Valadao Voted For Killing A Motion To Require President Trump To Disclose His Tax Returns. In March 2017, Valadao voted for: “McCarthy, R-Calif., motion to table (kill) the Crowley, D-N.Y., motion to appeal the ruling of the Chair that the Crowley resolution related to the disclosure of President Trump’s tax returns does not constitute a question of the privileges of the House.” The motion passed 223-183. [Motion, Vote #161, 3/15/17; CQ Floor Votes, 3/15/17]

- Motion Would Have Forced House To Vote On A Resolution To Request Ten Years Of President Trump’s Tax Returns. “Crowley’s measure is similar to resolutions Democratic Reps. Bill Pascrell Jr. (N.J.) and Anna Eshoo (Calif.) offered on the House floor in recent weeks. It includes additional language that says the American public need to know more about Trump’s business interests in order to ‘ensure that all policies put forward by the Trump Administration solely benefit the American public and not his corporate business partners.’ As was the case in past weeks, Crowley tried to offer the resolution as ‘privileged,’ meaning the House would have to act on it within two legislative days. But Rep. Mike Simpson (R-Idaho), who was presiding over the House, ruled that the measure was not privileged, and the vast majority of Republicans voted to table Crowley’s appeal of that ruling, 223-183.” [The Hill, 3/15/17]

Valadao Did Not Vote On Killing A Motion To Require President Trump To Disclose His Tax Returns. In March 2017, Valadao did not vote on: “McCarthy, R-Calif., motion to table (kill) the Eshoo, D-Calif., motion to appeal the ruling of the Chair that the Eshoo resolution related to the disclosure of President Trump’s tax returns does not constitute a question of the privileges of the House.” The motion passed 227-186. [Motion, Vote #128, 3/7/17; CQ Floor Votes, 3/7/17]

- Motion Would Have Forced The House To Vote On A Resolution To Request Ten Years Of President Trump’s Tax Returns. “House Democrats on Tuesday furthered their push to force Republicans to take tough votes on President Trump, offering a resolution on the House floor to request Trump’s tax returns for the second time in a little over a week. The resolution was blocked on a procedural vote of 227-186. […] Rep. Anna Eshoo (D-Calif.) offered a resolution on Tuesday instructing the House to request 10 years of Trump’s tax returns so that they can be considered by the House Ways and Means Committee in a closed session.” [The Hill, 3/7/17]

Valadao Voted For Blocking Consideration Of A Bill To Require Any Candidate Of A Major Political Party To Release Three Years Of Federal Income Tax Returns. In June 2016, Valadao voted for: the “Democratic Previous Question would amend the rule to allow for consideration of H.R. 305, to amend the Ethics in Government Act of 1978 to require any candidate of a major political party for the office of the President to submit their Federal income tax returns for the three most recent years.” The previous question passed 224-191. A vote against the previous question would have allowed the bill to be considered. [H Res 150, Vote #103, 2/28/17; Office of the Democratic Leader, 115th Congress Previous Questions, 2/28/17]

Valadao Voted For Killing A Motion To Require President Trump To Disclose His Tax Returns. In February 2017, Valadao voted for: “McCarthy, R-Calif., motion to table (kill) the Pascrell, D-N.J., motion to appeal the ruling of the Chair that the Pascrell resolution related to the disclosure of President Trump’s tax returns does not constitute a question of the privileges of the House.” The motion passed 229-185. [Motion, Vote #101, 2/27/17; CQ Floor Votes, 2/27/17]
Motion Would Have Forced The House To Vote On A Resolution To Request Ten Years Of President Trump’s Tax Returns. “A House Democratic lawmaker attempted Monday to force a House floor vote on a resolution to request President Trump’s tax returns, but the effort failed on a party line vote, 229-185, with two Republicans voting ‘present.’ The move was the latest in a series of Democratic efforts to push Congress to request Trump’s tax returns, and Democrats demanded a roll call vote to force Republicans to go on the record. […] Rep. Bill Pascrell (D-N.J.) offered a resolution that would have directed the House to request 10 years of Trump’s tax returns, have the House Ways and Means Committee review them in a closed session and then vote to send the information in the returns to the full House.” [The Hill, 2/27/17]

Democrats Offered A Resolution To “Instruct The House To Request Trump’s Tax Returns From The Last Decade So That The House Ways And Means Committee… Can Review Them In A Closed Session.” “Democrats have offered similar resolution three other times in the last four weeks, which all resulted in procedural votes. The resolutions would instruct the House to request Trump’s tax returns from the last decade so that the House Ways and Means Committee, which has oversight of the Internal Revenue Service, could review them in a closed session. The chairmen of the House Ways and Means Committee, Senate Finance Committee and Joint Committee on Taxation have the power to request individual tax return information from the Treasury Department.” [The Hill, 3/20/17]

- After Republican Presiding Officers Ruled Measure Did Not Qualify As “Privileged” Action Under House Rules, Democrats Forced Roll Call Vote To Appeal Ruling. “Three other Democrats in recent weeks offered similar resolutions as “privileged,” which would require the House to act within two legislative days. The presiding officer in the House at those times ruled that the measure didn’t qualify as “privileged” by affecting the chamber’s dignity and integrity. Democrats demanded roll call votes to appeal those rulings.” [The Hill, 3/20/17]

Valadao Voted For Blocking Consideration Of The Presidential Tax Transparency Act. In January 2017, Valadao voted for: the “Democratic Previous Question would amend the rule to allow for consideration of H.R. 305, the Presidential Tax Transparency Act.” The previous question passed 233-187. A vote against the previous question would have allowed the bill to be considered. [H Res 55, Vote #62, 1/24/17; Office of the Democratic Leader, 115th Congress Previous Questions, 1/24/17]

Valadao Repeatedly Voted Against Addressing Conflicts Of Interest In Trump’s Administration

Valadao Voted Against Preventing Financial Regulations Changes From Being Made For The Gain Of The President, His Family, Or Other Senior Executive Branch Officials. In March 2018, Valadao voted against: “Connolly D-Va., motion to recommit the bill to the House Financial Services Committee with instructions to report it back immediately with an amendment that would prevent changes in financial regulations in the bill from being made at the request of, or for the personal gain of, the president, a member of his family, or other senior Executive Branch official.” The motion to recommit failed 182-232. [HR 1116, Vote #107, 3/14/18; CQ, 3/14/18]

Valadao Voted Against Preventing Financial Regulations Changes From Being Made For The Gain Of The President, His Family, Or Other Senior Executive Branch Officials. In March 2018, Valadao voted against: “Clark, D-Mass., motion to recommit the bill to the House Financial Services Committee with instructions to report it back immediately with an amendment that would prohibit a federal financial regulator from including certain rules in its review under the Economic Growth and Regulatory Paperwork Reduction Act of 1996 if such rules were issued or made at the ‘request of and for the personal gain of’ the president, the president’s family members, or senior executive branch officials who are required to file annual financial disclosure forms.” According to Rep. Clark, the “amendment simply states that before taking any action to eliminate or change a regulation, regulators must disclose any communications from the White House or the President’s family advocating for the action and whether the President, his family, or any senior administration officials would benefit financially from such action.” The motion was rejected, 182-228. [HR 4607, Vote #94, 3/6/18; CQ, 3/6/18; Congressional Record, 3/6/18]

Valadao Voted For Blocking Consideration Of A Resolution Empowering The House Of Representatives To Investigate Trump’s Potential Conflicts Of Interest. In April 2017, Valadao voted for: “the Democratic Previous Question would amend the rule to allow for consideration of H. Res. 286 which would direct certain officials of the Trump Administration to provide information to the House of Representatives that will enable the House to meet its constitutional responsibility to conduct oversight of the Trump Administration by investigating potential conflicts of interests of President Donald J. Trump.” A vote yes was a vote against the Democrats’ resolution. The motion was agreed to by a vote of 230-193. [HRes 280, Vote #229, 4/27/17; Office of the Democratic Leader, 115th Congress Previous Questions, 4/27/17]

Valadao Voted Against Consideration Of An Amendment Prohibiting The President From Making Public Communications About Or Advocating For His Business Interests. In March 2017, Valadao voted against: the “Jayapal, D-Wash., motion to recommit the bill to the House Oversight and Government Reform Committee with instructions to report it back immediately with an amendment that would prohibit the president from making public communications that refer to a business in which the president has an equity interest and would prohibit the president from publically advocating on behalf of such business interests.” The motion was rejected by a vote of 189-232. [HR 1004, Vote #125, 3/2/17; CQ, 3/2/17]
Valadao Voted Against Recommitting The SCRUBS Act With An Amendment Exempting Rules Related To Conflict Of Interest And Bribery. In March 2017, Valadao voted against: the “Raskin, D-Md., motion to recommit the bill to the House Oversight and Government Reform Committee with instructions to report it back immediately with an amendment that would exempt from the bill’s provisions rules related to laws governing potential conflicts of interest and financial disclosures for executive branch employees, and would exempt rules related to bribery.” The motion was rejected by a vote of 190-235. [HR 998, Vote #113, 3/1/17; CQ, 3/1/17]

Valadao Voted For Blocking Consideration Of A Bill To Address The Financial Conflicts Of Interest Of The President. In January 2017, Valadao voted for: the “Democratic Previous Question would amend the rule to allow for consideration of H.R. 371, to address financial conflicts of interest of the President and Vice President.” The previous question passed 232-168. A vote against the previous question would have allowed the bill to be considered. [H Res 40, Vote #32, 1/11/17; Office of the Democratic Leader, 115th Congress Previous Questions, 1/11/17]

Elections

2020: Trump Called Valadao An “Incredible Guy,” During A Rally In Bakersfield

2020: Trump Called Valadao An “Incredible Guy,” During A Rally In Bakersfield. “Important water issues took center stage, but Wednesday's visit by the president of the United States was much like Trump rallies held in other states. There was pointed criticism of political rivals, use of familiar labels like ‘Crooked Hillary,’ boos for cable news channel CNN and chants of ‘U-S-A! U-S-A!’ Clearly there was some political benefit to be had, as Trump lent strong support for former three-term Congressman David Valadao, a Hanford farmer and Republican hoping to reclaim his California 21st Congressional District seat by beating Fresno businessman T.J. Cox in November. ‘He's an incredible guy,’ Trump said of Valadao, who prior to the president's arrival worked the crowd inside the large hangar where the rally took place. ‘He's going to be fantastic,’ the president said. ‘We really need him badly in Washington.’” [Bakersfield Californian, 2/19/20]

Valadao Declined To Back Trump In 2016 But Said He Would Vote For Trump In 2020

Valadao Declined To Back Trump In 2016 But Said He Would Vote For Trump In 2020. “A former California Republican congressman who declined to back President Donald Trump in 2016 and later lost his House seat is making a different bet in 2020. Former Rep David Valadao, R-Hanford says he plans to vote for Trump this fall. ‘I think he deserves the support here in the Central Valley,’ Valadao, a Republican from Hanford, said on a radio show with host Trevor Carey. Carey asked if Trump had Valadao’s support, and he said yes.” [Fresno Bee, 8/24/20]

- Of President Trump, Valadao Said “I Think He Deserves The Support Here In The Central Valley.” “Former Rep David Valadao, R-Hanford says he plans to vote for Trump this fall. ‘I think he deserves the support here in the Central Valley,’ Valadao, a Republican from Hanford, said on a radio show with host Trevor Carey. Carey asked if Trump had Valadao’s support, and he said yes. That’s a change for Valadao, who in 2016 did not endorse Trump. ‘I'm not going to get into that,’ he said in June 2016 when a local news station asked him who he planned to support.” [Fresno Bee, 8/24/20]

2018: When Asked Whether He Wanted Trump To Campaign With Him In His District, Valadao Said “It Depends On The Topic”

“The question of whether endangered GOP candidates want President Donald Trump to campaign with them sparked dodges, lengthy pauses and a cascade of caveats in interviews with about two dozen GOP House members who are facing varying degrees of competition in races this fall. But the answer several Republicans from tough districts have settled on is, sure -- if Trump will campaign on their terms. […] Rep. David Valadao of California, whose district Hillary Clinton won by nearly 16 percentage points, offered a similar calculation: ‘If it's a topic like water or something positive on immigration that actually benefits us -- I think if the president of the United States wants to come to the district to highlight something that's actually helpful to the district, I think it would make sense, but it depends on the topic.’” [McClatchy DC, 5/20/18]

June 30, 2016: Valadao Said He Could Not Support Donald Trump

“U.S. Rep. David Valadao (R-Hanford) said Thursday he can't support presumptive Republican nominee Donald Trump. Valadao has avoided talking about the presidential race for months, saying he would support the eventual nominee. But in a statement released by his campaign Thursday, Valadao said he can't support Trump and he won't back presumptive Democratic nominee Hillary Clinton either.” [Los Angeles Times, 6/30/16]

Valadao Said He Was Disappointed With The “Divisive Rhetoric” Of The Presidential Election; Claimed He Could Not Support A Candidate Who “Denigrates People Based On Their Ethnicity, Religion, Or Disabilities.” “Valadao's district is 71% Latino. ‘I am disappointed with the divisive rhetoric coming from this Presidential Election and cannot support either candidate. I cannot back a candidate who denigrates people based on their ethnicity, religion, or disabilities,’ he said.” [Los Angeles Times, 6/30/16]

June 23, 2016: Valadao Said He Was Staying Out Of The Presidential Race Because He Had Not “Seen Or Heard Anything” That Compelled Him To Support A Candidate

“Congressman David Valadao, a Central Valley Republican, said Thursday that he won't support presumptive GOP nominee Donald Trump for president. ‘I just haven't seen or heard anything that makes me want to come out and support, so I'm just staying out of the race…,’ Valadao told Eyewitness News over the phone. The congressman wasn't speaking only of Trump when making that comment.” [Bakersfield Now, 6/23/16]

• Valadao Said He Was Concerned About Trump’s Understanding Of Foreign Relations And The Legislative Process. “Valadao, who is seeking re-election in the 21st Congressional District, cited concerns over Trump's understanding of foreign relations and the legislative process. ‘Those are things that I think we have to have someone there who understands this process and is obviously on the right side,’ the congressman said. Eyewitness News asked Valadao who he would like to see as the next president. ‘I'm not going to get into that,’ Valadao responded.” [Bakersfield Now, 6/23/16]

June 2016: Valadao And His Spokeswoman Refused To Comment On Donald Trump
Early June 2016: Valadao And His Spokeswoman Refused To Comment On Donald Trump. “When the Sentinel emailed several questions to Valadao this week asking about his position on Trump, Valadao answered them all with the same response: ‘I'm not going to focus on politics. Instead, I will continue to work on behalf of those who elected me, ensuring the voice of the Central Valley is heard.’ ‘We're not commenting on Trump right now,' said Valadao Spokeswoman Anna Vetter in a text message.” [Kingsburg Recorder, 6/1/16]

October 2015: Valadao Admitted That Trump Could Hurt His Reelection Chances By Driving Up Latino Turnout

Valadao Admitted That Trump Could Hurt His Reelection Chances By Driving Up Latino Turnout. CA-21: Rep. Valadao was asked specifically if he would support Trump or Carson, and he responded, “Absolutely, I’m going to stick with the winner from my party, obviously.” He also admitted that Trump could hurt his reelection chances by driving up Latino turnout. October 2015: Endorsed Jeb Bush For President But Said He Would “Absolutely” Support Trump If He Became The Nominee

Valadao Endorsed Jeb Bush For President In October 2015. “Rep. David Valadao has endorsed Jeb Bush for president, giving the former Florida governor his second central San Joaquin Valley congressional endorsement.” [Fresno Bee, 10/07/15]

October 2015: Valadao Said He Would “Absolutely” Support Trump If He Became The Republican Nominee. On October 30, 2015 Valadao appeared on Eye Witness News 47 with Joey Horta when Horta inquired as to his support for the Republican nomination. HORTA: Assuming that he [Jeb Bush] gets enough votes because he’s polling a lot lower than the top two—Ben Carson and Donald Trump. Will you be able to support one of those two if they make it for the nomination? Valadao: Absolutely, I’m gonna stick with the winner from my party, obviously. [CBS Fresno, 2:33, 10/30/15]

Valadao Signed An Amicus Brief That Urged The Supreme Court To Uphold The Extreme Mississippi Pro-Life Law And Potentially Overturn Roe V. Wade

Valadao Signed An Amicus Brief To The Supreme Court, Asking Them To Overturn Roe And Casey. “The Mississippi congressional delegation and the House Pro-Life Caucus today led more than 200 members of Congress in filing an amicus brief supporting the State of Mississippi in Dobbs v. Jackson Women’s Health Organization and urging the U.S. Supreme Court to uphold Mississippi’s law protecting life. […] In addition to the House sponsors, Representatives signing the brief include: […] David G. Valadao (Calif.-21). [Sen. Roger Wicker, Press Release, 7/29/21]

- The Mississippi Abortion Law Made Most Abortions Illegal After 15 Weeks Of Pregnancy. “The Mississippi law that will be reviewed by the court makes most abortions illegal after 15 weeks of pregnancy, about two months earlier than Roe and later decisions allow. Most experts estimate fetal viability to be about 24 weeks. The law was enacted in 2018 by the Republican-dominated Mississippi Legislature but never went into effect because of an immediate legal challenge that led to a federal appellate court blocking its enforcement.” [New York Times, 12/1/21]

- The Amicus Brief Called For The Supreme Court To Reconsider And, If Appropriate, Partially Or Wholly Overturn Roe V. Wade. “If necessary to enable the people’s representatives to further vital interests in public safety, equality, and the integrity of the medical profession, Roe and Casey should be reconsidered and, if appropriate, wholly or partially overruled.” [Brief Amici Curiae Of 228 Members Of Congress In Support Of Petitioners, 7/29/21]

Valadao Voted Against The Women’s Health Protection Act. In September 2021, Valadao voted against: “Passage of the bill that would statutorily establish that health care providers have a right to provide and patients have a right to receive abortion services, and it would prohibit certain restrictions related to abortion services. The bill would specify that rights established by the bill may not be restricted by certain requirements or limitations related to abortion services, including prohibitions on abortion prior to fetal viability, or after fetal viability if a provider determines that continuation of a pregnancy would pose a risk to a patient's life or health; requirements that patients disclose reasons for seeking an abortion or make medically unnecessary in-person appointments; requirements that providers provide medically inaccurate information or perform specific medical tests or procedures in connection with the provision of abortion services; limitations on providers' ability to prescribe drugs based on good-faith medical judgment, provide services via telemedicine or provide immediate services when a delay would pose a risk to a patient's health; and requirements for facilities and personnel that would not apply to facilities providing medically comparable procedures. It would also prohibit requirements or limitations that are similar to those established by the bill or that impede access to abortion services and expressly or implicitly single out abortion services, providers or facilities. It would specify factors that courts may consider to determine whether a requirement or limitation impedes access to abortion services, including whether it interferes with providers' ability to provide services; poses a risk to patients' health; is likely to delay or deter patients in accessing services or necessitate in-person visits that would not otherwise be required; is likely to result in a decreased availability of services in a state or region; is likely to result in increased costs of providing or obtaining services; or imposes penalties that are not imposed on other health care providers for comparable conduct. It would require a party defending a requirement or limitation to establish that it significantly advances the safety of abortion services or patient health and that such goals cannot be advanced by a less restrictive alternative measure. It would authorize the Justice Department, health care providers and private individuals and entities to bring a civil action in U.S. district court for injunctive relief against any state or government official charged with implementing or enforcing a requirement or limitation challenged as a violation of rights established by the bill. It would authorize district courts to award appropriate equitable relief, including temporary, preliminary or permanent injunctive relief, and to award costs of litigation to a prevailing plaintiff. It would require courts to "liberally construe" provisions of the bill to effectuate its purposes.” The bill passed by a vote of 218-211. [HR 3655, Vote #295, 9/24/21; CQ, 9/24/21]

- Passage Of The WHPA Was In Response To A Restrictive Texas Abortion Law. “Passage of the Women's Health Protection Act is a response to a Texas law that essentially bans abortion after six weeks, before most people realize they are pregnant. The U.S. Supreme Court refused to block the law from taking effect, although the decision leaves the door open for future challenges.” [NPR, 9/24/21]

- Pelosi: “This Ban Necessitates Codifying Roe V. Wade.” “In a statement, Pelosi said the Texas statute is ‘the most extreme, dangerous abortion ban in half a century, and its purpose is to destroy Roe v. Wade, and even refuses to make exceptions for cases of rape and incest. This ban necessitates codifying Roe v. Wade.’” [NPR, 9/24/21]

Valadao: “As A Catholic And Father Of Three, I Believe That Human Life Is Precious And Should Be Protected At Every Stage. I Am Strongly Against The Majority’s So-Called ‘Women’s Health Protection Act.’” “As a Catholic and father of three, I believe that human life is precious and should be protected at every stage. I am strongly against the Majority’s so-called ‘Women’s Health Protection Act.’” [Twitter, David Valadao, 9/24/21]

Valadao Claimed The Women’s Health Protection Act Removed Pro-Life Protections For The Unborn. “This bill removes nearly all pro-life protections for the unborn and overrides existing laws against late-term abortions. It is the responsibility of those of us in government to give unborn children a voice and protect them from harm.” [Twitter, David Valadao, 9/24/21]

Valadao Repeatedly Voted For A 20-Week Abortion Ban

2017: Valadao Voted For A 20-Week Abortion Ban. In October 2017, Valadao voted for: “Passage of the bill that would prohibit abortions in cases where the probable age of the fetus is 20 weeks or later and would impose criminal penalties on doctors who violate the ban. It would provide exceptions for cases in which the woman’s life is in danger as well as for pregnancies that are a result of rape for pregnancies that are a result of rape against an adult woman, if the woman received counseling or medical treatment for the rape at least 48 hours prior to the abortion. An exception would be provided for pregnancies resulting from rape or incest against a minor if the rape or incest had been previously reported to law enforcement or another government agency authorized to act on reports of child abuse. The bill would require a second doctor trained in neonatal resuscitation to be present for abortions where the fetus has the ‘potential’ to survive outside the womb.” The rule was adopted, 237-189. [HR 36, Vote #549, 10/3/17; CQ, 10/3/17]

- Abortion Rights Groups Said The Legislation Had No Exception If The Pregnancy Threatened The Mother’s Health, And The Rape And Incest Exceptions Were Too Narrow. “Abortion rights groups and Democratic lawmakers panned the legislation ahead of its passage, arguing it is based on faulty science and contains no exception if a pregnancy would threaten a mother’s health. They also said the rape and incest exceptions are too narrow and that the bill is likely unconstitutional under existing Supreme Court rulings.” [Washington Post, 10/3/17]

2017: Valadao Voted For Consideration Of A 20-Week Abortion Ban. In October 2017, Valadao voted for: “Adoption of the rule (H Res 548) that would provide for House floor consideration of the bill (HR 36) that would prohibit abortions in cases where the probable age of the fetus is 20 weeks or later and would impose criminal penalties on doctors who violate the ban, with certain exceptions.” The rule was adopted, 233-187. [HR 36, Vote #547, 10/3/17; CQ, 10/3/17]

Valadao Voted Against An Amendment To The 20-Week Abortion Ban Allowing For An Exception For An Abortion Necessary To Save The Health Of A Pregnant Woman

Valadao Voted Against An Amendment To The 20-Week Abortion Ban Allowing For An Exception For An Abortion Necessary To Save The Health Of A Pregnant Woman. In October 2017, Valadao voted against: “Brownley, D-Calif., motion to recommit the bill to the House Judiciary Committee with instructions to report it back immediately with an amendment that would add an exception to the 20-week abortion ban for abortions necessary to save the health of the pregnant woman.” The motion was rejected, 238-187. [HR 36, Vote #548, 10/3/17; CQ, 10/3/17]

Valadao Voted For A 20-Week Abortion Ban Imposing Criminal Penalties On Doctors, With Exceptions For Rape And Incest Only If It Had Been Reported To Law Enforcement

Valadao Voted For A 20-Week Abortion Ban Imposing Criminal Penalties On Doctors, With Exceptions For Rape And Incest Only If It Had Been Reported To Law Enforcement. In October 2017, Valadao voted for: “Passage of the bill that would prohibit abortions in cases where the probable age of the fetus is 20 weeks or later and would impose criminal penalties on doctors who violate the ban. It would provide exceptions for cases in which the woman’s life is in danger as well as for pregnancies that are a result of rape for pregnancies that are a result of rape against an adult woman, if the woman received counseling or medical treatment for the rape at least 48 hours prior to the abortion. An exception would be provided for pregnancies resulting from rape or incest against a minor if the rape or incest had been previously reported to law enforcement or another government agency authorized to act on reports of child abuse. 2015: Valadao Voted For A 20-Week Abortion Ban

2015: Valadao Voted For A 20-Week Abortion Ban That Required Medical Practitioners To Provide Medical Care If A Fetus Was Born Alive. In July 2015, Valadao voted for: “Passage of the bill that would prohibit abortions in cases where the probable age of the fetus is 20 weeks or later and would impose criminal penalties on doctors who violate the ban. It would provide exceptions for cases in which the woman’s life is in danger as well as for pregnancies that are a result of rape if, as amended, for pregnancies that are a result of rape against an adult woman, the woman received counseling or medical treatment for the rape at least 48 hours prior to the abortion. An exception would be provided for pregnancies resulting from rape or incest against a minor if the rape or incest had been previously reported to law enforcement or another government agency authorized to act on reports of child abuse. As amended, the bill would require a second doctor trained in neonatal resuscitation to be present for abortions where the fetus has the "potential" to survive outside the womb, and, if the fetus is born alive, the bill would require that the infant be provided medical care and immediately be transported and admitted to a hospital. As amended, women wishing to have abortions under the bill’s exceptions would need to sign (along with the doctor and a witness) an informed consent authorization form detailing the age of the fetus and stating that, if born alive, would be given medical assistance and transported to a hospital.” The bill passed by a vote of 242-184. [HR 36, Vote #223, 5/13/15; CQ, 5/13/15]

2013: Valadao Voted For A Ban Requiring Women Prove Rape Before Accessing An Abortion

2013: Valadao Voted For A Ban Requiring Women Prove Rape Before Accessing An Abortion. In June 2013, Valadao voted for: “Passage of the bill that would create a nationwide ban on abortions performed at 20 weeks or later, except in cases where the life of the woman is in danger. It would provide exceptions to the ban in cases of pregnancy resulting from rape or incest against a minor, if it has been reported to law enforcement or a government agency authorized to act on reports of child abuse. It also would impose criminal penalties on physicians who violate the ban and subject violators to a maximum five-year jail sentence, fines or both.” The bill passed, 228-196. Valadao Repeatedly Voted To Make The Hyde Amendment Permanent

2017: Valadao Voted For Making The Hyde Amendment Permanent And Eliminate Abortion Coverage On Any Private Health Insurance Plan Participating In The Affordable Care Act

2017: Valadao Voted For Making The Hyde Amendment Permanent And Eliminate Abortion Coverage On Any Private Health Insurance Plan Participating In The Affordable Care Act. In January 2017, Valadao voted for: “passage of the bill that would permanently prohibit federal funds from being used to pay for abortion services or health insurance plans that include abortion coverage. It also would prohibit the District of Columbia from using its own local funds to provide or pay for abortions. Individuals and small businesses also could not receive tax credits under the 2010 health care law related to purchases of health insurance plans that include abortion coverage. The bill would require the Office of Personnel Management to ensure that, starting in 2018, no multistate qualified health plan offered in a state insurance exchange provides coverage that includes abortion. The provisions would not apply to pregnancies resulting from rape or incest, or to situations where the woman would die unless an abortion is performed.” The bill passed by a vote of 238-183. [HR 7, Vote #65, 1/24/17; CQ, 1/24/17]

Valadao Voted Against Blocking Consideration Of The No Taxpayer Funding For Abortion And Abortion Insurance Full Disclosure Act Of 2021. In June 2021, Valadao Voted Against: “Agreeing to the Morelle, D-N.Y., motion to order the previous question (thus ending debate and possibility of amendment).” According to the Congressional Record, Rep. Burgess said, “If we defeat the previous question, I will offer an amendment to the rule to immediately consider H.R. 18, the No Taxpayer Funding for Abortion and Abortion Insurance Full Disclosure Act of 2021.” A vote for the motion was a vote to block consideration of the bill. The motion was agreed to, 218-209. [H Res 486, Vote #175, 6/23/21; CQ, 6/23/21; Congressional Record, 6/23/21]

- The No Taxpayer Funding For Abortion And Abortion Insurance Full Disclosure Act Of 2021 Would Have Made The Hyde Amendment Permanent. “H.R. 18 — the No Taxpayer Funding for Abortion and Abortion Insurance Full Disclosure Act of 2021 — would make the long-standing Hyde Amendment permanent and keep in place similar provisions to ensure no federal dollars are used to pay for abortion and health plans that include abortion.” [Catholic News Service, 2/10/21]

- The Hyde Amendment Ensured That No Federal Dollars Were Used To Pay For Abortion And Health Plans That Include Abortion. “H.R. 18 — the No Taxpayer Funding for Abortion and Abortion Insurance Full Disclosure Act of 2021 — would make the long-standing Hyde Amendment permanent and keep in place similar provisions to ensure no federal dollars are used to pay for abortion and health plans that include abortion.” [Catholic News Service, 2/10/21]

Valadao Said Taxpayer Dollars Shouldn't Fund Abortions And Claimed The Hyde Amendment Has Worked To Prevent That

Valadao Said Taxpayer Dollars Shouldn’t Fund Abortions And Claimed The Hyde Amendment Has Worked To Prevent That. “Taxpayer dollars shouldn't be used to fund abortions, & the Hyde Amendment has prevented just that through decades of bipartisan consensus. Inclusion of Hyde is critical to the millions of Americans that oppose abortion & believe all life is precious.” [Rep. David Valadao Twitter, 7/15/21]

Planned Parenthood

Valadao Voted To Reverse Obama Rule Preventing States From Withholding Grants From Planned Parenthood. In February 2017, Valadao voted for overturning “an Obama-era rule banning states from denying federal funds to Planned Parenthood and other health care providers that perform abortions. The rule was designed to prohibit states from withholding family planning funding from providers for reasons other than their ability to offer family-planning services.” The resolution was passed by a vote of 230-188. [HJRes 43, Vote #99, 2/16/17; USA Today, 2/16/17]

Valadao Voted To Double The Budget For Select Committee Targeting Planned Parenthood. In December 2016, Valadao voted for “an additional $800,000 for the select committee investigating abortion provider practices, doubling its budget for the year. […] The panel is now likely to spend nearly $1.6 million in total over the course of just under a year after the House previously approved a $790,000 budget.” The resolution passed 234-181. [H Res 933, Vote #595, 12/1/16; The Hill, 12/1/16]

Valadao Voted For Blocking Resolution To Disband The Planned Parenthood Select Committee. In February 2016, Valadao voted for: “Woodall, R-Ga., motion to order the previous question.” According to the Democratic Leader’s office, “The Democratic Previous Question would urge the House to vote to disband the Planned Parenthood Select Committee and protect American women, health care providers, and scientists from Republicans’ vicious, politically-motivated attacks.” A vote for the motion was a vote to block consideration of the resolution. The motion was agreed to 241-181. [H Res 771, Vote #285, 6/9/16; CQ Floor Votes, 6/9/16; Office of the Democratic Leader, 6/9/16]

Valadao Voted To Override The President’s Veto Of A Bill To Repeal The Affordable Care Act And Block Funding Of Planned Parenthood For A Year. In February 2016, Valadao voted for overriding the President’s veto of a bill to “repeal portions of the 2010 health care law and block federal funding for Planned Parenthood for one year. The bill would zero-out the law’s penalties for noncompliance with the law’s requirements for most individuals to obtain health coverage and employers to offer health insurance. The bill would scrap in 2018 the law’s Medicaid expansion, as well as subsidies to help individuals buy coverage through the insurance exchanges. It also would scrap certain taxes included in the law, including the tax on certain high-value employer-sponsored health insurance plans.” The override required a two-thirds majority to pass, but failed 241 to 186. [HR 3762, Vote #53, 2/2/16, 2/2/16; CQ Floor Votes, 2/2/16]

Valadao Voted To Repeal The Affordable Care Act And Defunding Planned Parenthood For One Year. In January 2016, Valadao voted for repeal the Affordable Care Act and defund Planned Parenthood. “The House on Wednesday passed legislation that would repeal much of ObamaCare and defund Planned Parenthood for one year, sending the measure to President Obama's desk. The bill passed by a vote of 240 to 181.” [HR 3762, Vote #6, 1/6/16; The Hill, 1/6/16]

Valadao Voted For Reconciliation Bill To Repeal Key Sections Of The Affordable Care Act And Defund Planned Parenthood. In October, 2015, Valadao voted for a “budget reconciliation bill that seeks to gut Obamacare by repealing key sections of the law, including the individual and employer mandate and the so-called ‘cadillac’ tax, which targets high-end employer-sponsored health plans. In addition, it would block funding for Planned Parenthood for one year and divert that spending to other women’s health programs.” The bill passed 240-189. [HR 3762, Vote #568, 10/23/15; Washington Post, 10/23/15]

Valadao Voted To Establish Select Committee To Investigate Fetal Tissue Donation. In October 2015, Valadao voted for a bill that would “establish a select investigative subcommittee under the House Energy and Commerce Committee. The panel would be responsible for investigating and reporting on issues related to fetal tissue donation, fetal tissue procurement, federal funding for abortion services, and late-term abortions.” The bill passed 242-184. [H Res 461, Vote #538, 10/7/15; CQ Floor Votes, 10/7/15]

- Select Committee Targeting Planned Parenthood Was Given Broad Jurisdiction To Investigate Abortion Practices, Including Recommendations To Change Abortion Laws. Although the select committee was formed in response to videos edited to implicate that Planned Parenthood sold fetus tissue for profit, “[t]he words ‘Planned Parenthood’ do not appear in the resolution establishing the special committee. Its jurisdiction is considerably broader, encompassing ‘medical procedures and business practices used by entities involved in fetal tissue procurement’ and ‘any other relevant matters with respect to fetal tissue procurement.’ It also permits the committee to probe the subject of federal funding for abortion providers generally, the practices of providers who perform abortions in the second and third trimesters, and ‘medical procedures for the care of a child born alive as a result of an attempted abortion.’ The committee is also empowered to recommend changes in laws or regulations based on its findings.” [Washington Post, 10/7/15; USA Today, 10/7/15]

Valadao Voted To Add Language To Continuing Resolution To Defund Planned Parenthood. In September 2015, Valadao voted for “adoption of the concurrent resolution (H Con Res 79) that would require the House enrolling clerk to add language to the CR defunding Planned Parenthood before it is sent to the president.” The resolution passed 241-185. [H Con Res 79, Vote #527, 9/30/15; CQ Floor Votes, 9/30/15]

- Republicans Attempted To Attach A Measure To Defund Planned Parenthood To Spending A Measure Necessary To Avert Government Shutdown. “With only hours to spare on the last day of the fiscal year, Congress averted a government shutdown on Wednesday by approving a temporary spending measure to keep federal agencies operating through Dec. 11. […] In one last display of their fury, House Republicans on Wednesday adopted another resolution to cut off government financing to Planned Parenthood. The resolution was to be sent to the Senate, where Democrats were certain to block it.” [New York Times, 10/1/15]

Valadao Voted Against Motion To Protect Women’s Access To Life-Saving Health Services, Including Planned Parenthood. In September 2015, Valadao voted against motion to recommit the Women's Public Health and Safety Act. “The Democratic Motion to Recommit protects American women’s access to life-saving health care services from Republicans’ attempt to defund Planned Parenthood by protecting any organization that provides life-saving health services, such as preventive care and cancer screenings, from being stripped of vital federal resources to serve America’s families.” The motion was rejected by a vote of 184-242. [HR 3495, Vote #523, 9/29/15; Democratic Leader – Motions to Recommit, 9/30/15]

Valadao Voted To Block Consideration Of Bill Making It Easier For States To Defund Planned Parenthood. In September 2015, Valadao voted for motion to order the previous question (thus ending debate and possibility of amendment) on the rule (H Res 444) that would provide for floor consideration of the bill (HR 3495) that would amend title XIX of the Social Security act to allow states to exclude medical providers who perform abortions from the state's Medicaid contracts. The motion was agreed to 243-182. A vote against the previous question would have allowed the bill to be considered. [H Res 444, Vote #521, 9/29/15; CQ Floor Votes, 9/29/15]

Valadao Voted To Defund Planned Parenthood. In September 2015, Valadao voted for the Defund Planned Parenthood Act 2015 that “prohibits, for a one-year period, the availability of federal funds for any purpose to Planned Parenthood Federation of America, Inc., or any of its affiliates or clinics, unless they certify that the affiliates and clinics will not perform, and will not provide any funds to any other entity that performs, an abortion during such period. The restriction will not apply in cases of rape or incest or where a physical condition endangers a woman’s life unless an abortion is performed.” The bill passed 241 to 187. [H.R. 3134, Vote #505, 9/18/15; CQ, 9/23/15]

Valadao Voted Against Preventing Attempt To Defund Planned Parenthood. In September 2015, Valadao voted against a motion that “shields American women’s access to lifesaving health care services from Republicans’ attempt to defund Planned Parenthood by protecting any organization that provides women’s health services, such as preventive care and cancer screenings, from being stripped of vital federal resources to serve America’s families.” A yes vote was a vote against defunding Planned Parenthood. The resolution failed, 183 to 245. [H.R. 3134, Vote #504, 9/18/15; Democratic Leader – Motions To Recommit, 9/18/15]

Valadao Voted Against Shutting Down The Government Over Planned Parenthood Funding

Valadao Voted For A Government Funding Bill That Included Funding For Planned Parenthood. In September 2015, Valadao voted for a continuing resolution that would fund the government until December 11 but would also continue federal funding of Planned Parenthood. “Congress is sending President Obama legislation to prevent a government shutdown following a 277-151 vote in the House that will keep federal agencies funded through Dec. 11. More Republicans voted against the spending bill than in favor of it, however. Republicans objected to the inclusion of money for Planned Parenthood in the bill, leading 151 GOP lawmakers to vote against the bill, compared to only 91 who supported it.” The bill passed 277 – 151. Valadao Voted To Reauthorize The Violence Against Women Act But Voted For An Amendment Reducing The Length Of The Reauthorization Of VAWA

2021: Valadao Voted For Reauthorizing The Violence Against Women Act

Valadao Voted For Reauthorizing The Violence Against Women Act. In March 2021, Valadao voted for: “Passage of the bill, as amended, that would reauthorize programs enacted under the Violence Against Women Act through fiscal 2026. It would also expand a number of these programs and other programs and policies aimed at addressing and assisting victims of domestic violence, dating violence, sexual violence, stalking and sex trafficking.” The bill passed 244 to 172. [HR 1620, Vote #86, 3/17/21; CQ, 3/17/21]

2021: Valadao Voted For An Amendment Reducing The Length Of The Reauthorization Of The Violence Against Women Act

Valadao Voted For An Amendment Reducing The Length Of The Reauthorization Of The Violence Against Women Act. In March 2021, Valadao voted for: “Stefanik, R-N.Y., amendment no. 36 that would replace the bill’s provisions with language to reauthorize funding for programs and activities under the Violence Against Women Act through fiscal 2022.” The amendment was rejected by a vote of 177-249. [HR 1620, Vote #85, 3/17/21; CQ, 3/17/21]

2013: Valadao Voted To Reauthorize The Violence Against Women Act For Five Years, Which Also Provided Protections Based On Gender Identity And Sexual Orientation

2013: Valadao Voted To Reauthorize The Violence Against Women Act For Five Years, Which Also Provided Protections Based On Gender Identity And Sexual Orientation. In February 2013, Valadao voted for: “Passage of the bill that would reauthorize the Violence Against Women Act for five years. The law, which expired in 2011, provides protections and assistance programs to victims of domestic violence, sexual assault and stalking. The bill would authorize funds for law enforcement training programs, prosecution and victim services. It would give American Indian tribal courts additional authority over non-tribal domestic violence offenders. It would make it illegal for victim services organizations that receive grant funding through the law to discriminate on the basis of gender identity or sexual orientation. It also would extend through 2017 a law that provides protections and assistance programs to trafficking victims. It would allow underage sex-trafficking victims to receive assistance under grants provided to help children exposed to violence.” [S 47, Vote #55, 2/28/13; CQ, 2/28/13]

2013: Valadao Voted Against Republican Version Of The Reauthorization Of Violence Against Women Act That Stripped Protections For LGBT Victims And Native American Women On Reservations

- Republicans Refused To Take A Vote On The Senate Approved Version Until The Version Without Protections Failed. “With House Republicans divided, the leadership agreed that it would allow a vote on the Senate bill if the House version could not attract sufficient votes, and it failed on a vote of 257 to 166. Sixty Republicans joined 197 Democrats in opposition; 164 Republicans and 2 Democrats voted for it.” [New York Times, 2/28/13]

Significant Findings

- Valadao voted for the 2018 Farm Bill conference report, funding farm and nutrition programs through FY 2023.
  - Valadao voted for the House version of the 2018 Farm Bill that included strict work requirements for SNAP and threatened to cut benefits for 400,000 households.
- Valadao voted for the 2013 Farm Bill that would cut spending in farm and nutrition programs by $40 billion and require drug tests for food stamp applicants.
- Valadao said SNAP was “extremely important to his constituents” and claimed he opposed work requirements but voted for a “poison pill” amendment that helped kill the 2013 farm bill, which would have allowed states to require food stamp recipients to show they were looking for work.
  - Valadao also voted for an amendment to allow states to privatize SNAP operations, which caused months-long delays in processing applications in states that tried privatization.
  - Three California counties had SNAP participation about 20%—all but one was located in the Central Valley.
- Valadao was an original cosponsor of the Farm Workforce Modernization Act, which would create program for undocumented agriculture workers to earn legal status.
- Valadao criticized the Biden administration’s decision to reexamine biological opinions authored by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service under the Trump administration.
- Valadao voted for blocking an effort to force the Trump administration to certify that their tariffs would not harm farmers and ranchers.
- Valadao introduced bills attacking corn-based ethanol production both by the federal government and in the California State Assembly.
- Valadao took $38,7000 from pesticide companies, including from the manufacturer of chlorpyrifos.
- Valadao introduced legislation to allow California dairy farmers, like Valadao and his family, to petition to be accepted into the Federal Milk Price Control System. Valadao later got his legislative language added to the 2013 Farm Bill.
  - Valadao argued California's pricing system unfairly forced the state’s dairy operators to charge less for milk than producers in other states.
  - Hanford Sentinel: “The bill would give dairy operators the option of petitioning the U.S. Secretary of Agriculture to abandon California’s regional pricing scheme and join the federal milk marketing order, a move local dairy owners say would raise prices.”
Valadao Voted For The Farm Bill Conference Report, Funding Farm And Nutrition Programs Through FY 2023. In December 2018, Valadao voted for: “Adoption of the conference report on the bill that would reauthorize and extend federal farm and nutrition programs through fiscal 2023, including crop subsidies, conservation, rural development and agricultural trade programs and the Supplemental Nutritional Assistance Program. It would reauthorize and extend supplemental agricultural disaster assistance programs, sugar policies and loan rates, several international food aid programs, nonrecourse marketing assistance loans for loan commodities, and several dairy programs, including the dairy risk management program (previously the margin protection program). It would create new pilot programs that would test strategies for improving the accuracy of the SNAP income verification process. It would allow industrial hemp to be grown in the United States, subject to close regulation at the state level. It would modify the activities permitted on land contracted under the conservation reserve program.” The conference report was adopted by a vote of 369-47. [HR 2, Vote #434, 12/12/18; CQ, 12/12/18]

Valadao Voted For The House Version Of 2018 Farm Bill That Tightened Eligibility For SNAP And Threatened To Cut Benefits For 400,000 Households. In June 2018, Valadao voted for: “Passage of the bill that would reauthorize and extend federal farm and nutrition programs through fiscal 2023, including crop subsidies, conservation, rural development and agricultural trade programs and the Supplemental Nutritional Assistance Program. It would require individuals receiving SNAP benefits, who are 18-59 years old, to work or participate in work training programs for a minimum of 20 hours per week, and would require the Department of Agriculture to establish a database to track individuals receiving SNAP benefits. The bill would reauthorize and extend supplemental agricultural disaster assistance programs, the current sugar policies and loan rates, several international food aid programs, nonrecourse marketing assistance loans for loan commodities, several dairy programs, including the dairy risk management program (previously the margin protection program) and would modify certain utility standards in the Home Energy Assistance Program to require SNAP benefits recipients to provide documentation of such expenses in order to receive increased benefits using the Standard Utility Allowance.” The bill passed, 213-211. [H.R. 2, Vote #284, 6/21/18; CQ, 6/21/18]

- HEADLINE: House farm bill passes with controversial food stamp changes. [Politico, 6/21/18]
- The Bill Would Tighten Eligibility For SNAP, Resulting In 400,000 Households Losing Benefits, And Would Risk Free And Reduced-Price School Meals For Thousands For Children. “The House farm bill would also tighten eligibility criteria under SNAP — changes that would result in some 400,000 households losing SNAP benefits. Thousands of children would also risk losing their enrollment in free and reduced-price school meal programs.” [Politico, 6/21/18]
- Anti-Hunger Groups Said The Changes Would Make It More Difficult For Millions For Receive Nutrition Assistance, While Investing In Job Training Programs That Are Not Proven To Move People Out Of Poverty. “Republicans contend the plan would put people on a pathway to self-sufficiency. Democrats and anti-hunger groups say it would make it more difficult for millions of needy Americans to receive nutrition assistance, and also would invest in a state-run job training bureaucracy under SNAP that has yet to prove it helps people move out of poverty.” [Politico, 6/21/18]
2013: Valadao Voted For A Farm Bill That Would Cut Spending In Farm And Nutrition Programs By $40 Billion And Require Drug Tests For Food Stamp Applicants

2013: Valadao Voted For Farm Bill That Would Have Allowed States To Require Drug Tests For Food Stamp Applicants

2013: Valadao Voted For Bill To Authorize Funding For Agricultural And Nutrition Programs Through 2018 And Allow States To Require Drug Tests On Food Stamp Applicants. In 2013, Valadao voted for “Passage of the bill that would authorize roughly $939 billion through fiscal 2018 for federal farm, nutrition assistance, rural development and agricultural trade programs. It would repeal direct and countercyclical payments to agriculture commodity producers, replacing them with two new risk-management programs to protect farmers when they suffer significant losses. It would consolidate conservation programs and repeal several major dairy programs and replace them with a new program to manage the supply of milk. It would restrict ‘categorical eligibility’ for the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program, commonly known as food stamps, under which individuals become eligible based on their participation in other low-income assistance programs. Under the bill, households that receive more than $20 in utility assistance would be eligible for SNAP benefits. As amended it would allow states to conduct drug testing on SNAP applicants as a condition for receiving benefits and impose work requirements on SNAP recipients, mandating employment or job training.” The bill failed 195 to 234. [HR 1947, Vote #286, 6/20/13; CQ, 6/20/13]

Bill Would Have Cut $40 Billion Over Ten Years In Farm And Nutrition Programs

New York Times: “The House Bill Would Have Cut Projected Spending In Farm And Nutrition Programs By Nearly $40 Billion Over The Next Ten Years.” “The House bill would have cut projected spending in farm and nutrition programs by nearly $40 billion over the next 10 years. Just over half, $20.5 billion, would come from cuts to the food stamp program, known as the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program.” [New York Times, 6/21/13]

Valadao Said SNAP Was “Extremely Important To His Constituents” And That It Was Unfair For Congress To Implement Work Requirements When The Economy Was Suffering...

Valadao: “The Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Benefits Program Is Extremely Important To My Constituents In The Central Valley. Without This Assistance Many In My District Would Be Unable To Feed Their Families.” “The Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Benefits Program is extremely important to my constituents in the Central Valley. Without this assistance many in my District would be unable to feed their families,’ Congressman Valadao stated. ‘I recognize that there are problems with the SNAP program and while I believe reforms to the SNAP Program are necessary to ensure that those who truly need assistance receive it, I do not believe in making drastic changes to this program during a time of such great economic uncertainty without giving states flexibility enforcing proposed requirements. Portions of my district are suffering from more than 30% unemployment, making it nearly impossible for many to find work despite their best efforts. It is unfair to the American people for Congress to implement policies containing work requirements when our national economy is severely suffering.’” [Rep. David Valadao, press release, 9/19/13]

...But In 2013, Valadao Voted For “Poison Pill” Amendment That Allowed States To Require Food Stamp Recipients To Show They Were Looking For Work, Which Helped Kill Farm Bill…

2013: Valadao Voted For An Amendment That Would Allow States To Launch Pilot Programs Requiring That Food Stamp Recipients Show They Were Looking For Work. In June 2013, Valadao voted for “Southerland, R-Fla., amendment that would direct the Agriculture secretary to administer a pilot program that would allow states to impose work requirements on individuals receiving Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program benefits. It would void work requirement waivers in states that participate in the pilot project.” The amendment passed 227 to 198. [HR 1947, Vote #248, 6/20/13; CQ, 6/20/13]

- Time Magazine: The Amendment Was “A Partisan Poison Pill” That Ultimately Was “Enough To Kill The Measure.” “The House of Representatives’ farm bill was crammed with so many questionable giveaways that watchdogs couldn’t decide which was the worst. In the end, however, it wasn’t sushi subsidies or millions of dollars of weather radio transmitters that killed the farm bill Thursday afternoon. It was a controversial amendment backed by House Majority Leader Eric Cantor. […] At 1:22 p.m., the Southerland amendment was approved in a near-party-line vote, 227 to 198. Only one Democrat went for the amendment, and only six Republicans went against. It was a partisan poison pill, the last amendment of the day. And it was enough to kill the measure.” [Time Magazine, 6/21/13]

The Center On Budget And Policy Priorities Called The Amendment “Harsh” And “Unprecedented.” “The farm bill that the House defeated on June 20 included a provision, offered by Rep. Steve Southerland (R-FL), that would make harsh, unprecedented changes to the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP), the nation’s primary weapon against hunger.[1] These changes came on top of provisions already in the bill that would make more than $20 billion in cuts to SNAP and terminate eligibility for almost 2 million low-income individuals. […] In fact, the provision is not really a work requirement; it could deny benefits to large numbers of low-income people who want to work but cannot find a job, and it would incentivize states to cut such people off by giving them large amounts of new federal funding — to spend on whatever they choose — if they use the Southerland provision to cut their SNAP caseloads.” [Center on Budget and Policy Priorities, 7/9/13]

…And In 2018, Valadao Voted For An Amendment To Allow States To Privatize SNAP Operations

2018: Valadao Voted To Allow States To Privatize SNAP Eligibility Functions, A Practice That Caused Months-Long Delays In States That Tried It

Valadao Voted For An Amendment To Allow States To Use Private Companies To Carry Out Program Eligibility Functions Of The Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program. In May 2018, Valadao voted for: “Faso, R-N.Y., amendment that would allow states to carry out program eligibility and other administrative functions of the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program in a number of different ways, including the use of non-governmental contractors, as long as such personnel have no direct or indirect financial interest in an approved retail food store.” The amendment was adopted, 222-192. [HR 1865, Vote #196, 5/17/18; CQ, 5/17/18]

- The Amendment Would Allow States To “Privatize SNAP Operations.” “An amendment from Representative John Faso (R-NY) that would allow states to privatize SNAP operations. This change would allow private companies to take over administration of the program, despite failed attempts in some states over the years.” [CLASP, 6/12/18]

States Like Texas And Indiana Outsourced Key Functions Of The Food Assistance Program Which Resulted In Residents Waiting Months To Have Their Applications Processed. “In fact, Texas and Indiana experimented several years ago with outsourcing key functions of the food assistance program. The results were disastrous.
Thousands of Texans waited months to have applications processed, even though federal rules require eligibility determinations within 30 days. A private contractor in Texas listed the wrong fax number on program materials, which resulted in applicants sending personal information, including Social Security numbers and employment details, to a warehouse in Seattle.” [Des Moines Register, Editorial, 6/27/18]

- Indiana Transferred Food Assistance Programs To Private Contractors Which Resulted In Lost Benefits For Vulnerable Residents. “In Indiana, former Gov. Mitch Daniels transferred administration of assistance programs, including food assistance, to private contractors. What ensued was a $1.37 billion project that resulted in lost benefits for vulnerable residents, favors to politically connected firms and federal penalties. Then there were the lawsuits between the state and its contractor, IBM.” [Des Moines Register, Editorial, 6/27/18]

2013: Valadao Voted Against $40 Billion In Cuts To Nutrition Program For Children And Seniors

2013: Valadao Voted Against $40 Billion In Cuts To The Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP). In September 2013, Valadao voted against “Passage of the bill that would reauthorize through fiscal 2016 the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program. It would establish a pilot program to allow states to impose new work requirements on SNAP recipients, including parents of young children exempt under current law. It would require that individuals receive at least $20 or more in aid through the Low Income Home Energy Assistance Program to qualify for automatic increases in SNAP benefits. It would authorize states to conduct drug testing on applicants as a condition of receiving benefits. Stores authorized to accept SNAP benefits would be required to purchase point-of-sale equipment to track where they are used.” The bill passed 217 to 210. [HR 3102, Vote #476, 9/19/13; CQ, 9/19/13]

- Washington Post: The House GOP Bill Would Kick About 3.8 Million People Off The Food Stamp Program In 2014, Including 1.7 Million Unemployed, Childless Adults. “Right now, there are roughly 47.7 million Americans on food stamps — a number that swelled during the recession and has only recently started to decline. The House GOP bill would kick about 3.8 million people off the food-stamp rolls over the course of the upcoming fiscal year that begins in October. That includes 1.7 million unemployed, childless adults aged 18-50. It also includes another 2.1 million families and seniors who have incomes just slightly above the federal food-stamp limits. (In recent years, states have been able to extend food-stamp aid to these households.) Thereafter, the House GOP bill would reduce the rolls by about 2.8 million people each year compared with current law.” [Washington Post, 9/19/13]

- Valadao “Broke With Party Ranks, Voting Against Republican Legislation To Implement Substantial Reforms To The Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Benefits Program (SNAP).” “Valadao (CA-21) broke with party ranks, voting against Republican legislation to implement substantial reforms to the Supplemental...
Nutrition Assistance Benefits Program (SNAP). Administered by the United States Department of Agriculture, and distributed by individual states, the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP) is a federal aid program intended to provide financial assistance for low and no income individuals to purchase food. In recent years, program costs have skyrocketed due to lax eligibility requirements and increased fraud and abuse within the system." [Rep. David Valadao, press release, 9/19/13]

National Farmers Union: House Nutrition Bill A Hindrance To Passing Farm Bill. “Separating nutrition programs from the farm bill was a mistake from the very beginning. Consideration of H.R. 3102, a politically charged bill that would hurt those in our society who most need help, unnecessarily complicates the farm bill process […] We urge members of the House to vote down this bill and work together to end the detrimental separation of nutrition programming from farm programs. Passage of H.R. 3102 will only make the already complex farm bill process more difficult.” [National Farmers Union, 8/16/13]

Farm Workforce Modernization Act

Valadao Signed On As An Original Co-Sponsor Of The Farm Workforce Modernization Act. “On Tuesday, Congressman David G. Valadao signed on as an original co-sponsor to the Farm Workforce Modernization Act, a bipartisan bill negotiated to provide long-overdue stability to the agriculture industry and agricultural workers alike. This legislation establishes a program for agriculture workers currently in the United States to earn legal status. This bill also changes the H-2A program to provide more flexibility for farmers employing immigrant farm workers, while also providing critical protections for the farm workers.” [Hanford Sentinel, 3/12/21]

Food Safety

Valadao Voted For The Food Allergy Safety, Treatment, Education, and Research Act

Valadao Voted For The Food Allergy Safety, Treatment, Education, and Research Act. In April 2021, Valadao voted for: “Pallone, D-N.J., motion to suspend the rules and pass the bill that would expand the definition of ‘major food allergen’ to specifically include sesame for any food introduced into interstate commerce on or after Jan. 1, 2023. It would also require the Health and Human Services Department, within 18 months of enactment, to submit a report to Congress including information on data collection, diagnosis, prevention and treatments related to food allergies; recommendations to improve such activities; and recommendations to develop a regulatory framework to designate other food ingredients as major food allergens.” The motion passed 415-11. Pesticides

Valadao Took Tens Of Thousands From Pesticide Companies, Including From The Manufacturer Of Chlorpyrifos, Then Did Nothing When The EPA Backed Off A Proposal To Ban It
Valadao Accepted $38,700 In Campaign Contributions From Pesticide Companies, Including From Dow Chemical, The Manufacturer Of Chlorpyrifos

Valadao Accepted $38,700 In Campaign Contributions From Pesticide Companies, Including From Dow Chemical, The Manufacturer Of Chlorpyrifos. Campaign finance records indicate a total of $35,200 in contributions from agricultural industry corporate PACs classified by Follow the Money as representing companies involved in the agricultural chemical industry and other pesticide manufacturers like Monsanto and Cargill. FEC records also indicate $3,500 in contributions from the Dow Chemical Company Employee PAC. [Follow the Money, accessed 4/29/22; FEC.gov, accessed 4/29/22]

• A Major Study Of Chlorpyrifos Found That Pregnant Women In Their Second Trimester Who Lived Near Fields Sprayed With This Pesticide Gave Birth To Children Who Were 3.3 Times More Likely To Have A Mental Disability. “Results: Approximately one-third of CHARGE study mothers lived, during pregnancy, within 1.5 km (just under 1 mile) of an agricultural pesticide application. Proximity to organophosphates at some point during gestation was associated with a 60% increased risk for ASD, higher for third-trimester exposures (OR = 2.0; 95% CI: 1.1, 3.6), and second-trimester chlorpyrifos applications (OR = 3.3; 95% CI: 1.5, 7.4). Children of mothers residing near pyrethroid insecticide applications just before conception or during third trimester were at greater risk for both ASD and DD, with ORs ranging from 1.7 to 2.3. Risk for DD was increased in those near carbamate applications, but no specific vulnerable period was identified. Conclusions: This study of ASD strengthens the evidence linking neurodevelopmental disorders with gestational pesticide exposures, particularly organophosphates, and provides novel results of ASD and DD associations with, respectively, pyrethroids and carbamates.” [Environmental Health Perspectives, 10/14]

The EPA Banned Chlorpyrifos For Residential Sale In 2001 But Continued To Allow Farmers To Use It

• 2012: The EPA Banned Spraying Chlorpyrifos From The Ground Within 10 Feet Of “Sensitive Areas,” Including Schools, And From The Air Within 10 To 100 Feet Of Sensitive Areas Depending On The Amount Of Chlorpyrifos Applied. “In 2012, an additional restriction of a ‘buffer zone’ was placed on the chlorpyrifos label by the EPA. The buffer legally restricts spraying from the ground around ‘sensitive areas,’ such as schools, by 10 feet. When sprayed by air, the buffer ranges from 10 to 100 feet, depending on the amount of chlorpyrifos applied.” [St. Louis Post-Dispatch, 1/19/18]

• The Obama Administration Began The Process Of Banning Chlorpyrifos Nationwide. “Following health studies that linked the chemical to brain damage and neurological problems in children, particularly the children of farm workers, the Obama administration began the process of banning it nationwide.” [Mercury News, 2/6/20]

• The Trump Administration Reversed Course And Continued To Allow The Sale Of Chlorpyrifos. “In 2017, the Trump administration, after heavy lobbying by the chemical industry, reversed course and said its sale would continue to be allowed. The U.S. EPA says it plans to complete a review of the chemical by Oct. 1, 2022.” [Mercury News, 2/6/20]

nausea, dizziness, confusion and, in the highest levels of exposure, respiratory paralysis and death. Despite controls put in place by the state EPA office, exposure to dangerous levels of the chemical do happen. In May, a group of farmworkers in Kern County was exposed to dangerously high levels of chlorpyrifos when it drifted from a nearby field. In August, Kern County saw a second incident, also involving chlorpyrifos.” [Bakersfield Californian, 9/4/17]

Safe Ag, Safe Schools Organizer Said There Were A Lack Of Buffers Between Agricultural Fields, Schools, and Homes To Prevent Chlorpyrifos From Being Ingested By Humans

Safe Ag, Safe Schools Organizer Said There Were A Lack Of Buffers Between Agricultural Fields, Schools, and Homes To Prevent Chlorpyrifos From Being Ingested By Humans. “Chlorpyrifos is an inexpensive and effective pesticide considered essential by the agriculture industry for decades. According to government maps, it’s widely used on farms in at least 45 states that grow the food we eat every day. It’s used to protect apples, citrus fruit, grapes, broccoli, cauliflower, almonds and other crops from insects. But it can be ingested by humans through residue on food, water contamination, and most critically when it’s sprayed down onto fields from airplanes and up into trees by machines, and then carried in the wind. That's a major point of concern for groups like Safe Ag, Safe Schools, a program that comes out of a collaboration with Californians for Pesticide Reform. Sarait Martinez explained the potential for harm to students, telling us, ‘When we have a school that is near the fields and there’s pesticides applied, the drift that happens has a different impact. It goes into their mouth, their bodies and we’re not accounting for that.’ In many farming communities, Martinez expressed concern about the lack of buffers of protection between agricultural fields, schools and homes. Even where some regulated buffers exist, like in California for example, she says they're not enough.” [Sinclair Broadcast Group, 1/16/20]

Valadao Introduced Legislation To Allow California Dairy Farmers To Petition To Be Accepted Into The Federal Milk Price Control System And Got It Added To The Farm Bill

2013: Valadao Introduced Legislation To Allow California Dairy Farmers To Petition To Be Accepted Into The Federal Milk Price Control System And Got It Added To The Farm Bill

Valadao Introduced The “California Federal Milk Marketing Order Act” For “California Dairy Producers To Petition The U.S. Secretary Of Agriculture” To “Join The Federal Milk Marketing Order.” “Today, U.S. Congressman David G. Valadao (CA-21) introduced bipartisan legislation addressing California's struggling dairy industry. The California Federal Milk Marketing Order Act would allow California dairy producers to petition the U.S. Secretary of Agriculture to be considered to join the Federal Milk Marketing Order. Under the current California pricing system, dairy producers throughout the state have closed down, resulting in lost revenue and jobs.” [Rep. David Valadao, press release, 3/22/13]
Los Angeles Times: “Rep. David Valadao (R-Hanford), A Central Valley Dairyman, Introduced Language In The House Farm Bill...It Could Pave The Way For Dairy Producers To Petition The U.S. Department Of Agriculture To Be Included In The Federal Milk-Pricing System.” “Rep. David Valadao (R-Hanford), a Central Valley dairyman, introduced language in the House farm bill, which passed Thursday. It could pave the way for dairy producers to petition the U.S. Department of Agriculture to be included in the federal milk-pricing system. Lawmakers still have to reconcile the House farm bill with the Senate version. A group of dairy industry representatives is also working on a compromise to move forward a state bill, AB 31, which originally sought to raise the price paid for whey. The effect on consumers would be negligible, experts said. If farmers were paid more, it would amount to a few additional cents tacked onto the price of cheese.” [Los Angeles Times, 7/11/13]

Los Angeles Times: “Valadao Is Pushing On Two Fronts. The House Farm Bill, Now In The House Agriculture Committee, Has Language That Could Bring The State Under The Federal Milk-Pricing System. He Had Also Introduced A Separate Bill In March With The Same Goal.” “On the federal level, Valadao is pushing on two fronts. The House farm bill, now in the House Agriculture Committee, has language that could bring the state under the federal milk-pricing system. He had also introduced a separate bill in March with the same goal. If his measures are successful, it would take a couple of years before they take effect.” [Los Angeles Times, 7/11/13]

The USDA Began Hearings On A California Federal Milk Marketing Order Based On Valadao’s Language Included In The 2013 Farm Bill

2015: The USDA Began Hearings On A California Federal Milk Marketing Order Based On Valadao’s Language Included In The 2013 Farm Bill. “Today, Tuesday, September 22, 2015, the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) began the first stage of their federal Hearing on Proposals for a California Federal Milk Marketing Order in Clovis, California. Under current California dairy pricing structures, dairy producers face an unfair disadvantage in the federal market place. Many California dairy producers have expressed interest in entering the Federal Milk Marketing Orders (FMMOs), the guidelines under which dairy processors purchase fresh milk from dairy farmers providing milk for a marketing area, therefore providing stability in the fresh milk market. In response to constituent concerns, Congressman David G. Valadao (CA-21) introduced bipartisan legislation addressing California's struggling dairy industry in March 2013. H.R. 1396; the California Federal Milk Marketing Order Act aimed to allow California dairy producers to petition the U.S. Secretary of Agriculture to be considered to join the Federal Milk Marketing Order. During the drafting of the 2013 Farm Bill, Congressman Valadao worked directly with Chairman Frank Lucas (OK-03) and other Members of the House Agriculture Committee to ensure inclusion of his FMMO legislation in the 2013 Farm Bill paving the way for this USDA hearing today.” [Rep. David Valadao, press release, 9/22/15]

Valadao Said California’s Dairy Pricing System “Put Us In A Bad Position” And Inclusion In The Federal Pricing System Would Raise Prices Enough To Put California Dairy Farmers On Equal Footing With Competitors In Other States

Valadao On His Bill: “California's Pricing System Has Put Us In A Bad Position,” And “Putting Us In The Federal Order Puts Us In The Same Boat As Everyone Else.” “Dairy operators wanting to bypass California's milk pricing system and switch to a federal milk marketing order would get their chance under a bill sponsored by Rep. David Valadao, R-Hanford. Valadao's bill, introduced in March with support from Rep. Jim Costa, D-Fresno; Rep. Jeff Denham, R-Turlock; and Rep. Doug LaMalfa, R-Richvale, was included last week in the proposed 2013 Farm Bill package. The bill would give dairy operators the option of petitioning the U.S. Secretary of Agriculture to abandon California's regional pricing scheme and join the federal milk marketing order, a move local dairy owners say would raise prices. They say California is $1.50-$2 per hundredweight below prices in surrounding states. ‘California's pricing system has put us in a bad position,’ Valadao said. ‘Putting us in the federal order puts us in the same boat as everyone else.’” [Hanford Sentinel, 5/14/13]

Valadao’s Bill Was Partly In Response To A Fight Between Dairy Producers And Cheese Processors In California Over The Price Of Whey

Hanford Sentinel: Valadao’s Bill Was “Partly A Response To The Fight Going In California Between Producers And Cheese Processors Over The Price Paid For Whey.” “The bill is partly a response to the fight going in California between producers and cheese processors over the price paid for whey, the milk byproduct once considered trash but now a commodity turned into protein consumer products. Producers, hurt by an unprecedented soaring of feed costs amid low milk prices, have for months petitioned California Secretary of Agriculture Karen Ross to raise the whey price. Processing companies have in turn argued that there is already overproduction in the state and that plants without whey processing capacity could go out of business. The battle has given rise to AB 31, a producer-supported California bill that would raise whey prices up to 80 percent of the price established by the federal pricing system. Processor organizations that have opposed AB 31, such as the Dairy Institute of California, aren't taking a position on the Valadao bill.” [Hanford Sentinel, 5/14/13]

The House Committee On Agriculture Agreed To Use An Authorization For A California Federal Milk Marketing Order That Was Requested By Valadao. “Last week, Members of the Senate and House began drafting the 2013 Farm Bill legislation. Today, Congressman David G. Valadao (CA-21) announced that the House Committee on Agriculture has agreed to include an authorization for a California Federal Milk Marketing Order that has been requested by Congressman Valadao. In March, Congressman Valadao, along with California Congressmen Jim Costa (CA-16), Devin Nunes (CA-22), Jeff Denham (CA-10), Kevin McCarthy (CA-23), and Doug LaMalfa (CA-1), introduced H.R. 1396; the California Federal Milk Marketing Order Act. The legislation would allow California dairy producers to petition the U.S. Secretary of Agriculture to be considered to join the Federal Milk Marketing Order. Following discussions with Chairman Frank Lucas and other Members of the Committee, the House Committee on Agriculture has agreed to Congressman Valadao's request and that the issue be affirmatively addressed in the comprehensive 2013 Farm Bill. Inclusion of these provisions will allow farmers in California and other states not currently included in the Federal Order to petition for inclusion.” [Rep. David Valadao, press release, 5/13/13]

After Valadao Touted His Record Of Working With The Obama Administration On Water Issues, Obama’s Office Issued A Statement Condemning Valadao For “Resorting To Distortion To Falsely Suggest President Obama’s Support”

President Obama’s Office Issued A Statement That Took Issue With Valadao’s Claims That He Worked With The President On Water Issues.

President Obama’s Office Issued A Statement That Took Issue With Valadao’s Claims That He Worked With The President On Water Issues. “Former President Barack Obama doesn't want a California Republican running for Congress to use his name in campaign ads suggesting they worked together on policy during the Democrat's administration. Former Rep. David Valadao, a Republican from Hanford, started airing an advertisement last month that said he was different from the members of Congress who engaged in partisan bickering, citing his work with the Obama administration on water issues […] Katie Hill, the communications director for Obama's office, took issue with that description in a statement sent to McClatchy. Obama's office emphasized that Valadao during his three times in Congress sided with his party on the vast majority of votes. ‘We strongly condemn David Valadao for resorting to distortion to falsely suggest President Obama's support - especially given that President Obama has endorsed his opponent, TJ Cox,’ Hill said. ‘Valadao typically opposed President Obama's policies, even voting to repeal Obamacare and rip health care away from thousands of people in the Central Valley while turning his back on DREAMers.’” [Fresno Bee, 9/2/20]

Valadao Sponsored The GROW Act, A Bill Pushed By Trump-Connected Lobbyists That Would Invalidate State Laws, Threaten Species And Permanently Dry Up California’s Second Longest River

Valadao Sponsored The GROW Act, A Bill Pushed By Trump-Connected Lobbyist And Future Interior Secretary David Bernhardt, That Would Invalidate State Laws, Threaten Species And Permanently Dry Up California’s Second Longest River

Valadao Described The GROW Act As A Long Term Solution That Would Protect Users’ Water Rights. “The ‘Gaining Responsibility on Water Act,’ H.R. 23, from Rep. David Valadao and 11 other California Republicans, would reduce the cost of water delivery contracts and amend the 1992 Central Valley Project Improvement Act to give users more authority over how restoration funds are spent. … In January, Valadao described the WIIN Act language as "temporary provisions" and said his bill was necessary as a ‘long-term agreement.’ ‘My bill, the GROW Act, will enact policies to expand our water infrastructure and allow for more water conveyance while protecting the water rights of users across the state,’ he said.” [E&E News, 7/10/17]
2017: Valadao’s GROW Act Would Require “Regulators To Comply With The Bipartisan Bay-Delta Accord, Which Is Consistent With The Requirements Of The Endangered Species Act.” “In an effort to restore water deliveries for struggling communities, Congressman David G. Valadao introduced H.R. 23, the Gaining Responsibility on Water Act, also known as the GROW Act. The legislation provides relief to Californians by restoring water deliveries that have been drastically reduced over the last two decades as a result of various environmental lawsuits and illogical state and federal regulations. Rep. Valadao’s legislation requires regulators to comply with the bipartisan Bay-Delta Accord, which is consistent with the requirements of the Endangered Species Act. Furthermore, the bill will cut red tape holding back major water storage projects that have been authorized for over a decade, which will aid the entire Western United States during dry years.” [Rep. David Valadao, press release, 7/12/17]

Valadao’s Water Bill Was Crafted By Trump-Connected Lobbyist And Future Interior Secretary David Bernhardt, Who Lied During A Confirmation Hearing That He Was Done Lobbying

The California Agriculture Lobby Pushed Valadao’s GROW Act (H.R. 23). “The drought may be over and Central Valley farmers are getting more water than they have in years, but that hasn’t stopped congressional Republicans from resurrecting a bill that would strip environmental protections for fish so more water can be funneled to agriculture. … Nonetheless, the legislation by Rep. David Valadao, R-Hanford, offers a window into the unrelenting mindset of California’s agricultural lobby as it seeks to secure water for well-funded farming groups. … Valley farm groups aren’t shy about pressing their case in Washington. Westlands, for instance, spent a combined $1.3 million lobbying Congress and various federal agencies on water issues in 2015 and 2016, according to OpenSecrets.org.” [Sacramento Bee, 7/20/17]

Republican Lobbyist, David Bernhardt, Crafted Valadao’s Water Bill On Behalf Of His Client, Westlands Water District, After Lying To Congress That He Had Stopped Lobbying. “Even as lawmakers voted, only a few insiders knew the sweeping measure was in part the secret handiwork of a Washington lobbyist who soon might play a key role administering the nation’s environmental policies: David Bernhardt, President Donald Trump’s nominee to become the No. 2 executive in the U.S. Department of the Interior. Bernhardt is a longtime lobbyist for the politically powerful Westlands Water District, which has crusaded for years for more federal irrigation water – and fewer environmental rules – for growers. According to emails made public this week by the Planning and Conservation League environmental group, Bernhardt was involved in political work for Westlands well into this year, even though he told the Senate that he ceased lobbying for Westlands on Nov. 18, 2016. A confirmation vote is set for Monday. Democrats have lined up against Bernhardt because of conflict-of-interest concerns, and two good-government groups have called for investigations into whether Bernhardt violated federal lobbying laws and lied to Congress when he denied performing ‘regulated lobbying activity’ for Westlands. … The emails indicate Bernhardt’s work on the Valadao measure began Nov. 22 of last year, four days after he claims he stopped lobbying for Westlands. … An aide to Valadao asked Bernhardt to review proposed language for the new bill concerning ‘the San Joaquin River Settlement language.’ The issue was technical but important: The bill sought to shut down a program to restore a salmon run on the lower San Joaquin River, even though the government had agreed to the effort to settle an environmental lawsuit. Should Valadao borrow language from an old bill that had failed to pass, or should new language be crafted? Bernhardt forwarded the email to Westlands. Later that day, another Valadao aide emailed Westlands, asking for a ‘letter of unequivocal support’ for the measure the lawmaker was about to introduce. Soon after, Bernhardt wrote a letter on Westlands letterhead, calling the bill ‘a solution to the long-term water supply challenges facing California.’” [Center for Investigative Reporting, 7/22/17]

- 2017: David Bernhardt Was Trump’s Nominee To Become No. 2 Executive In The U.S. Department Of The Interior. “Even as lawmakers voted, only a few insiders knew the sweeping measure was in part the secret handiwork of a Washington lobbyist who soon might play a key role administering the nation’s environmental policies: David Bernhardt, President Donald Trump’s nominee to become the No. 2 executive in the U.S. Department of the Interior. Bernhardt is a longtime lobbyist for the politically powerful Westlands Water District, which has crusaded for years for more federal irrigation water – and fewer environmental rules – for growers.” [Center for Investigative Reporting, 7/22/17]
David Bernhardt Was Later Confirmed As Trump’s Interior Secretary In 2019. “The U.S. Senate voted Thursday to confirm David Bernhardt, a former lobbyist and George W. Bush administration official, to become the next U.S. Interior Secretary. The nomination was approved by a vote of 56-41, largely along party lines. Democratic Sens. Kyrsten Sinema of Arizona, Joe Manchin of West Virginia and Martin Heinrich of New Mexico voted for his confirmation, as did Angus King of Maine, an independent who caucuses with Democrats.” [Colorado Independent, 4/11/19]

While David Bernhardt Had Not Contacted Legislators Or Members Of The Executive Branch With Legal Advice On H.R. 23, He Did Provide Legal Advice On H.R. 23 And Related Issues Up To The Time Of His Nomination. “He may not have contacted legislators or members of the executive branch on Westlands’ behalf related to H.R. 23, the definition of lobbying. But Bernhardt, a lawyer, provided the district with legal advice on that bill and related issues up to the time of his nomination, according to emails cited by Reveal and obtained by Public Records Act requests by Patricia Schifferle. Schifferle, who opposes the tunnels, consults for the Planning and Conservation League. Those emails detail the extent of Westlands’ involvement in the legislation. In an email dated Dec. 13, an aide to Valadao sent a draft of what became H.R. 23 to several insiders including Westlands officials, and asked for ‘any edits you would like us to make.’” [Editorial, Sacramento Bee, 7/28/17]

Valadao’s Office Directly Asked Lobbyists To Suggest Their Preferred Changes To The GROW Act

H.R. 23 Would Ease “Flow Restrictions That Have Limited Water Deliveries To Western Kings County That Pass Through The Imperiled Ecosystem Of The Sacramento-San Joaquin River Delta”

Valadao Bill Would Ease “Flow Restrictions That Have Limited Water Deliveries To Western Kings County That Pass Through The Imperiled Ecosystem Of The Sacramento-San Joaquin River Delta.” “Valadao, R-Hanford, has introduced a major new water bill in the U.S. House of Representatives that could increase the flow of Northern California water to Kings County. Valadao announced the legislation Tuesday. ‘This Western drought has had devastating consequences on my constituents in California's Central Valley,’ Valadao said in a written statement. ‘My bill ... will enact policies to expand our water infrastructure and allow for more water conveyance while protecting the rights of water users across the state.’ The bill attempts to ease environmental flow restrictions that have limited water deliveries to western Kings County that pass through the imperiled ecosystem of the Sacramento-San Joaquin River delta. Farmers use the water to grow crops.” [Hanford Sentinel, 1/4/17]
Critics Said Valadao’s GROW Act Would Invalidate California And Federal Environmental Laws

San Francisco Chronicle Editorial: Valadao’s H.R. 23 Would “Exempt Water Projects In California From Long-Standing State Laws Protecting The Environment, And Invalidate Iconic Federal Environmental Laws.” “One of the most dangerous and sweeping such congressional proposals is HR23, the deceptively named "Gaining Responsibility on Water Act." That bill, which has already passed the House, would reverse the federal government's century-old deference to state water law, exempt water projects in California from long-standing state laws protecting the environment, and invalidate iconic federal environmental laws applying to those projects. This attack on California water rights is the handiwork of California Republicans led by Rep. David Valadao of Tulare and House Majority Leader Kevin McCarthy of Bakersfield. Make no mistake: They drafted this bill in close collabo-ration with Central Valley agribusiness interests. If successful, HR23 would provide additional water to California farmers and ranchers at the expense of California's environment.” [Richard Frank, San Francisco Chronicle, 8/6/17]

Valadao’s GROW Act Would “Basically Block Or Override Several State Water Laws - Contrary To Conservatives' Often-Stated Goal Of Reducing The Federal Government's Role.” “Specifically, Valadao wants to boost water deliveries to valley farms - which grow most of the country's avocados, almonds and broccoli, among other crops - leaving less water in rivers to help threatened fish in the Sacramento-San Joaquin River Delta. That trade-off has environmentalists and Democrats calling the GROW Act a water grab and an attack on state and federal environmental protections. And it could have repercussions for the entire Delta system, which provides much of the state's surface water supplies. The bill, H.R. 23, would basically block or override several state water laws - contrary to conservatives’ often-stated goal of reducing the federal government’s role and giving states greater power to manage resources. ‘They are trying to preempt the state from managing its rivers to balance the benefits to the economy with the need to protect the environment,’ says Doug Obegi, attorney for the Natural Resources Defense Council.” [High County News, Editorial, 8/21/17]

California Democrats Opposed GROW Act, Argued That It Usurped California Laws In Favor Of Trump Administration Having More Control And Would Damage Fisheries. “Outside the House, California officials are speaking out against the legislation. Feinstein and Sen. Kamala Harris (D-Calif.) this week issued a joint statement against the bill saying it is ‘giving the Trump administration greater control over water management in our state.’ They also argue that the bill would ‘set back the progress made’ in the WIIN Act compromise and criticized the bill's potential impact on fisheries protections. ‘Science should be at the center of all decisions affecting California's water supply. This bill would eliminate the existing biological opinions required under the Endangered Species Act,’ they said. ‘It also prevents California from using new scientific data to manage our water supply by reverting us back to outdated limits set more than two decades ago.’ Gov. Jerry Brown (D) also condemned the bill in a Monday letter to House Speaker Paul Ryan (R-Wis.), saying it interferes with his state's right to govern itself. ‘This bill overrides California water law, ignoring our state's prerogative to oversee our waters,’ he wrote. ‘Commandeering our laws for purposes defined in Washington is not right.’ He argued that managing California's water system — and balancing the needs of urban areas, rural areas and endangered species — is ‘best done at the state and local level — not in a polarized political climate 3,000 miles away.’” [E&E Daily, 7/12/17]

Valadao-Written Water Bill Was Criticized By Rep. Jerry McNerney For Usurping California Laws, Taking Water From People Who Depend On The Delta. “A controversial bill that critics say will strip California of much of its ability to regulate water supplies sailed through the Republican-controlled House of Representatives Wednesday evening. The vote was 230-190. The bill’s author is Rep. David Valadao, R-Hanford. It had 14 co-sponsors, 13 of whom are Republicans. … Supporters say the hand of the federal government will open the taps to allow the pumping of more water out of the California Delta instead of conserving it to help fish and wildlife in the Delta. Among those opposed to the legislation is Rep. Jerry McNerney, D-Stockton, whose district includes much of the Delta. ‘Yes, this is the same bill that would weaken environmental laws that protect our vital resources – specifically the Endangered Species Act, which has long been a target of the Republican Party. It pits Northern and Southern California against each other, harming those in my district and the northern part of the state to benefit a few wealthy farmers in the south. And it does nothing to create any new water,’ Mr. McNerney says. ‘However, this time, the person who would be charged with overseeing the implementation of this legislation has a clear conflict of interest. David Bernhardt, who has been nominated as Deputy Secretary of the Interior, previously lobbied for the Westlands Water District and negotiated the controversial deal that ended with the Department of Interior paying out $350 million to the water district,’ Mr. McNerney says. ‘This is the nation’s largest water district and, if Mr. Bernhardt is confirmed and this legislation enacted, he would have the power to pump even more water into the area at the expense of everyone that depends on fresh water from the Delta.’” [Central Valley Business Times, 7/12/17]

Valadao’s Water Bill Was Criticized By Rep. Jared Huffman For Taking Water Away From Fishermen, Tribes, Delta Farmers To Redistribute It To A Small Group Of Well-Connected Agribusiness Interests. “Democrats accused the GOP of overriding California law and its power over water supplies, while significantly harming commercial fishing in the state by reapportioning water. ‘Make no mistake. If enacted, this bill will hurt a lot of people,’ said Rep. Jared Huffman (D-Calif.) ‘It takes water away from fisherman, from tribes, the environment, Delta farmers and others in order to redistribute it, primarily to a small group of some of the nation’s biggest and most politically connected agribusiness interests.’ Huffman said the bill preempts California state law in numerous ways, like blocking state protections for fisheries and its ability to manage water for the public good. He cited a letter Gov. Jerry Brown (D) wrote to the congressional delegation opposing it.” [The Hill, 7/12/17]

Valadao Water Bill “Threatens Thousands Of Fishing Jobs” And Could “Permanently Dry Up California’s Second Longest River.” “It is the height of hypocrisy that this legislation claims to protect state water rights from federal interference, yet would pre-empt California from conditioning state water rights under state law;’ said Doug Obegi, lawyer with the Natural Resources Defense Council, in a statement. ‘H.R. 23 threatens thousands of fishing jobs, would permanently dry up California’s second longest river and would destroy the delta estuary and drive native species extinct.’” [Courthouse News, 7/20/17]

Sacramento Bee: San Joaquin River Threatened By Valadao Water Bill. “Valadao’s HR 23, which passed the House earlier this month on a mostly party-line vote, overrides a quarter-century of state and federal protections for endangered fish, while fast-tracking reviews for several proposed controversial dams. A section of the bill is dedicated to killing a program that seeks to bring more flows to the San Joaquin River, where miles of river often dry up because of agricultural diversions and dams.” [Sacramento Bee, 7/20/17]

• Press-Democrat: HR 23 Was Valadao’s Latest Attempt “To Benefit Central Valley Growers By Putting Politics Ahead Of Science In Allocating California’s Water.” “The bill, HR 23, is the latest attempt by Rep. David Valadao, R-Hanford, to benefit Central Valley growers by putting politics ahead of science in allocating California’s water. Unlike past efforts that were packaged as drought relief, this bill is a straight up water grab by Big Ag interests in the Central Valley and their House allies. It was jammed through the House this month without a public hearing — and over the objections of their Northern California lawmakers. ‘Make no mistake, if enacted, this bill will hurt a lot of people,’ Rep. Jared Huffman, D-San Rafael, said on the House floor. ‘It takes water away from fisherman, tribes, the environment, Delta farmers and others, in order to redistribute it primarily to a small group of the nation’s biggest and most politically-connected agribusiness interests.’” [Editorial, Press-Democrat, 7/23/17]

HEADLINE: Critics Blast House Republicans’ California Water Grab. [Courthouse News, 7/20/17]

Sacramento Bee: “Nunes And Valadao Joke About Westlands’ Water Grab. We’re Not Laughing.” “The occasion was the passage of H.R. 23, carried by fellow San Joaquin Valley Republican, Rep. David Valadao of Hanford, although its authorship is clearly at issue. The bill is the House Republicans’ latest attempt to weaken the Endangered Species Act at the Sacramento-San Joaquin River Delta’s expense, and at the behest of the Westlands Water District, the sprawling irrigation district where some of the state’s wealthiest farmers tend their crops. Upon the bill’s passage, Nunes tweeted a photo of five cupcakes, four of which were topped with fish-shaped gummy candies. Perhaps he ate the fifth or maybe he threw it away. Whatever the gummy’s fate, the Tulare politician’s tweet thanked Valadao ‘for sending this excellent gift: smelt-themed cupcakes.’ In the sheltered offices of Congress, where Republicans talk to Republicans about burdens imposed by environmental law on their donors, Nunes’ tweet must have been a hoot.” [Editorial, Sacramento Bee, 7/28/17]

Tribal And Government Officials Said Valadao’s GROW Act “Would Virtually End Trinity River Dam Water Releases” And Eliminate Humboldt County’s Right To Water

Tribal And Government Officials Argued That Valadao Water Bill “Would Virtually End Trinity River Dam Water Releases” And Eliminate Humboldt County’s Right To Water. “Local tribal and government officials say a bill currently under U.S. Senate review would virtually end Trinity River dam water releases used to prevent fish kills and do away with Humboldt County’s 60-year right to river water in favor of providing more water to Central Valley irrigators. California Rep. Jared Huffman (D-San Rafael) said the bill — HR 23 introduced by California Rep. David Valadao (R-Hanford) — is but one of several attempts over the years by Central Valley water contractors and suppliers, namely the Fresno-based Westlands Water District, to redirect more Trinity River water for their own interests. … Local officials said this week that the bill would undo longstanding provisions adopted by Congress that protect Trinity River fish and Humboldt County’s water rights. These provisions adopted in 1955 and 1959 gave Humboldt County an annual right to 50,000 acre-feet of water from Trinity Lake and stated that Trinity River water can only be diverted to the Central Valley after enough has been provided to protect fish. Humboldt County’s water right was not formally recognized by the Interior Department until January 2015, and the water has since been used in recent years to prevent fish diseases that have devastated federally protected salmon species on the lower Klamath and Trinity rivers.” [Times-Standard, 7/28/17]

Drought Relief

Valadao Sponsored The Sacramento-San Joaquin Valley Emergency Water Delivery Act, That Would Have Halted The Restoration Of The San Joaquin River And Its Salmon Population

Valadao Proposed Emergency Drought Legislation To Turn On Pumps In The Sacramento-San Joaquin Delta And Halt The Restoration Of The San Joaquin River. “At the Bakersfield, Calif., stop, Boehner will join Rep. Devin Nunes of Tulare, Rep. Kevin McCarthy of Bakersfield and Rep. David Valadao of Hanford. The lawmakers are expected to announce a bill that seeks to halt the restoration of the San Joaquin River through 2015. Boehner’s visit follows Friday’s announcement by Gov. Jerry Brown formally declaring California’s drought. Two other parts of the proposed bill would allow farmers to pump irrigation water from the Sacramento-San Joaquin Delta and to form a joint House-Senate committee to tackle long-term water woes.” [Associated Press Financial Wire, 1/22/14]
• Push Back Against The Legislation Came From Groups Seeking To Restore Salmon Populations. “The proposed legislation will likely receive pushback. Restoration of the San Joaquin River has caused fierce battles spanning years that have pitted farmers in need of irrigation water against groups that wish to bring the salmon runs back to historic levels. ‘Salmon, and families (who) depend on them, are the ones we need to act to save now,’ John McManus, executive director of Golden Gate Salmon Association, said in a statement. ‘Salmon are dying in the drought-stricken Central Valley rivers and soon that will translate into lost jobs on the coast and inland waterways.’” [Associated Press Financial Wire, 1/22/14]

Valadao’s Bill Was Called An “Unwelcome Intrusion” That Would “Override State Laws And Protections, And Mandate That Certain Water Interests Come Out Ahead Of Others”

Press-Telegram: California Governor Jerry Brown Called Valadao’s Water Bill An “Unwelcome Intrusion” And Would “Override State Laws And Protections, And Mandate That Certain Water Interests Come Out Ahead Of Others.” “The accord reduced water supplies to farmers. Valadao criticized the agreement, saying his ‘constituents are suffering from drought conditions severely exacerbated by erroneous federal regulations. Families and farmers alike are not receiving the water they need to meet their basic, every-day needs.’ The proposed law rankled California Gov. Jerry Brown, who said Valadao should stay out of water policy compromises that took years to develop. ‘It would override state laws and protections, and mandate that certain water interests come out ahead of others,’ wrote Brown in a letter to Congress.” [Press-Telegram, 2/15/14]

Valadao Introduced The California Emergency Drought Relief Act Of 2014 That Would Suspend Some State Water Rights And Environmental Laws To Maximize Water Diversions From The Sacramento-San Joaquin Delta

Valadao Introduced A Bill To Provide “Eighteen Month Of Relief (Two Water Years) While Protecting The State Water Project And Protecting Northern California Water Rights”

Valadao Introduced A Bill To Provide “Eighteen Month Of Relief (Two Water Years) While Protecting The State Water Project And Protecting Northern California Water Rights.” “On Tuesday, December 2, 2014, Congressman David G. Valadao (CA-21), with the support of California House Republicans, introduced water legislation in the U.S. House of Representatives aimed at providing short-term relief from California’s water crisis. Since May, House Republicans have been working to find a bipartisan compromise between House and Senate legislation aimed at providing drought relief. For months, negotiations between the two Chambers have been ongoing. Unfortunately, last month, Senator Feinstein withdrew from negotiations. In an effort to provide immediate, short-term relief regardless, Congressman Valadao introduced H.R. 5781, the California Emergency Drought Relief Act of 2014. The bill provides eighteen month of relief (two water years) while protecting the State Water Project and protecting Northern California water rights. Original cosponsors of the legislation include Reps.
Valadao Claimed The California Emergency Drought Relief Act Of 2014 Had Bipartisan Support From Senators Dianne Feinstein And Barbara Boxer, But Boxer Made It Clear She Opposed The Bill

Valadao Claimed The California Emergency Drought Relief Act Of 2014 Had Bipartisan Support From Senators Dianne Feinstein And Barbara Boxer, But Boxer Made It Clear She Opposed The Bill. “Rep. David Valadao, R-Hanford, who introduced the California Emergency Drought Relief Act of 2014, claimed the bill has bipartisan support and approval of California’s Sens. Dianne Feinstein and Barbara Boxer. Boxer, however, made clear she opposes the bill, saying in an emailed statement to The Bee: ‘The problem here is that Republicans insisted on a secretive process, and only bad things can happen when your process is secretive. ... and now they are trying jam through legislation that will only reignite California’s water wars.’” [Sacramento Bee, Editorial, 12/6/14]

Hanford Sentinel: HR 5781 Would Use “Powerful Delta Pumps Create Reverse Flows That Can Kill Smelt And Ocean-Bound Salmon.” “HR 5781 would allow increased pumping from intakes in the San Joaquin River delta to take advantage of the first few storms of this winter. Areas that could benefit from the extra water include Westlands Water District, the greenbelt around Naval Air Station Lemoore and farms in the Tulare Lake Basin Water Storage District in southern Kings County. The water could be shifted to other entities through transfers. The projects’ powerful delta pumps create reverse flows that can kill smelt and ocean-bound salmon. Valadao’s bill would allow the increased pumping to be stopped only if ‘scientific data indicate ... a negative impact on the long-term survival of the listed [endangered] species.’” [Hanford Sentinel, 12/5/14]

Sacramento Bee Editorial: “House Republicans Intend To Jam Through A California Drought-Relief Bill Early Next Week That Would Suspend Some State Water Rights And Environmental Law To Maximize Water Diversions From The Sacramento-San Joaquin Delta.” “House Republicans intend to jam through a California drought-relief bill early next week that would suspend some state water rights and environmental law to maximize water diversions from the Sacramento-San Joaquin Delta. This is no way to address an issue as important to California as water. It is doomed to fail in the Senate and deserves to die. California’s congressional delegation should be working on a compromise that involves all interested parties, not ramming through a bill during the final days of the lame-duck session.” [Sacramento Bee, Editorial, 12/6/14]

Valadao Criticized Sen Feinstein’s California Emergency Drought Bill And Said It Would Not Increase The Flow Of Water To The Central Valley

Valadao Did Not Support Senator Feinstein’s California Water Relief Bill. “In addition to release of the Shasta feasibility study, Senator Diane Feinstein (D-CA) introduced the California Emergency Drought Relief Act in the United States Senate. According to a statement released by the Senators office, the legislation includes a ‘range of provisions with the goals of moving and creating water long-term to help those communities suffering the worst effects of the drought, while remaining completely compliant with environmental laws such as the Endangered Species Act and Clean Water Act as well as all biological opinions.’ Congressman Valadao made the following statement following the release of the legislation: ‘Today the California Senators introduced a drought bill that included some useful provisions while doing little to deliver more water to California farmers and families. While I cannot support the bill as written, I remain hopeful we can come to an agreement that can advance through the House and Senate.’” [Rep. David Valadao, press release, 7/28/15]

Valadao: Feinstein’s Legislation “Focuses On Desalination, Recycling, And Protecting The Endangered Species Act” But “Will Not Provide Those Suffering From The Drought With The Water Supply They So Desperately Need.” “The Senators legislation focuses on desalination, recycling, and protecting the Endangered Species Act (ESA). While these are admirable goals in areas such as San Francisco, this legislation will not provide those suffering from the drought with the water supply they so desperately need. ‘Within her nine-page press release, Senator Feinstein states, ‘These provisions will help make the water delivery system more efficient during the drought, and do so without any mandated pumping levels.’ ‘Californians can no longer depend on federal and state bureaucrats to make decisions regarding water delivery. Mandated pumping levels are absolutely necessary to ensure a secure, reliable water supply to the areas most in need.’” [Rep. David Valadao, press release, 2/10/16]

Valadao: Senator Feinstein’s Legislation Would Not Increase Water Flows To The Valley, But “I Can only Hope” Feinstein Is Able To Secure Passage So The Two Chambers Can Reconcile The Differences Between The Two Bills. “While on its own Senator Feinstein's legislation will not increase water flows to the Valley, I can only hope that Senator Feinstein is able to secure passage of her legislation in the Senate so that the two Chambers may go to Conference to reconcile the differences between the two bills.” [Rep. David Valadao, press release, 1/21/16]

Valadao And Denham: Feinstein “Threw Up Her Hands And Publicly Rejected” Republicans Proposals To Aid The California Drought Instead Of “Objecting To Negotiators.” “The irony here is that this isn't the first time California Democrats have abandoned their constituents' needs in favor of spinning a better story in the press. The truth is that in this year alone, the two sides of the aisle have been negotiating for months. At the request of Sen. Feinstein, we convened an informal conference to negotiate in advance of any Senate action. Several of the same Democratic members who recently claimed they had been left in the dark during negotiations had staff members at the same table. And after House Republicans proposed provisions to include in the omnibus budget bill a laundry list of both Democratic and Republican priorities, instead of objecting to negotiators, Sen. Feinstein threw up her hands and publicly rejected the proposal.” [Modesto Bee, Jeff Denham And David Valadao, 12/17/15]

2015: Valadao Said He Could Not Support Feinstein’s California Drought Bill. “Feinstein hopes to have the bill included in a broader Senate drought effort focusing on the entire West. She said she borrowed provisions from legislation sponsored by Boxer, and California Reps. Jared Huffman, a Democrat, and David Valadao, a Republican. Valadao said he could not support the bill as currently written but was hopeful about an eventual agreement. The bill contains some useful provisions while doing little to deliver more water to California farmers and families, he said. The most expensive aspects of Feinstein's bill would authorize $600 million for water storage projects. Studies are being conducted that are looking into the feasibility of raising Shasta Dam as well as building new off-site reservoirs such as the proposed Sites Reservoir that would be located north of the delta.” [AP, 7/29/15]
Valadao: “While The Senate Has Refused To Act On The California Drought, They Were Willing To Address Water Issues Throughout The Nation, Leaving California In The Dust.” “While the Senate has refused to act on the California drought, they were willing to address water issues throughout the nation, leaving California in the dust,” stated Congressman David Valadao. He went on, ‘Including my bill, H.R. 2898 in the House-passed legislation today will send this bill to Conference with the Senate, ensuring Congress does everything in their power to provide relief for the farmers, families, and entire communities suffering from this crisis. I urge California’s Senators to come to the table and work together toward solutions rather than eliminate constructive solutions from the bill.” [Rep. David Valadao, press release, 5/25/16]

Water Infrastructure

2018: Valadao Supported California’s Proposition 3 To Authorize $8.9 Billion In Bonds For Infrastructure Repair And Water Improvements

2018: Valadao Supported California’s Proposition 3 To Authorize $8.9 Billion In Bonds For Infrastructure Repair And Water Improvements. “A coalition of local leaders gathered Thursday at the Friant-Kern Canal near Millerton Lake to formally launch the Yes on Prop 3 campaign in support of a state water bond they say would bring billions of dollars in much-needed relief to the central San Joaquin Valley. The speakers included Rep. Jim Costa, D-Fresno; Rep. David Valadao, R-Hanford; Assemblyman Jim Patterson, R-Fresno; state Sen. Andy Vidak, R-Hanford and Fresno Mayor Lee Brand. ‘For far too long, we’ve been left out of too many bonds,’ Valadao said to open the news conference. ‘This is a direct funding source that will actually deliver dollars to the community here.’ Proposition 3 would authorize $8.9 billion in general obligation bonds for various infrastructure repair and maintenance programs, wastewater treatment upgrades, safe drinking water improvements and environmental conservancy efforts such as fishery improvements and groundwater replenishment.” [Fresno Bee, 9/20/18]

Sacramento Bee: Proposition 3 Failed And Was Criticized By Its Opponents As “A Grab Bag Of Special Interest Projects For Which Farmers And Water Users Should Be Paying – Not Taxpayers”

Sacramento Bee: Proposition 3 Failed And Was Criticized By Its Opponents As “A Grab Bag Of Special Interest Projects For Which Farmers And Water Users Should Be Paying – Not Taxpayers.” “California voters on Tuesday rejected a water bond for the first time in almost 30 years, disregarding pleas from its backers that the money would fix crumbling infrastructure, bring clean drinking water to disadvantaged communities and kick-start badly needed environmental restoration projects. […] Proposition 3 […] promised funds to help repair Oroville Dam and aid Central Valley farmers facing groundwater problems […]. Foes called Proposition 3 a grab bag of special interest projects for which farmers and water users should be paying — not taxpayers. […] Unlike most other water bonds, Proposition 3 funds wouldn’t have been allocated through the state budgeting process. Instead, money would have been paid as grants directly to the farms and other groups that would have spent it. That troubled Proposition 3’s critics who said it lacked accountability. Trump Administration Water Memorandum

Valadao Praised Trump’s 2018 Water Memorandum That Instructed The Department Of Interior To Speed Up Environmental Reviews For Projects In The West

Valadao Praised Trump’s 2018 Water Memorandum That Instructed The Department Of Interior To Speed Up Environmental Reviews For Projects In The West. “Former Rep. David Valadao, the Hanford Republican who is running to reclaim his seat from Rep. TJ Cox, D-Fresno, was at the event. He recalled being present in Arizona in 2018 when Trump signed a water memorandum instructing the Department of Interior to speed up environmental reviews for projects in the West. ‘To see this come to fruition is very important,’ Valadao said. ‘I'm excited because it's something that is going to actually deliver for us in the Central Valley. ...This is something that's actually going to be beneficial to the Central Valley. It's going to be beneficial to our communities and our farmers.”” [Fresno Bee, 2/19/20]

U.S. Bureau Of Reclamation

Valadao Criticized The U.S. Bureau Of Reclamation For Announcing It Would Only Deliver 65% Of Contracted Water Obligations. “Despite an abundance of precipitation, the U.S. Bureau of Reclamation's announced today it expects to deliver only sixty five percent of contracted water allocations for South-of-Delta Central Valley Project agricultural contract water districts. ‘In response to the announcement, U.S. Congressman David G. Valadao (CA-21) released the following statement: ‘Today's announcement is no surprise. Over the last several years, naturally occurring dry conditions in the State of California have been exacerbated by government bureaucracy and environmental regulations that prevent water deliveries through the Delta. But it is incredibly disappointing that even when we have high amounts of precipitation, water deliveries are still not at one hundred percent. Approximately half of California's water is consumed by environmental regulations. In addition to flushing precious water out to sea, these regulations prevent the construction and repair of water infrastructure projects throughout the State. With sufficient water infrastructure, water from storms, such as those we experienced this winter, could be captured to satisfy all contractual obligations, and stored for dry years.” [Rep. David Valadao, press release, 3/21/17]

Valadao Said If The U.S. Bureau Of Reclamation Withheld Water From The San Joaquin Valley, It Would Smack “Of An Attempt To Manufacture A Crisis.” ”In the midst of a severe drought created by the government itself, this action would be like throwing gasoline on a fire. To withhold by government fiat hundreds of thousands of acre feet of water that these growers had already paid for, without compensation to those affected, would be an injustice that is impossible to ignore. If the Bureau takes this unprecedented action, which smacks of an attempt to manufacture a crisis, we would call for a full investigation, including requests to see all internal communications of the officials responsible for making this decision.” [Rep. David Valadao, press release, 1/25/14]

U.S. Fish And Wildlife Service

Valadao Criticized The Biden Administration’s Decision To Reexamine Biological Opinions Authored By The U.S. Fish And Wildlife Service Under The Trump Administration

Valadao Criticized The Biden Administration’s Decision To Reexamine Biological Opinions Authored By The U.S. Fish And Wildlife Service Under The Trump Administration. “The dire surface-water outlook comes as the Biden Administration announced plans to reexamine so-called biological opinions authored by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service under the previous Trump Administration. New regulations would allow federal and state scientists to work collaboratively to increase flows from the Delta to Valley farmers but could be rolled back under scrutiny from Biden officials. California Republicans lambasted the decision in a letter to federal agencies emphasizing the Golden State's water needs. ‘As a lifelong farmer, I know firsthand just how important reliable water supply is to California farmers, families, and communities,’ said Rep. David Valadao, (R-Hanford). ‘The unnecessary review and potential reversal of these important biological opinions would jeopardize water supply to the Central Valley and would have detrimental, long-lasting effects on our local economies.” [Visalia Times-Delta, 2/26/21]

Valadao Introduced An Amendment To Hold The Fish And Wildlife Services “Accountable” Because They “Failed To Prove That Efforts To Save The Species Are Effective”

Valadao Introduced An Amendment To Hold The “Fish And Wildlife Service Accountable,” Because They “Failed To Prove That Efforts To Save The Species Are Effective Or Identify The Cause Of Population Decline.” “On Tuesday, June 16, 2015, during the House Appropriations Committee Markup of the 2016 Interior and Environment Appropriations Bill, Congressman David G. Valadao (CA-21) introduced an Amendment to hold the United States Fish and Wildlife Service accountable. For more than a decade, the Delta Smelt has been listed as ‘threatened’ under the Endangered Species Act (ESA). However, the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service has failed to prove that efforts to save the species are effective or identify the cause of population decline. Despite their inability to establish a cause, billions of gallons of water are routinely diverted into the ocean instead of going to those in desperate need of water during this historic drought.” [Rep. David Valadao, press release, 6/16/15]

Valadao Added An Amendment To 2016 Energy And Water Development Appropriations Bill That Would Instruct The Bureau Of Reclamation To Finish And Submit Feasibility Studies For Several Dam Projects. “Today, Congressman David G. Valadao (CA-21), a Member of the House Appropriations Committee, offered an amendment during Full Committee Markup, aimed at increasing water infrastructure throughout California. The legislation, which was offered as an amendment to the FY 2016 Energy and Water Development Appropriations Bill instructs the Bureau of Reclamation to finish and submit feasibility studies for three dam expansion projects and two dam creation proposals.” [Rep. David Valadao, press release, 4/22/15]

Endangered Species

Valadao Sponsored The Western Water And American Food Security Act

Valadao’s Western Water And American Food Security Act Would Require Water Pumping Unless The Secretary Of The Interior Certified That It Would Injure The Long Term Survival Of Smelt

2015: Valadao Said His Water Bill (HR 2898) “Would Ensure That The Federal Government's Decisions To Protect Listed Species Are Effective And Based On Up-To-Date Science.” “My legislation, H.R. 2898, the Western Water and American Food Security Act, would streamline the regulatory process, provide flexibility, and improve scientific efforts to restore some water supplies. In turn, providing more economic certainty to farmers and communities in the San Joaquin Valley. Although lack of precipitation contributes to the Valley's water supply situation, problems are exacerbated by federal regulations and the decisions of Federal and State water managers. The dedication of vast quantities of water - for the protection of endangered fish, is done at a great cost to communities in Central and Southern California. Despite this, there is no scientific indication that the condition of the very fish they are trying to protect has improved.” [Rep. David Valadao, press release, 10/8/15]

Valadao’s Bill Would Require Federal Regulators Maintain Certain Pumping Levels Unless The Secretary Of The Interior “Certifies That Level Would Harm The Long-Term Survival Of The Delta Smelt.” “A bill by Republican Rep. David Valadao set for consideration Thursday would require that federal regulators maintain certain pumping levels unless the secretary of the Interior Department certifies that level would harm the long-term survival of the Delta smelt and no other alternatives to protect the smelt are available.’ [AP, 7/16/15]

Valadao’s HR 2898 Required “Federal Agencies To Use Current And Reliable Data When Making Regulatory Decisions, Which In Turn Will Provide More Water For Communities In Need.” “H.R. 2898, the Western Water and American Food Security Act of 2015 introduced by Congressman David G. Valadao (CA-21) requires federal agencies to use current and reliable data when making regulatory decisions, which in turn will provide more water for communities in need. Additionally, the legislation will provide federal regulators with flexibility to capture water during wet years and will cut red tape holding back major water storage projects, which will aid the entire Western United States during dry years.” [Rep. David Valadao, press release, 7/16/15]

Valadao Also Voted Against Helping California Officials Install Fish Screens On Delta Cross Channel Gates To Protect Migrating Salmon

Valadao Voted Against Collaborating With California Officials To Install A Fish Screen To Protect Migrating Salmon. In July 2015, Valadao voted against an amendment that would direct federal agencies to collaborate with the California Department of Water Resources to “help installation of a fish screen at the Delta Cross Channel Gates to protect migrating salmon.” The amendment was rejected by a vote of 182-236. Valadao: House Amendment To S. 2012, The Energy Policy Modernization Act Of 2016 Included Provisions From HR 2898 And HR 5055, The Energy And Water Development And Related Agencies Appropriations Act Did As Well. “On Tuesday, the House is scheduled to vote on the House amendment to S. 2012, the Energy Policy Modernization Act of 2016, which will include H.R. 2898. In addition, the House is scheduled to vote on H.R. 5055, the Energy and Water Development and Related Agencies Appropriations Act, 2017 which also includes provisions from H.R. 2898. Both pieces of legislation are expected to move to conference with the Senate.” [Rep. David Valadao, press release, 5/23/16]
Big Lie & January 6th Insurrection

Significant Findings

✓ Valadao was absent from voting on certifying the 2020 election because he contracted COVID-19 but said he would have voted to certify the election results.

✓ Valadao voted to impeach Trump for his involvement in the January 6th insurrection but criticized Speaker Pelosi for reducing the impeachment to a “political stunt.”

    ✓ Valadao called Trump a “driving force in the catastrophic events.”

✓ While Valadao paraded around as a moderate, he accepted at least $238,639 throughout 2021 from Republicans who voted against certifying the 2020 election.

✓ Valadao initially supported the creation of a 9/11-style commission to examine the January 6th insurrection but later voted against attempts to establish an investigative commission.

    ✓ May 2021: Valadao voted to create a bipartisan, 9/11-style commission to examine the January 6th insurrection. Senate Republicans blocked the commission from being formed.

    ✓ June 2021: Valadao voted against creating a select committee to investigate the January 6th insurrection and claimed the committee would “only divide us further.”

    ✓ Valadao said he wouldn’t serve on the select committee if asked.

2020 Election Disinformation

Valadao Was Absent From Voting On Certifying The 2020 Election After Contracting COVID-19 But Claimed He Would Have Voted To Certify The Election

Valadao said it was not the role of Congress to choose who the states certify but that states alone have the authority to appoint electors. “Valadao was unable to vote Wednesday because he is still at home after receiving a positive COVID-19 diagnosis. He has yet to be sworn in. ‘He will return to Washington when it is safe for him to do so in coordination with his physician at home and the attending physician of the Capitol,’ his spokeswoman, Faith Vander Voort, said in a statement. She said Thursday the incoming congressman for the 21st Congressional District wouldn't be available for comment. But he did weigh in on the matter before Congress through Twitter. ‘The role of Congress as defined by the Constitution is to count the votes certified by the states. It is not the role of Congress to choose who the states certify. Only states have the authority to appoint electors,’ he wrote, in a tweet.” [Bakersfield Californian, 1/7/21]

  “Valadao was unable to vote Wednesday because he is still at home after receiving a positive COVID-19 diagnosis. He has yet to be sworn in […] ‘Choosing to ignore the facts for the sake of party power is damaging to the American people's confidence in the Electoral College and sets an unwise precedent for future elections,’ he continued. ‘Simply put, Congress does not have the power to pick the president — the American people do, through the Electoral College.’” [Bakersfield Californian, 1/7/21]

Valadao Said He Would Have Voted To Certify The 2020 Election Results If He Were There. “Rep. David Valadao, R-Hanford, sat out the vote because he recently tested positive for COVID-19, but he said in a statement that he would have voted to certify the election results. ‘Choosing to ignore the facts for the sake of party power is damaging to the American people's confidence in the Electoral College and sets an unwise precedent for future elections,’ Valadao said. ‘Simply put, Congress does not have the power to pick the president - the American people do, through the Electoral college.’” [Desert Sun, 1/9/21]

Valadao Was Not Present During The January 6th Attack On The Capitol After Testing Positive For COVID-19. “Congressman-elect David Valadao, R-Hanford, who was not at the Capitol due to a positive COVID-19 test, also condemned the violence. ‘The behavior of these ‘protesters' on the Capitol Complex is absolutely abhorrent. This is un-American,’ Valadao tweeted. ‘I denounce this behavior to the fullest extent. We are so much better than this.’” [Sacramento Bee, 1/6/21]

- Valadao Did Not Vote On Objecting To The Counting Of 2020 Electoral Votes From Pennsylvania. In January 2021, Valadao did not vote on the “Rep. Perry, R-Pa., and Sen. Hawley, R-Mo., objection to the counting of electoral votes from the state of Pennsylvania during the joint session of Congress, on the grounds that they were not, under all of the known circumstances, regularly given.” The objection was rejected, 138-282. Valadao Voted To Impeach Trump For His Involvement In The January 6th Insurrection But Criticized Speaker Pelosi For Reducing The Impeachment To A “Political Stunt”

Valadao Was One Of Ten Republicans To Vote To Impeach President Trump For His Involvement In The January 6th Insurrection

Valadao was one of ten Republicans to vote to impeach President Donald Trump over his encouragement last week of a mob that overwhelmed the U.S. Capitol. Newly elected Republican Rep. David Valadao of Hanford was one of the 10 GOP lawmakers in the House of Representatives who joined Democrats voting to impeach the president, bringing the final vote to 232 to 197.” [Fresno Bee, 1/13/21]

- Valadao: “President Trump Was, Without Question, A Driving Force In The Catastrophic Events.”
  “After casting his vote to impeach, Representative David Valadao of California said on Twitter that “President Trump was, without question, a driving force in the catastrophic events” that took place at the Capitol. ‘His inciting rhetoric was un-American, abhorrent, and absolutely an impeachable offense,’ he added. ‘It’s time to put country over politics.’” [New York Times, 1/12/21]

- Valadao: “His Inciting Rhetoric Was Un-American, Abhorrent, And Absolutely An Impeachable Offense. It's Time To Put Country Over Politics.”
  “Valadao criticized House Speaker Nancy Pelosi, D-San Francisco, for rushing the process and not allowing more time for hearings on impeachment. He said she had reduced impeachment to "a political stunt." But he still felt he had to vote to impeach. ‘Based on the facts before me, I have to go with my gut and vote my conscience. I voted to impeach President Trump,’ Valadao concluded in his statement. ‘His inciting rhetoric was un-American, abhorrent, and absolutely an impeachable offense. It's time to put country over politics.’” [Fresno Bee, 1/13/21]

- Valadao: “Speaker Pelosi Has Thrown Precedent And Process Out The Window By Turning What Should Be A Thorough Investigation Into A Rushed Political Stunt.”
  “Valadao, who had missed the official swearing-in ceremony earlier this month because he had COVID-19, was one of the last Republicans to cast his vote Wednesday. Valadao, who won back the seat he previously held by a slim margin after a protracted vote count, said in his statement afterward that he preferred censure but it wasn't an option. ‘Speaker Pelosi has thrown precedent and process out the window by turning what should be a thorough investigation into a rushed political stunt,’ Valadao said. ‘I wish, more than anything, that we had more time to hold hearings to ensure due process.’” [Anson Record, 1/13/21]

Valadao’s Vote To Impeach Trump Drew Criticism From Fresno Republicans Who Said His Vote Was A “Slap In The Face” To Those Who Worked To Have Him Re-Elected

The Fresno Republican Party Released A Statement Calling Valadao’s Vote To Impeach Trump “A Slap In The Face To Those Who Worked On Or Donated To The Congressman's Recent Campaign”

The Fresno Republican Party Released A Statement Calling Valadao’s Vote To Impeach Trump “A Slap In The Face To Those Who Worked On Or Donated To The Congressman's Recent Campaign.” “Newly elected California Republican Rep. David Valadao drew criticism from his own party for his vote to impeach President Donald Trump on Wednesday. The Fresno County Republican Party released a scathing statement Wednesday night, calling his vote ‘a slap in the face to those who worked on or donated to the congressman's recent campaign.’” [Fresno Bee, 1/14/21]

A Republican Delegate From Contra Costa County Attempted To Bring A Censure Resolution Against Valadao For His Vote To Impeach Trump—The California Republican Party Declined To Censure Valadao

A Republican Delegate From Contra Costa County Attempted To Bring A Censure Resolution Against Valadao For His Vote To Impeach Trump. “An attempt to censure Rep. David Valadao, R-Hanford, over his vote to impeach former U.S. President Donald Trump will face an uphill battle during the California Republican Party convention this weekend. Valadao, whose 21st Congressional District swung for President Joe Biden in the 2020 election, called Trump ‘a driving force’ in the January Capitol riot. In turn, Valadao has faced backlash for his Jan. 13 impeachment vote and been called a "traitor" within certain pockets of his party. Erik Elness, a Republican delegate from Contra Costa County, attempted to bring a censure resolution against Valadao. Elness said he was ‘shocked and disgusted’ that a California Republican would join in on a flimsy impeachment effort by Democrats against Trump.” [Bakersfield Californian, 2/18/21]

The California Republican Party Declined To Censure Valadao. “On Saturday, a measure to censure Valadao - who just barely reclaimed his San Joaquin Valley Congressional seat and then became the only Californian among 10 House Republicans voting to impeach the president - was quashed without a vote. Valadao's like-minded colleagues in Pennsylvania, North Carolina, Illinois and elsewhere have not been so lucky.” [Visalia Times-Delta, 2/22/21]

Valadao’s PAC Contributed $1,000 To Each Of The Eight Republican Members Who Voted To Impeach Trump

Valadao’s PAC Contributed $1,000 To Each Of The Eight Republican Members Who Voted To Impeach Trump. “A month after Rep. David Valadao was one of 10 House Republicans who voted to impeach President Donald Trump, his political action committee gave $1,000 to each of eight of his fellow GOP members of Congress who voted his way, Federal Election Commission records show.” [Sacramento Bee, 5/7/21]

Valadao Accepted Hundreds Of Thousands From House Republican Leaders Who Opposed Impeachment And Voted Not To Certify The 2020 Presidential Election. “But at the same time, the Hanford Republican has also taken hundreds of thousands of dollars from the House GOP leaders who energetically opposed impeachment and, in most cases, voted not to certify key 2020 presidential election results.” [Fresno Bee, 2/7/22]

Valadao Initially Supported The Creation Of A 9/11-Style Commission To Examine The January 6th Insurrection But Later Voted Against Attempts To Establish A Select Committee To Investigate

May 2021: Valadao Voted To Create A Commission To Examine The January 6th Insurrection
May 2021: Valadao Voted To Create An Independent Commission To Examine The January 6th Insurrection. “Rep. David Valadao's vote Wednesday in favor of creating a commission to examine the Jan. 6 riot at the U.S. Capitol has again put the Hanford Republican at odds with his Central Valley neighbor and sometime ally in Congress, Rep. Kevin McCarthy, whose vote against the measure helped set the tone for GOP opposition to the investigation as it heads for a vote in the U.S. Senate.” [Bakersfield Californian, 5/20/21]

- Valadao Said A 9/11-Style Commission Was Needed To Prevent Future Events Like The January 6th Insurrection. “In a written statement, Valadao explained his vote by saying that finding truth shouldn't be a partisan issue. He stated an independent 9/11-style review was needed to remove politicization and help the government ensure such events never happen again. ‘Like many Americans, I was appalled by what took place on January 6th when a mob broke down windows and doors, assaulted police officers and threatened our very democracy,’ he wrote. Valadao took a similarly independent approach in January when he voted in favor of impeaching former President Donald Trump, prompting local praise and resentment. McCarthy, a vocal Trump supporter, not only voted against the impeachment but joined 139 Republicans in objecting to Electoral College counts in Arizona and Pennsylvania.” [Bakersfield Californian, 5/20/21]

May 2021: Bipartisan Legislation To Establish An Independent Commission To Investigate The January 6th Attack Failed In The Senate. “Bipartisan legislation to establish an independent commission to investigate the Jan. 6 attack on the U.S. Capitol has failed in the Senate, as Republicans staged their first filibuster since President Biden took office to block the plan. The final vote Friday was 54-35, but Republicans withheld the votes necessary to bring the bill up for debate. Just six GOP senators joined with the Democrats, leaving the measure short of the 60 votes needed to proceed.” [NPR, 5/28/21]

June 2021: Valadao Voted Against Creating A Select Committee To Investigate The January 6th Capitol Insurrection

June 2021: Valadao Voted Against Creating A Select Committee To Investigate The January 6th Capitol Insurrection. “Rep. David Valadao voted Wednesday against creating a special Democratic-controlled committee to investigate the January 6 Capitol insurrection -- after supporting an independent commission last month. The proposal for the commission he supported would have been split between Democrats and Republicans and had an end of year deadline. The new panel, though, will be dominated by Democratic appointees and, Valadao said, ‘will only divide us further.’” [Fresno Bee, 6/30/21]

- Valadao Said The Select Committee To Investigate The Attack On The Capitol Would “Only Divide Us Further.” “Rep. David Valadao voted Wednesday against creating a special Democratic-controlled committee to investigate the January 6 Capitol insurrection -- after supporting an independent commission last month. The proposal for the commission he supported would have been split between Democrats and Republicans and had an end of year deadline. Valadao Said He Wouldn’t Serve On The Select Committee To Investigate The January 6th Insurrection If Asked Valadao Said He Wouldn’t Serve On The Select Committee To Investigate The January 6th Insurrection If Asked. “There's even scant interest among the 10 House Republicans who voted to impeach former President Donald Trump for inciting the deadly insurrection. Rep. Jaime Herrera Beutler of Washington issued multiple public statements: she told reporters she opposed the select panel and later put out a formal statement making crystal clear she wouldn't serve on it if asked. New York Rep. John Katko, who brokered a bipartisan deal to establish an independent investigation that was blocked by Senate Republicans, said he has little appetite to participate in a ‘turbo-charged partisan exercise.’ Veteran Rep. Fred Upton of Michigan, meanwhile, quipped to CNN: It's 'not on my bucket list.' Others were equally as blunt. ‘No,’ said Rep. David Valadao, a vulnerable California Republican who voted to impeach Trump and backed an independent commission. ‘Obviously, the politics of it is going to be very, very obvious, and that's why I supported the commission,’ he said.” [CNN, 7/1/21]

Valadao Voted Against A Bill Funding Emergency And Security Activities In Response To Jan. 6 Attack On U.S. Capitol And Security Upgrades For Future Prevention Of Similar Incidents

Valadao Voted Against A Bill Funding Emergency And Security Activities In Response To Jan. 6 Attack On U.S. Capitol And Security Upgrades For Future Prevention Of Similar Incidents. In May 2021, Valadao voted against: “Passage of the bill that would provide approximately $1.9 billion in emergency supplemental fiscal 2021 appropriations to legislative branch and other federal entities for security activities in response to the Jan. 6, 2021, attack on the U.S. Capitol, including approximately $753 million to reimburse costs associated with responding to the attack and approximately $990 million for legislative and judicial branch security upgrades. Within the total, it would also provide approximately $170 million for legislative branch costs associated with the COVID-19 public health emergency. For expenses related to the Jan. 6 attack and to prevent similar incidents, it would provide $520.9 million for the National Guard and funding for several law enforcement agencies, including the FBI and National Park Service. It would provide $66.8 million to the District of Columbia for public safety expenses related to terrorist threats and federal presence in the district. It would provide $79.3 million for the Capitol Police, including specified funding for employee hazard pay and retention bonuses, the employee wellness program, agreements with state and local law enforcement agencies, protective details for members of Congress, and physical protection barriers.” The bill passed 213 to 212. [H R 3237, Vote #156, 5/20/21; CQ, 5/20/21]

Valadao Voted Against Holding Steve Bannon In Contempt Of Congress For Defying A Subpoena From The Select Committee Investigating The January 6th Insurrection. “Heading into Thursday's vote, eyes were on the 10 House Republicans who had voted to impeach Trump in January and how they would come down on a criminal referral against Bannon. While most of those House Republicans also backed Thursday's vote, there were a handful of exceptions. Three House Republicans that had voted in favor of Trump's January impeachment -- Rep. Dan Newhouse of Washington, Rep. Tom Rice of South Carolina and Rep. David Valadao of California -- voted against Thursday's criminal referral.” [CNN, 10/21/21]

Valadao Voted Against Referring Former Trump Chief Of Staff Mark Meadows To The Justice Department In Contempt Of Congress For Refusal To Comply With A Subpoena From The Select Committee Investigating The January 6th Attack On The U.S. Capitol

Valadao Voted Against Referring Former Trump Chief Of Staff Mark Meadows To The Justice Department In Contempt Of Congress For Refusal To Comply With A Subpoena From The Select Committee Investigating The January 6th Attack On The U.S. Capitol. In December 2021 Valadao voted against: “Agreeing to the resolution, that would find Mark Meadows, former White House chief of staff to President Donald Trump, in contempt of Congress for refusal to comply with a subpoena issued by the Select Committee to Investigate the January 6th Attack on the United States Capitol. It would direct the speaker of the House to "take all appropriate action to enforce the subpoena" and certify the committee report (H Rept 117-216) accompanying the contempt resolution to the U.S. attorney for the District of Columbia for judicial action.” The motion passed by a vote of 222-208. [H. Res. 851, Vote #447, 12/14/21; CQ, 12/14/21]

- Mark Meadows Provided Thousands Of Documents To The January 6th Committee But Claimed Executive Privilege And Refused To Appear Before The Panel. “Sweeping claims of executive privilege by Meadows and Trump to shield their activities on and before Jan. 6 from congressional scrutiny have been challenged in the court and by constitutional experts. Last week, Meadows backed away from cooperating with the panel just days after saying he would. He argued that the panel was pressuring him to discuss issues that the former president said are protected by executive privilege. However, Meadows had already produced thousands of documents for the panel, including text messages and emails related to the events of the day.” [Washington Post, 12/15/21]

- January 6th Committee Chairman Bennie Thompson: The Report Referring Meadows For Criminal Contempt Was “Clear And Compelling.” “The select committee's report referring Mr. Meadows for criminal contempt charges is clear and compelling,” Committee Chairman Bennie Thompson, a Democrat from Mississippi, said on Tuesday. ‘As White House chief of staff, Mr. Meadows played a role in or was witness to key events leading up to and including the January 6th assault on the United States Capitol.’ […] Republican Rep. Liz Cheney of Wyoming, the vice chair of the select committee, said Tuesday that Meadows had received numerous text messages urging Trump to take action to stop the riot that he has produced without any privilege claim.” [CNN, 12/14/21]

Valadao Voted Against Considering Holding President Trump’s Chief Of Staff Mark Meadows In Contempt Of Congress. In December 2021 Valadao voted against: “Adoption of the rule (H Res 848) that would provide for House floor consideration of the Meadows contempt resolution (H Res 851). The rule would provide for up to one hour of debate on the bill.” The rule was adopted by a vote of 220-210. [H. Res. 848, Vote #442, 12/14/21; CQ, 12/14/21]
Valadao repeatedly voted for budgets that proposed ending Medicare as we know it by turning it into a “voucher-like” premium support program, including the FY 2018, 2016, 2015 and 2014 House Republican budget proposals.

- House Republican budgets Valadao supported also proposed repealing the Affordable Care Act, slashing Pell grants and SNAP funding, and cutting taxes on millionaires while raising them on middle-class taxpayers.

- 2018: Valadao voted for proposing a Balanced Budget Amendment to the Constitution.

Valadao voted for concurring with the FY18 Senate Republican budget.

- The Senate budget cut $473 billion from Medicare and more than $1 trillion from Medicaid over 10 years.

Valadao voted against a FY2017 Republican Study Committee budget that cut $10 trillion over a decade and repealed Obamacare.

Valadao voted against FY 2016 Republican Study Committee budget that balanced in six years, cut retirement programs, and called for a balanced budget amendment.

Valadao voted for the “Security Minibus,” including $1.6 billion in funding for a southern border wall.

Valadao voted against raising the debt limit by $2.5 trillion through 2022, even though failing to raise the debt limit would have destroyed 6 million jobs and $15 million in household wealth.

Valadao voted for the ‘No Budget, No Pay’ Act.

December 2014: Valadao voted for a $1.1 trillion spending bill that repealed Wall Street reforms.

September 2013: Valadao voted against a funding bill that made it more likely a partial government shutdown would occur.

Valadao Voted Against The Build Back Better Act

Valadao Voted Against The ‘Build Back Better’ Budget Reconciliation Bill. In November 2021, Valadao voted against: “Passage of the fiscal 2022 budget reconciliation bill, as amended, that would provide approximately $2 trillion in investments and tax cuts to address climate change and child care, health care, education, housing and other social policies intended to support families. It would establish a child care and early learning entitlement program, providing approximately $100 billion for the program through fiscal 2024. It would provide $18 billion through fiscal 2024 for a free universal preschool program. It would extend through 2022 the expanded child tax credit provided by prior coronavirus relief law (PL 117-2) and provide $5 billion to administer the credit. It would establish a paid family and medical leave benefit for up to four weeks per year, beginning in 2024. It would require the Health and Human Services Department to negotiate a "maximum fair price" for insulin and select Medicare-eligible, brand-name drugs that do not have generic competition. It would require manufacturers to provide rebates for single-source drugs under Medicare Parts B and D for which prices increase faster than inflation. For Medicare Part D, it would cap annual out-of-pocket limit at $2,000 beginning in 2024. It would establish or extend expanded eligibility for certain tax credits toward Affordable Care Act marketplace insurance premiums through 2025. It would establish or expand a number of tax credits to incentivize actions by businesses and individuals to mitigate climate change, including to expand credits for renewable energy production and facilities, carbon capture facilities, use of alternative fuels and energy efficiency improvements at residential properties; and to establish individual credits for the purchase of electric vehicles. It would raise royalty rates and fees for oil and gas drilling leases and cancel or ban certain offshore leases. It would provide $29 billion to support the deployment of low- and zero-emission technologies, more than $20 billion for federal climate resiliency and environmental conservation activities and $9 billion for federal procurement of electric vehicles and related infrastructure. It would provide $65 billion for public housing improvements, $24 billion for rental assistance housing vouchers and $15 billion for down payment assistance and loan programs for first-generation homebuyers. It would provide $9.8 billion for local transit projects to support mobility and affordable housing access disadvantaged communities and $9 billion for lead remediation and water line replacement projects. It would forgive all debt owed by the National Flood Insurance Program’s debt, for a total of $20.5 billion. It would provide such sums as necessary for the USDA to forgive farm loan debt for economically distressed farmers and ranchers. It would provide $6.6 billion to the Small Business Administration and Minority Business Development Agency to help underrepresented individuals with business development. It would provide $20 billion for Labor and Education department workforce development programs and $1.9 billion for Labor Department worker protection agencies. It would allow individuals who entered the United States prior to Jan. 1, 2011, to receive a grant of parole allowing them to remain temporarily in the country for a period of five years, but no later than Sept. 30, 2021. It would temporarily increase from $10,000 to $80,000 the annual cap on the deduction for state and local taxes for tax years 2021 through 2030. To offset costs, it would establish or modify various taxes on corporations and high-income individuals, including to establish a 15 percent alternative minimum tax for corporations with an annual income exceeding $1 billion; a one percent tax on stock buybacks by public companies; and an additional five percent tax on individual income over $10 million and further three percent tax on income over $25 million. It would provide $78.9 billion to improve IRS operations and tax enforcement.” Passed by a vote of 220-213. [HR 5376, Vote #385, 11/19/21, CQ 11/19/21]

- Roosevelt Institute: Build Back Better Act Would Invest In Child Care, Creating Jobs And Allowing Parents To Get Back To Work. “Convenient, affordable childcare is a major obstacle for working parents, illuminated even more so by school and daycare closures during the COVID-19 pandemic, which has disproportionately impacted women’s labor force participation. Increasing the capacity of industries in order to curb inflation of specific prices requires increasing the supply of labor. The Build Back Better Act invests in existing and new childcare facilities in underserved areas and provides subsidies to make childcare more affordable for qualifying households. Together, these investments would increase the supply of childcare, create new jobs, and allow parents to get back to work. [Roosevelt Institute, Fact Sheet, 9/28/21]
• Center For American Progress: Build Back Better Act Would Invest In Clean Electricity And Energy Efficiency, Reducing Energy Costs By $500 Per Year For The Average Household. “Build Back Better helps break the United States’ dependence on fossil fuels—an industry that’s particularly vulnerable to extreme weather, which has and will continue to be exacerbated by climate change—consumer energy costs will be reduced. Specifically, proposed investments in clean electricity and energy efficiency will make energy costs more affordable, saving the average household approximately $500 a year in reduced energy costs. This much-needed investment in clean energy would come at a time when energy prices have pushed up inflation for consecutive months.” [Center for American Progress, 11/16/21]

• The Build Back Better Deal Lowered Drug Prices For Seniors By Reducing Co-Pays And Establishing A $2,000 Out-Of-Pocket Limit in Medicare Part D. “Pelosi celebrated the drug-pricing agreement: ‘For a generation, House Democrats have been fighting to deliver real drug price negotiations that will lower costs. With today’s agreement on strong lower drug price provisions for the Build Back Better Act, Democrats have a path forward to make good on this transformational agenda for our seniors.’ She said the deal will lower drug prices for seniors, reduce their out-of-pocket co-pays and establish a $2,000 out-of-pocket limit for seniors’ expenses in Medicare Part D. The bill would also halt price hikes above inflation, which would affect all Americans, she said.” [NBC News, 1/2/21]

Valadao Claimed The Build Back Better Act Would Increase Inflation Rates And Would “Cripple Generations To Come By Passing On More Debt To Future Americans”

Valadao Claimed The Build Back Better Act Would Increase Inflation Rates And Would “Cripple Generations To Come By Passing On More Debt To Future Americans.” “David Valadao, R-Hanford, voted against “Build Back Better” when the House of Representatives approved it 220-213 on Nov. 19. It was nearly a party-line vote, with only one Democrat voting no (Jared Golden of Maine). ‘Our nation simply cannot afford to keep spending money that we do not have, which is why this bill is so difficult to pass as it would only make the problem worse. Americans are experiencing record high inflation, the cost of housing is rising, grocery bills are historically high, and gas is unaffordable,’ Valadao said. ‘The Build Back Better Act would not only hurt our economy by drastically increasing our already record-high inflation rates, it would also cripple generations to come by passing on more debt to future Americans.’” [gvwire.com, 12/28/21]

Build Back Better Would Help Central Valley Families Suffering From Some Of The Highest Rates Of Food Insecurity By Expanding Free School Meals And Would Help Families Purchase Food In The Summer

Fresno Bee: “Of The Three Congressmen, Valadao’s District Has The Highest Poverty Rate. Costa’s 16th District Is Next, At 23%.” “Of the three congressmen, Valadao’s district has the highest poverty rate. Costa’s 16th District is next, at 23%. Valadao’s district covers all of Kings County and parts of Fresno, Tulare and Kern counties. Per-capita annual income: Just $17,875. That’s less than half the California and national figures. Annual median household income: Only $46,037. That’s just three-fifths of the California total, two-thirds of the national figure. Simply put, the San Joaquin Valley is a poor part of California. Wages are low, health care is limited and educational attainment lags behind. Congressional representatives have the duty to seek to make things better for their constituents.” [Fresno Bee, Editorial, 3/11/21]

Valadao Voted For Concurring With FY18 Senate Republican Budget

Valadao Voted For Agreeing To The Senate Republican’s Version Of The FY18 Budget That Provided $3.1 Trillion In New Budget Authority. In October 2017, Valadao voted for: “Black, R-Tenn., motion to concur in the Senate amendment to the concurrent resolution that would provide for $3.1 trillion in new budget authority in fiscal 2018, not including off-budget accounts. It would allow the cap on defense spending to be raised to $640 billion for fiscal 2018, without the need for offsets. It would require the Senate Finance Committee to report legislation under the budget reconciliation process that would increase the deficit by no more than $1.5 trillion over the period of fiscal 2018 through fiscal 2027. It would also instruct the Senate Energy and Natural Resources Committee to report legislation under the budget reconciliation process that would reduce the deficit by $1 billion over the period of fiscal 2018 through fiscal 2027. The concurrent resolution would authorize the establishment of various reserve funds, including a deficit-neutral reserve fund related to repealing or replacing the 2010 health care overhaul law, and a revenue-neutral reserve fund related to modifying the federal tax system.” The budget passed 216-212. - Senate Budget Cut $473 Billion From Medicare And More Than $1 Trillion From Medicaid Over 10 Years. “Under Capitol Hill's byzantine budget rules, the nonbinding budget resolution is supposed to lay out a long-term fiscal framework for the government. This year's measure calls for $473 billion in cuts from Medicare over 10 years and more than $1 trillion from Medicaid. All told, Senate Republicans would cut spending by more than $5 trillion over a decade, though they don't attempt to spell out where the cuts would come from.” [Associated Press, 10/19/17]

- AP: “The Budget Plan Calls For $5 Trillion In Spending Cuts Over The Decade, Including Cuts To Medicare, Medicaid And The Obama-Era Health Care Law.” “The budget plan calls for $5 trillion in spending cuts over the decade, including cuts to Medicare, Medicaid and the Obama-era health care law, though Republicans have no plans to actually impose those cuts with follow-up legislation. Some Democrats criticized the measure for ruthless spending cuts; others took the opposite approach, failing it for tackling the deficit.” [Associated Press, 10/26/17]

- Senate Budget Directed Energy And Natural Resources Committee To Find $1 Billion In Deficit Reduction, Which Was Likely To Come From Opening ANWR To Oil And Gas Leasing. “Democrats on Tuesday said they planned to introduce an amendment to the budget resolution (S Con Res 25) to strip a provision in its reconciliation instructions that would direct the Energy and Natural Resources Committee to find $1 billion in deficit reduction. Those savings are likely to come in the form of legislation that would open ANWR to oil and gas leasing, which would generate revenues from the sale of federal leases to drilling companies and from royalties on the sale of oil and gas extracted from federally owned land.” [CQ, 10/17/17]

Valadao Voted For Considering The Senate Republican’s Version Of The FY18 Budget. In October 2017, Valadao voted for: “Adoption of the rule (H Res 580) that would provide for House floor consideration of the fiscal 2018 budget resolution (H Con Res 71) that would provide for $3.1 trillion in new budget authority in fiscal 2018, not including off-budget accounts.” The resolution was adopted 233-188. [HRes 580, Vote #583, 10/25/17; CQ, 10/25/17]
Valadao Voted For FY 2018 House Republican Budget Resolution. In October 2017, Valadao voted for: “Adoption of the concurrent resolution that would provide for $3.2 trillion in new budget authority in fiscal 2018, not including off-budget accounts. It would assume $1.22 trillion in discretionary spending in fiscal 2018. It would assume the repeal of the 2010 health care overhaul law. It also would propose reducing spending on mandatory programs such as Medicare and Medicaid and changing programs such as the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (also known as food stamps). It would call for restructuring Medicare into a "premium support" system beginning in 2024. I would also require the House Ways and Means Committee to report out legislation under the budget reconciliation process that would provide for a revenue-neutral, comprehensive overhaul of the U.S. tax code and would include instructions to 11 House committees to trigger the budget reconciliation process to cut mandatory spending. The concurrent resolution would assume that, over 10 years, base (non-Overseas Contingency Operations) discretionary defense spending would be increased by a total of $929 billion over the Budget Control Act caps and non-defense spending be reduced by $1.3 trillion.” The concurrent resolution was adopted, 219-206. - AP: House Budget “Reprises A Controversial Plan To Turn Medicare Into A Voucher-Like Program.” “The House on Thursday passed a $4.1 trillion budget plan that promises deep cuts to social programs while paving the way for Republicans to rewrite the tax code later this year. The 2018 House GOP budget reprises a controversial plan to turn Medicare into a voucher-like program for future retirees as well as the party’s efforts to repeal the "Obamacare" health law. Republicans controlling Congress have no plans to actually implement those cuts while they pursue their tax overhaul.” [Associated Press, 10/5/17]

- Politico: House Budget Included “$203 Billion In Mandatory Cuts Achieved Largely By Cutting Safety Net Programs.” “Under the House budget, any tax reconciliation bill would have to include the $203 billion in mandatory cuts achieved largely by cutting safety net programs. That prompted some GOP moderates to warn of the political optics of cutting food stamps or Medicaid to pay for corporate tax breaks. The House budget also lays out strict parameters to prevent a tax plan from adding to the deficit, even short-term. And that language has given heartburn to Budget panel members like Rep. Jim Renacci (R-Ohio), who almost voted against the resolution because he was afraid it doesn’t provide tax writers with enough funding flexibility to achieve desired cuts.” [Politico, 10/2/17]

Valadao Voted For Consideration Of The Fiscal 2018 House Republican Budget Resolution. In October 2017, Valadao voted for: “Adoption of the rule (H Res 553) that would provide for House floor consideration of the fiscal 2018 budget resolution (H Con Res 71).” The rule was adopted, 232-188. [H Res 553, Vote #552, 10/4/17; CQ, 10/4/17]

2017: Valadao Voted Against FY2018 Republican Study Committee Budget That Cut $10 Trillion Over A Decade And Repealed Obamacare

Valadao Voted Against An Republican Study Committee Alternative FY18 Budget. In October 2017, Valadao voted against: “McClintock, R-Calif., substitute amendment that would provide for $2.9 trillion in new budget authority in fiscal 2018. It would balance the budget by fiscal 2023 by reducing spending by $10.1 trillion over 10 years. It would cap total discretionary spending at $1.06 trillion for fiscal 2018 and would assume no separate Overseas Contingency Operations funding for fiscal 2018 or subsequent years and would incorporate funding related to war or terror into the base defense account. It would assume repeal of the 2010 health care overhaul and would convert Medicaid and the Children’s Health Insurance Program into a single block grant program. It would require that off budget programs, such as Social Security, the U.S. Postal Service, and Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac, be included in the budget.” The amendment was rejected, 281-139. [H Con Res 71, Vote #555, 10/5/17; CQ, 10/5/17]
Valadao Voted For FY 2016 Republican Conference Report On Budget

2015: Valadao Voted For FY16 Republican Conference Report On Budget. In April 2015, Valadao voted for: “Adoption of the conference report on the concurrent resolution that would reduce spending by $5.3 trillion over the next 10 years, including $2 trillion in reductions from repeal of the 2010 health care overhaul. The concurrent resolution would reduce spending in the areas of Medicare, Medicaid and other mandatory programs. It would call for a deficit-neutral overhaul of the tax code that lowers rates and assumes $124 billion in additional savings through ‘dynamic scoring.’ It would increase the amount of uncapped funding for war and related activities in the Overseas Contingency Operations (OCO), allowing $96.3 billion in fiscal 2016. It also includes reconciliation instructions to the House and Senate committees to focus on repeal of the 2010 health care overhaul and to report legislation by July 24, 2015.” The budget was adported 226-197. Valadao Voted For The FY 2016 Republican Budget To Repeal The Affordable Care Act, Slash Pell Grants, And Turn Medicare Into A “Voucherlike” Program

2015: Valadao Voted For FY 2016 Republican Budget To Repeal The Affordable Care Act, Slash Pell Grants, And Alter Medicare. In March 2015, Valadao voted for: the FY16 Republican House budget that would repeal the Affordable Care Act, slash Pell grants and alter Medicare. “It also includes parliamentary language, called reconciliation that orders House committees to draft legislation repealing the Affordable Care Act. Under budget rules, that reconciliation repeal bill cannot be filibustered in the Senate and would need only a majority vote to pass. The budget would turn Medicaid into block grants to the states, cutting health care spending for the poor by $900 billion. The food stamp program would also be turned into block grants and cut by hundreds of billions of dollars. Special education, Pell Grants, job training and housing assistance would all be cut. Medicare would transition to a system where future seniors would be encouraged to use government-funded vouchers to purchase insurance in the private market.” The resolution passed 228 to 199. [H. Con Res. 27, Vote #142, 3/25/15; New York Times, 3/17/15]

- National Committee To Preserve Social Security & Medicare: 2015 House GOP Budget Would Leave “Seniors And The Disabled – Some Of Our Most Vulnerable Americans – Hostage To The Whims Of Private Insurance Companies.” “Once again, the House GOP’s budget would privatize Medicare with a voucher plan, leaving seniors and the disabled – some of our most vulnerable Americans – hostage to the whims of private insurance companies. Over time, this will end traditional Medicare and make it harder for seniors to choose their own doctor. Vouchers will not keep up with the increasing cost of health insurance… that is why seniors will pay more.” [National Committee to Preserve Social Security & Medicare, 3/17/15]

- New York Times: 2015 House GOP Budget Would Turn Medicare Into A “Voucherlike” Program. “House Budget Committee members previewed their plans in an unusual, campaign-style video on Monday. The plan envisions a remaking of the federal government. Future recipients of Medicare would be offered voucherlike ‘premium support’ to pay for private insurance rather than government-provided health care. Spending on Medicaid would be cut substantially over 10 years, with the money turned into block grants to state governments, which in turn would have much more flexibility in deciding how it is allocated.” [New York Times, 3/17/15]

Valadao Voted For Blocking Consideration Of Holding A Hearing For The President’s FY16 Budget

2016: Valadao Voted For Blocking Consideration Of Holding A Hearing For The President’s FY16 Budget. In March 2016, Valadao voted for: blocking consideration of holding a hearing for the Obama Administration’s fiscal year 2017 budget proposal. “The Democratic Previous Question gives Republicans a third chance to call for an immediate vote on Budget Committee Ranking Member Chris Van Hollen’s H.R. 624 to demand a fair hearing on the President’s Budget by demanding that House Republicans hold a Budget hearing with the Director of the Office of Management and Budget.” [H Res 635, Vote #106, 3/3/16; Democratic Leader – Previous Questions, 3/3/16]

Valadao Voted For FY 2016 Budget Price Amendment Repealing The Affordable Care Act, Slash Pell Grants And Alter Medicare While Requiring No Offsets For Increased OCO Defense Spending

2015: Valadao Voted For FY 2016 Price Budget Amendment To Repeal The Affordable Care Act, Slash Pell Grants And Alter Medicare While Requiring No Offsets For Increased OCO Defense Spending. In March 2015, Valadao voted for: a budget alternative known as Price amendment #2 offered as an amendment on the floor that would repeal the Affordable Care Act, slash Pell grants and alter Medicare while requiring no offsets for increased OCO defense spending. “Tom Price, R-Ga., also submitted an amended version that included increased defense funding without requiring cuts in other areas to offset the spending. Price’s plan increased funding to the Overseas Contingency Operations Fund by $2 billion over the committee plan, to $96 billion, and requires no offsets. The version that passed out of committee would have required offsets over $73.5 billion in the OCO fund, which pays for wars and other overseas activities and is not subject to sequester caps.” The resolution passed 219 to 208. [H. Con Res. 27, Vote #141, 3/25/15; US News and World Report, 3/25/15]

Valadao Voted Against FY 2016 Republican Study Committee Budget That Balanced In Six Years, Cut Retirement Programs, And Called For A Balanced Budget Amendment

2015: Valadao Voted Against FY2016 Republican Study Committee Budget. In March 2015, Valadao voted against: the Republican Study Committee budget that would cut spending by $7.1 trillion over 10 years. “A conservative budget released by the House Republican Study Committee (RSC) on Monday would balance in five years by cutting $7.1 trillion in spending over the next decade. The cuts are much more than the $5.5 trillion in proposed cuts included in the main House GOP blueprint unveiled last week by Budget Committee Chairman Tom Price (R-Ga.). The RSC budget, prepared by RSC and Budget Committee member Marlin Stutzman (R-Ind.), would increase spending for the Pentagon.” The amendment failed 132 to 294. [H Con Res 27, Vote #138, 3/25/15; The Hill, 3/23/15]

Valadao Voted For FY 2015 House Republican Budget To Repeal The Affordable Care Act, Cut SNAP Funding, And Voucherize Medicare

2014: Valadao Voted For FY 2015 House Republican Budget That Would Repeal The Affordable Care Act, Cut SNAP Funding, And Alter Medicare. In April 2014, Valadao voted for: “Adoption of the concurrent resolution that would provide for $2.842 trillion in new budget authority in fiscal 2015, not including off-budget accounts. It would assume $5.1 trillion in reductions over the next 10 years in both discretionary and mandatory spending. The proposal would assume the repeal of the 2010 health care overhaul. It also would propose extending the 2013 law that withheld the pay of members of Congress unless the House and Senate each approve a budget resolution. It would propose changing the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program into a block grant program and call for a decrease of $125 billion in SNAP funding over five years. The proposal would call for expanded work and job training requirements in order to receive aid from the Temporary Assistance to Needy Families Program and would propose preventing beneficiaries from receiving unemployment insurance and disability insurance concurrently. It would call for the creation of a block grant program for Medicaid run by individual states. It also would include a proposal for a 10-year ‘doc fix’ to prevent a 24 percent cut in Medicare payments to doctors. It would assume the enactment of legislation to consolidate the current seven individual tax brackets into two, allowing for the reduction of the top individual rate from 39.6 percent to 25 percent and the corporate rate from 35 percent to 25 percent and call for repeal of the alternative minimum tax. It also would call for a maximum-income cap to qualify for Pell Grants and the elimination of eligibility for less than half-time students.” The budget passed 219 to 205. [H.C Con. Res 96, Vote #177, 4/10/14; CQ, 4/10/14]

• AARP: Republican Budget Would Remove the Medicare Guarantee. “Chairman Ryan’s proposed budget fails to address the high costs of health care and instead shifts costs onto seniors and future retirees. Repealing the benefits of the Affordable Care Act ignores the progress we’ve made to improve access to health care and protect against discrimination based on age, gender or medical history. Removing the Medicare guarantee of affordable health coverage for older Americans by implementing a premium support system and asking seniors and future retirees to pay more is not the right direction.” [AARP Press Release, 4/1/14]

• NCPSSM: Republican Budget Would Ultimately Kill Traditional Medicare. “This is a budget that doubles-down on an ideological quest to turn Medicare into “coupon care”, making it harder for seniors to choose their own doctors and ultimately killing traditional Medicare. If the GOP/Ryan budget becomes law, seniors will immediately lose billions in prescription drug savings, free wellness visits and preventative services provided in the ACA, and the Part D donut hole returns.” [National Committee to Preserve Social Security & Medicare, 4/1/14]

• Associated Press: “The Proposal Would Reprise a Voucher-Like Medicare Program.” “The proposal would reprise a voucher-like Medicare program for future retirees that would be the basis for GOP claims that the measure would drive down government debt over the long term.” [Associated Press, 4/1/14]

• Los Angeles Times: Republican Budget Would Turn Medicare into a “Voucher-Like Program” that “May Not Fully Cover the Cost” of Medicare. “Ryan retained his idea for turning the Medicare health system into a voucher-like program for future seniors, providing a fixed amount of cash that can be applied toward the purchase of private health insurance. The voucher may also be used to enroll in traditional Medicare, but it may not fully cover the cost.” [Los Angeles Times, 4/1/14]

Valadao Voted Against FY 2015 Republican Study Committee Budget That Turned Medicare To A Voucher Program And Raised The Social Security Eligibility Age

2014: Valadao Voted Against FY2014 Republican Study Committee (RSC) Budget. In April 2014, Valadao voted against: “Woodall, R-Ga., substitute amendment that would provide for $2.744 trillion in new budget authority in fiscal 2015, not including off-budget accounts. The plan would call for repeal of the 2010 health care overhaul. It would propose converting several social programs including Medicaid and the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program into block grants to be funded at fiscal 2014 levels. The plan would call for eliminating the mandatory increase in funding for the Pell Grant program, the subsidized interest payments on federal undergraduate student loans and the social services block grant. It would propose requiring federal employees to contribute more to both their pensions and health benefits and reducing the federal workforce through attrition. The substitute would propose reducing premium subsidies for crop insurance from 60 percent to 40 percent. It also would call for a revenue neutral tax code overhaul that would create two income tax rates, with a top rate of 25 percent. It also would call for repeal of the inheritance tax, propose setting the dividend tax rate at a maximum of 15 percent and provide for equal tax treatment for individual and employer health care expenditures.” The amendment failed 104 to 132. [H Con Res 96, Vote #175, 4/10/14; CQ, 4/10/14]

Valadao Voted For FY 2014 Ryan Budget That Cut Medicare Spending By $356 Billion And Turned It Into A Voucher Program
2013: Valadao Voted For FY 2014 Ryan Budget That Called For Restructuring Of Medicare Into A “Premium Support” System And $5.7 Trillion In Spending Cuts Over Ten Years. In March 2013, Valadao voted for: “Adoption of the concurrent resolution that would provide $2.769 trillion in new budget authority in fiscal 2014, not including off-budget accounts. It would assume that the spending levels required by the sequester remain in place and that non-war discretionary spending for all future years will be at post-sequester levels. It would assume that all discretionary savings from the sequester beginning in fiscal 2014 will come from non-defense programs. It would assume $5.7 trillion in reductions over the next 10 years in both discretionary and mandatory spending. It would assume repeal of the 2010 health care overhaul and a restructuring of Medicare into a "premium support" system beginning in 2024. It would call for an overhaul of the tax code, under which the alternative minimum tax would be repealed, the six current individual income tax brackets would be consolidated into two and tax credits and deductions would be eliminated or curtailed.” The resolution passed 221 to 207. - National Journal: “For Those Younger Than Age 55, Medicare Could Look Unrecognizable” If Ryan Budget Were Implemented. “And, for those younger than age 55, Medicare could look unrecognizable: People receive a fixed sum of money from the federal government to buy health insurance in their old age, regardless of the way inflation has caused health care costs to increase.” [National Journal, 3/10/13]

- CBPP: Ryan Budget Would Cut Medicare Spending By A Total Of $356 Billion.” According to an analysis of the Ryan budget conducted by the Center on Budget and Policy Priorities: “Over the 2013 to 2023 period, the Ryan budget would cut Medicare spending by a total of $356 billion. His budget would save $129 billion compared to current law from limiting medical malpractice awards, increasing income-tested premiums, and repealing the Medicare benefit improvements in health reform, including closure of the prescription drug ‘donut hole.’ Ryan’s baseline includes $138 billion in scheduled cuts from Medicare’s sustainable growth rate formula for physicians and $89 billion in Medicare cuts from sequestration, bringing his total Medicare reductions to the aforementioned $356 billion.” [Center on Budget and Policy Priorities, 3/12/13]

- CBPP: Families Making Less Than $200,000 Would Face Average Tax Hike of $3,000. “Families with children that have incomes below $200,000 would have to face tax increases averaging more than $3,000 a year, if policymakers were to avoid increasing the deficit while reaching Chairman Ryan’s 25-percent top-tax-rate goal… If policymakers enacted the same extremely ambitious reductions in tax expenditures for filers with incomes above $200,000…, filers with incomes of $1 million or more would lose tax breaks totaling about $90,000 on average – still leaving them with an average net tax cut of about $245,000…” [Center on Budget and Policy Priorities, 3/17/13]

- CBPP: Millionaires Would Likely Experience A $245,000 Net Tax Cut. According to an analysis of the Ryan Budget conducted by the Center on Budget and Policy Priorities, “If policymakers enacted the same extremely ambitious reductions in tax expenditures for filers with incomes above $200,000 that TPC assumed when it analyzed Romney’s tax plan, filers with incomes of $1 million or more would lose tax breaks totaling about $90,000 on average – still leaving them with an average net tax cut of about $245,000.” [Center on Budget and Policy Priorities, 3/17/13]

2013: Valadao Voted Against FY 2014 Republican Study Committee Budget That Turned Medicare To A Voucher Program And Raised The Social Security Eligibility Age

2013: Valadao Voted Against FY2014 Republican Study Committee (RSC) Budget. In March 2013, Valadao voted against: a “substitute that would provide $2.732 trillion in new budget authority for fiscal 2014, not including off-budget accounts. The substitute would assume a $950 billion cap on total non-war discretionary spending, freezing it for four years until the budget is balanced, and then allowing for inflation growth. It would assume $552 billion for defense spending in fiscal 2014. It also would assume the repeal the 2010 health care overhaul and conversion of Medicaid and the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program into block grant programs. It also would assume the transformation of Medicare into a premium support program that would compete against private plans. It also would assume the reinstatement of the Bush-era tax cuts for high-income earners and an overhaul of the tax code that would eliminate the estate tax, allow taxpayers to switch to a system with two tax brackets and cut the corporate tax rate to 25 percent.” The amendment failed 104 to 132. Valadao Voted For The ‘No Budget, No Pay’ Act

January 2013: Valadao Voted For A Bill That Would “Suspend The Salary Payments To Members In Either Chamber That Does Not Adopt A Fiscal 2014 Budget Resolution By April 15, 2013,” Increase Debt Ceiling. In January 2013, Valadao voted for: “Passage of the bill that would suspend the limit on government borrowing through May 18, 2013 and then automatically increase the current $16.4 trillion ceiling to accommodate additional debt accumulated through that date. It also would suspend the salary payments to members in either chamber that does not adopt a fiscal 2014 budget resolution by April 15, 2013. Salaries of members of a chamber that do not adopt a budget by that time would be placed into an escrow account and would not be released until the chamber adopted a budget or until the last day of the 113th Congress, in January 2015.” [CQ, 1/23/13; HR325, Vote #30, 1/23/13]

Government Shutdowns

FY 2018 Omnibus

Valadao Voted For Funding The Government For 2.5 Months Through December 2018

In September 2018, Valadao voted for “Adoption of the conference report to accompany the bill that would provide $855.1 billion in discretionary funding for fiscal 2019 to various departments and agencies, including $674.4 billion for the Defense Department and $178.1 billion for the Labor, Health and Human Services and Education departments. The Defense Department total would include $606.5 billion in base Defense Department funding subject to spending caps, and would include $67.9 billion in overseas contingency operations funding. The bill would provide $90.3 billion in discretionary spending for the Health and Human Services Department, $71.4 billion for the Education Department and $12.1 billion for the Labor Department. The measure would also provide funding for federal government operations until Dec. 7, 2018, at an annualized rate of approximately $1.3 trillion.” The amendment was adopted 361-61. [HR 6157, Vote #405, 9/26/18; CQ, 9/26/18]

Valadao Voted For Passing $1.3 Trillion FY18 Omnibus That Prevented A Government Shutdown

In March 2018, Valadao voted for: “Frelinghuysen, R-N.J., motion to concur in the Senate amendment to the bill with a further amendment that would provide roughly $1.3 trillion in funding for federal government operations and services through Sept. 30, 2018. The measure would provide a total of $654.6 billion in additional funding to the Defense Department […] $98.7 billion to the Health and Human Services Department, […] $3.4 billion to the Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration for substance abuse block grants, and would provide roughly $3.7 billion to the National Institutes of Health, including an additional $500 million for research into opioid addiction. It would provide $47.7 billion to the Homeland Security Department, including $1.6 billion for the purpose of bolstering security measures on the U.S.-Mexico border, including the construction of new fencing along sections of the border, and would provide $7.1 billion for Immigration and Customs Enforcement operations and enforcement. The measure includes provisions from multiple bills related to school safety and firearms regulations, including a bill (S 2135) that would require the Department of Justice to certify that appropriate records have been submitted to the National Instant Criminal Background Check System by federal agencies and state governments with respect to individuals who are not eligible to purchase firearms. The measure includes language from the bill (S 2495) that would authorize $75 million a year through fiscal 2028 for the Secure Our Schools grant program and would revise it to more explicitly focus the program on preventing student violence.” The motion as agreed to, 256-167. [H Res 796, Vote #127, 3/22/18; CQ, 3/22/18]

Valadao Voted For Passing The House Version Of $1.23 Trillion Fiscal 2018 Omnibus Appropriations Bill

Valadao voted for: “Passage of the bill, as amended, that would provide $1.23 trillion for federal departments and agencies covered by the 12 unfinished fiscal 2018 spending bills, including $621.5 billion for defense and $511 billion for nondefense discretionary spending.” The bill passed by a vote of 211-198. 2018 Short Term Government Shutdowns

Valadao Voted For Concurring With The Senate On The Short Term Continuing Resolution That Funded The Government Through March 23, 2018. In December 2017, Valadao voted for: “Frelinghuysen, R-N.J., motion to concur in the Senate amendment to the House amendment to the Senate amendment to the bill that would provide funding for federal government operations and services at current levels through March 23, 2018. The bill would increase defense spending caps to $629 billion for fiscal 2018 and $647 billion for fiscal 2019, and would increase non-defense spending caps by $63 billion in fiscal 2018 and $68 billion in fiscal 2019. It would suspend the debt ceiling through March 1, 2019, and would provide $89.3 billion in emergency supplemental funding including $23.5 billion in funding for the Federal Emergency Management Agency Disaster Relief Fund, $28 billion in funding to the Department of Housing and Urban Development Community Development Fund, and $4.9 billion in additional Medicaid funding for Puerto Rico and the U.S. Virgin Islands. It would authorize funding for community health centers through fiscal 2019, and would provide for an additional authorization of the Children’s Health Insurance Program from fiscal 2023 to fiscal 2027. The underlying bill would allow the governor of a state, territory, possession or the mayor of the District of Columbia to order that the United States flag be flown at half-staff to honor the death of a first responder who dies while serving in the line of duty.” [HR 1892, Vote #69, 2/9/18; CQ, 2/9/18]

- Budget Deal Ending Second Government Shutdown Of 2018 Added $320 Billion To The Deficit – The Second Shutdown In Three Weeks. “But action did not come soon enough to avoid a brief government shutdown — the second in three weeks — thanks to a one-man protest from Sen. Rand Paul (R-Ky.), who delayed the Senate vote past midnight to mark his opposition to an estimated $320 billion addition to the federal budget deficit.” [Washington Post, 2/9/18]

- Budget Deal Raised Sequestration Caps For 2018 And 2019 By $296 Billion, Suspended The Debt Ceiling Until March 2019, And Approved An Additional $90 Billion In Disaster Relief. “Attached to the CR is language raising the sequestration budget caps for fiscal years 2018 and 2019 by a total of $296 billion, suspending the debt ceiling until March 2019 and approving an additional $90 billion in disaster relief, among a host of other policy provisions.” [Roll Call, 2/9/18]

- CNN: Continuing Resolution Included A Full Year Of Defense Spending To “Sweeten The Deal For Conservative And Defense Hawks… Who Have Been Emphatic That They Wouldn’t Support The Fifth Continuing Resolution In Six Months.” “The House of Representatives passed legislation funding most federal agencies through March 23, and the Pentagon for a full fiscal year, roughly two days before the government faces a shutdown. The bill passed 245-182, but this is just the first step. The bill will next go the Senate, where Democrats are expected to oppose it because it doesn’t also provide longer term money for domestic programs like opioid recovery efforts, transportation, and education. […] GOP leaders tacked on a full year of defense funding to sweeten the deal for conservative and defense hawks in their ranks who have been emphatic that they wouldn’t support the fifth continuing resolution in six months without some kind of certainty for the country’s military.” [CNN, 2/6/18]

- Valadao Voted For House Passage Of Continuing Resolution To Fund The Government Through March 23. In February 2018, Valadao voted for: “Frelinghuysen, R-N.J., motion to concur in the Senate amendment to the bill with an amendment that would provide for an extension of the current continuing resolution through March 23, 2018. The measure would provide for $659.2 billion in discretionary funding for the Defense Department through fiscal 2018 and would provide $3.6 billion annually for community health centers through fiscal 2019. It would also eliminate the cap on various Medicare payments and would extend funding for rural hospitals that see large numbers of Medicare patients.” The motion was adopted, 245-182. [H.R. 1892, Vote #60, 2/6/18; CQ, 2/6/17]

Valadao Voted For Funding The Government Until February 16, 2018 And Funding CHIP For Six Years. In January 2018, Valadao voted for: “Frelinghuysen, R-N.J., motion to concur in the Senate amendment to the bill with an amendment that would provide funding for federal government operations and services at current levels through Feb. 16, 2018, at an annualized rate of $1.23 trillion for federal departments and agencies covered by the 12 unfinished fiscal 2018 spending bills, of which an annualized rate of $621.5 billion would be designated for defense and an annualized rate of $511 billion for nondefense discretionary spending. The measure would fund the state Children’s Health and Insurance Programs at $21.5 billion annually starting in fiscal 2018 and would gradually increase the funding annually through fiscal 2023. It would suspend or delay three health-related taxes enacted as part of the 2010 health care overhaul. It would allow the ballistic missile defense funding included in the last short-term funding bill to be used for certain related intelligence activities. Additionally, it would prohibit the Government Publishing Office from providing a free printed copy of the Federal Register to any member of Congress or other U.S. government office unless a specific issue or a subscription was requested by the member or office.” The motion passed 230-197. [H.R. 195, Vote #33, 1/18/18; CQ, 1/18/18]

- Measure Failed To Protect DREAMers, Aid Puerto Rico, Or Respond To The Opioid Crisis. “In the Senate, at least about a dozen Democratic votes would be needed to approve the measure, and there was little chance that those would materialize. Democrats are intent on securing concessions that would, among other things, protect from deportation young immigrants brought to the country illegally as children, increase domestic spending, aid Puerto Rico and bolster the government’s response to the opioid crisis.” [New York Times, 1/18/18]

- Bill Failed In The Senate, Leading To A Government Shutdown – The First Time A Shutdown Involving Furloughs Occurred While One Party Controlled Washington. “The federal government entered the 18th partial shutdown of the modern budget era at midnight Saturday after the Senate failed to reach a deal on a funding bill. The modern budget process began with the passage of the Budget Act of 1974. Since then, there have been a slew of different circumstances that prompted shutdowns, but this shutdown is unique for one reason. This is the first time that one party has controlled the House, the Senate, and the White House during a shutdown in which federal employees are furloughed.” [Business Insider, 1/20/18] end, there was no drama in the 316-113 vote … Only 18 Democrats voted against the spending bill, while 166 supported it.” [HR 2029, Vote #705, 12/18/15; The Hill, 12/18/15]

2015: Valadao Voted For Short-Term Continuing Resolution To Prevent Government Shutdown

2015: Valadao Voted For Short-Term Continuing Resolution To Prevent Government Shutdown. In September 2015, Valadao voted for: a motion to concur in the Senate amendment to the bill that would continue funding the government through Dec. 11, 2015 at an annualized rate of $1,017 trillion, the top-line post-sequester discretionary spending level for FY 2016 set by the Budget Control Act. It also would fund for Overseas Contingency Operations at a rate of $74.8 billion, roughly equal to the FY 2015 level. Under the bill, most programs would be funded at a rate that is 0.21 percent less than their FY 2015 funding level, although the measure would include increases for certain activities including $700 million in emergency funding for fighting fire in western states; it would give the VA budget flexibility in constructing a facility in Denver, and would not defund Planned Parenthood. Further, the measure would extend through Dec. 11 the ban on state taxation of Internet access and the E-Verify employment verification system. The motion was agreed to by a vote of 277-151. [HR 719, Vote #528, 9/30/15; CQ Floor Votes, 9/30/15]

- All Of The Votes Against Were Republicans, Who Were Upset By Their Inability To Force The Obama Administration To Defund Planned Parenthood. “With only hours to spare on the last day of the fiscal year, Congress averted a government shutdown on Wednesday by approving a temporary spending measure to keep federal agencies operating through Dec. 11. In the House, the legislation was approved only because of strong support by Democrats — a sign of how angry rank-and-file Republicans remain over their powerlessness to force policy changes on the Obama administration. The House vote was 257 to 151, with 186 Democrats and 91 Republicans in favor. All of the ‘no’ votes were by Republicans. In one last display of their fury, House Republicans on Wednesday adopted another resolution to cut off government financing to Planned Parenthood.” [New York Times, 9/30/15]

2014: Valadao Voted For A $1.1 Trillion Spending Bill That Included Funding For Agencies Covered By Unfinished Fiscal 2015 Spending Bills

Valadao Voted For A $1.1 Trillion Spending Bill That Prevented Government Shutdown

December 2014: Valadao Voted For A $1.1 Trillion Spending Bill That Included Funding For Agencies Covered By Unfinished Fiscal 2015 Spending Bills. In December 2014, Valadao voted for: a “motion to concur in the Senate amendment to the bill with a House amendment that would provide $1.013 trillion in discretionary appropriations in fiscal 2015 for federal departments and agencies covered by the 12 unfinished fiscal 2015 spending bills. Included in that total is: $20.6 billion for Agriculture; $61.1 billion for Commerce-Justice-Science; $554.2 billion for Defense, including $64 billion for overseas contingency operations associated with the war in Afghanistan, the fight against ISIS and other counterterrorism operations; $34.2 billion for Energy-Water; $43.2 billion for Financial Services; $30 billion for Interior-Environment; $158.2 billion for Labor-HHS-Education; $4.3 billion for the Legislative Branch; $71.8 billion for Military Construction-VA; $52 billion for State-Foreign Operations; and $53.5 billion for Transportation-HUD. The measure contains full fiscal year funding for all departments except for Homeland Security, which would be funded at current levels until Feb. 27, 2015. It also would provide $5.4 billion in emergency funding to address the Ebola outbreak and $6.5 billion in disaster aid.”
The motion was agreed to 162 to 206. [HR 83, Vote #563, 12/11/14; CQ, 12/11/14]

- The Hill: The Bill Included A Rider That Repealed Part Of The Dodd-Frank Reforms “To Allow Banks To Directly Engage In Derivatives Trading.” “Most Democrats followed House Minority Leader Nancy Pelosi’s (D-Calif.) lead and voted against the package because of two riders she described as ‘egregious.’ One of the policy riders repeals part of the Dodd-Frank Wall Street reform law to allow banks to directly engage in derivatives trading. The other loosens limits on the amount of money people can contribute to national political parties. Just after 9 p.m. Thursday, the House wound up passing the bill with the help of 57 Democrats.” [The Hill, 12/13/14]

2013: Valadao Voted For A Budget Agreement That Would Prevent A Government Shutdown While Also Reducing The Deficit

Valadao Voted For Preventing Another Government Shutdown While Also Reducing The Deficit

2013: Valadao Voted For A Budget Agreement That Would Prevent A Government Shutdown While Also Reducing The Deficit. In December 2013, Valadao voted for: a “Ryan, R-Wis., motion to recede from the House amendment and concur in the Senate amendment to the fiscal 2014 continuing resolution (H J Res 59) with an amendment that would increase the discretionary spending caps for fiscal 2014 and 2015, establish a budget for fiscal 2014 and outline the fiscal 2015 budget process. The increased spending would be offset by increased passenger air travel fees, increased federal employee pension contributions, extending sequester cuts to Medicare for two years and other changes. It also would block a scheduled cut to Medicare reimbursements for physicians.” The bill passed 332 to 94. [HJ Res 59, Vote #640, 12/12/13; CQ, 12/12/13]

- Politico: Budget Agreement Would Avert A Government Shutdown And Replace The Sequester. “Rep. Paul Ryan and Sen. Patty Murray unveiled a two-year budget agreement late Tuesday night that they say will end years of bitter budget wars on Capitol Hill. The framework amounts to a modest deal that averts another government shutdown, replaces the sequester and provides a level of certainty on spending that hasn’t been seen in Washington for several years. But it doesn’t raise the debt ceiling, which Congress must address sometime next spring. And it’s far from a grand bargain that overhauls entitlement programs or the tax code — an approach the negotiators refused to entertain for fear of getting bogged down.” [Politico, 12/10/13]

Valadao Voted For Continuing Resolution That Ended The 2013 Government Shutdown

Valadao Voted For Continuing Resolution That Funded The Government Through January 15 And Provided Retroactive Pay To Employees Furloughed During The Government Shutdown. In October 2013, Valadao voted for: “Rogers, R-Ky., motion to recede from House amendments and concur in the Senate amendment to the bill that would require the Health and Human Services Department to verify the income qualifications of people who apply for tax subsidies under the 2010 health care overhaul. The Senate amendment would provide continuing appropriations for government operations through Jan. 15, 2014, reflecting an annual discretionary level of about $986 billion. It would allow federal borrowing to continue through Feb. 7, 2014, after the president certifies that the U.S. Treasury cannot pay its obligations and would set up an expedited process for Congress to consider resolutions of disapproval for the debt limit increase authorized by the bill. It also would provide for retroactive pay for federal employees who worked through the government shutdown that began on Oct. 1, 2013 and for workers furloughed during that time.” The bill passed 285-144. [HR 2775, Vote #550, 10/16/13; CQ, 10/16/13]

- The Agreement Ended A 16 Day Government Shutdown. “Congressional Republicans conceded defeat on Wednesday in their bitter budget fight with President Obama over the new health care law as the House and Senate approved last-minute legislation ending a disruptive 16-day government shutdown and extending federal borrowing power to avert a financial default with potentially worldwide economic repercussions. […] Under the agreement, the government would be funded through Jan. 15, and the debt ceiling would be raised until Feb.
7. The Senate will take up a separate motion to instruct House and Senate negotiators to reach accord by Dec.
13 on a long-term blueprint for tax and spending policies over the next decade.” [New York Times, 10/16/13]

Valadao Voted For Blocking An Attempt To Re-Open Government During 2013 Government Shutdown

Valadao Voted For Blocking An Attempt To Concur With The Senate’s Continuing Resolution. In October 2013, Valadao voted for: “Simpson, R-Idaho, motion to table (kill) the Van Hollen, D-Md., appeal of the ruling of the chair with respect to the Simpson point of order that the Van Hollen motion to recommit the joint resolution was not germane to the measure. The motion would recommit the joint resolution to the House Appropriations Committee with instructions that it be immediately reported back with language providing for the House to recede from its amendment and concur in the Senate amendment to the fiscal 2014 continuing resolution (H J Res 59), which would provide continuing appropriations for government operations through Nov. 15, 2013.” The motion to block consideration of the bill passed 230-194. [HJ Res 70, Vote #512, 10/02/13; CQ, 10/2/13]

Valadao Voted For Continuing Resolution That Caused A Government Shutdown

Valadao Voted For Continuing Resolution That Would Have Funded The Government Through December
15, Delayed The Individual Mandate, And Required Congress To Buy Insurance Through The ACA Exchanges. In September 2013, Valadao voted for: “Rogers, R-Ky., motion to recede from House amendments and concur in the Senate amendment with an additional House amendment to the joint resolution that would provide fiscal 2014 continuing appropriations. The House amendment would fund the government until Dec. 15, 2013, and delay for one year a requirement in the 2010 health care overhaul that all individuals purchase health insurance or pay a tax penalty. It also would require the president, vice president, members of Congress, congressional staff and political appointees to purchase health insurance through the health care law’s state insurance exchanges and would limit the subsidies they may receive for purchasing insurance.” The resolution passed 228-201. [HJ Res 59, Vote
#504, 9/30/13; CQ, 9/30/13]

- House Republican Plan Virtually Guaranteed a Government Shutdown By Continuing To Demand That The Funding Bill Undermine The Affordable Care Act. “The U.S. government began to shut down for the first time in 17 years early Tuesday, after a Congress bitterly divided over President Obama’s signature healthcare initiative failed to reach agreement to fund federal agencies. Hours before a midnight deadline, the Republican House passed its third proposal in two weeks to fund the government for a matter of weeks. Like the previous plans, the new one sought to undermine the Affordable Care Act, this time by delaying enforcement of the “individual mandate,” a cornerstone of the law that requires all Americans to obtain health insurance.” [Washington Post, 9/30/13]

Valadao Voted For Continuing Resolutions Leading Up To Funding Deadline That “ Likely Would Result”
In A Government Shutdown

Valadao Voted For Continuing Resolution That Was Funded The Government Through December 15 And Repealed The Medical Device Tax. In September 2013, Valadao voted for: “Rogers, R-Ky., motion to concur in the Senate amendment to the joint resolution that would provide fiscal 2014 continuing appropriations with a Paulsen, R-Minn., amendment that would repeal the 2.3 percent medical device tax included in the 2010 health care overhaul. It also would set the expiration date for the continuing appropriations to Dec. 15, 2013; bar authority for

- Washington Post: Repeal Of The Medical Device Tax Was A “Nonstarter” In The Senate. “Republicans have two demands they want fulfilled to avoid a government shutdown. The first is a one-year delay of Obamacare. The other is the repeal of Obamacare’s medical device tax. […] But the medical device tax? The priority has risen to the top of Republicans’ agenda despite the fact that repeal would have a relatively minor impact on Obamacare’s success. […] In the budget debate, repeal of the medical device tax is a nonstarter. While medical device tax repeal has gotten traction in previous congressional votes, don’t expect that to happen this time around. Senate Majority Leader Harry Reid (D-Nev.) put out a statement Saturday afternoon saying that Democrats would reject any changes to the Affordable Care Act that Republicans proposed.” [Washington Post, 9/28/13]

Valadao Voted For Continuing Resolution That Was Funded The Government Through December 15, Delayed Implementation Of The Affordable Care Act, And Allowed Companies To Opt Out Of Birth Control Coverage. In September 2013, Valadao voted for: “Rogers, R-Ky., motion to concur in the Senate amendment to the joint resolution that would provide fiscal 2014 continuing appropriations with a Blackburn, R-Tenn., amendment that would delay for one year implementation of any provision of the 2010 health care overhaul that would take effect between Oct. 1, 2013, and Dec. 31, 2014, including the individual mandate and the imposition or increase of specified taxes and fees. It also would allow companies and insurance providers until 2015 to opt out of mandated birth control coverage for religious or moral reasons, and bar appropriations and transfers from the Patient-Centered Outcomes Research Fund. It also would set the expiration date for the continuing appropriations to Dec. 15, 2013.” The resolution passed 231-192. [HJ Res 59, Vote #498, 9/29/13; CQ, 9/29/13]

- Senate Leadership Made Clear It Would Reject Any Continuing Resolution That Delayed The Affordable Care Act. “‘To be absolutely clear, the Senate will reject both the one-year delay of the Affordable Care Act and the repeal of the medical device tax,’ Reid said in that statement. ‘After weeks of futile political games from Republicans, we are still at square one: Republicans must decide whether to pass the Senate’s clean CR, or force a Republican government shutdown.’” [Washington Post, 9/28/13]

Valadao Voted For Continuing Resolution That Would Have Funded The Government Through December 15 And Defunded The Affordable Care Act. In September 2013, Valadao voted for: “Passage of the joint resolution that would provide continuing appropriations through Dec. 15, 2013 for government operations that would reflect an annual discretionary level of about $986.3 billion. It also would defund the 2010 health care overhaul and allow the U.S. Treasury, once the statutory debt limit is reached, to continue borrowing over the debt limit until Dec. 15, 2014. Funds could only be used to pay the principal and interest on both government debt held by the public and on obligations to the Social Security trust fund.” According to the Associated Press, The bill passed 230-189. [HJ Res 59, Vote #478, 9/20/13; CQ, 9/20/13]

- The Plan Was Known To Be A Nonstarter In The Senate, But Moved Forward Because Of Pressure From House Conservatives. “Mr. Boehner knows that the plan he unveiled cannot pass the Senate, and that it may prove unwise politically and economically. His leadership team pressed just last week for an alternative. But with conservative forces uniting against him, he ultimately saw no alternative but to capitulate — and few good options to stop a government shutdown in two weeks.” [New York Times, 9/18/13]

- Associated Press: Any Spending Bill That Attempted To Defund The Affordable Care Act “Likely Would Result” In A Government Shutdown. “A letter from 80 Republicans asked Speaker John Boehner, R-Ohio, to resist any spending bills that would accommodate the new health care law, which is nearing a critical stage of signing up millions of Americans for health coverage. Because it’s virtually certain that President Barack Obama and the Democratic-controlled Senate would reject such demands, leaders of both parties say the standoff likely would result in a partial shutdown of the federal government, similar to those that occurred in 1995 and 1996.” [Associated Press, 8/23/13]

Debt Limit

Valadao Voted Against Raising The Debt Limit By $2.5 Trillion; Failure To Lift The Debt Limit Would Have Destroyed 6 Million Jobs And $15 Million In Household Wealth

Valadao Voted Against Raising The Debt Limit By $2.5 Trillion. In December 2021 Valadao voted against: “Passage of the resolution that would increase the statutory limit on federal debt by $2.5 trillion.” The bill passed by a vote of 221-209. [S. J. Res. 33, Vote #449, 12/15/21; CQ, 12/15/21]

- Congress Passed A Debt Limit Increase Early The Day The Debt Limit Would Have Been Reached. “Congress early Wednesday voted to raise the nation's debt limit by $2.5 trillion, officially staving off default and the economic peril that would come if the U.S. were unable to pay its bills. […] Lawmakers managed to get the measure passed just in time to avoid an economic scare. Treasury Secretary Janet Yellen told lawmakers she estimated the United States would reach its debt ceiling by Wednesday. If lawmakers didn't address the debt limit by then, the U.S. would have defaulted on its debts for the first time, which could lead to a global recession, Treasury Department officials and experts said.” [USA Today, 12/15/21]

Valadao Voted Against Considering Raising The Debt Limit By $2.5 Trillion. In December 2021 Valadao voted against: “Adoption of the rule (H Res 852) that would provide for House floor consideration of the resolution to increase the debt limit (S J Res 33). The rule would provide for up to one hour of debate on the bill.” The rule was adopted by a vote of 220-212. [H. Res. 852, Vote #446, 12/14/21; CQ, 12/14/21]

Failure To Raise The Debt Limit Would Spark A “Cataclysmic” Economic Crisis Destroying 6 Million Jobs And $15 Trillion In Household Wealth

Moody's Analytics: If Congress Failed To Raise The Debt Limit, The U.S. Economy Would Lose 6 Million Jobs And $15 Trillion In Household Wealth And The Unemployment Rate Would Surge To 9 Percent. “The United States could plunge into an immediate recession if Congress fails to raise the debt ceiling and the country defaults on its payment obligations this fall, according to one analysis released Tuesday. Mark Zandi, chief economist at Moody’s Analytics, found that a prolonged impasse over the debt ceiling would cost the U.S. economy up to 6 million jobs, wipe out as much as $15 trillion in household wealth, and send the unemployment rate surging to roughly 9 percent from around 5 percent.” [Washington Post, 9/21/21]

- Washington Post: Failing To Raise The Debt Limit Threatened $20 Billion In Social Security Payments For Seniors. “If Congress fails to increase the debt limit, Treasury would be unable to pay debts as they come due. Treasury Secretary Janet L. Yellen said earlier this week that such a default would be unprecedented in U.S. history. Moody’s ‘best estimate’ is that this date is Oct. 20, although Treasury has not given a more precise day. At that point, Treasury officials would face excruciating choices, such as whether to fail to pay $20 billion owed to seniors on Social Security, or to fail to pay bondholders of U.S. debt — a decision that could undermine faith in U.S. credit and permanently drive federal borrowing costs higher.” [Washington Post, 9/21/21]

• Washington Post: Failing To Raise The Debt Limit Would Raise Consumer Costs And Interest Rates And Lead To A Long-Term Decline In The U.S. Dollar. “Failure to raise the debt limit would have catastrophic impacts on global financial markets. Interest rates would spike as investors demand a higher rate of return for the risk of taking on U.S. debt given uncertainty about repayment. An increase in interest rates would ripple through the economy, raising costs not only for taxpayers but also for consumers and other borrowers. The value of the U.S. dollar would also decline long term as investors questioned the security of purchasing U.S. treasuries. The cost of auto and home loans would rise.” [Washington Post, 9/21/21]

Valadao Voted Six Times To Raise The Debt Limit

NOTE: The following includes all votes to raise the debt limit from 2011 to present. For previous votes, see the Congressional Research Service summary: Votes on Measures to Adjust the Statutory Debt Limit, 1978 to Present

2018: Valadao Voted For A Continuing Resolution That Suspended The Debt Limit Through March 2019. In February 2018, Valadao voted for: “Frelinghuysen, R-N.J., motion to concur in the Senate amendment to the House amendment to the Senate amendment to the bill that would provide funding for federal government operations and services at current levels through March 23, 2018. The bill would increase defense spending caps to $629 billion for fiscal 2018 and $647 billion for fiscal 2019, and would increase non-defense spending caps by $63 billion in fiscal 2018 and $68 billion in fiscal 2019. It would suspend the debt ceiling through March 1, 2019, and would provide $89.3 billion in emergency supplemental funding including $23.5 billion in funding for the Federal Emergency Management Agency Disaster Relief Fund, $28 billion in funding to the Department of Housing and Urban Development Community Development Fund, and $4.9 billion in additional Medicaid funding for Puerto Rico and the U.S. Virgin Islands. It would authorize funding for community health centers through fiscal 2019, and would provide for an additional authorization of the Children’s Health Insurance Program from fiscal 2023 to fiscal 2027. The underlying bill would allow the governor of a state, territory, possession or the mayor of the District of Columbia to order that the United States flag be flown at half-staff to honor the death of a first responder who dies while serving in the line of duty.” [HR 1892, Vote #69, 2/9/18; CQ, 2/9/18]

2017: Valadao Voted For Suspending The Public Debt Limit For Three Months. In September 2017, Valadao voted for: “Frelinghuysen, R-N.J., motion to concur in the Senate amendment to the House amendment to the Senate amendment to the bill that would make available $15.25 billion in emergency supplemental funding for fiscal 2017 to partially cover the costs of responding to multiple natural disasters, including Hurricane Harvey. The measure would suspend the public debt limit from the bill’s date of enactment until Dec. 8, 2017, and would provide for government operations to be funded at fiscal 2017 levels until Dec. 8, 2017.” The motion passed, 316-90. [H R 601, Vote #480, 9/8/17; CQ, 9/8/17]

2015: Valadao Said He Would Consider Voting For Clean Debt Hike. “Only 16 House Republicans who are currently in office backed the last ‘clean’ debt hike, and few of them will say they are certain to support it this year. If the debt ceiling is raised with a clean hike — a distinct possibility given Democratic demands and the narrow, 52-seat majority for the GOP in the Senate — Republicans will need at least 24 members of their own conference to back a clean debt bill in the House. That could be a tall order. Only four of the 16 Republicans who voted for the clean debt hike in 2014 suggest they will or are open to doing so this fall. … Only four of the 16 House Republicans who backed the clean debt ceiling in 2014 suggested they would consider voting for a clean debt hike this year: Reps. Charlie Dent (Pa.), Darrel Issa (Calif.), Pete King (N.Y.) and David Valadao (Calif.).” [The Hill, 7/03/17]

2015: Valadao Voted For The Bipartisan Budget Act That Suspected The Debt Limit Until March 2017. “Rogers, R-Ky., motion to concur in the Senate amendment to the bill with a modified Boehner amendment that would replace the bill with legislation that would suspend the debt limit until March 15, 2017 and increase the discretionary spending cap for fiscal 2016 by $50 billion and for fiscal 2017 by $30 billion, with the increases split equally between defense and non-defense spending. Offsets through mandatory spending cuts and revenue increases would include increasing premiums companies pay to the Pension Benefit Guarantee Corporation to insure private pension plans, the sale of oil from the Strategic Petroleum Reserve, and changes to the federal crop insurance program. It would prevent an estimated 52 percent premium increase for certain Medicare beneficiaries and instead provide for a lower increase, and would make changes to keep the Social Security disability insurance trust solvent until 2022.” [HR 1314, Vote #579, 10/28/15; CQ, 10/28/15]

2014: Valadao Voted For The Temporary Debt Limit Extension Act That Increased The Debt Limit Through March 2015. In February 2014, Valadao voted for: “Passage of the bill that would suspend the current statutory limit on federal borrowing authority for one year, through March 15, 2015. Under the bill, on March 16, 2015, a new statutory debt limit would automatically be re-established and set at increased levels to reflect any additional federal borrowing that had occurred in order to make payments up to that point on government obligations.” [S 540, Vote #61, 2/11/14; CQ, 2/11/14]

2013: Valadao Voted For Continuing Appropriations Bill That Increased The Debt Limit Through February 2014. In May 2014, Valadao voted for: “Rogers, R-Ky., motion to recede from House amendments and concur in the Senate amendment to the bill that would require the Health and Human Services Department to verify the income qualifications of people who apply for tax subsidies under the 2010 health care overhaul. The Senate amendment would provide continuing appropriations for government operations through Jan. 15, 2014, reflecting an annual discretionary level of about $986 billion. It would allow federal borrowing to continue through Feb. 7, 2014, after the president certifies that the U.S. Treasury cannot pay its obligations and would set up an expedited process for Congress to consider resolutions of disapproval for the debt limit increase authorized by the bill. It also would provide for retroactive pay for federal employees who worked through the government shutdown that began on Oct. 1, 2013 and for workers furloughed during that time.” The bill passed 285-144. [HR 2775, Vote #550; 10/16/13 CQ, 10/16/13]

2013: Valadao Voted For No Budget, No Pay Act That Suspended Debt Limit Until May 2013. In January 2013, Valadao voted for: “Passage of the bill that would suspend the limit on government borrowing through May 18, 2013 and then automatically increase the current $16.4 trillion ceiling to accommodate additional debt accumulated through that date. It also would suspend the salary payments to members in either chamber that does not adopt a fiscal 2014 budget resolution by April 15, 2013. Salaries of members of a chamber that do not adopt a budget by that time would be placed into an escrow account and would not be released until the chamber adopted a budget or until the last day of the 113th Congress, in January 2015.” The bill passed 285-144. [HR 325, Vote #30, 1/23/13; CQ, 1/23/13]

Balanced Budget Amendment

2018: Valadao Voted For Proposing A Balanced Budget Amendment To The Constitution

Valadao Voted For Proposing A Balanced Budget Amendment To The Constitution. In April 2018, Valadao voted for: “Goodlatte, R-Va., motion to suspend the rules and pass the joint resolution that would propose a constitutional amendment that would require the U.S. government to operate under a balanced budget each year, beginning five years after ratification. Under the proposal, three-fifths of the entire House and Senate would be required to approve deficit spending or an increase in the public debt limit, but a simple majority would be sufficient to waive the requirement in times of congressionally declared war or in the face of a serious military threat.” The motion was rejected by a vote of 233-184. [H J Res 2, Vote #138, 4/12/18; CQ, 4/12/18]
• Center for American Progress: The Balanced-Budget Amendment Threatens Americans’ Health Care, Social Security, and Jobs [Center for American Progress, 4/11/18]

• AARP Opposed The Balanced Budget Amendment Because It Would “Likely Harm Social Security And Medicare, Subjecting Both Programs To Potentially Deep Cuts.” “AARP is writing to express our opposition to a balanced budget amendment to the Constitution of the United States. [...] A balanced budget amendment would likely harm Social Security and Medicare, subjecting both programs to potentially deep cuts without regard to the impact on the health and financial security of individuals. It would also likely diminish the resources available for programs assisting Americans who are least able to provide for themselves – services such as meals or heating for those who are too poor or physically unable to take care of their basic needs without some support.” [AARP, Letter, 4/9/18]

• A Balanced Budget Amendment Would Override All Government Guarantees And Promises Written Into Law – Including Social Security, Medicare, Veterans Benefits, And Military Pensions. “In general, a balanced budget requirement in the U.S. Constitution would override any and all government guarantees and promises written into law: the guarantee to pay interest on the debt; or to pay insurance and guarantee claims for bank deposits, floods, loan defaults, and nuclear accidents; or to pay program benefits for Social Security, Medicare, Medicaid, unemployment benefits, veterans’ benefits, or military and civil service pensions; or to pay contractors who have delivered goods or services to the federal government.” [CBPP, 3/16/18]

• Under A Balanced Budget Amendment, It Would Be Unconstitutional For Social Security To Use Its Savings – What Workers Already Paid In – To Pay Promised Benefits; Benefits Could Have To Be Cut. “Currently, Social Security holds $2.9 trillion in Treasury securities. But under the balanced budget amendment, it would essentially be unconstitutional for Social Security to draw down these savings to pay promised benefits. Instead, benefits could have to be cut, because all federal expenditures would have to be covered by tax revenues collected during that same year.” [CBPP, 3/16/18]

• Senator Corker: “Republicans Control The House, Senate And White House. If We Were Serious About Balancing The Budget, We Would Do It. But Instead Of Doing The Real Work, Some Will Push This Symbolic Measure So They Can Feel Good When They Go Home To Face Voters.” [Sen. Corker, Twitter, 3/29/18]

Valadao Voted For Blocking An Amendment To The Balanced Budget Amendment To Protect Social Security, Medicare, And Medicaid

Valadao Voted For Blocking An Amendment To The Balanced Budget Amendment To Protect Social Security, Medicare, And Medicaid. In April 2018, Valadao voted for: “Buck, R-Colo., motion to order the previous question (thus ending debate and possibility of amendment) on [...] providing for the speaker to entertain motions to suspend the rules on April 12, 2018, relating to the joint resolution (H J Res 2) that would propose a balanced budget amendment to the U.S. Constitution.” According to Rep. McGovern, “If we defeat the previous question, I will offer an amendment to the rule which would amend the bill to exempt Social Security, Medicare, and Medicaid, vital pillars of our social safety net.” A vote for the motion was a vote to block consideration of the amendment. The motion was agreed to by a vote of 231-186. [H Res 811, Vote #133, 4/11/18; CQ, 4/11/18; Congressional Record, H3018, 4/11/18]

…Valadao Voted Against Economic Relief For Others

Valadao Voted Against Concurring In The Senate Amendment To The American Rescue Plan Act. In March 2021, Valadao voted against: “Yarmuth, D-Ky., motion to concur in the Senate amendment to the bill comprising a $1.9 trillion coronavirus relief package to further address the health and economic effects of COVID-19, including approximately $362 billion in direct aid to state and local governments; $47.8 billion for testing and contact tracing; $168 billion to assist educational institutions; and $53.6 billion to assist small businesses. It would extend federal unemployment compensation benefits through Sept. 6, 2021; provide tax rebates of $1,400 for individuals with incomes of $75,000 or less; and extend or expand a number of employer and individual tax credits, including credits to subsidize health insurance premiums. The bill would provide direct assistance of $195.3 billion for states and $130.2 billion for local governments, as well as $10 billion for grants to states to support capital projects, such as broadband access. It would provide $122.8 billion for an Education Department elementary and secondary school emergency relief fund; $39.6 billion for grants to higher education institutions; $3 billion for education programs for individuals with disabilities and $2.75 billion for non-public schools. It would provide $39 billion for child care block grants to states. It would provide $27.8 billion for emergency rental assistance and housing vouchers, $10 billion for homeownership assistance and $5 billion for assistance to individuals experiencing homelessness. It would continue the 15% increase in Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program benefits through September 2021. It would provide over $92 billion for the Health and Human Services Department, including $47.8 billion for COVID-19 testing and contact tracing; $7.5 billion for vaccine administration and distribution; $6.1 billion for vaccine and therapeutic development, manufacturing and procurement; $7.6 billion to expand the public health workforce; $7.6 billion for community health centers; $6.1 billion for Native American health programs; and $3 billion for substance abuse and mental health block grant programs. It would provide $50 billion for the Federal Emergency Management Agency disaster relief fund; $14.5 billion for veterans' health care services; $10 billion for emergency medical supply production under the Defense Production Act; $8.7 billion for COVID-19 health response efforts overseas; and $200 million for Labor Department worker protection activities, including at least half for the Occupational Safety and Health Administration. It would extend federal unemployment compensation benefits of $300 per week through Sep. 6, 2021. It would provide an additional tax rebate of $1,400 for individuals with incomes of $75,000 or less, increased by $1,400 for each dependent. It would expand eligibility and increase the maximum earned income tax credit for childless adults and increase the child tax credit to $3,000 per child. It would expand and extend through September 2021 paid sick and family leave tax credits for employers. It would require Medicaid and the Children's Health Insurance Program to fully cover the cost of COVID-19 vaccines. It would provide for full federal subsidies of individual COBRA premiums and require the VA to waive health treatment copayments through September 2021. It would expand eligibility in 2021 and 2022 for federal tax subsidies toward Affordable Care Act marketplace insurance premiums, including to fully cover premium costs for individuals earning up to 150% of the federal poverty level and cap premiums at 8.5% of household income. It would provide for temporary increases in federal medical assistance percentages for certain services and eliminate the Medicaid drug rebate cap beginning in 2023. It would provide $50 billion for small business assistance, including $28.6 billion for restaurants and $7.25 billion for the Paycheck Protection Program. It would provide $4 billion for Agriculture Department pandemic-related assistance.” The motion was agreed to by a vote of 220-211. [HR 1319, Vote #72, 3/10/21; CQ, 3/10/21]
Valadao Voted Against Passage Of The American Rescue Plan Act. In February 2021, Valadao voted against: “Passage of the fiscal 2021 budget reconciliation bill, as amended, comprising a coronavirus relief package that would provide roughly $1.9 trillion in funding to further address the health and economic effects of COVID-19, including approximately $350 billion in direct aid to state and local governments; $47.8 billion for testing and contact tracing; $168 billion to assist educational institutions; and $50 billion to assist small businesses. It would extend and increase federal unemployment compensation benefits for 24 weeks and increase the weekly amount to $400; provide tax rebates of $1,400 for individuals with incomes of $75,000 or less; extend or expand a number of employer and individual tax credits, including credits to subsidize health insurance premiums; and gradually increase the federal minimum wage to $15 per hour. Among other provisions, the bill would provide $195.3 billion for direct assistance to states and $130.2 billion for local governments; $128.6 billion through fiscal 2023 for an Education Department elementary and secondary school emergency relief fund and $39.6 billion for grants to higher education institutions, including to provide emergency financial aid; and continue the 15% increase in Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program benefits through September 2021. It would provide $47.8 billion for COVID-19 testing and contact tracing; $7.5 billion for vaccine administration and distribution; and $6.1 billion for vaccine and therapeutic development, manufacturing and procurement. It would require Medicaid and the Children's Health Insurance Program to fully cover the cost of COVID-19 vaccines. It would expand eligibility in 2021 and 2022 for federal tax subsidies toward Affordable Care Act marketplace insurance premiums, including to fully cover premium costs for individuals earning up to 150% of the federal poverty level and cap premiums at 8.5% of household income. It would provide $50 billion for small business assistance, including $25 billion for restaurants. It would provide $30.5 billion for transit, $18 billion for airline and aviation manufacturing industry payroll support; and $4 billion for Agriculture Department pandemic-related assistance. It would incrementally increase the federal minimum wage annually to reach $15 per hour in 2025, including for tipped workers, teens and workers with disabilities. It would create a program to provide financial assistance to multiemployer pension plans.” The bill passed by a vote of 219-212. [HR 1319, Vote #49, 2/27/21; CQ, 2/27/21]

Valadao Claimed The $1.9 Trillion Covid Relief Package Left Rural Communities Behind. “The COVID relief bill is a slush fund that's little more than a liberal Democratic wish list. Too much is going to help cash-rich state and local governments. And the whole $1.9 trillion package costs much too much […] That's the unified, consistent, unmistakable message from California's 11 House Republicans. They all voted against the economic relief plan passed by the House Wednesday. They all also voted against the first version of the bill last month. Rep. David Valadao, R-Hanford, also said the bill was another example of leaving rural communities behind. ‘Just as we are seeing with vaccination distribution in our state, the Bay Area is once again receiving preferential treatment over rural communities thanks to Speaker Pelosi,’ Valadao said in a statement Wednesday. ‘This package will pay off most of San Francisco's $650 million budget deficit, while the Central Valley is struggling with nearly double the unemployment rates in San Francisco, a hurting economy, and bleak vaccination rates.’” [Sacramento Bee, 3/10/21]

Valadao Said The American Rescue Plan Was A “Giveaway” To The San Francisco Bay Area That Ignored The Rural Communities. “In response to House passage of the American Rescue Plan, the big COVID relief and economic stimulus bill, GOP Reps. Devin Nunes and David Valadao left no question about how they view their constituents, many of them among the poorest of Californians. To Nunes, the Tulare Republican, the $1.9 trillion measure is nothing more than a 'slush fund,' he told Fox News. Nevermind that his 22nd District has a 15.2% poverty rate. Meanwhile, Hanford's Valadao blasted the bill as a giveaway of federal largesse to House Speaker Nancy Pelosi's San Francisco district, while ignoring the millions that will come to his 21st District to help its poor residents. The 21st District's poverty rate: 23.4%.” [Fresno Bee, 3/11/21]

Valadao Claimed The $1.9 COVID Relief Package Only Gave 9% To COVID Relief. “The Democrats are playing hyper-partisan politics with a global pandemic. Read my statement on why I voted no on the $1.9 trillion
COVID-19 "relief" package that actually only gives 9% to COVID relief below.” [Rep. David Valadao Twitter, 1/25/21]

Through The American Rescue Plan, California Received $43.5 Million In Economic Impact Payments And Valadao’s District Received $49.1 Million In Child Tax Credit Payments

The American Rescue Plan Provided $1,400 Direct Payments, Aid To State And Local Governments, Schools, And Small Businesses, An Expanded Child Tax Credit, And Vaccine Distribution Funds

The American Rescue Plan Provided $1,400 Direct Payments, Aid To State And Local Governments, Schools, And Small Businesses, An Expanded Child Tax Credit, And Vaccine Distribution Funds. “President Biden signed the $1.9 trillion American Rescue Plan Act into law on Thursday, finalizing an early policy victory that will send much-needed aid to millions of Americans still struggling from the COVID-19 pandemic. […] The American Rescue Plan provides $1,400 direct payments to individuals making up to $75,000 annually, $350 billion in aid to state and local governments and $14 billion for vaccine distribution. The bill also provides $130 billion to elementary, middle and high schools to assist with safe reopening. […] It includes an additional $300 billion in weekly jobless benefits through September and an expanded tax credit of up to $3,600 per child, initially distributed in monthly installments. The child tax credit could raise 4 million children out of poverty, according to an analysis by the Center on Budget and Policy Priorities. More than $50 billion will be distributed to small businesses, including $7 billion for the Paycheck Protection Program. The bill also provides $25 billion for relief for small and mid-sized restaurants, which have suffered significantly during the pandemic.” [CBS News, 3/12/21]

Economic Impact Payments

Individuals In California Received $43.5 Million In Third Round Economic Impact Payments Of Up To $1,400 Through The American Rescue Plan. California received $43.5 million in Third Round Economic Impact Payments through The American Rescue Plan Act: “The U.S. Department of the Treasury and the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) released state-by-state data through early June for the 163.5 million Economic Impact Payments (EIPs) totaling nearly $390 billion received by individuals through the American Rescue Plan Act. With this round of payments, the IRS and the Bureau of the Fiscal Service (BFS) have delivered more EIPs and more total direct relief than in any previous round of direct relief. All 50 states saw more total relief with this round of payments than in previous rounds. […] The EIPs under the American Rescue Plan included payments of up to $1,400 per qualifying dependent, a significant increase over the $500 and $600 per qualifying child from the first and second rounds of payments, respectively.” [Department of the Treasury, Press Release, 6/29/21]

Child Tax Credit

According To Estimates From The Joint Economic Committee Made Using State-Level Data From The Treasury, California’s 21st District Received $49.1 Million In Child Tax Credit Payments As Of August 2021. According to estimates from the Joint Economic Committee, California’s 21st district had received $49.1 million in Child Tax Credit payments as of August 2021: “Using state-level data from the Treasury Department on advance Child Tax Credit (CTC) payments, the Joint Economic Committee estimated the number of qualifying children, total number of payments, and total payment amount by congressional district in August 2021, when the second round of CTC payments was distributed.” [Joint Economic Committee, 9/9/21; Joint Economic Committee, Estimates of Advance Child Tax Credit Distribution by Congressional District, 9/9/21]

- JEC Analysis Showed The CTC Had Dramatically Reduced Food Insecurity And Financial Hardship, And Was Expected To Inject Nearly $19.3 Billion Into Local Economies Each Month. “JEC analysis of data from the Census Bureau show the expanded CTC is already having a major impact on family budgets, with dramatic declines in food insufficiency and financial hardship, and the JEC estimates that monthly CTC payments will inject nearly $19.3 billion into local economies each month. The expanded CTC will generate nearly $19.3 billion in spending in local economies across the U.S. each month. Family finances improved significantly following the first monthly expanded CTC payments in July. Data from the Census Bureau show that following the July payments, there were significant declines in the share of households with children reporting financial hardship and food insufficiency. Families are using the expanded CTC payments to meet the needs of their household. Among those who responded to the Census Bureau’s survey: 47% spent their CTC payment on food, 28% spent it on internet and other utilities, 26% spent it on school expenses, and 17% of those with at least one child under age 5 spent it on child care.” [Joint Economic Committee, 9/9/21]

As Of August 2021, California Received $1.7 Billion In Child Tax Credit Payments As Part Of The American Rescue Plan. As of August 2021, California had received $1.7 billion in Child Tax Credit payments: “The U.S. Department of the Treasury and the Internal Revenue Service announced today that more than $15 billion were paid to families that include roughly 61 million eligible children in the second monthly payment of the expanded and newly-advanceable Child Tax Credit from the American Rescue Plan passed in March. [...] Eligible families received a payment of up to $300 per month for each child under age 6 and up to $250 per month for each child age 6 to 17. This tax relief is having a real impact on the lives of America’s children. According to the Census Bureau’s Household Pulse Survey data released earlier this week, parents reported having less trouble covering the costs of food and other household expenses after receiving their first CTC payment. The share of families reporting that they sometimes or often did not have enough to eat in the past week dropped to the lowest percentage since the pandemic began. Parents are using their CTC payments to pay for basics for their kids.” [Department of the Treasury, Press Release, 8/13/21]

Small Business Support – Shuttered Venue Operators Grants

As Of December 2021, California Received $2,079,869,719 Billion In Shuttered Venues Operators Grants To Help Live Venues, Museums, And Theaters Stay Open As Part Of The American Rescue Plan. As of September 2021, California had received $2,079,869,719 million/billion in Shuttered Venues Operators Grants as part of the American Rescue Plan Act: “The Shuttered Venue Operators Grant (SVOG) program was established by the Economic Aid to Hard-Hit Small Businesses, Nonprofits, and Venues Act, and amended by the American Rescue Plan Act. The program includes over $16 billion in grants to shuttered venues, to be administered by SBA’s Office of Disaster Assistance. Eligible applicants may qualify for grants equal to 45% of their gross earned revenue, with the maximum amount available for a single grant award of $10 million. $2 billion is reserved for eligible applications with up to 50 full-time employees. […] Eligible entities include: live venue operators or promoters, theatrical producers, live performing arts organization operators, museum operators, motion picture theater operators (including owners), talent representatives.” [SBA Shuttered Venue Operators Grant Program Reports, 12/27/21; SBA accessed 9/8/21]

Elementary And Secondary School Emergency Relief

California Received $15,079,696,097 Billion In Elementary And Secondary School Emergency Relief Through The American Rescue Plan To Help Safely Reopen Schools. California received $15,079,696,097 million/billion in Elementary and Secondary School Emergency Relief through the American Rescue Plan: “This document outlines the American Rescue Plan Elementary and Secondary School Emergency Relief (ARP ESSER) Fund under the American Rescue Plan (ARP) Act of 2021, Public Law 117-2, enacted on March 11, 2021. ARP ESSER provides a total of nearly $122 billion to States and school districts to help safely reopen and sustain the safe operation of schools and address the impact of the coronavirus pandemic on the nation’s students. In addition to ARP ESSER, the ARP Act includes $3 billion for special education, $850 million for the Outlying Areas, $2.75 billion to support non-public schools, and additional funding for homeless children and youth, Tribal educational agencies, Native Hawaiians, and Alaska Natives.” [ARP ESSER Methodology and Allocation Table Revised, 6/25/21; Department of Education, Fact Sheet, 3/17/21]

Coronavirus State And Local Fiscal Recovery Funds

California Received $27,017,016,860.10 Billion In Coronavirus State And Local Fiscal Recovery Funds As Part Of The American Rescue Plan To Help Governments Respond To The Pandemic And Bring Back Jobs. California Received $27,017,016,860.10 Billion in Coronavirus State and Local Fiscal Recovery Funds as part of the American Rescue Plan: “The American Rescue Plan will deliver $350 billion for eligible state, local, territorial, and Tribal governments to respond to the COVID-19 emergency and bring back jobs. […] Recipients may use these funds to: support public health expenditures, by, for example, funding COVID-19 mitigation efforts, medical expenses, behavioral healthcare, and certain public health and safety staff, address negative economic impacts caused by the public health emergency, including economic harms to workers, households, small businesses, impacted industries, and the public sector, replace lost public sector revenue, using this funding to provide government services to the extent of the reduction in revenue experienced due to the pandemic, provide premium pay for essential workers, offering additional support to those who have and will bear the greatest health risks because of their service in critical infrastructure sectors, invest in water, sewer, and broadband infrastructure, making necessary investments to improve access to clean drinking water, support vital wastewater and stormwater infrastructure, and to expand access to broadband internet, within these overall categories, recipients have broad flexibility to decide how best to use this funding to meet the needs of their communities. Coronavirus State And Local Fiscal Recovery Funds – Law Enforcement

The American Rescue Plan Provided $350 Billion In State And Local Funding To Hire Law Enforcement Officials, Pay Overtime For Community Policing, And Restore Law Enforcement To Pre-Pandemic Levels. “Today, the Treasury Department is highlighting that communities experiencing a surge in gun violence as a result of the pandemic may use the American Rescue Plan’s $350 billion in state and local funding for purposes such as: Hiring law enforcement officials – even above pre-pandemic levels – or paying overtime where the funds are directly focused on advancing community policing strategies in those communities experiencing an increase in gun violence associated with the pandemic. […] In addition, the Treasury Department is clarifying that any community may use ARP state and local aid for the above strategies and any other public safety programs, up to the level of revenue loss the jurisdiction experienced during the pandemic. And any community may use ARP funds to rehire police officers and other public servants to restore law enforcement and courts to their pre-pandemic levels.” [White House, Press Release, 6/23/21]

Department Of The Treasury: “There Are Many Ways In Which The State And Local Fiscal Recovery Funds […] Can Support Communities Working To Reduce And Respond To Increased Violence.” “Under Treasury’s Interim Final Rule, there are many ways in which the State and Local Fiscal Recovery Funds (“Funds”) under the American Rescue Plan Act can support communities working to reduce and respond to increased violence due to the pandemic. [...] In all communities, recipients may use resources to rehire police officers and other public servants to restore law enforcement and courts to their pre-pandemic levels. [...] In communities where an increase in violence or increased difficulty in accessing or providing services to respond to or mitigate the effects of violence, is a result of the pandemic they may use funds to address that harm. This spending may include: Hiring law enforcement officials – even above pre-pandemic levels – or paying overtime where the funds are directly focused on advancing community policing strategies in those communities experiencing an increase in gun violence associated with the pandemic or Community Violence Intervention (CVI) programs, including capacity building efforts at CVI programs like funding and training additional intervention workers.” [Department of the Treasury, 7/19/21]

Biden: “The American Rescue Plan, Which We Passed In The First 100 Days Of My Administration, Is Providing Much-Needed, Historic Relief To Bring Back Those Law Enforcement Jobs.” President Biden: “The American Rescue Plan, which we passed in the first 100 days of my administration, is providing much-needed, historic relief to bring back those law enforcement jobs and social service jobs. Much of this relief has already arrived. The rest is on its way. And we’re now providing more guidance on how they can use the $350 billion nationally that the American Rescue Plan has available to help reduce crime and address the root causes. For example, cities experiencing an increase in gun violence were able to use the American Rescue Plan dollars to hire police officers needed for community policing and to pay their overtime. Mayors will also be able to buy crime-fighting technologies, like gunshot detection systems, to better see and stop gun violence in their communities. They can use the funding to scale up wraparound services for the residents as well, including substance abuse and mental health services that we know will make a difference in prevention of crime.” [White House, 6/23/21]

Local Newspaper Editorials Slammed Valadao’s Vote Against The American Rescue Plan And Said He “Voted Against Basic Relief For Families And Businesses Suffering From The Effects Of A Global Pandemic”

Fresno Bee Editorial: “By Their Votes On The Relief Act, Nunes And Valadao Decided To Play Inside-The-Beltway Politics Of Over Making A Real Difference On Main Street.” “Valadao’s district covers all of Kings County and parts of Fresno, Tulare and Kern counties. Per-capita annual income? Just $17,875. That’s less than half the California and national figures. Annual median household income? Only $46,037. That’s just three-fifths of the California total, two-thirds of the national figure. Simply put, the San Joaquin Valley is a poor part of California. Wages are low, health care is limited and educational attainment lags behind. Congressional representatives have the duty to seek to make things better for their constituents. By their votes on the relief act, Nunes and Valadao decided to play inside-the-Beltway politics of over making a real difference on Main Street.” [Fresno Bee, Editorial, 3/11/21]

Sacramento Bee Editorial: “These Men Represent A Region That Was Already Hard-Hit By Poverty Before COVID. Yet They Just Voted Against Basic Relief For Families And Businesses Suffering From The Effects Of A Global Pandemic.” “President Joe Biden today signed a $1.9 trillion stimulus package designed to help Americans struggling with economic losses due to the COVID-19 pandemic. Every single Republican member of Congress voted against the American Rescue Plan. This includes the Central Valley region's Rep. Doug LaMalfa,
R- Richvale, Rep. Kevin McCarthy, R-Bakersfield, Rep. Tom McClintock, R-Elk Grove, Devin Nunes, R-Tulare, and David Valadao, R-Handford. Valadao Urged President Biden To Set Aside Vaccines Mandates And Said The Federal Mandate Would Be “Financially And Administratively Burdensome” For Organizations To Implement. “As the clock ticks for federal employees and contractors to get fully vaccinated against COVID-19 by Jan. 4 or face weekly testing, Rep. David Valadao sent a letter Monday calling on President Joe Biden to set aside the mandates for economic reasons. The Hanford Republican representing California's 21st Congressional District said he had ‘serious concerns’ with Biden's executive orders on the matter, saying that although he believes in vaccines and the science behind them, the federal mandates will be ‘financially and administratively burdensome’ for organizations subject to the orders.” [Bakersfield Californian, 11/29/21]

February 2021: Valadao Co-Authored A Letter To Governor Gavin Newsom Urging Him To Establish Multiple COVID-19 Vaccination Sites In California’s Central Valley. “Today, Congressman David G. Valadao, Leader Kevin McCarthy, Congressman Jim Costa, Congressman Devin Nunes, and Congressman Josh Harder sent a letter to Governor Gavin Newsom and Acting FEMA Administrator Robert Fenton strongly urging the establishment of multiple COVID-19 vaccination sites in California’s Central Valley. Governor Newsom recently announced two community vaccination sites in Alameda and Los Angeles Counties, though those two counties already have far higher vaccination rates than Central Valley counties. While Governor Newsom later indicated the intent to establish a vaccination site in the Valley, low vaccination rates demonstrate the need for multiple sites throughout the region. ‘I am encouraged that the state has indicated intent to establish a COVID-19 vaccination site in the Central Valley, but one is not enough to meet the needs of our communities’ said Congressman David G. Valadao.” [U.S. Congressman David G. Valadao, Press Release, 2/10/21]

David Valadao said he has tested positive for COVID-19. Valadao shared the news on Twitter Friday afternoon. He said a rapid antigen test on Thursday afternoon came back positive. ‘I am now waiting for the results from my PCR test, which takes longer and is more accurate,’ he wrote. ‘I will stay home in the meantime.’” [Bakersfield Californian, 1/1/21]
Consumer Issues & Regulations

Significant Findings

- Valadao voted against the Consumer Protection and Recovery Act, which authorized the Federal Trade Commission to take legal action against any person, partnership or corporation that violated consumer protection law in the preceding 10 years.

- Valadao received $68,075 in campaign contributions from the telecommunications industry, and repeatedly voted in their favor against consumers’ interests.
  - Valadao voted repeatedly to block rules requiring ISPs to protect the privacy of internet customers.
  - Valadao voted to nullify an FCC rule that required internet service providers to obtain permission from customers before using personal information.

- Valadao voted against congressional disapproval of the Trump administration’s third-party lending rule that opponents argued left consumers vulnerable to predatory “rent-a-bank” schemes.

- Valadao voted for a bill to allow industries to influence pending regulations without public knowledge.

Consumer Protection And Recovery Act

Valadao Voted Against The Consumer Protection And Recovery Act, Authorizing The Federal Trade Commission To Take Legal Action Against Any Person, Partnership Or Corporation That Violated Consumer Protection Law In The Preceding 10 Years

Valadao Voted Against The Consumer Protection And Recovery Act, Authorizing The Federal Trade Commission To Take Legal Action Against Any Person, Partnership Or Corporation That Violated Consumer Protection Law In The Preceding 10 Years. In July 2021, Valadao voted against: “Passage of the bill that would authorize certain legal action by the Federal Trade Commission for legal violations under its jurisdiction and redress for such violations. Specifically, it would authorize the agency to take legal action in federal court against a person, partnership or corporation that has violated consumer protection law in the preceding 10 years. It would allow the FTC to seek in such cases restitution for losses, contract rescission or reform, money refund or property return, and disgorgement, or legally mandated repayment, of unjust enrichment that a person, partnership or corporation obtained from such a violation.” The bill passed 221 to 205. [HR 2668, Vote #214, 7/20/21; CQ, 7/20/21]

Valadao Voted For Blocking A Bill To Subject Providers Of Broadband Internet Access To Privacy Rules Adopted By The FCC In October Of 2016. In July 2017, Valadao voted for: “Byrne, R-Ala., motion to order the previous question (thus ending debate and possibility of amendment) on the rule (H Res 431) that would provide for House floor consideration of the bill (HR 2810).” According to the Democratic Leader’s office, the motion prevented “consideration of the bill (H.R. 1868) to provide that providers of broadband Internet access service shall be subject to the privacy rules adopted by the Federal Communications Commission on October 27, 2016.” A vote for the previous question was a vote to block consideration of HR 1868. The motion passed, 234-183. [H Res 431, Vote #347, 7/12/17; CQ, 7/12/17; DemocraticLeader.gov, 7/12/17]

2017: Valadao Voted To Block A Bill To Reinstate FCC Rules Protecting The Privacy Of Broadband Customers. In May 2017, Valadao voted for “Byrne, R-Ala., motion to order the previous question (thus ending debate and possibility of amendment) on the rule (H Res 299).” Upon defeat of the motion, Democrats planned to offer an, “amendment to the Rule, which would make in order Ms. Rosen of Nevada’s bill, H.R. 1868. H.R. 1868 would reinstate the Federal Communications Commission’s rules adopted on October 27, 2016 that protect the privacy of broadband customers.” A vote yes was a vote to block the Democratic amendment. The motion was agreed to by a vote of 233-190. [HR 1868 (H.Res 299), Vote #240, 5/2/17; CQ, 5/2/17]

Valadao Voted To Nullify An FCC Rule That Required Internet Service Providers To Obtain Permission From Customers Before Using Personal Information

Valadao Voted For Nullifying A Rule Requiring Internet Providers To Obtain Permission From Customers Before Using Or Selling Their Sensitive Information. In March 2017, Valadao voted for “passage of the joint resolution that would disapprove and nullify a Federal Communications Commission rule that requires broadband internet service providers to obtain affirmative permission from customers to use or share their sensitive information, such as web browsing history, geolocation information, content of communications and Social Security numbers; to take reasonable measures to secure customer information; and to notify customers, the commission and law enforcement when a data breach occurs that could result in harm.” The resolution passed (thus cleared for the president) by a vote of 215-205. A “yea” was a vote in support of the president’s position. [SJRes 34, Vote #202, 3/28/17; CQ, 3/28/17]

Third-Party Lending

Valadao Voted Against Congressional Disapproval Of The Trump Administration’s Third-Party Lending Rule. In June 2021, Valadao Voted Against: “Passage of the joint resolution that would provide for congressional disapproval of an October 2020 Office of the Comptroller of the Currency rule stating that national banks are considered the ‘true lender’ of a loan if, at the date of the loan's origination, the bank funds the loan or is named as lender in the loan agreement, including in the case of loans issued in partnerships between banks and third parties, such as online financial firms. The rule went into effect on Dec. 29, 2020, and effectively allows nonbank lenders to offer loans not subject to higher state interest rate caps by originating loans in partnership with a national bank in another state. Under the provisions of the joint resolution, the October 2020 rule would have no force or effect.” The resolution passed, 218-208. [SJ Res 15, Vote #181, 6/24/21; CQ, 6/24/21]

- Opponents Of The Rule Argued That It Left Consumers Vulnerable To Predatory “Rent-A-Bank” Schemes. “But Democrats — along with a coalition of consumer protection and faith groups — have fiercely opposed the rule, claiming it leaves customers vulnerable to predatory ‘rent-a-bank’ schemes. ‘States are taking measures to protect their constituents their consumers against these end-runs around their laws designed to prohibit these predatory practices. But last October, in the middle of the pandemic, when many working families were plunged into economic uncertainty and turmoil, the Trump administration gave these rent-a-bank schemes a free pass to exploit these loopholes,’ said Sen. Chris Van Hollen (D-Md.), sponsor of the resolution to repeal the rule.” [The Hill, 5/11/21]

- “Rent-A-Bank” Schemes Were When “A Lender Temporarily Partners With A Bank To Evade Interest Rate Caps And Then Severs The Partnership After Taking Ownership Of The Loan.” “The OCC clamped down during the 2000s on rent-a-bank schemes, in which a lender temporarily partners with a bank to evade interest rate caps and then severs the partnership after taking ownership of the loan. Critics of the true lender rule say it will allow such schemes to flourish, particularly as nonbank online lenders make up a larger portion of the financial system.” [The Hill, 5/11/21]

Industry Regulation

Valadao Voted For The Unfunded Mandates Information And Transparency Act, Which Required Federal Agencies To Analyze Their Regulatory Effects On Industries And To Meet With These Stakeholders. In July 2018, Valadao voted for: “Passage of the bill that would require independent agencies to conduct analyses of their proposed rules and the effect thereof on the private sector and on state and local governments. The bill would require that independent federal regulatory agencies, except for the Federal Reserve, conduct unfunded mandate analyses of their proposed rules and would require all agencies that conduct unfunded mandate reviews, including both independent and non-independent federal agencies, to consult with private-sector stakeholders on the potential impact of regulations being developed. The bill would also require federal agencies, if requested by a committee chairman or ranking member, to conduct retrospective unfunded mandate analyses of existing regulations. The bill would transfer authority for oversight of UMRA activities to the Office of Information and Regulatory Affairs within the Office of Management and Budget.” The bill passed, 230-168. [H R 50, Vote #328, 7/13/18; CQ, 7/13/18]

- The Bill Would Require Agencies To Alert And Solicit Feedback From Regulated Industries Before Notifying The Public; Business Could Block New Regulations Without Any Broader Public Knowledge. “The Unfunded Mandates and Information Transparency Act would require federal agencies to alert regulated industries when they are considering drafting a rule and solicit their feedback – before the public learns there may be a rule under consideration. Businesses could block even a hypothetical future rule and the public might never find out.” [Coalition For Sensible Safeguards, accessed 7/13/18]
Significant Findings

- Valadao voted against the America COMPETES Act that would bolster the supply chain and increase U.S. manufacturing of “critical” goods and reduce the U.S.’s technological dependence on Asia.

- Valadao praised the passage of the Ocean Shipping Reform Act, which he co-sponsored.

- Valadao co-sponsored the Truckers Responding at National Shipping Ports Overcoming Retail Turmoil Act (TRANSPORT Act) to relieve congested ports.

- Valadao voted for an amendment to commission a study measuring inflation’s economic impact on the United States.

- Valadao voted for an amendment to update ocean shipping regulations to address supply chain shortages.

- Valadao voted for updating ocean shipping requirements and requiring the Federal Maritime Commission to address effects of supply chain shortages on shipping services.

- Valadao voted against an amendment to increase small business participation in government contracts.

Supply Chain

Valadao Voted Against Considering The America COMPETES Act That Would Bolster The Supply Chain And Increase U.S. Manufacturing Of “Critical” Goods And Reduce The U.S.’s Technological Dependence On Asia

Valadao Voted Against The America COMPETES Act To Increase The U.S.’s Global Competitiveness. In February 2022 Valadao voted against: “Passage of the bill, as amended, comprising a package of provisions related to scientific research and development and international competitiveness, including provisions to authorize more than $135 billion over five years for federal investment in scientific research and development programs; provide more than $52 billion in supplemental appropriations for the U.S. semiconductor industry; and require various actions related to U.S. technological competitiveness and foreign policy, particularly with regard to countering Chinese influence. Among provisions related to science and technology research and development, it would authorize $78 billion through fiscal 2026 for National Science Foundation activities, including $13.3 billion for a new NSF Directorate for Science and Engineering Solutions to support use-inspired research and development that addresses societal challenges such as climate change, global competitiveness in critical technologies, cybersecurity, national security, social and economic inequality, and education and workforce development in science and technology. It would authorize $50.2 billion through fiscal 2026 for Energy Department science activities, including research and development related to climate issues, alternative energy sources and quantum technologies. It would authorize $8 billion through fiscal 2026 for the National Institute of Standards and Technology and expand NIST functions to include information security and cybersecurity research and development activities. Among supply chain provisions, it would provide $52.7 billion through fiscal 2026 in supplemental appropriations to fund a program to incentivize research, development and workforce development related to the production of semiconductors, established by the fiscal 2021 defense authorization law. It would establish a Commerce Department office to lead federal efforts to strengthen supply chains and domestic manufacturing in critical industries, and it would authorize $45 billion through fiscal 2027 for grants and loans under the office. It would appropriate $1.5 billion through fiscal 2031 to support 5G wireless network development. Among foreign policy provisions, it would require the president and State Department to develop diplomatic engagement strategies to address global economic and security development, particularly with regard to countering Chinese influence and economic coercion. It would authorize more than $2 billion in bilateral and regional foreign assistance and $1.25 billion for diplomatic engagement in the Indo-Pacific region for fiscal 2022, as well as over $1 billion through fiscal 2026 for foreign military financing and security programs in the region. It would include various provisions related to global action on climate change, including to establish an interagency task force to monitor climate change in relation to national security risks and authorize $8 billion through fiscal 2023 for contributions to the U.N. Green Climate Fund. It would extend a wide range of duty reductions and suspensions; update certain trade policies to include standards related to environmental, labor, human rights and intellectual property protections; and establish a U.S. Trade Representative committee to review and potentially block overseas investments in foreign adversary nations that could impact U.S. critical capabilities. Among workforce and economic development provisions, the bill would reauthorize and expand the Labor Department national apprenticeship system; authorize several new or expanded NSF programs related to expanding science, technology, engineering and mathematics education, workforce development and participation of underrepresented groups in STEM; create a new class of nonimmigrant ‘W’ visas for entrepreneurs associated with U.S. start-up companies; and reauthorize and expand the Trade Adjustment Assistance program to support individuals and communities that have been adversely impacted by international trade.” The bill passed by a vote of 222-210. [H.R. 4521, Vote #31, 2/4/22; CQ, 2/4/22]

- America COMPETES Authorized $45 Billion To Bolster The Supply Chain And Increase U.S. Manufacturing Of “Critical” Goods. “The House bill would provide $45 billion over six years in grants and loans to improve the nation’s supply chains and to boost American manufacturing of goods deemed critical for national security and the US economy -- like products for public health, communications technology and food -- according to a summary of the bill provided by House Democrats. Similar to the Senate bill, it would create a new initiative within the Department of Commerce to help promote the resiliency of the nation's supply chains. The House bill would establish an office that would monitor supply chains, identify vulnerabilities and designate which products are critical. The agency would also be tasked with building up stockpiles to prevent shortages of goods in the event of a future supply chain shock.” [CNN, 2/4/22]

- America COMPETES Invested $3 Billion In Solar Manufacturing To Reduce The U.S.’s Reliance On China. “The House legislation would set aside billions of dollars to bolster research and manufacturing. […] It would set aside another $3 billion for the nation's solar manufacturing supply chain, aiming to reduce the country's reliance on China for parts.” [CNN, 2/4/22]

- America COMPETES Invested $52 Billion In Domestic Manufacturing And Research Of Semiconductors To Decrease The U.S.’s Technological Dependence On Asia. “The House voted Friday to pass the America COMPETES Act, a bill that aims to increase U.S. competitiveness with China and to address the country’s shortage of semiconductors by strengthening the country’s supply chain. […] The bill includes $52 billion to support domestic manufacturing and research of semiconductors, the chips that are used in electronic devices and have faced shortages throughout the pandemic, contributing to delays and increased costs. The incentives for semiconductor production come as the U.S. has increasingly relied on imports for computer chips. Twelve percent of the world's chips are made in the U.S., down from 37% in the 1990s, according to industry officials. About 80% are made in Asia.” [USA Today, 2/4/22]

- America COMPETES Funded An Aid Program For Workers Impacted By Increased Imports And Invested In STEM Education Programs. “The measure, known as the America COMPETES Act, passed 222-210 in a near-party-line vote. […] The legislation would also fund a government program to aid workers who lost jobs or saw their pay cut as a result of increased imports, as well as boost funds for the National Science Foundation and STEM education programs.” [New York Post, 2/4/22]

- American COMPETES Provided “More Than $1 Billion Toward Increasing Diversity” In Science And Technology To Increase STEM Employment. “Congress is aiming to reshape America’s workforce through new legislation that would direct more than $1 billion toward increasing diversity of the scientists, researchers and technologists who drive the innovation economy. The measure includes $900 million for grants and partnerships with historically Black colleges and universities, $164 million to study barriers for people of color in the field and $17.5 million to combat sexual harassment. They’re part of a expansive package of bills known as the America Competes Act, which lawmakers hope will ensure the United States continues to lead the global economy. […] A report from the National Academies of Sciences, Engineering and Medicine estimated the United States will need 1 million more people employed in those sectors over the next decade than it is currently on track to produce. The group said the country will not reach that goal without substantially increasing diversity in the labor force.” [CNBC, 2/4/22]

- America COMPETES Included Provisions To Hold China Accountable For Human Rights Violations. “The legislation includes provisions to strengthen US relations with Taiwan, new sanctions for officials in Xinjiang accused of ‘systematic rape, coercive abortion, forced sterilisation, or involuntary contraceptive implantation policies and practices’ and an authorisation for millions of dollars in funding to counter Chinese government censorship and disinformation. […] Advocacy groups supporting human rights in Xinjiang and Hong Kong applauded the bill. The Washington-based Hong Kong Democracy Council said it was ‘elated’, and the non-profit Uyghur Human Rights Project said it was ‘encouraged that Congress continues to put rhetoric into action’. ‘We are particularly encouraged by provisions meant to provide safe haven for Uyghurs fleeing atrocities, and to tighten scrutiny on Chinese companies complicit in these abuses,’ said Uyghur Human Rights Project executive director Omer Kanat.” [South China Morning Post, 2/4/22]

- America COMPETES Included Provisions To “Offset China’s Market-Distorting Trade Practices.” “The U.S. House of Representatives on Friday narrowly passed a multibillion-dollar bill aimed at increasing American competitiveness with China and boosting U.S. semiconductor manufacturing, despite Republican opposition. […] It includes changes to U.S. trade rules intended to offset China's market-distorting trade practices, including by strengthening anti-dumping rules.” [Reuters, 2/4/22]

- American COMPETES Authorized $10 Billion To Help Developing Countries Address Climate Change. “The bill also authorizes $8.8 billion this year for Energy Department research and development programs, with that amount increasing each year through fiscal 2026. And it authorizes as much as $8 billion to help developing countries address climate change over the next two years and another $2 billion annually to help developing countries deploy clean energy technologies, expand zero-emission vehicles, promote sustainable land use, and adapt to the effects of climate change.” [Bloomberg, 2/4/22]

Valadao Praised The Passage Of The Ocean Shipping Reform Act, Which He Co-Sponsored. ‘‘The passage of the Ocean Shipping Reform Act is a major step forward for protecting the rights of American farmers and businesses,’ said Congressman Valadao. 'Not only will this legislation provide much needed updates to shipping regulations, but it will also ensure that Central Valley farmers, who are responsible for feeding the world, are able to send their goods around the world without being targeted by foreign trading partners. I am proud to have co-sponsored this bill, and I urge the Senate to move quickly so American exporters can have the protections they deserve.’’ [Hanford Sentinel, 12/8/21]
Valadao Co-Sponsored The Truckers Responding At National Shipping Ports Overcoming Retail Turmoil Act (TRANSPORT Act) To Relieve Congested Ports. “Congressman David G. Valadao and 10 of his colleagues co-sponsored Representative Tracey Mann’s legislation, the Truckers Responding At National Shipping Ports Overcoming Retail Turmoil (TRANSPORT) Act. This legislation would require the Secretary of Transportation to relieve congested ports during either a national state of emergency or when ports are congested by 50 percent or more. ‘Our nation is facing horrific supply chain challenges, and it is vital that Congress acts. Billions of dollars worth of goods are currently sitting off the coast of California, yet the administration has put forward no serious solutions to resolve this crisis,’ said Congressman Valadao. ‘That is why I am proud to co-sponsor the Truckers Responding At National Shipping Ports Overcoming Retail Turmoil Act. Through this legislation, we will alleviate our supply chain challenges and help our nations’ businesses to return to normal operations.’” [Hanford Sentinel, 11/5/21]

Valadao Signed A Letter Urging President Biden To Alleviate Constraints On The U.S. Supply Chain. “Rep. David G. Valadao (R-Calif.) signed a letter to the president with requests to help American farmers by alleviating ‘constraints’ on the U.S. supply chain. The objective is to balance shipments of products brought into the country by increasing the amount of goods exported from the United States. The letter specifically mentions Asia-bound ships that allegedly leave American ports empty. Central Valley Congressman Valadao helped write the letter to Joe Biden. The letter urges the president to utilize the power of the Oval Office to enforce fair-trade practices.” [Hanford Sentinel, 1/26/22]

Valadao Voted For An Amendment To Commission A Study Measuring Inflation’s Economic Impact On The United States.

Valadao Voted For An Amendment To Commission A Study Measuring Inflation’s Economic Impact On The United States. In February 2022 Valadao voted for: “Kim, R-Calif., amendment no. 131 that would require the National Science Foundation to commission a study to measure the economic impact of inflation on the country, including impacts on the cost of living, wages and the workforce, U.S. international competitiveness, and rural and underserved communities. It would authorize $1 million to carry out the study.” The amendment was adopted by a vote of 279-153. [H.R. 4521, Vote #26, 2/3/22; CQ, 2/3/22]

Valadao Voted For An Amendment To Update Ocean Shipping Regulations To Address Supply Chain Shortages.

Valadao Voted For An Amendment To Update Ocean Shipping Regulations To Address Supply Chain Shortages. In February 2022 Valadao voted for: “Garamendi, D-Calif., amendment no. 89 that would insert provisions of a bill (HR 4996) that would update various requirements and standards for ocean common carriers and marine terminal operators and require the Federal Maritime Commission to initiate related rulemakings, intended to address the effects of supply chain shortages on shipping services. It also would authorize $33 million for fiscal 2022 and $36 million for fiscal 2023 for FMC operations.” The amendment was adopted by a vote of 367-59. [H.R. 4521, Vote #24, 2/3/22; CQ, 2/3/22]
Valadao Voted For Updating Ocean Shipping Requirements And Requiring The Federal Maritime Commission To Address Effects Of Supply Chain Shortages On Shipping Services. In December 2021, Valadao voted for: “Garamendi, D-Calif., motion to suspend the rules and pass the bill, as amended, that would update various requirements and standards for ocean common carriers and marine terminal operators and require the Federal Maritime Commission to initiate related rulemakings, intended to address the effects of supply chain shortages on shipping services. It would authorize $33 million for fiscal 2022 and $36 million for fiscal 2023 for FMC operations. Among other provisions, it would require the commission to initiate a rulemaking to establish minimum shipping service standards, including for furnishing suitable equipment and accommodations for receiving cargo and requirements that carriers establish contingency plans to maintain service during periods of port congestion and other market disruptions. It would prohibit carriers or operators from retaliating against shippers by refusing or threatening to refuse cargo space accommodations; failing to furnish containers or facilities needed for transportation services; "unreasonably declining" cargo bookings if the cargo can be loaded safely and timely on a vessel scheduled for its destination; and charging demurrage or detention fees, which are incurred for delays in unloading cargo, without certifying that the charges comply with FMC rules. It would also authorize the commission to issue an emergency order requiring carriers or operators to share information related to cargo availability directly with relevant shippers and land carriers to ensure efficient transportation, if the commission determines after a public comment period that congestion of the common carriage of goods has created an emergency situation adversely affecting international shipping supply system competitiveness and reliability.” Motion agreed to by a vote of 364-60. [HR 4996, Vote #406, 12/08/21; CQ, 12/08/21]

Valadao Voted Against An Amendment To Increase Small Business Participation In Government Contracts. In September 2021, Valadao voted against: “Mfume, D-Md., amendment no. 26 that would increase government-wide goals for small business participation in federal contracts.” The amendment was adopted by a vote of 219 to 202. [HR 4350, Vote #277, 9/23/21; CQ, 9/24/21]

Cost Of Living

Valadao Said That People Who Were Trying To Lower Their Cost Of Living Would Not Stay In California

Valadao Said That People Who Were Trying To Lower Their Cost Of Living Would Not Stay In California. "Ultimately, Kern County is part of California — for better and worse, said Representative David Valadao, a Republican whose district encompasses part of Bakersfield. Mr. Valadao, who is facing a challenge from Mr. Salas, the state lawmaker, blamed state policies for the eye-popping gas prices, prohibitive housing costs and hiring difficulties for employers that have driven away some Californians. 'If they can find a way to save a lot more money on the cost of living, they’re not going to stay in California,’ he said.” [New York Times, 12/11/21]
Education Issues

Significant Findings

- September 2021: Valadao voted against an amendment to direct the holder of a private education loan to discharge the loan in the event of the borrower’s death or disability.

- June 2014: Valadao voted to block a vote to let students refinance their loans.

- July 2013: Valadao voted for student loan compromise that would benefit students when market rates were low but would skyrocket to 8.5 and 10.5 percent when they were high.

- May 2013: Valadao voted against a previous question to consider the Student Loan Relief Act, which would have prohibited the automatic doubling of student loan rates on July 1, 2013.

- Valadao voted repeatedly to slash Pell Grants in 2014 and 2015, though thousands of students in his district used Pell Grants to afford college each year.

- The Hill: The Bill “Would Allow More Than 25 Million People To Refinance Their Student Loans To Today’s Lower Interest Rates Of Less Than 4 Percent.” “The Bank on Students Emergency Loan Refinancing Act, would allow more than 25 million people to refinance their student loans to today’s lower..."
interest rates of less than 4 percent. Warren paid for the bill with the “Buffet Rule” — a minimum 30 percent income tax payment from people who earn between $1 million and $2 million. Republicans oppose the bill because it would raise taxes on the wealthy. They also accused Democrats of trying to force political show votes ahead of the November election.” [The Hill, 9/16/14]

July 2013: Valadao Voted For Student Loan Compromise That Would Benefit Students When Market Rates Were Low But Would Skyrocket To 8.5 And 10.5 Percent When They Were High

July 2013: Valadao Voted For A Compromise Bill To Cap Stafford Loan Rates At 8.25 Percent. In July 2013, Valadao voted for “Kline, R-Minn., motion to suspend the rules and concur in the Senate amendment to the bill that would set federal student loan interest rates issued after July 1, 2013 to the Treasury Department's 10-year borrowing rate, plus 2.05 percent for subsidized and unsubsidized undergraduate loans, 3.6 percent for graduate loans and 4.6 percent for PLUS loans. The loan rates would be capped at 8.25 percent, 9.5 percent and 10.5 percent, respectively. It would require the Government Accountability Office to submit a report to Congress within four months detailing the federal government's cost of administering the student loan program and recommendations to avoid generating additional revenue from the program.” The bill passed 392-31. [HR 1911, Vote #426, 7/31/13; CQ, 7/31/13]

May 2013: Valadao Voted For A Bill That Would Allow Student Loan Interest Rate Caps To Increase Up To 8.5 Percent. In May 2013, Valadao voted for “Passage of the bill that would tie student loan interest rates to the 10-year Treasury note rate. Interest rates on all federal student loans (except Perkins loans) issued on or after July 1, 2013 would be set each year at the 10-year Treasury note plus 2.5 percent. Rates for graduate and parent PLUS loans would be set at the 10-year note plus 4.5 percent. Overall interest rates would be capped at 8.5 percent and 10.5 percent, respectively.” The bill passed 221 to 198. [HR 1911, Vote #183, 5/23/13; CQ, 5/23/13]

- U.S. News And World Report: The Bipartisan Student Loan Act Tied Loan Interest Rates To The Free Market, Which Would Benefit Students When Market Rates Were Low, But Skyrocket To 8.5 And 10.5 Percent When They Were High. “Unfortunately, the new law combines this market rate with different – and much higher – interest rate caps. Undergraduates can now pay a maximum interest rate of 8.25 percent – compared with the previous maximums of 6.8 and 3.4 percent for unsubsidized and subsidized direct loans. The maximum rate for unsubsidized direct loans for graduate and professional students is now 9.5 percent and the rate for PLUS loans is a whopping 10.5 percent. Those are much higher than the previous rates of 6.8 percent for unsubsidized direct loans and 7.9 percent for PLUS loans. When interest rates go up – and they will in the near future – students will pay much higher rates.” [U.S. News & World Report, 8/14/13]

- U.S. News And World Report: Bill Did Not Address “A Fundamental Problem In The Student Loan System…The Huge Profit The Federal Government Is Making At The Expense Of Students.” “The new law offers a moderate amount of help to current students at the expense of future ones. And it does nothing to address what the Student Loan Ranger sees as a fundamental problem in the student loan system – the huge profit the federal government is making at the expense of students.” [U.S. News & World Report, 8/14/13]

May 2013: Valadao Voted Against Considering The Student Loan Relief Act, A Bill That Would Have Prohibited The Automatic Doubling Of Student Loan Rates On July 1, 2013

May 2013: Valadao Voted Against Considering The Student Loan Relief Act, A Bill That Would Have Prohibited The Automatic Doubling Of Student Loan Rates On July 1, 2013. In 2013, Valadao voted for a “motion to order the previous question (thus ending debate and the possibility of amendment) on the rule (H Res 202) that would provide for House floor consideration of the bill that would allow the Treasury Department, once the statutory debt limit is reached, to continue borrowing to pay the principal and interest on government debt and obligations from the Social Security Trust Fund.” According to the Democratic Leader’s Office, “The Previous Question would amend the rule to allow for consideration of the “Student Loan Relief Act of 2013” (H.R. 1595) to amend the Higher Education Act of 1965 to extend the reduced interest rate for Federal Direct Stafford Loans.” The previous question passed 227 to 199. A vote against the previous question would have allowed a vote on the student loan bill. [H Res 202, Vote #138, 5/8/13; CQ, 5/8/13; Democratic Leader’s Office, accessed 6/7/17]

Valadao Repeatedly Voted To Slash Pell Grants, Which Helped Thousands Of Students In His District Afford Higher Education

Valadao Voted Repeatedly To Slash Pell Grants

March 2015: Valadao Voted For FY16 Budget Amendment That Slashed Pell Grants. In March 2015, Valadao voted for a budget alternative known as Price amendment #2 offered as an amendment on the floor that would repeal the Affordable Care Act, slash Pell grants and alter Medicare while requiring no offsets for increased OCO defense spending. “Tom Price, R-Ga., also submitted an amended version that included increased defense funding without requiring cuts in other areas to offset the spending. Price’s plan increased funding to the Overseas Contingency Operations Fund by $2 billion over the committee plan, to $96 billion, and requires no offsets. The version that passed out of committee would have required offsets over $73.5 billion in the OCO fund, which pays for wars and other overseas activities and is not subject to sequester caps.” The resolution passed 219 to 208. [H. Con Res. 27, Vote #141, 3/25/15; US News and World Report, 3/25/15]

• March 2015: Valadao Voted For FY16 Republican Budget That Slashed Pell Grants And Altered Medicare. In March 2015, Valadao voted for the FY16 Republican House budget that would repeal the Affordable Care Act, slash Pell grants and alter Medicare. “It also includes parliamentary language, called reconciliation that orders House committees to draft legislation repealing the Affordable Care Act. Under budget rules, that reconciliation repeal bill cannot be filibustered in the Senate and would need only a majority vote to pass. The budget would turn Medicaid into block grants to the states, cutting health care spending for the poor by $900 billion. The food stamp program would also be turned into block grants and cut by hundreds of billions of dollars. Special education, Pell Grants, job training and housing assistance would all be cut. Medicare would transition to a system where future seniors would be encouraged to use government-funded vouchers to purchase insurance in the private market.” The resolution passed 228 to 199. [H. Con Res. 27, Vote #142, 3/25/15; New York Times, 3/25/15]

April 2015: Valadao Voted For Republican Conference Report On Budget For Fiscal Year 2016. In April 2015, Valadao voted for a conference report outlining the Republican Congressional budget for fiscal year 2016 and budget levels for 2017 through 2025. “House and Senate Republicans agreed on a unified budget plan Wednesday that would allow them to bypass Democrats and send President Barack Obama legislation to repeal or revise his landmark health-care law. The budget proposal spells out the Republican Party’s priorities by calling for $5.3 trillion in spending cuts to reach balance in nine years.” An agreement to pass the Conference Report passed 226 to 197. [S CON RES 11, Vote #183; On Agreeing to the Conference Report, 4/30/15; Bloomberg, 4/29/15]

• Conference Report Reduced Funding For Pell Grants, Low-Income Housing Assistance Programs, And Food Stamp Program. “The budget slashes domestic discretionary spending by trimming away at several major priorities for Democrats. The final bill includes a reduction in funding for federal Pell Grants and housing programs for low-income earners, and cuts to the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program, also known as food stamps.” [Washington Post, 4/29/15]

April 2014: Valadao Voted For FY 2015 House Republican Budget. In April 2014, Valadao voted for “Adoption of the concurrent resolution that would provide for $2.842 trillion in new budget authority in fiscal 2015, not including off-budget accounts. It would assume $5.1 trillion in reductions over the next 10 years in both discretionary and mandatory spending. The proposal would assume the repeal of the 2010 health care overhaul. It also would propose extending the 2013 law that withheld the pay of members of Congress unless the House and Senate each approve a budget resolution. It would propose changing the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program into a block grant program and call for a decrease of $125 billion in SNAP funding over five years. The proposal would call for expanded work and job training requirements in order to receive aid from the Temporary Assistance to Needy Families Program and would propose preventing beneficiaries from receiving unemployment insurance and disability insurance concurrently. It would call for the creation of a block grant program for Medicaid run by individual states. It also would include a proposal for a 10-year ‘doc fix’ to prevent a 24 percent cut in Medicare payments to doctors. It would assume the enactment of legislation to consolidate the current seven individual tax brackets into two, allowing for the reduction of the top individual rate from 39.6 percent to 25 percent and the corporate rate from 35 percent to 25 percent and call for repeal of the alternative minimum tax. It also would call for a maximum-income cap to qualify for Pell Grants and the elimination of eligibility for less than half-time students.” The budget passed 219 to 205. [H.C Con. Res 96, Vote #177, 4/10/14; CQ, 4/10/14]

- The 2015 House Republican Budget Called For A Maximum-Income Cap To Quality For Pell Grants And Eliminated Eligibility For Less Than Half-Time Students. In April 2014, Valadao voted for “Adoption of the concurrent resolution that would provide for $2.842 trillion in new budget authority in fiscal 2015, not including off-budget accounts. It would assume $5.1 trillion in reductions over the next 10 years in both discretionary and mandatory spending. The proposal would assume the repeal of the 2010 health care overhaul. Res 96, Vote #177, 4/10/14; CQ, 4/10/14]

March 2013: Valadao Voted For FY 2014 Ryan Budget. In March 2013, Valadao voted for “Adoption of the concurrent resolution that would provide $2.769 trillion in new budget authority in fiscal 2014, not including off-budget accounts. It would assume that the spending levels required by the sequester remain in place and that non-war discretionary spending for all future years will be at post-sequester levels. It would assume that all discretionary savings from the sequester beginning in fiscal 2014 will come from non-defense programs. It would assume $5.7 trillion in reductions over the next 10 years in both discretionary and mandatory spending. It would assume repeal of the 2010 health care overhaul and a restructuring of Medicare into a “premium support” system beginning in 2024. It would call for an overhaul of the tax code, under which the alternative minimum tax would be repealed, the six current individual income tax brackets would be consolidated into two and tax credits and deductions would be eliminated or curtailed.” The resolution passed 221 to 207. [H. Con. Res, 25, Vote #88, 3/21/13; CQ, 3/21/13]

- Ryan Budget Slashed Pell Grant Eligibility and Froze Pell Grant Funding To Not Keep Pace With Inflation. “The budget also calls for reversing changes to the grant’s needs analysis formula put into place in 2007, which expanded the number of students eligible for Pell Grants, in essence making fewer students eligible to receive them. It also revisits proposals put forward last year: using ‘fair value’ accounting for student loans, which makes the program seem much less profitable for the federal government than it does under current accounting rules. […] Under the House Republican Budget, Pell Grants would be capped at the current level of $5,645 for 10 years, and eliminate all mandatory funding. In other words, under Ryan’s plan, Pell Grants would not keep up with the pace of inflation and rising tuition costs, and would be worth less each successive year.” [Inside Higher Ed, 3/13/13; Campus Progress, 3/12/13]

Higher Education Grant Programs

Valadao Voted For The Expansion Of Eligibility, And Revision Of Verification Requirements, For A Higher Education Teacher Assistance Grant Program

September 2021: Valadao Voted For The Expansion Of Eligibility, And Revision Of Verification Requirements, For A Higher Education Teacher Assistance Grant Program. In September 2021 Valadao voted for: “Scott, D-Va., motion to suspend the rules and pass the bill that would expand eligibility and modify service verification requirements for the Education Department’s Teacher Education Assistance for College and Higher Education grant program, which provides grants to undergraduate and graduate students who agree to teach for four years following graduation as full-time teachers in a high-need field serving low-income students. Among other provisions, it would allow grant recipients to serve in high-need geographic areas, in addition to high-need subject areas. It would permit recipients whose grants have been converted into loans due to failure to meet program requirements to request that they be reverted to grants, with an extended service obligation window, under certain conditions. It would extend the service obligation window up to three years for grant recipients whose service was impacted by the COVID-19 pandemic.” The motion passed by a vote of 406-16. [S. 848, Vote #302, 9/28/21; CQ, 9/28/21]

  - July 2016: Valadao voted against striking a section of the appropriations bills forbidding the Securities and Exchange Commission from developing a rule requiring the disclosure of political contributions to tax exempt organizations.
  - July 2016: Valadao voted to prohibit funds from enforcing FEC rule that members’ corporation’s stockholders or personnel from trade associations be approved by member corporations prior to solicitation.

John Lewis Voting Rights Advancement Act

August 2021: Valadao Voted Against The John Lewis Voting Rights Advancement Act Which Would Subject Voter ID And Voter Purge Laws To Preclearance In More Jurisdictions

Valadao Voted Against The John Lewis Voting Rights Advancement Act. In August 2021 Valadao voted against: “Passage of the bill that would include a number of provisions to strengthen anti-discrimination enforcement authorities in relation to voting practices. The bill would effectively restore preclearance requirements under the Voting Rights Act for any changes to voting practices in states and localities with a history of voting rights violations within the previous 25 years. It would establish formulas to identify such jurisdictions, which would be required to submit proposed changes to the Justice Department for review and approval before they may be implemented. It would establish an "administrative bailout" provision allowing jurisdictions to apply for exemptions to preclearance requirements if they meet eligibility standards related to not implementing discriminatory practices in the previous 10 years. It would also require states and localities to review any newly enacted or adopted election practices to identify whether they include certain practices that could impact the ability to vote based on race, color or language minority group, such as changes to impose stricter voter identification requirements; changes to jurisdictional boundaries or voting locations in jurisdictions with large minority populations; and changes that prohibit the provision of food or drinks to individuals waiting to vote. It would require jurisdictions that adopt such practices to submit them for federal preclearance. It would codify or expand various requirements for court evaluation of "vote denial" and "vote dilution" discrimination claims and other voting rights violations, including to provide for violations in the case of voting practices that have the purpose or will have the effect of denying or abridging the right to vote on account of race or color, including rules that have not yet been implemented. It would expand certain voting rights enforcement authorities, including to allow courts to grant injunctions or require judicial preclearance for changes to voting practices in response to any federal voting rights law prohibiting racial or language discrimination. Among other provisions, it would expand Justice Department authority to assign federal election observers to ensure compliance with federal voting rights protections, including bilingual election requirements. It would require states and localities to provide public notice of any changes to voting procedures made within 180 days of a federal election and to provide public notice of updated demographic data within ten days of any change to electoral district boundaries. It would require the department to make grants to small jurisdictions with a population of 10,000 or less to help them comply with public notice requirements related to voting practices.” The motion was agreed to 219-212. [H Res 4, Vote #260, 8/24/21, CQ 8/24/21]

- Roll Call: “The Chief Aim” Of The John Lewis VRAA Was To Restore DOJ’s “Ability To Preclear […] Election Law Changes In Jurisdictions That Have A History Of Discriminatory Voting Practices.” “The chief aim of the bill is to bring back and update the Justice Department’s ability to preclear, or give the OK to, election law changes in jurisdictions that have a history of discriminatory voting practices against minority voters. Congress is responding to the Supreme Court’s 2013 Shelby County v. Holder decision, which invalidated the mechanism the Justice Department had previously used, which was a provision of the Voting Rights Act of 1965.” [Roll Call, 8/31/21]

- Roll Call: The Bill Would Subject Voter ID And Voter Purge Laws To Preclearance In A Wider Range Of Jurisdictions. “The bill would also subject certain proposed laws to preclearance, even potentially in jurisdictions that would not otherwise fall under the 25-year lookback criteria. The bill’s Section 6 would set out several practices, including changes to voter identification needed to vote and maintenance of voter rolls, that could be subject to preclearance. ‘All those that have been shown to be discriminatory would need to be precleared,’ Spaulding said.” [Roll Call, 8/31/21]

Valadao Voted Against The For The People Act, Which Included Reforms To Increase Disclosure Of “Dark Money” And Ended Partisan Gerrymandering

Valadao Voted Against The For the People Act, Which Would Expand Access To Voting And Overhaul Campaign Finance And Ethics Laws. In March 2021, Valadao voted against The For The People Act. NPR described the bill: “The [For The People Act] seeks ‘to expand Americans' access to the ballot box, reduce the influence of big money in politics, strengthen ethics rules for public servants, and implement other anti-corruption measures for the purpose of fortifying our democracy, and for other purposes.’ The bill's language calls for a complete overhaul of the current system, which varies widely by state and which critics say promotes unfair barriers to voting. Included in the act is mandatory automatic voter registration, restoring voting rights to people with completed felony sentences and a reversal of state voter ID laws that would allow citizens to make a sworn statement affirming their identity if they were unable to produce an ID. […] in politics by requiring organizations to disclose large donors, and it creates a matching system for small donations.” The motion was agreed to by a vote of 220 - 210. - The For The People Act Supported An End To Citizens United And Increased Disclosure Of The Funders Of “Dark Money” Groups And Online Political Ads. “Supporting a constitutional amendment to end Citizens United. Passing the DISCLOSE Act, pushed by Rep. David Cicilline and Sen. Sheldon Whitehouse, both Democrats from Rhode Island. This would require Super PACs and ‘dark money’ political organizations to make their donors public. Passing the Honest Ads Act, championed by Sens. Amy Klobuchar (MN) and Mark Warner (VA) and introduced by Rep. Derek Kilmer (WA) in the House, which would require Facebook and Twitter to disclose the source of money for political ads on their platforms and share how much money was spent.” [Vox, 3/8/19]

- The For The People Act Created National Automatic Voter Registration, Made Election Day A Federal Holiday, Ended Partisan Gerrymandering, And Increased Election Security. “Creating new national automatic voter registration that asks voters to opt out rather than opt in, ensuring more people will be signed up to vote. Early voting, same-day voter registration, and online voter registration would also be promoted. Making Election Day a holiday for federal employees and encouraging private sector businesses to do the same […] Ending partisan gerrymandering in federal elections and prohibiting voter roll purging. The bill would stop the use of non-forwardable mail being used as a way to remove voters from rolls. Beeing up election security, including requiring the director of national intelligence to do regular checks on foreign threats. Recruiting and training more poll workers ahead of the 2020 election to cut down on long lines at the polls.” [Vox, 3/8/19]

Valadao Claimed H.R. 1 Funded The Campaigns Of House Democrats And Said Federal Dollars Should Not Be Used To Fund Political Campaigns

Valadao Claimed H.R. 1 Funded The Campaigns Of House Democrats. “House Dems’ H.R. 1 is a bill that funds their own political campaigns. It would publicly fund congressional or presidential campaigns through @USTreasury. This is a 6:1 federal funding match to small donor contributions.” [Rep. David Valadao Twitter, 3/3/21]

Valadao: “Federal Dollars Have No Business In Funding Political Campaigns.” “Here's what that means for you: every time you donate $200 to a political campaign, the federal government will match it with a $1,200 donation. Federal dollars have no business in funding political campaigns.” [Rep. David Valadao Twitter, 3/3/21]

Valadao Voted For An Amendment Removing A Provision From H.R. 1 To Create A National Strategy To Protect Democratic Institutions From Cyber Attacks And Disinformation Campaigns

Valadao Voted For An Amendment Removing A Provision To Create A National Strategy To Protect Democratic Institutions From Cyber Attacks And Disinformation Campaigns. In March 2021, Valadao voted for: “Davis, R-III., amendment no. 19 that would strike from the bill a section that would require the creation of a national strategy to protect against cyber attacks, influence operations, disinformation campaigns and other activities that could undermine the security and integrity of U.S. democratic institutions, and that would establish a commission to counter efforts to undermine democratic institutions within the United States.” The motion was rejected by a vote of 207 – 218. Citizens United

January 2015: Valadao Voted To Block A Constitutional Amendment That Would Overturn The Citizens United Ruling

Valadao Voted To Block A Constitutional Amendment That Would Overturn Citizens United. In January 2015, Valadao voted for a “motion to order the previous question (thus ending debate and possibility of amendment) on the rule (H Res 38) that would provide for House floor consideration of the bill (HR 161) that would set statutory deadlines for considering permits on natural gas pipeline projects, and the bill (HR 36) that would create a nationwide ban on abortions performed at 20 weeks or later, with certain exceptions.” According to the Democratic Leaders’ office, “The Democratic Previous Question requires Congress to vote on a constitutional amendment to overturn the Supreme Court’s Citizens United decision and promote transparency in our political system.” A vote against the previous question would have allowed to bill to be considered. The previous question passed 238 to 182. [H Res 38, Vote #38, 1/21/15; Democratic Leader – Previous Questions, 1/21/15; CQ, 1/21/15]

- The Citizens United Case Established That Corporations Had The Same Rights As People Regarding The 1st Amendment And Were Exempt From Restrictions On Political Spending. “Ten years ago this month, the Supreme Court shocked the American political establishment with the declaration that corporations had the same rights as people in the eyes of the 1st Amendment, and therefore were exempt from restrictions on political spending. Many conservatives said it would make the system fairer, broadening the open market of ideas and creating a new frontier of freedom of expression in politics. Liberals, for the most part, denounced it as a threat to democracy that would cement power in the hands of the few.” [Los Angeles Times, 1/12/20]

Campaign Finance Reform

May 2018: Valadao Voted For Blocking An Amendment To Create A Small Dollar Donor Matching System And Require Campaigns To Disclose All Bundlers

Valadao Voted For Blocking An Amendment To Create A Small Dollar Donor Matching System And Require Campaigns To Disclose All Bundlers. In May 2018, Valadao voted for: “Burgess, R-Texas, motion to order the previous question (thus ending debate and possibility of amendment).” According to the Democratic Leader’s office, “The Democratic Previous Question would help reduce the influence of big money in politics by establishing a small-donor matching system, permitting unlimited coordinated party expenditures from small donor sources, and by requiring disclosure by all bundlers of bundled contributions. Mr. Sarbanes’ bill is part of House Democrats’ Better Deal Agenda that will help make government more open and transparent.” A vote for the motion was a vote to block consideration of the bill. The motion was agreed to 222-184. [H Res 905, Vote #210, 5/22/18; CQ, 5/22/18; DemocraticLeader.gov, 5/22/18]

May 2016: Valadao Voted To Block Consideration Of The Opioid Abuse Crisis Act And The DISCLOSE Act

Valadao Voted To Block Consideration Of The Opioid Abuse Crisis Act And The DISCLOSE Act. In May 2016, Valadao voted to block consideration of a vote that would “force a vote on: The Opioid Abuse Crisis Act, which provides $600 million in fully paid-for vital new resources to address the opioid epidemic that kills 78 Americans every day; and The DISCLOSE Act, which would bring desperately needed transparency to the enormous amounts of special interest secret money unleashed by the Supreme Court’s wildly destructive Citizens United decision.” The previous question carried, 239-176. A vote against the previous question was to force the voted on the Opioid Abuse Crisis Act and the DISCLOSE Act. [H Res 744, Vote #239, 5/25/16; Democratic Leader – Previous Questions, 5/25/16]

May 2016: Valadao Voted To Block Consideration Of Legislation To Require Dark Money Groups To Disclose Their Donors

Valadao Voted To Block Consideration Of Legislation To Require Dark Money Groups To Disclose Their Donors. In May 2016, Valadao voted to block consideration of “the DISCLOSE Act, which would bring desperately needed transparency to the tidal wave of secret money unleashed by the Supreme Court’s wildly destructive Citizen’s United decision, requiring corporate CEOs to stand by their ads in the same way candidates do; and compelling corporations and outside groups to disclose their campaign spending to shareholders, members, and the public.” The previous question passed, 239 to 177. A vote against the previous question would have allowed the bill to be considered. [H Res 732, Vote #196, 5/17/16; Democratic Leader – 114th Congress Previous Questions, 5/17/16]

June 2016: Valadao Voted Against Motion Requiring 501(c) Groups That Participate In Political Campaigns To Disclose Donations

Valadao Voted Against Motion Requiring 501(c) Groups That Participate In Political Campaigns To Disclose Donations. In June 2016, Valadao voted against a motion that “would block Republicans’ assault on our campaign finance system by requiring disclosure to the IRS of any substantial donations to tax-exempt 501(c) groups that participate in political campaigns.” The motion failed 180-238. [HR 5053, Vote #302, 6/14/16; Office of the Democratic Leader, 114th Congress Motions to Recommit, 6/14/16]

August 2016: Valadao Voted For A Bill That Would Prohibit The IRS From Requiring Tax-Exempt Organizations To Disclose Donor Information

Valadao Voted For A Bill That Would Prohibit The IRS From Requiring Tax-Exempt Organizations To Disclose Donor Information. In June 2016, Valadao voted for bill that would amend “the Internal Revenue Code to prohibit the Internal Revenue Service from requiring a tax-exempt organization to include in annual returns the name, address, or other identifying information of any contributor. The bill includes exceptions for: (1) required disclosures regarding prohibited tax shelter transactions; and (2) contributions by the organization’s officers, directors, or five highest compensated employees (including compensation paid by related organizations).” The bill passed 240-182. [HR 5053, Vote #303, 6/14/16; CRS Bill Digest, 8/02/16]

• The Bill Would Eliminate Requirement That 501(c) Organizations Disclose Gifts Larger Than $5K Along With The Donor’s Information; Proponents Argued That Bill Would Protect Personal Information Of Donors, Critics Contended Foreign Donations Would Not Be Prevented. “House Republicans took a step Tuesday aimed at limiting the reach of the Internal Revenue Service with a bill that would end a requirement for tax-exempt advocacy groups to list large donors as part of their annual tax returns. The [bill] … would eliminate the mandatory listing of gifts larger than $5,000, along with the names and addresses of donors, in the Form 990 for tax-exempt groups organized under section 501(c) of the tax code. … Speaker Paul D. Ryan of Wisconsin and other proponents said the measure was needed to prevent the inadvertent release of confidential data such as donor names and addresses, which are supposed to be redacted when the IRS releases public copies of the annual returns for tax-exempt groups. … Rep. Sander M. Levin … has argued Roskam’s proposal could open the door to donations from abroad to so-called social welfare groups that are organized under Section 501(c)(4) of the tax code. Such groups are authorized to spend unlimited amounts on political activity, so long as politics is not their main function.” [CQ Roll Call, 6/14/16]

• White House: Bill Would Constrain IRS’S Ability To Enforce Tax Laws And Limit Transparency. “The Administration opposes H.R. 5053, the Preventing IRS Abuse and Protecting Free Speech Act, which would constrain the Internal Revenue Service’s (IRS) ability to enforce tax laws and reduce transparency.” [Executive Office of the President, Statement of Administration Policy, 6/13/16]

July 2016: Valadao Voted Against Striking Section Of Appropriations Bill Forbidding The Securities And Exchange Commission From Developing A Rule Requiring The Disclosure Of Political Contributions To Tax Exempt Organizations

Valadao Voted Against Striking Section Of Appropriations Bill Forbidding The Securities And Exchange Commission From Developing A Rule Requiring The Disclosure Of Political Contributions To Tax Exempt Organizations. In July 2016, Valadao voted against an amendment “that would strike a section of the bill that would prohibit the Securities and Exchange Commission from developing or finalizing a rule requiring the disclosure of political contributions to tax exempt organizations.” The amendment failed 186-236. [HR 5471, Vote #365, 7/6/16; CQ Floor Votes, 7/6/16]

July 2016: Valadao Voted To Prohibit Funds From Enforcing FEC Rule That Members’ Corporation’s Stockholders Or Personnel From Trade Associations Be Approved By Member Corporations Prior To Solicitation

Valadao Voted To Prohibit Funds From Enforcing FEC Rule That Members’ Corporation’s Stockholders Or Personnel From Trade Associations Be Approved By Member Corporations Prior To Solicitation. In July 2016, Valadao voted for the amendment that would “prohibit funds from being used to enforce the requirement of the Federal Election Campaign Act that solicitation of contribution from member corporation's stockholders or personnel from a trade association be separately and specifically approved by the member corporation involved prior to the solicitation and that such member corporation does not approve any such solicitation by more than one trade association in any calendar year.” The amendment passed 235-185. Clean Air And Water

February 2017: Valadao Voted To Delay And Undermine Clean Air Standards, “Eviscerating” The Clean Air Act—Despite The San Joaquin Valley Having The Nation’s Highest Child Asthma Rates

Valadao Voted For “Extend[ing] For Eight Years The Deadline For The EPA To Implement New National Ambient Air Quality Standards For Ground-Level Ozone.”

Valadao Voted For “Extend[ing] For Eight Years The Deadline For The EPA To Implement New National Ambient Air Quality Standards For Ground-Level Ozone.” In July 2017, Valadao voted for: “Passage of the bill that would extend for eight years the deadline for the EPA to implement new National Ambient Air Quality Standards for ground-level ozone (the EPA issued such deadlines on Oct. 26, 2015). The bill would require the EPA to review the national ambient air quality standards for each pollutant every ten years, instead of every five, and would require the agency to evaluate possible adverse effects of standard changes, including effects related to public health, welfare and economics, prior to establishing or revising a national ambient air quality standard.” The bill passed by a vote of 229-199. [H R 806, Vote #391, 7/18/17; CQ, 7/18/17]

- League Of Conservation Voters Opposed HR 806, Saying It Would Mean “Eviscerating A Central Pillar Of The Clean Air Act,” And Jeopardized Health By Undermining EPA Standards Related To Smog. “LCV urges you to vote NO on H.R. 806, the ‘Ozone Standards Implementation Act,’ a radical bill that jeopardizes the health of our families by undermining the EPA’s recently-updated standards for ozone pollution (a.k.a. smog) and eviscerating a central pillar of the Clean Air Act. […] For the first time ever, H.R. 806 would allow the EPA to consider factors unrelated to health, like technical feasibility in the initial standard setting process. States consider feasibility and cost when they implement the standards. This system has worked extremely well since 1970 as air quality has improved dramatically while the economy has grown.” [League Of Conservation Voters, 7/17/17]

Valadao Voted Against A Motion To Prohibit Implementation Of New Air Quality Standards If Those Standards Could Pose Health Risks To Those Without Access To “Affordable, Comprehensive” Health Care.

Valadao Voted Against A Motion To Prohibit Implementation Of New Air Quality Standards If Those Standards Could Pose Health Risks To Those Without Access To “Affordable, Comprehensive” Health Care. In July 2017, Valadao voted against: “Cartwright, D-Pa., motion to recommit the bill to the House Energy and Commerce Committee with instructions to report it back immediately with an amendment that would prohibit implementation of the bill’s provisions if the Clean Air Scientific Advisory Committee, in consultation with the Congressional Budget Office, finds such implementation could increase various health risks for individuals without access to "affordable, comprehensive" health insurance.” According to the Democratic Leader’s Office, “Democrats’ Motion to Recommit would prohibit implementation of the underlying bill if the Clean Air Scientific Advisory Committee finds that application of the underlying bill could increase health risks to vulnerable populations including children, seniors, pregnant women, outdoor workers, and minority and low-income communities.” Motion rejected by a vote of 191-235. ### 2021: Valadao Voted Against The PFAS Action Act That Authorized The EPA To Address The Impacts Of PFAS Which Affected 771,012 Residents In Valadao’s District

Valadao Voted Against An Amendment To Require The Defense Department To Provide Training To Medical Providers On PFAS. In September 2021, Valadao voted against: “Slotkin, D-Mich., amendment no. 15 that would require the Defense Department to provide department medical providers with mandatory training with respect to the potential health effects of per- and polyfluoroalkyl substances.” The amendment was adopted 236 to 186. [HR 4350, Vote #272, 9/22/21; CQ, 9/23/21]

July 2021: Valadao Voted Against The PFAS Action Act, Authorizing The EPA To Address The Impacts Of Per- And Polyfluoroalkyl Substances (PFAS) On Drinking Water

Valadao Voted Against The PFAS Action Act, Authorizing The EPA To Address The Impacts Of Per- And Polyfluoroalkyl Substances (PFAS) On Drinking Water. In February 2015, Valadao voted against: “Passage of the bill that would require the Environmental Protection Agency to take a number of regulatory actions and establish grant programs to address the impacts of per- and polyfluoroalkyl substances, or PFAS. Specifically, it would require the EPA to designate certain PFAS -- perfluorooctanoic acid and its salts, as well as perfluorooctane sulfonic acid and its salts -- as hazardous chemicals under the Comprehensive Environmental Response, Compensation and Liability Act and determine whether all PFAS should be designated as such within five years of enactment. It would require the EPA to issue a national primary drinking water regulation for maximum contaminant levels of certain PFAS, within two years of enactment, and issue health advisories for PFAS not subject to the regulation. It would authorize $500 million annually through fiscal 2026 for an EPA infrastructure assistance grant program for community water systems affected by PFAS to implement water treatment technologies that can remove all detectable amounts of PFAS from drinking water. It would require the EPA to establish effluent limits and pretreatment standards for PFAS in wastewater and authorize $200 million annually through fiscal 2026 for an EPA grant program to help publicly owned treatment works implement such standards. It would authorize $100 million annually through 2026 for an EPA grant program to test for and install and maintain water filtration systems to address PFAS in school drinking water. Among other provisions, it would require the EPA to add certain PFAS to lists of hazardous air pollutants under the Clean Air Act; issue rules to require toxicity testing on all PFAS by manufacturers; create a public risk-communication strategy regarding PFAS hazards; update voluntary labeling requirements for certain consumer products, including cooking implements, carpets and clothing, to certify that they do not contain any PFAS; and issue guidance on reducing the use of firefighting foam and related products that contain PFAS by first responders.” The bill passed 241 to 183. [HR 2467, Vote #217, 7/21/21; CQ, 7/21/21]

Scientists Found Links Between PFAS And Kidney And Testicular Cancer, Thyroid Disease, Liver Damage, High Cholesterol, And Other Diseases

Scientists Found Links Between PFAS And Kidney And Testicular Cancer, Thyroid Disease, Liver Damage, High Cholesterol, And Other Diseases. “Because of their widespread use, release and disposal over the decades, PFASs show up virtually everywhere: in soil, surface water, the atmosphere, the deep ocean—and even the human body. The U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention’s Web site says that the agency has found PFASs in the blood of nearly everyone it has tested for them, ‘indicating widespread exposure to these PFAS in the U.S. population.’ Scientists have found links between a number of the chemicals and many health concerns—including kidney and testicular cancer, thyroid disease, liver damage, developmental toxicity, ulcerative colitis, high cholesterol, pregnancy-induced preeclampsia and hypertension, and immune dysfunction.” [Scientific American, 1/22/21]

2021: Valadao Voted Against The Infrastructure Investment And Jobs Act That Included $10 Billion To Clean Up “Forever Chemicals” Known As PFAS

Valadao Voted Against The Infrastructure Investment And Jobs Act, Providing $550 Billion In New Infrastructure Spending. In November 2021 Valadao voted against: “DeFazio, D-Ore., motion to concur in the Senate amendment to the bill that would provide approximately $550 billion in new infrastructure spending, including for surface transportation, broadband, water and energy infrastructure. In supplemental appropriations and increased contract authority, the bill would provide $110 billion for roads, bridges and major surface transportation projects, including $47.3 for highway infrastructure and $40 billion for bridge construction and repair; $66 billion for rail, including $58 billion for Amtrak; and $39 billion for transit, including $5.3 billion for zero- and low-emission transit buses and $2 billion for accessibility improvements. It would provide $25 billion for airports and approximately $17 billion for ports and waterways, including $3.4 billion to modernize land ports of entry and $2.25 billion for water port upgrades, including resilience and electrification projects. It would provide approximately $11 billion for various transportation safety and research programs. It would provide $7.5 billion for electric vehicle charging infrastructure and $5 billion for zero- and low-emission school bus programs. It would establish requirements for many new and existing surface transportation programs to consider the environmental and equity impacts of funded activities and authorize a range of transportation programs related to emissions reduction and climate change resilience. It would provide $1 billion for activities to reconnect neighborhoods by removing or remediating the effects of transportation infrastructure construction in disadvantaged and underserved communities. The bill would provide approximately $65 billion for broadband, including $42.5 billion for grants to states to increase access in unserved areas and $14.2 billion to extend a program initially authorized in response to the coronavirus pandemic that provides stipends to help low-income families pay for internet services. It would provide approximately $62 billion for the Energy Department, including $21.5 billion for clean energy demonstration projects, $16.3 billion for energy efficiency and renewable energy programs, $8 billion for power grid resilience and other electricity projects, and $7.5 billion for fossil energy and carbon management. It would authorize or expand several programs to incentivize clean energy manufacturing, development and adoption. It would provide approximately $55 billion for water infrastructure and safety, including $30.7 billion for the Drinking Water State Revolving Fund, including $15 billion to replace lead service lines and $4 billion to address per- and polyfluoroalkyl substances and other emerging contaminants; and $12.7 billion for the Clean Water State Revolving Fund. Across various departments, the bill would provide funding for climate change response and environmental remediation, including: $11.3 billion for abandoned mine land and water reclamation projects, approximately $5.75 billion for wildfire management, $3.5 billion for the EPA hazardous substance superfund and $3.5 billion for FEMA flood mitigation. It would also provide more than $1.7 billion for cybersecurity resilience programs. The bill would include a number of provisions intended to offset spending, including by rescinding certain unobligated COVID-19 relief funding and establishing tax reporting requirements for cryptocurrency and other digital assets.” The motion was agreed to by a vote of 228-206. [H.R. 3684, Vote #369, 11/5/21; CQ, 11/5/21]

The Bipartisan Infrastructure Deal Included $10 Billion To Clean Up “Forever Chemicals” Known As PFAS

The Bipartisan Infrastructure Deal Included $10 Billion To Clean Up “Forever Chemicals” Known As PFAS. “The monumental infrastructure bill that President Biden signed yesterday will send $10 billion to the States to pass on to drinking water suppliers to test for the "forever chemicals" known collectively as PFAS and then filter the parts per trillion of PFAS out of the water when they're found. That filtering will likely be required for the rest of the lives of anyone reading this blog and the costs of that filtering are considerable.” [The National Law Review, 11/16/21]

Valadao Co-Sponsored A Resolution Supporting The Navigable Waters Protection Rule That Reduced The Number Of Streams And Wetlands Protected By The Clean Water Act

Valadao Was An Original Co-Sponsor Of A Resolution To Support The Navigable Waters Protection Rule

Valadao Was An Original Co-Sponsor Of A Resolution To Support The Navigable Waters Protection Rule. “Today, Congressman David G. Valadao signed on as an original co-sponsor of a resolution to support the Navigable Waters Protection Rule. This rule revised the Waters of the United States (WOTUS) rule that imposed unnecessarily burdensome regulations on farms and businesses. The resolution, introduced today by Representative Mariannette Miller-Meeks (R-IA), also expresses that clean water is a national priority.” [U.S. Congressman David G. Valadao, Press Release, 4/14/21]

The EPA Found That The Navigable Waters Protection Rule Reduced The Number Of Streams And Wetlands Protected By The Clean Water Act And Led To “Significant Environmental Degradation”

The Navigable Waters Protection Rule Reduced The Number Of Streams And Wetlands Protected By The Clean Water Act. “The Biden administration is moving to undo a Trump-era rule that vastly shrunk the number of streams and wetlands protected by the Clean Water Act, taking on a politically combustible issue that has cost Democrats in farm country for more than a decade […]’After reviewing the Navigable Waters Protection Rule as directed by President Biden, the EPA and Department of the Army have determined that this rule is leading to significant environmental degradation,’ Regan said in a statement, pointing to data that found the Trump rule had led to the greenlighting of 333 projects that would have previously required a Clean Water Act dredge-and-fill permit.” [Politico, 6/9/21]

The EPA Found That The Navigable Waters Protection Rule Led To “Significant Environmental Degradation.” “Conn and other critics of the current rule have worried it would nix the EPA’s oversight of heavily polluted runoff from Los Alamos County into the Rio Grande — a prime source of drinking water — and that it might disqualify the Gila River from protection because that waterway runs dry before reaching the Colorado River. ‘After reviewing the Navigable Waters Protection Rule as directed by President Biden, the EPA and Department of the Army have determined that this rule is leading to significant environmental degradation,’ EPA Michael Regan said in a statement.” [Santa Fe New Mexican, 6/14/21]

Climate Change

July 2021: Valadao Joined The Conservative Climate Caucus

July 2021: Valadao Joined The Conservative Climate Caucus, Which The LA Times Said Was “Willing At Least To Acknowledge The Problem Instead Of Labeling It A Hoax.”. “Faced with polls showing not only that most Americans want more done about climate change, but that a majority of Republicans feel the same way, a substantial number of GOP lawmakers are sounding a conciliatory note on the issue. Sixty House Republicans have now joined a Conservative Climate Caucus, formed by Rep. John Curtis (R-Utah), that is willing at least to acknowledge the problem instead of labeling it a hoax, as President Trump did early on, or pretending that it’s temporary and that human actions haven’t contributed. Among its members are three Californians: Reps. David Valadao of Hanford, Michelle Steel of Seal Beach and Jay Obernolte of Big Bear Lake.” [Los Angeles Times, 7/9/21]

July 2017: Valadao Voted To Strike A Provision From The NDAA Stating Climate Change Poses A Threat To National Security

Valadao Voted To Strike A Provision From The NDAA Stating Climate Change Poses A Threat To National Security. In July 2017, Valadao voted for: “Perry, R-Pa., amendment that would eliminate the bill's provision that would express the sense of Congress that climate change is a direct threat to national security, and would eliminate the provision that would require the secretary of Defense to report to Congress on vulnerabilities to military installations and combatant commands resulting from climate change-related effects.” The amendment was rejected by a vote of 185-234. [H R 2810, Vote #368, 7/13/17; CQ, 7/13/17]

July 2021: Valadao Voted Against An Amendment To Require The EPA To Issue Regulations Requiring Wastewater Infrastructure Fund Applicants To Assess The Impact Of Climate Change On Their Projects

Valadao Voted Against An Amendment To Require The EPA To Issue Regulations Requiring Wastewater Infrastructure Fund Applicants To Assess The Impact Of Climate Change On Their Projects. In July 2021, Valadao voted against: “Lee, D-Nev., amendment no. 132 that would require the EPA, within 18 months of the bill's enactment, to issue regulations requiring wastewater infrastructure fund applicants to assess the potential impact of climate change on the proposed project and incorporate measures to mitigate such impacts into the project design. It would require the EPA, in issuing the regulations, to consult with government agencies and stakeholders with experience in addressing climate change impacts on wastewater infrastructure projects and to identify entities to provide technical assistance to applicants to incorporate climate resilience measures.” The motion was agreed to, 220-200. [HR 3684, Vote #206, 7/1/21; CQ, 7/1/21]
Valadao Criticized Governor Gavin Newsom’s Decision To Declare A Drought State Of Emergency For Only Mendocino And Sonoma County.

Today, Congressman David G. Valadao along with House Republican Leader Kevin McCarthy and Representatives Ken Calvert, Mike Garcia, Darrell Issa, Young Kim, Doug LaMalfa, Devin Nunes, and Michelle Steel released the following statement in response to Governor Newsom’s decision to declare a drought state of emergency for only two counties – Mendocino and Sonoma – while counties in the rest of the state are also experiencing severe drought conditions: ‘Governor Newsom’s irresponsible decision to declare a state of emergency in only two counties is an absolute outrage. Mendocino and Sonoma face drought conditions that warrant State action. But far more than two counties in California are in desperate need of water. The Central Valley is responsible for putting food on the table for the rest of the nation, and farmers and ranchers simply cannot grow the food we need without reliable access to water. Our local economies are crippled by water scarcity, and by ignoring the needs of the Central Valley, the lack of action by Governor Newsom in addressing this crisis is a failure to lead.’” [U.S. Congressman David G. Valadao, Press Release, 4/21/21]

Valadao Introduced The Necessary To Ensure Expeditious Delivery Of Water Act To Provide Emergency Drought Relief For The Central Valley.

“Thursday, Congressman David G. Valadao introduced the Necessary to Ensure Expeditious Delivery of Water Act, or NEED Water Act, to provide emergency drought relief for the Central Valley. Given the State of Emergency Declaration by Governor Newsom as a result of the severe drought, the legislation would protect water currently in the Central Valley Project system for human needs and reduce regulatory burdens in order to lessen the negative impacts of the drought on Central Valley residents. This bill would also extend the California provisions of the Water Infrastructure Improvements for the Nation (WIIN) Act (P.L. 114-322) and is cosponsored by the majority of the California Republican delegation.” [Hanford Sentinel, 6/18/21]

June 2021: Valadao Introduced Three Amendments To The Energy & Water Appropriations Bill To Alleviate The Drought In California.

“Today, I introduced three amendments to the Energy & Water Appropriations bill. Each of which would make strides toward alleviating the devastating drought, but the Majority party voted down all three amendments. I will not stop fighting.” [Rep. David Valadao Twitter, 7/16/21]

- Valadao Introduced An Amendment That Extended Funding Authorizations For Water Storage Projects Under The WIIN Act For One Year. “My first amendment, which extends funding authorizations for water storage projects under the WIIN Act for one year, would allow CA to make the most of our wet years & ensure families & farmers have a clean, reliable source of water in times of drought. Majority voted no.” [Rep. David Valadao Twitter, 7/16/21]

- Valadao Introduced An Amendment That Would Codify The 2019 BiOps. “It’s time we put people before fish. My second amendment would codify the 2019 BiOps, following the most accurate, best available science. Following the science really should be a no-brainer, but the Majority party voted no.” [Rep. David Valadao Twitter, 7/16/21]
• Valadao Introduced An Amendment To Create A Grant Program To Fund The Accelerated Completion Of Repairs To Damaged Canal Infrastructure Facilities. “My third amendment would create a grant program to fund the acceleration and completion of repairs to damaged canal infrastructure facilities to break this cycle and enable farmers to comply with state pumping limits. The Majority party voted no.” [Rep. David Valadao Twitter, 7/16/21]

Endangered Species

Valadao Voted Against An Amendment To Protect The Endangered Species Act And Partly Blamed The Effects Of California’s Drought On The Endangered Species Act And Environmental Regulations

Valadao Voted Against An Amendment To Protect The Endangered Species Act. In November 2017, Valadao voted against: “O'Halleran, D-Ariz., amendment that would eliminate the bill's provisions that would modify review periods and procedures under the Endangered Species Act and would consider any changes to a forest plan as a major federal action that would require an environmental impact statement.” The amendment was rejected 226-194. [HR 2936, Vote #595, 11/1/17; CQ, 11/1/17]

• NCPA Said The Underlying Bill “Compromises Protection For Some Of America’s Most Iconic Wildlife.” “Our national forests are home to over 400 threatened or endangered species, including one third of the nation’s listed bird species and two thirds of our imperiled fish. Yet this bill completely eliminates consultation under the Endangered Species Act (ESA), and compromises protection for some of America’s most iconic wildlife like the Florida panther, native wild trout and black footed ferret. This attack on the ESA is extreme and unwarranted.” [NCPA, 10/31/17]

Valadao Claimed That The Endangered Species Act Allowed Over 800,000 Acre-Feet Of Water To Flow Out To The Sea Instead Of The Farmers And Families In His District

Valadao Said That Because Of The Endangered Species Act, “Over 800,000 Acre-Feet Of Water Was Allowed To Flow Out To Sea” Instead Of To The Farmers And Families In My District Who Need It Most.” “This year, because of onerous regulation under the Endangered Species Act, over 800,000 acre-feet of water was allowed to flow out to sea rather than be delivered to the farmers and families in my district who need it most. Today, water shortages and environmental red-tape are forcing California farmers to do with only 20% of their total water allocation. Next year, because of the same bureaucratic regulation, they may not receive any. For individuals, economies, and civilizations, the same truth holds true: without water, you die.” [Rep. David Valadao, press release, 10/29/13]

Valadao: “California Has The Largest Water Storage And Transportation System In The World, Yet The Endangered Species Act Is Preventing People In My District From Getting Enough Water To Meet Their Agricultural And Everyday Needs.” “Congressman Valadao explained, ‘California has the largest water storage and transportation system in the world, yet the Endangered Species Act is preventing people in my district from getting enough water to meet their agricultural and everyday needs. Both sides of the aisle must come together to find common-sense solutions that meet the needs of the people so deeply affected by these policies. I am excited to join my colleagues as we work together to find common ground and do what's best for our constituents.’” [Rep. David Valadao, press release, 5/9/13]

Valadao Said That The Endangered Species Act Put The Well-Being Of Fish Above People
Valadao: “The Central Valley Continues To Face A Man-Made Drought Because Of The Endangered Species Act That Puts The Well-Being Of Fish Above People.” “To make matters worse, the Central Valley continues to face a man-made drought because of the Endangered Species Act that puts the well-being of fish above people. The Administration and Congress must act quickly to ensure farmers and cities have a reliable, clean water supply.” [Rep. David Valadao, press release, 2/13/13]

Valadao Said That Half Of California's Water Was Consumed By Environmental Regulations And Claimed The Endangered Species Act And Other Regulations Starved Families And Communities Of Water

Valadao: “Approximately Half Of California's Water Is Consumed By Environmental Regulations.” “Despite an abundance of precipitation, the U.S. Bureau of Reclamation's announced today it expects to deliver only sixty five percent of contracted water allocations for South-of-Delta Central Valley Project agricultural contract water districts. ‘In response to the announcement, U.S. Congressman David G. Valadao (CA-21) released the following statement: ‘Today's announcement is no surprise. Over the last several years, naturally occurring dry conditions in the State of California have been exacerbated by government bureaucracy and environmental regulations that prevent water deliveries through the Delta. But it is incredibly disappointing that even when we have high amounts of precipitation, water deliveries are still not at one hundred percent. Approximately half of California's water is consumed by environmental regulations. In addition to flushing precious water out to sea, these regulations prevent the construction and repair of water infrastructure projects throughout the State. With sufficient water infrastructure, water from storms, such as those we experienced this winter, could be captured to satisfy all contractual obligations, and stored for dry years.” [Rep. David Valadao, press release, 3/21/17]

Valadao: “Farmers And Farmworkers, Families And Communities Continue To Suffer As The Endangered Species Act And Other Regulatory Barriers Have Starved Them Of Desperately Needed Water.” “‘My district is extremely affected by this ongoing manmade drought,’ he said in a statement. ‘Farmers and farmworkers, families and communities continue to suffer as the Endangered Species Act and other regulatory barriers have starved them of desperately needed water.’” [Hanford Sentinel, 12/9/13]

Valadao Took Part In Creating The Endangered Species Act Working Group To Measure ESA Progress And Ensure “Compatibility Of Property And Water Rights And Species Protection”

Valadao Took Part In Creating The Endangered Species Act Working Group To Measure ESA Progress And Ensure “Compatibility Of Property And Water Rights And Species Protection.” “Congressman David G. Valadao (CA-21) today joined other House Republicans in announcing the creation of the Endangered Species Act (ESA) Working Group. The goal of the Working Group is to examine the ESA from all angles. Throughout this year, the Working Group will hold a series of events, forums, and hearings that will invite open discussion and input on ways in which the ESA (last reauthorized in 1988) is working well, how it could be updated, and how to boost its effectiveness for both people and species. The Working Group will examine a number of specific topics and questions including: how to measure ESA progress; how to define its success; if the ESA is working to achieve its goals; whether litigation is driving the ESA; the role of state and local governments in recovering species; whether the ESA ensures compatibility of property and water rights and species protection; the need for public engagement and input; and more.” [Rep. David Valadao, press release, 5/9/13]

Environmental Protection Agency

September 2017: Valadao Voted Against Reducing EPA Funding

Valadao Voted Against Reducing EPA Funding By $1.8 Million, In Line With Trump's FY 2018 Budget Proposal. In September 2017, Valadao voted against: “Norman, R-S.C., amendment that would reduce funding for the EPA by $1.8 million.” The amendment was rejected by a vote of 151-260. [H R 3354, Vote #492, 9/13/17; CQ, 9/13/17]
HEADLINE: The Transparency Bills That Would Gut the EPA [The Atlantic, 3/15/17]

Valadao Voted For The EPA Science Advisory Board Reform Act. In March 2017, Valadao voted for: “passage of a bill that would establish a selection process for members of the EPA’s Science Advisory Board. The bill would require the board’s members represent a variety of scientific and technical viewpoints. It would require board member nominees to disclose financial relationships that would be relevant to EPA advisory activities. It would require the board to generally avoid making policy determinations or recommendations to the EPA.” The bill was passed by a vote of 229-193. [HR 1431, Vote #208, 3/30/17; CQ, 3/30/17]

- NRDC Called The Bill A “Gift To The Chemical Industry” That Would Make It Much More Difficult To Hold Polluting Industries Accountable.” “Another gift to the chemical industry is being wrapped with a bow by the Republican Congress. The EPA Science Advisory Board is meant to provide scientific advice to the EPA, such as reviewing its chemical hazard assessments. But this new Republican Science Advisory Board Act (SAB Act) would instead invite the chemical and regulated industries to help characterize the science of harm about their own hazardous products. This, ultimately, would make it much more difficult to hold polluting industries accountable.” [NRDC, 3/30/17]

- NRDC Said The Bill Would “Encourage Industry Conflicts In The Review Of Scientific Materials” And Hamper The Work And Effectiveness Of The Board, “Undermin[ing] Important Public Health, Safety And Environmental Measures.” “In short, due to these and other provisions, the ‘EPA Science Advisory Board Reform Act of 2017’ would alter the nature of the SAB, which has been largely successful in providing the EPA expert review of key scientific and technical questions, and would encourage industry conflicts in the review of scientific materials. It would also pile new and burdensome requirements on the Board, severely hampering its work and effectiveness. The result would be to further stall and undermine important public health, safety and environmental measures.” [NRDC, 3/30/17]

- Valadao Voted Against An Amendment Prohibiting Any Member Of The EPA Science Advisory Board From Being Employed By Any Interests Before The Board During That Person’s Term And For Three Years After. In March 2017, Valadao voted against: the “Foster, D-Ill., motion to recommit the bill the House Science, Space and Technology Committee with instructions to report it back immediately with an amendment that would prohibit, both during and for three years following a term on the board, Science Advisory Board members from being employed by any entity with interests before the board.” The motion was rejected by a vote of 189-233. [HR 1431, Vote #207, 3/30/17; CQ, 3/30/17]

Valadao Voted For The Honest And Open New EPA Science Treatment (HONEST) Act, Prohibiting The EPA From Proposing A Rule Unless The Scientific Information Backing It Up Was Publicly Available. In March 2017, Valadao voted for: “passage of the bill that would prohibit the EPA from proposing, finalizing or disseminating a rule, regulation or standard unless the scientific and technical information on which the EPA’s decisions relied is publicly available for independent analysis. It would require any personally identifiable information, trade secrets or sensitive business information to be redacted prior to the publication of the scientific information.” The bill was passed by a vote of 228-194. [HR 1430, Vote #206, 3/29/17, CQ, 3/29/17]

- The HONEST Act Would Bar Many Kinds Of Scientific Evidence From Consideration, Including Studies That Included Medical Records, Which Cannot Legally Be Released, And Greatly Increased Costs To Enforce. “For example, it would stop the EPA from crafting public health protections based on studies that use medical records, which are confidential and cannot be legally released. […] The aides I spoke to denied that the process would be unmanageable, noting that every federal agency already redacts plenty of confidential information. But the Congressional Budget Office estimated that old iterations of the HONEST Act would take $250 million a year to enforce, and the new version only allocates an extra $1 million to the added burden of redaction—all while Trump is planning to cut the EPA’s budget.” [The Atlantic, 3/15/17]

• Valadao Voted Against An Amendment Exempting EPA Actions Related To Public Health Threats From The Bill’s Requirement That The Scientific Information Behind The EPA’s Actions Must Be Publicly Available. In March 2017, Valadao voted against: the “McEachin, D-Va., motion to recommit the bill to the House Science, Space and Technology Committee with instructions to report it back immediately with an amendment that would exempt EPA actions taken in response to a public health threat from the bill’s requirement that the scientific information that influenced the EPA’s actions must be publicly available.” The motion was rejected by a vote of 189-232. [HR 1430, Vote #205, 3/29/17; CQ, 3/29/17]

Federal Public Lands

February 2021: Valadao Voted Against On Passage Of The Protecting America’s Wilderness And Public Lands Act, Which Designated Nearly 1.5 Million Acres Of Federal Lands As New, Expanded Or Potential Wilderness Areas

Valadao Voted Against On Passage Of The Protecting America’s Wilderness And Public Lands Act, Which Designated Nearly 1.5 Million Acres Of Federal Lands As New, Expanded Or Potential Wilderness Areas. In February 2021, Valadao voted against: “Passage of the bill, as amended, that would designate nearly 1.5 million acres of federal lands in California, Colorado, and Washington as new, expanded, or potential wilderness areas -- including approximately 626,000 acres in California, approximately 733,000 acres in Colorado and approximately 132,000 acres in Washington -- and designate more than 1,200 river miles in Northern California and the Washington Olympic Peninsula as wild, scenic or recreational rivers. It would designate over 1.2 million acres of additional federal lands in California as restoration, recreation, and other protected areas; expand or establish a number of National Park System monuments, recreation areas and other lands in California and Colorado; and effectively prohibit new mining or mineral production activities by withdrawing mineral and geothermal leasing rights for a number of federal lands, including approximately 1 million acres in the Grand Canyon region of Arizona and approximately 200,000 acres within the Thompson Divide in Colorado. Among other provisions, the bill would establish a public-private partnership -- made up of federal, state, and local government officials, and private stakeholders -- to facilitate environmental remediation of federal lands and waters in California damaged by illegal marijuana operations. It would preserve a number of existing rights and usages on designated lands, such as low-level helicopter operations and high altitude training by the military. As amended, it would establish a formal system for designation and management of National Heritage Areas; reauthorize the Cape Cod National Seashore Advisory Commission for 10 years; and designate or require studies on additional lands in several other states, including to expand two national monuments in Arizona and establish the island of St. Croix in the Virgin Islands as a National Heritage Area.” The bill passed by a vote of 227 – 200. [HR 803, Vote #45, 2/26/21; CQ, 2/26/21]

February 2021: Valadao Voted For An Amendment That Would Remove Designation Of Potential Wilderness Areas, Block The Bill From Taking Effect Until Certification That No Renewable Energy Jobs Would Be Lost, And Exempt Lands From The Bill’s Provisions

Valadao Voted For An Amendment That Would Remove Designation Of Potential Wilderness Areas, Block The Bill From Taking Effect Until Certification That No Renewable Energy Jobs Would Be Lost, And Exempt Lands From The Bill’s Provisions. In February 2021, Valadao voted for: “Neguse, D-Colo., en bloc amendments no. 2 that would, among other provisions, strike from the bill all provisions that would designate
"potential wilderness" areas; prohibit the bill’s provisions from taking effect until the Interior Department certifies that no renewable energy jobs would be lost as a result of the bill's enactment; require local counties to approve any mineral leasing withdrawals in the bill; postpone the bill's withdrawal of lands from eligibility for mining and mineral leasing until the Interior Department determines that there are no mineral or geothermal resources present in the lands to be withdrawn, other than uranium; and exempt lands in a number of congressional districts from the bill's provisions.” The Amendment was rejected by a vote of 197-226. [HR 803, Vote #43, 2/26/21; CQ, 2/26/21]

Valadao Voted For A Resolution Allowing Congress To More Easily Sell Federal Lands Without Concern For Taxpayer Costs, And Establish Fines For Using Cameras On The House Floor. In January 2017, Valadao voted for the “Adoption of the resolution that would establish the rules of the House for the 115th Congress. Many of the rules that were in effect at the end of the 114th Congress would carry over. Among the rules changes, it would set monetary fines for using electronic devices on the House floor to take photos or videos.” The resolution was adopted by a vote of 234-193. [HRes 5, Vote #6, 1/3/17; CQ, 1/3/17]

Valadao Voted To Nullify A Bureau Of Land Management Rule Directing The Agency To Develop Management Plans For Public Lands And Include Public Opinion. In February 2017, Valadao voted for the “adoption of the rule (H Res 91) that would provide for House floor consideration of a joint resolution of (H J Res 44) that would nullify a Bureau of Land Management rule that modifies the BLM’s process of assessing and planning the development of public lands by increasing public involvement.” According to the Denver Post, “The U.S. House of Representatives on Tuesday voted to kill a federal rule that gives Americans more of a voice in large-scale planning for projects using public land […] [HJ Res 44] would nullify the Bureau of Land Management’s ‘Planning 2.0’ rule that took effect in December. That rule governs all planning for future uses of 250 million acres of federal public land that is concentrated in the West.” The rule was adopted by a vote of 233-186. [HJRes 44, Vote #82, 2/7/17; Denver Post, 2/7/17; CQ, 2/7/17]
Valadao Voted Against An Amendment To Designate Or Expand New Wilderness Areas On Federal Land

Valadao Voted Against An Amendment To Designate Or Expand New Wilderness Areas On Federal Land. In September 2021, Valadao voted against: “DeGette, D-Colo., amendment no. 16 that would insert certain provisions from a bill (HR 803) related to designating certain federal lands in California, Colorado and Washington as new, expanded or potential wilderness areas.” The amendment was adopted 222 to 200. [HR 4350, Vote #273, 9/22/21; CQ, 9/23/21]

Valadao Voted Against An Amendment To Modify Land Use Authorities To Preserve Federal Land In Colorado And The Grand Canyon Region

Valadao Voted Against An Amendment To Modify Land Use Authorities To Preserve Federal Land In Colorado And The Grand Canyon Region. In September 2021, Valadao voted against: “Neguse, D-Colo., amendment no. 17 that would insert the provisions of bills (HR 577 and HR 1052) that would modify land use authorities for certain federal lands in Colorado and the Grand Canyon region of Arizona.” The amendment was adopted 222 to 204. [HR 4350, Vote #274, 9/22/21; CQ, 9/23/21]

Oil & Gas

Valadao Voted To Approve The Keystone XL Pipeline And Voted Against Holding Pipeline Owners Liable For Explosions Or Paying For Spills

January 2015: Valadao Voted To Approve The Keystone XL Pipeline

Valadao Voted To Approve The Keystone XL Pipeline. In January 2015, Valadao voted for approving the Keystone XL pipeline. “The House voted Friday to approve the Keystone XL pipeline, seizing on the momentum from a Nebraska Supreme Court ruling hours earlier that removed the last major legal obstacle to building the politically charged oil project.” The bill passed 266 to 153. [HR 3, Vote #16, 1/9/15; Politico, 1/9/15]

January 2015: Valadao Voted Against Motion To Require Pipeline Owners, Not Taxpayers, Are Liable For Any Cleanup Costs Associated With Pipeline Explosion

Valadao Voted Against Motion To Require Pipeline Owners, Not Taxpayers, Are Liable For Any Cleanup Costs Associated With Pipeline Explosion. In January 2015, Valadao voted against a motion to recommit that would require that natural gas pipeline owners, not taxpayers, are liable for any damages, repair, and clean-up in the wake of a natural gas pipeline explosion. [HR 161, Vote #40, 1/21/15; Democratic Leader – Motions to Recommit, 1/21/15]

May 2013: Valadao Voted Against A Measure To Require TransCanada, The Developer Of The Keystone XL Pipeline, To Pay For Oil Spills

Valadao Voted Against A Measure To Require TransCanada, The Developer Of The Keystone XL Pipeline, To Pay For Oil Spills. In May 2013, Valadao voted against a “motion to recommit the bill to the House Transportation and Infrastructure Committee and report it back immediately with an amendment that would require TransCanada to pay for cleanup of oil spills on U.S. soil.” The motion failed 194 to 223. [HR 3, Vote #178, 5/22/13; CQ, 5/22/13]
Valadao Repeatedly Voted Against Limiting The Release Of Methane From Oil And Gas Operations

2017: Valadao Voted For Nullifying A Bureau Of Land Management “Methane Rule” To Limit The Release Of Methane From Oil And Gas Operations On Federal Land

Valadao Voted For Nullifying A Bureau Of Land Management “Methane Rule” To Limit The Release Of Methane From Oil And Gas Operations On Federal Land. In February 2017, Valadao voted for: “a Congressional Review Act resolution to nullify the Bureau of Land Management’s rule to limit the release of methane from oil and gas operations on federal land. […] The Interior Department’s BLM finalized the venting and flaring rule - also known as the methane rule - in November. It requires oil and gas operators to control releases of waste methane - a potent greenhouse gas - by adopting new technologies, more frequently inspecting for leaks and replacing outdated equipment that discharges large amounts of natural gas.” The resolution was passed by a vote of 221-191. [HJRes 36, Vote #78, 2/3/17; CQ News, 2/3/17]

- Valadao Voted For Prohibiting The EPA From Enforcing The “Methane Rule.” In September 2017, Valadao voted for: “Mullin, R-Okla., amendment that would prohibit the use of funds appropriated by the bill to enforce rules relating to source performance standards for greenhouse gas emissions and volatile organic compound emissions from the oil and natural gas sector.” The amendment was adopted by a vote of 218-195. [H R 3354, Vote #488, 9/13/17; CQ, 9/13/17]

2021: Valadao Voted Against Congressional Disapproval Of The Trump Administration’s Methane Rule And Reinstating The Obama Administration’s Methane Emission Standards

Valadao Voted Against Congressional Disapproval Of The Trump Administration’s Methane Rule And Reinstating The Obama Administration’s Methane Emission Standards. In June 2021, Valadao Voted Against: “Passage of the joint resolution that would provide for congressional disapproval of a September 2020 Environmental Protection Agency rule that reversed 2012 and 2016 rules establishing emission standards -- or new source performance standards -- to limit the amount of methane and volatile organic compounds that can be released in the production, processing, transportation and storage of oil and natural gas. Specifically, the 2020 rule rescinded the methane-specific standards and rescinded the applicability of all standards to transportation and storage activities. The rule also required the EPA, before promulgating new air pollutant standards, to determine that the pollutant causes or contributes significantly to dangerous air pollution. The rule took effect on September 14, 2020. Under the provisions of the joint resolution, the 2020 rule would have no force or effect, and the Obama-era emission standards would be effectively reinstated.” The resolution passed, 229-191. [SJ Res 14, Vote #185, 6/25/21; CQ, 6/25/21]

- In 2016, The EPA Adopted A Rule That Required Oil And Gas Companies To Limit Methane Leaks And Emissions Which Was Later Reversed By The Trump Administration. “‘This is a really encouraging step because methane is such an important greenhouse gas to reduce,’ Drew Shindell, an earth science professor at Duke University, said of Wednesday’s vote. ‘It sends a signal that the administration is serious about this.’ In 2016, the Environmental Protection Agency adopted a rule requiring oil and gas companies to curb methane leaks and emissions from their operations. Late last summer, the Trump administration undid it.” [Washington Post, 4/28/21]

- The Measure Restored Requirements On Companies To Check Every Six Months For Methane Leaks From Equipment Installed After 2015—And Must Ensure Leaks Are Fixed Within 30 Days Of Being Detected. “If enacted, the measure would restore requirements on companies to check every six months for methane leaks from pipelines, storage tanks and other equipment installed after 2015 — and plug any leak within 30 days after it is detected.” [Washington Post, 4/28/21]
In 2015, Valadao Voted To Lift A 40-Year Ban On The Export Of Crude Oil Produced In The U.S. And In 2021 Signed A Letter Expressing Opposition To Reinstating The Crude Oil Export Ban

2015: Valadao Voted To Lift A 40-Year Ban On The Export Of Crude Oil Produced In The U.S.

In October 2015, Valadao voted for a bill that would allow the export of crude oil produced in the United States by removing the export ban imposed by the 1975 Energy Policy and Conservation Act. “Most [Democrats], though, opposed Barton’s bill, arguing that its economic impact is overblown and that it will endanger jobs in the refining sector. They also cite environmental risks in pumping more oil for exports. ‘This legislation eagerly embraces short-term profits and benefits without understanding — or even considering — the cost of such a major action,’ Rep. Frank Pallone Jr. (D-N.J.) said.” According to the Wall Street Journal, “The White House has threatened to veto the bill, saying it ‘is not needed at this time.’” The bill passed 261 to 159. [HR 702, Vote #549, 10/9/15; The Hill, 10/9/15; Wall Street Journal, 10/9/15]

2021: Valadao Signed A GOP Letter To Sec. Granholm Expressing Opposition To Reinstating The Crude Oil Export Ban

2014: Valadao Voted Against Forbidding Oil And Gas Exports To State Sponsors Of Terrorism

2014: Valadao Voted Against Forbidding Oil And Gas Exports To Supporters Of Al Qaeda, ISIL And Others

2014: Valadao voted against: a “Schneider, D-III., motion to recommit the bill to the House Natural Resources and Energy and Commerce committees and report it back immediately with an amendment that would require the establishment of a Treasury Department account for $10 million per year of revenues generated from the bill to be used by the Commodity Futures Trading Commission. It also would require that any lease issued under the bill specify that natural gas products cannot be exported to any nation or organization that provides support to terrorists or steals American military technology.” The motion failed 193-222. [HR 2, Vote #514, 9/18/14; CQ, 9/18/14]

2014: Valadao voted against a motion that would bar the Department of Energy from granting authorization for national gas exports to any nation that was a state sponsor of terrorism. In June 2014, Valadao voted against: a “Garamendi, D-Calif., motion to recommit the bill to the House Energy and Commerce Committee and report it back immediately with an amendment that would bar the Energy Department from granting authorization for applicants to export natural gas if the export would increase the price of natural gas, electricity or home heating for seniors on fixed incomes. It would bar authorization if the gas would be exported to any nation that is a state sponsor of terrorism or any nation or corporation that illegally obtains military technology or intellectual property through cyber attacks.” The motion failed 192-225. [HR 6, Vote #358, 6/25/14; CQ, 6/25/14]

2017: Valadao Voted To Protect Oil & Gas Companies From Publicly Disclosing Payments To Foreign Governments

2017: Valadao Voted To Protect Oil & Gas Companies From Publicly Disclosing Payments To Foreign Governments. In February 2017, Valadao voted for “passage of the joint resolution that would nullify a Securities and Exchange Commission rule that requires companies that develop oil, natural gas or minerals to publicly report in detail payments to foreign governments or to the U.S. government totaling at least $100,000 annually per project for extraction, exploration or export of these resources.” The resolution passed by a vote of 235-187. [HJRes 41, Vote #72, 2/1/17; CQ, 2/1/17]

2013: Valadao Voted Against Considering Bill To Protect Consumers From Price-Gouging On Gasoline

2013: Valadao Voted Against Consideration Of A Bill To Protect Consumers From Price-Gouging Of Gasoline And Other Fuels. In July 2013, Valadao voted for “Burgess, R-Texas, motion to order the previous question (thus ending debate and the possibility of amendment) on the rule (H Res 315) to provide for House floor consideration of the bill (HR 2218) that would let states create and implement their own permit programs for coal combustion residuals and the bill (HR 1582) that would block the EPA from finalizing certain energy rules if they are found to have significant adverse effects on the economy.” Rep. Tim Bishop, who offered the motion, said on the House floor that he urged “my colleagues to defeat the previous question so that the House can consider pro-consumer, job-protecting legislation, the Federal Price Gouging Prevention Act, which would deter the sale of gasoline at excessive prices.” The previous question was approved 224-191. A vote against the motion would have allowed for consideration of the price gouging bill [H Res 315, Vote #399, 7/24/13; CQ, 7/24/13]

Renewable Energy

June 2018: Valadao Voted For An Energy Appropriations Bill That Cut Renewable Energy Programs And Rolled Back Clean Water Protections

Valadao Voted For A $146.5 Energy-Water-Legislative Branch-Veterans Affairs Appropriations For Fiscal Year 2019. In June 2018, Valadao voted for: “Passage of the bill, as amended, that would provide $146.5 billion in discretionary funding for fiscal 2019 to various departments, agencies and legislative operations, including $44.7 billion for the Energy Department, the Army Corps of Engineers, the Interior Department’s Bureau of Reclamation; $98 billion for military construction activities and for VA programs and activities; and $3.8 billion for operations of the House of Representatives, joint House-Senate items and legislative branch entities such as the Library of Congress, the Capitol Police, and the Government Accountability Office. It would provide $11.2 billion for programs that maintain and refurbish nuclear weapons in the United States’ stockpile. As amended, it would provide $1.1 billion in funding for the Veterans Community Care Program.” The bill passed by a vote of 235-179. [HR 5895, Vote #257, 6/8/18; CQ, 6/8/18]

- The Bill Included Cuts To Renewable Energy Research, Funding For Yucca Mountain Nuclear Waste Repository, And Rider To Repeal “Waters Of The United States” Rule. “House lawmakers want more money for nuclear weapon modernization efforts while introducing cuts to renewable energy research. It also would set aside funding for the Yucca Mountain nuclear waste repository in Nevada and continue funding for the mixed oxide fuel fabrication facility in South Carolina. The House bill includes controversial policy riders meant to ease the repeal of the EPA-Army Corps joint ‘Waters of the United States’ regulation. Democrats have called the measure a “poison pill” unlikely to survive Senate scrutiny.” [CQ, 6/8/18]

- Rep. Lowey: Republicans Attached Veterans Affairs Appropriations To Energy Appropriations To Force Through Cuts To Clean Energy Initiatives And Roll Back Clean Water Protections. “This broken process has a simple aim: Republicans are using America’s veterans as pawns to force through cuts to clean energy research and harmful policy provisions that weaken environmental safeguards. […] With gas prices approaching $3 a gallon, the bill cuts energy efficiency and renewable energy initiatives. It cuts transformational science efforts, such as the successful and popular ARPA-E program. Just as bad, it contains many harmful riders, including rolling back clean water protections, blocking the National Oceans Policy, further endangering salmon on the Columbia River, and weakening gun safety rules on public lands.” [Rep. Lowey Floor Statement, 6/7/18]

May 2021: Valadao Introduced The Biodiesel, Renewable Diesel And Alternative Fuels Extension Act Of 2021 That Would Add To And Then Taper Off A Set Of Incentives That Lowered The Cost Of Producing Transportation Fuels Made From Renewable Resources

Valadao Introduced The Biodiesel, Renewable Diesel And Alternative Fuels Extension Act Of 2021 That Would Add To And Then Taper Off A Set Of Incentives That Lowered The Cost Of Producing Transportation Fuels Made From Renewable Resources. “Legislation introduced Tuesday by congressmen including Rep. David Valadao, R-Hanford, would extend federal tax credits supporting the production of biodiesel and other renewable fuels seen as key to Kern's economic diversification push. The bill, dubbed the Biodiesel, Renewable Diesel and Alternative Fuels Extension Act of 2021, would add years to but taper off a set of incentives that since 2005 have lowered the cost of producing transportation fuels made from corn and soybeans, as well as those derived from rendered animal fats, used cooking oil and solid agricultural waste known as biomass.” [Bakersfield Californian, 5/18/21]

- Supporters Of The Tax Credits In The Legislation Said It Helped Reduce Greenhouse-Gas Emissions. “Supporters say the tax credits at issue in the bill help reduce greenhouse-gas emissions and therefore mitigate the impacts of climate change while also supporting good jobs. Valadao said in a news release renewable fuels targeted by the bill represent an important component of California's supply of transportation fuels. Although the legislation would phase out the tax credits over time, they remain ‘critically needed today’ to make their production economically viable.” [Bakersfield Californian, 5/18/21]

December 2021: Valadao Co-Sponsored The Make Energy Affordable Act That Would Require The Administration To Create A Report On Rising Energy Prices

Valadao Co-Sponsored The Make Energy Affordable Act That Would Require The Administration To Create A Report On Rising Energy Prices. “I cosponsored the Make Energy Affordable Act, requiring the Admin to create a report on rising energy prices. It’s important Americans understand how these failed energy policies are making it more expensive to drive your kids to school & keep your family warm this winter.” [@RepDavidValadao Twitter, 12/16/21]

Wildfires

Valadao Co-Authored An Op-Ed With Rep. Jim Costa Calling For California To Implement More Firefighting Aircrafts. “The year 2020 will be etched in history not only for the pandemic that swept the nation, but also for the devastating wildfire season California experienced that left hardly any region of the state untouched and set a record for the most acres burned in a single year at 4.1 million, leaving the Central Valley to struggle with harmful air pollution for dangerous periods of time. Unfortunately, as we begin the new year with fires and public safety power shutoffs due to high winds that stretched from Los Angeles to the Central Valley and Bay Area, 2021 is on track to be yet another record-breaking year. It's well known that California has a history with destructive wildfires, which is why it's home to some of the most advanced firefighting operations in the country through the California Department of Forestry and Fire Protection and the U.S. Forest Service. These organizations have an extensive fleet of firefighting aircraft and access to a large crew of trained local, state, federal and volunteer firefighters.” [Sacramento Bee, Jim Costa & David G. Valadao Op-Ed, 4/8/21]

Valadao Voted Against The Paycheck Fairness Act. In April 2021, Valadao voted against: “Passage of the bill that would narrow the legal defense an employer may use in a lawsuit alleging pay discrimination on the basis of sex. Specifically, it would require employers to demonstrate that a difference in pay between employees is based on a business-related ‘bona fide factor other than sex, such as education, training, or experience’ as opposed to being based on ‘any factor other than sex.’ It would prohibit employers from retaliating against employees involved in lawsuits under fair labor standards law; prohibit employers from relying on a prospective employee's wage history for hiring or wage determinations; increase employers' liability for compensatory or punitive damages related to pay discrimination violations; and provide for automatic inclusion of all affected individuals in class action lawsuits related to pay discrimination. Among other provisions, the bill would authorize a new Labor Department grant program for public and private entities to carry out negotiation skills training programs to address pay disparities. It would establish an annual national award for an employer that made a ‘substantial effort to eliminate pay disparities between men and women.’ It would require the Labor Department to conduct a number of studies on sex-based pay disparities and require the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission to collect compensation data disaggregated by employees' sex, race and national origin. It would require the Labor Department and EEOC to provide technical assistance for small businesses to comply with the bill’s provisions. It would add a definition of ‘sex’ with respect to federal fair labor standards law, which would include sexual orientation or gender identity.” According to CNBC, the Paycheck Fairness Act “aims to eliminate the gender pay gap and strengthen workplace protections for women.” The bill passed 217 to 210. [HR 7, Vote #108, 4/15/21; CQ, 4/15/21; CNBC, 4/16/21]

- The Paycheck Fairness Act Aimed “To Eliminate The Gender Pay Gap And Strengthen Workplace Protections For Women.” “The Paycheck Fairness Act, which aims to eliminate the gender pay gap and strengthen workplace protections for women, passed the House of Representatives on Thursday in a 217-210 vote […] Biden added that a full passage of the Paycheck Fairness Act by Congress would address the wage gap by ‘closing loopholes that have allowed employers to justify gender pay disparities, strengthening provisions for holding employers accountable for systemic pay discrimination, and helping level the playing field for women and people of color by making it easier for workers to challenge pay disparities as a group. Additionally, he said the Paycheck Fairness Act would make it illegal for employers to ask employees about their salary history in the hiring process and promote pay transparency by requiring more employers to report pay data to the government. Right now, at least 18 states already have laws in place that ban employers from asking about salary history.” [CNBC, 4/16/21]

- Valadao Voted For An Amendment Granting A “Safe Harbor” For Employers Facing Legal Action For Pay Discrimination If They Took “Reasonable Steps” To Correct The Disparities. In April 2021, Valadao voted for: “Miller-Meeks, R-Iowa, for Stefanik, R-N.Y., substitute amendment no. 4 that would, among other provisions, provide a safe harbor such that employers would not be liable in legal action related to pay discrimination if the employer conducted a voluntary audit of its pay practices within the previous three years and took ‘reasonable steps’ to correct any compensation disparities found by the audit that may have violated fair labor law. It would prohibit employers from requesting or relying on the wage history of a prospective employee for consideration of employment, unless a prospective employee voluntarily discloses such information. It would make it unlawful for employers to prohibit employees from inquiring about, discussing or disclosing wages but allow employers to limit the time, place and circumstances during which employees may do so.” The amendment was rejected 183 to 244. [HR 7, Vote #107, 4/15/21; CQ, 4/15/21]

2015: Valadao Voted To Block Consideration Of The Paycheck Fairness Act

2015: Valadao Voted To Block Consideration Of The Paycheck Fairness Act. In April 2015 Valadao voted for “Sessions, R-Texas, motion to order the previous question (thus ending debate and possibility of amendment) on adoption of the rule (H Res 189) to provide for House floor consideration of the bill to exclude insurance paid at closing into escrow, as well as fees paid to lender-affiliated companies, from the three percent limit on points and fees imposed on qualified mortgages by redefining "points and fees" under the Truth in Lending Act. It also would provide for floor consideration of the bill to modify federal rules regarding high-cost-mortgages as they apply to manufactured housing. The rule also would take the fiscal 2016 Senate budget resolution from the Speaker's table, adopt a substitute amendment consisting of the text of the fiscal 2016 House budget resolution, as adopted by the House, and would adopt the concurrent resolution, as amended.” According to the Democratic Leader’s office, The Democratic Previous Question demands the House vote on a key measure to end the pay gap between men and women and ensure equal pay for equal work: the Paycheck Fairness Act (HR 1619).” The previous question passed 239 to 183. A vote against the previous question would have allowed the bill to be considered. [H. Res. 189, Vote #148, 4/14/15; Bloomberg, 4/14/15; CQ, 4/14/15; Democratic Leader – Previous Questions, 4/14/15]

2015: Valadao Voted To Block Consideration Of The Paycheck Fairness Act. In April 2015, Valadao voted for “Stivers, R-Ohio, motion to order the previous question (thus ending debate and possibility of amendment) on adoption of the rule (H Res 200) that would provide for House floor consideration of the bill (HR 622) that would make permanent the ability of taxpayers to deduct state and local sales taxes in lieu of state and local income taxes, the bill (HR 1105) that would repeal the federal estate tax and repeal the generation-skipping transfer tax, and the bill (HR 1195) that would establish a small business advisory board, credit union advisory council and community bank advisory council for the Consumer Financial Protection Bureau.” According to the Democratic Leader’s office, “The Democratic Previous Question demands the House vote on a key measure to end the pay gap between men and women and ensure equal pay for equal work: the Paycheck Fairness Act (HR 1619).” The previous question passed 240 to 183. A vote against the previous question would have allowed the bill to be considered. [H. Res. 200, Vote #154, 4/15/15; CQ, 4/15/15; Democratic Leader – Previous Questions, 4/15/15]

- Bloomberg: The Legislation Protect Workers Who Share Information About Their Wages, Require Employers To Explain Pay Disparities, And Allow Employees To Seek “Unlimited” Punitive Damages In Wage Bias Cases. “The legislation would protect workers from retaliation for sharing information about their wages, require employers to explain any pay disparities among workers performing the same job, and allow employees to seek unlimited punitive damages in wage bias cases.” [Bloomberg, 4/14/15]

2014: Valadao Voted To Block Consideration Of The Paycheck Fairness Act. In April 2014, Valadao voted for “Woodall, R-Ga., motion to order the previous question (thus ending debate and possibility of amendment) on the rule (H Res 544) that would provide for House floor consideration of the fiscal 2015 budget resolution.” According to the Democratic Leader’s office, “The Previous Question would amend the rule to allow for consideration of the Paycheck Fairness Act and bipartisan Senate UI extension.” A vote against the previous question would have allowed the bill to be considered. The previous question passed, 219-190. [H Res 544, Vote #169, 4/8/14; CQ, 4/8/14]

2013: Valadao Voted To Block Consideration Of The Paycheck Fairness Act. In May 2013, Valadao voted for a “motion to order the previous question (thus ending debate and possibility of amendment) on the rule (H Res 198) that would provide for House floor consideration of the bill that would allow private-sector employers to offer workers compensatory time off instead of overtime pay, at a rate of 1.5 hours per hour of overtime work.” According to the Democratic Leader’s office, “The Previous Question would amend the rule to allow for consideration of the ‘Paycheck Fairness Act’ (H.R. 377) which bolsters the Equal Pay Act by closing loopholes and imposing effective penalties on employers who discriminate based on gender.” A vote against the previous question would have allowed the bill to be considered. The previous question passed 230 to 198. [H Res 198, Vote #132, 5/7/13; CQ, 5/7/13; Congressional Record, 5/7/13]

2013: Valadao Voted To Block Consideration Of The Paycheck Fairness Act. In April 2013, Valadao voted for “Foxx, R-N.C., motion to order the previous question (thus ending debate and possibility of amendment) on the rule (H Res 146) that would provide for House floor consideration of the bill that would require the National Labor Relations Board to cease all activities that require a quorum of members until certain conditions are met.” According to the Democratic Leader’s office, “The Previous Question would amend the rule to allow for consideration of the Paycheck Fairness Act (H.R. 377), which strengthens the Equal Pay Act by closing loopholes and imposing effective penalties on employers who discriminate based on gender.” A vote against the previous question would have allowed for consideration of the Paycheck Fairness Act. The previous question was approved 226-192.. [H Res 146, Vote #97, 4/11/13; CQ, 4/11/13]

Equal Rights Amendment

Valadao Voted Against Removing The Deadline For Ratification Of The Equal Rights Amendment

Valadao Voted Against Removing The Deadline For Ratification Of The Equal Rights Amendment. In March 2021, Valadao voted against: “Passage of the joint resolution that would remove the deadline for ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment to the Constitution, which would state that "equality of rights under the law shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any State on account of sex." The ERA was proposed to the states in 1972, with a seven-year deadline for ratification, which was subsequently extended through June 1982. The joint resolution would make the proposed constitutional amendment valid as part of the Constitution whenever ratified by three-fourths of the states.” The resolution passed by a vote of 222-204. [H J Res 17, Vote #82, 3/17/21; CQ, 3/17/21]

Workplace Discrimination

Valadao Repeatedly Voted Against Protecting Older Workers Against Age Discrimination

Valadao Voted Against Protecting Older Workers Against Discrimination Act Of 2021. In June 2021, Valadao voted against: “Passage of the bill, as amended, that would specify that adverse actions by an employer in which age was a motivating factor shall be considered unlawful under federal employment law regarding age discrimination. It would specify that a complaining party under such law would not be required to demonstrate that age was the sole motivating factor of an adverse action, thus effectively reversing the 2009 Supreme Court decision in Gross v. FBL Financial Services, Inc. It would establish the same standard of proof in the case of employment discrimination based on disability or retaliation against an employee who opposes unlawful employment practices or participates in investigations or litigations related to such practices. In age-based employment discrimination cases where a court determines that an adverse action would have been taken in the absence of age-based motivation, the bill would allow courts to grant declaratory or injunctive relief and attorneys fees, but prohibit courts from awarding damages or ordering reparative actions by the respondent. As amended, it would require the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission to submit reports to Congress on the number of age discrimination in employment claims brought under the bill's provisions; disparities faced by individuals with characteristics protected under existing anti-discrimination law in pursuing employment discrimination relief under the mixed-motive evidentiary standard; and the number of pending or filed claims by women impacted by age-based employment discrimination.” The bill passed, 247-178. [HR 2062, Vote #180, 6/23/21; CQ, 6/23/21]

- The Oregonian: The Bill Would “Enact New Protections Against Age Discrimination In The Workplace” And “Give Older Workers The Same Safeguards Other Protected Groups Enjoy.” “The U.S. House of Representatives voted Wednesday to enact new protections against age discrimination in the workplace, approving a bill that supporters say will give older workers the same safeguards other protected groups enjoy. […] The House voted 261 to 155 to approve a bill known as the Protect Older Workers Against Discrimination Act (POWADA). Every Democratic representative who cast a vote supported the bill, joined by 34 Republicans. Supporters say the bill would restore protections older workers lost in a 2009 Supreme Court ruling, which established that older workers must demonstrate the age was the decisive factor – not just a contributing factor – when suing for age discrimination.” [Oregonian, 1/15/20]

November 2021: Valadao Voted Against Protections Against Age Discrimination For Job Applicants

November 2021: Valadao Voted Against Protections Against Age Discrimination For Job Applicants. In November 2021 Valadao voted against: “Passage of the bill, as amended, that would prohibit an employer from discriminating against a job applicant in a way that would deprive the job applicant of employment opportunities or otherwise adversely affect the applicant's status based on the applicant's age.” The bill passed by a vote of 224-200. [H.R.,3992, Vote #358, 11/4/21; CQ, 11/4/21]

- Valadao Voted For An Amendment To Conduct A Disparate Impact Claims Study On Job Applicants, Delaying The Effective Date For Age Discrimination Protections. In November 2021 Valadao voted for: “Keller, R-Pa., amendment no. 2 that would delay the bill's effective date until the Government Accountability
Office conducts a study and reports to Congress on whether not allowing job applicants to file disparate impact claims has a negative impact on such applicants. It would stipulate that the bill's provisions would not take effect if the study shows there is not a significant negative impact on such applicants.” The amendment was rejected by a vote of 197-228. [H.R. 3992, Vote #357, 11/4/21; CQ, 11/4/21]

- Valadao Voted Against An Amendment To Conduct A Study On Job Applicants’ Age Discrimination Claims. In November 2021 Valadao voted against: “Pappas, D-N.H., amendment no. 1 that would require the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission to conduct a study, within one enactment, to determine the number of pending or filed claims, including claims in closed cases, by individuals who may have been adversely impacted by age discrimination in the job application process. It would require the commission to submit to Congress and make publicly available a report on study results including recommendations for best practices to address age discrimination in the hiring process.” The amendment was adopted by a vote of 225-201. [H.R. 3992, Vote #356, 11/4/21; CQ, 11/4/21]

Valadao Voted Against Reversing A Trump Administration Rule That Changed What Information The Equal Employment Opportunity Commission Would Share With Companies Accused Of Discrimination. In June 2021, Valadao Voted Against: “Passage of the joint resolution that would provide for congressional disapproval of a January 2021 rule modifying requirements for the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission conciliation process, by which the agency is required to attempt to settle unfair employment practice claims with an employer prior to taking legal action against the employer, including through an agreement that the employer will eliminate the practice and provide affirmative relief. The rule went into effect on Feb. 16, 2021, and requires the EEOC to present employers with certain information related to a claim, including to provide a written summary of the legal basis for its determination that there is reasonable cause to believe an unlawful practice occurred; identify individuals who filed the claim unless they requested anonymity; and explain its decision-making related to the basis for affirmative relief and the legal designation for the case. Under the provisions of the joint resolution, the January 2021 rule would have no force or effect.” The resolution passed, 219-210. [SJ Res 13, Vote #183, 6/24/21; CQ, 6/24/21]

- The Trump Administration Rule Required The EEOC To Provide Information To Employers When Initiating A Settlement Process Including A Summary Of The Case Facts, Identities Of Witnesses And Victims, And The Legal Basis For Discrimination Findings. “The January rule would have required the EEOC to provide information to employers upon initiating the settlement, or "conciliation," process, including a summary of the facts of a case, the identities of witnesses and alleged victims, and the legal basis for a finding that discrimination has occurred. The Republican-led commission said the changes would encourage settlements by allowing employers to weigh the merits of bias complaints early on in the process.” [Reuters, 7/1/21]

- Opponents Of The January Rule Argued That It Diverted Limited EEOC Resources Away From Combating Discrimination And Delayed Cases. “But many Democrats and worker advocates said it would divert the EEOC's limited resources away from combating discrimination and delay cases, including by creating a new avenue for time-consuming appeals. In a statement issued last month, the White House criticized the rule's ‘onerous and rigid new procedures,’ and said it would increase the risk of retaliation against workers who file complaints or participate in discrimination investigations.” [Reuters, 7/1/21]
Valadao Voted For Passage Of The Pregnant Workers Fairness Act, Requiring Public Employers And Private Employers With At Least 15 Employees “To Make Reasonable Accommodations To Employees For Known Limitations Related To Pregnancy.” In May 2021, Valadao voted for: “Passage of the bill that would require public employers and private employers with at least 15 employees to make reasonable accommodations to employees for known limitations related to pregnancy, childbirth or related medical conditions, unless the employer demonstrates that such accommodations would impose an undue hardship on their operations. It would prohibit employers from denying employment opportunities to or retaliating against such employees based on the need to provide accommodations. It would prohibit employers from requiring such employees to take paid or unpaid leave if reasonable accommodations can be provided or to accept any accommodation other than a reasonable accommodation arrived at through an interactive process between the employer and employee. It would also provide legal remedies for employees denied reasonable accommodations, including rights to compensatory damages, lost pay and reasonable attorney fees, and it would require the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, within two years of enactment, to issue regulations to carry out the bill's provisions, including to provide examples of reasonable accommodations for pregnant workers.” The bill passed 315 to 101. [H R 1065, Vote #143, 5/14/21; CQ, 5/14/21]

Valadao Voted For Expanded Employer Requirements To Provide Reasonable Breaks And A Non-Bathroom Private Place For Breastfeeding. In October 2021 Valadao voted for: “Passage of the bill, as amended, that would expand requirements for employers to provide breaks for employees to pump breast milk and allow employees to seek restitution for violations of such requirements. Specifically, the bill would require all employers to provide reasonable breaks as needed and a private place other than a bathroom for employees to express breast milk for a period of two years after such need arises. It would specify that employers would not be required to compensate employees for break time provided unless otherwise required by federal, state or local law. It would specify that break time would be considered hours worked if the employee is not completely relieved from duty during the entirety of the break. It would establish an effective date of 120 days after enactment and require the Labor Department, within 60 days of enactment, to issue guidance with respect to employer compliance. In seeking legal remedy against an employer that does not comply with the bill's requirements, it would generally require the employee to inform the employer and give them 10 days to provide accommodations prior to commencing legal action. It would provide an undue hardship exemption for employers of fewer than 50 employees. For air carriers, it would establish a separate effective date of one year after enactment; specify that accommodations would not have to completely relieve crewmembers from duty during in-flight breaks or provide breaks during critical phases of flight; and require the Federal Aviation Administration to propose regulations identifying appropriate means for air carrier compliance and updating federal law to ensure that expressing breast milk is considered a ‘physiological need.’” The bill passed by a vote of 276-149. In The Midst Of Disastrous Wildfires In California In 2017, Valadao Voted For A Bill That Inadequately Funded Firefighting While Repealing Environmental Protections And Regulations On The Logging Industry

In 2017, The Thomas Fire In Southern California Burned More Than 280,000 Acres That Resulted In 1,063 Destroyed Structures And One Fatality

Washington Post: “The Wildfires That Raced Across California In 2017 Caused Historic Levels Of Death And Destruction.” “The wildfires that raced across California in 2017 caused historic levels of death and destruction. Nearly 9,000 wildfires tore through the state, burning 1.2 million acres of land (an area the size of Delaware or the Larsen C iceberg), destroying more than 10,800 structures and killing at least 46 people.” [Washington Post, 1/4/18]

The Thomas Fire Burned More Than 280,000 Acres Across Southern California. “The Thomas Fire was first reported on Dec. 4 and became a blazing behemoth that has scorched more than 280,000 acres across Southern California. It’s the largest fire ever to be recorded in California — so large it would engulf much of the Washington metropolitan area.” [Washington Post, 1/4/18]

- The First Destroyed 1,063 Structures And Killed One Person. “It destroyed 1,063 structures and killed one person, a 32-year-old firefighter from Escondido, Calif. And it’s still burning. As of Wednesday, state fire officials said the blaze is about 92 percent contained. A full containment, they estimated, won’t happen until late January.” [Washington Post, 1/4/18]

Voted For A Bill That Inadequately Funded Firefighting While Repealing Environmental Protections And Regulations On The Logging Industry

Valadao Voted To Allow The President To Declare Wildfire Disasters And Fund FEMA Relief As Well As Expedite Timber Salvage After Fires. In November 2017, Valadao voted for: “Passage of the bill that would allow for a presidential declaration of a major disaster with regard to wildfires, which would allow for the release of funding from Federal Emergency Management Agency's Disaster Relief Fund to fight major wildfires, and would modify the disaster cap under the Budget Control Act to account for expected wildfire funding needs. It would also exempt various forest management activities from filing environmental impact statements and would provide for expedited timber salvage operations and reforestation activities after catastrophic events. It would prohibit any court from issuing restraining orders or injunctions against salvage operations or reforestation activities undertaken in response to a large-scale catastrophic event.” The bill passed 257-166. [HR 2936, Vote #598, 11/1/17; CQ, 11/1/17]

- National Parks Conservation Association: The Resilient Federal Forests Act Was “Extreme And… Puts Our Forests, Communities And Wildlife At Risk.” “NPCA, along with partners, submitted the following position to the House of Representatives ahead of an expected floor vote the week of October 30, 2017. On behalf of our millions of our members and supporters, we urge you to OPPOSE the Resilient Federal Forest Act of 2017 (H.R. 2936). This bill is extreme and unfortunately, instead of protecting and restoring our public forests, H.R. 2936 puts our forests, communities and wildlife at risk.” [NCPA, 10/31/17]

- NCPA: Wildfire Suppression Funding In The RFFA Was “Completely Inadequate, Leaving Unaddressed The Largest Part Of The Problem: The Growing Impact Of Wildfire Suppression On The Forest Service’s Annual Budget.” “The provisions offered in response to the wildfire funding crisis, even in this most recent version of the bill, are completely inadequate, leaving unaddressed the largest part of the problem: the growing impact of wildfire suppression on the Forest Service’s annual budget.” [NCPA, 10/31/17]

- Valadao Voted For The Resilient Federal Forests Act Of 2017. In November 2017, Valadao voted for: “Adoption of the rule (H Res 595) that would provide for House floor consideration of the bill (HR 2936) that would allow for a presidential declaration of a major disaster with regard to wildfires, which would allow for the release of funding from Federal Emergency Management Agency's Disaster Relief Fund to fight major wildfires, and would modify the disaster cap under the Budget Control Act to account for expected wildfire funding needs. It would also include various categorical exclusions from certain environmental reviews.” The resolution was adopted 232-184. [HRes 595, Vote #593, 11/1/17; CQ, 11/1/17]

Valadao Voted For Emergency Funding To Cover The Costs Of Responding To Hurricane Sandy And A Six Month Extension Of FAA Taxes Tied To Hurricane Relief And Flood Insurance

2017: Valadao Voted For $7.9 Billion In Emergency Supplemental Funding To Cover The Costs Of Responding To Hurricane Harvey.

In September 2017, Valadao voted for: “Frelinghuysen, R-N.J., motion to suspend the rules and agree to the resolution that would provide for the House to concur in the Senate amendments to a bill (HR 601) that would codify practices and programs at the United States Agency for International Development related to U.S. education assistance abroad, with further amendment that would appropriate $7.9 billion in emergency supplemental funding for fiscal 2017 as an initial payment to cover the costs of responding to Hurricane Harvey. The total would include $7.4 billion for the Homeland Security Department's Disaster Relief Fund, which will be used by the Federal Emergency Management Agency to support ongoing hurricane response efforts. It would also include $450 million for the Small Business Administration's disaster loan program to assist small businesses and homeowners.” The motion passed, 419-3. [HRes 502, Vote #441, 9/6/17; CQ, 9/6/17]

Valadao Voted For A Six Month Extension Of FAA Taxes Tied To Hurricane Relief And Flood Insurance Programs

In September 2017, Valadao voted for: “Passage of the bill that would extend through March 31, 2018, various expiring authorities, programs and activities for the Federal Aviation Administration. The measure would also extend multiple health care programs and would establish the basis for the development of a private flood insurance market. It would modify tax provisions for individuals living in areas impacted by Hurricanes Harvey, Irma and Maria, and would allow the federal government to reimburse the governments of Puerto Rico and the U.S. Virgin Islands for any disaster tax relief that those islands provide their citizens.” The bill passed by a vote of 264-155. [HR 3823, Vote #542, 9/28/17; CQ, 9/28/17]

- The House Passed A Six-Month Extension To Fund The FAA – That Also Included Hurricane Relief Provisions That Were Later Stripped By The Senate – While Postponing Debate Over More Contentious FAA Reforms. “Congress approved a six-month extension Thursday of Federal Aviation Administration taxes to give lawmakers more time to debate contentious, long-term airline policies. The House voted 264-155 to extend taxes through March 31. The time will allow more debate on contentious FAA measures dealing with air-traffic control and pilot training in legislation expected to last four or more years. The Senate made a change before approving the legislation by unanimous consent, which removed a provision dealing with flood insurance from the legislation. The House then agreed by unanimous consent to accept the change. Approval of the legislation was crucial before Saturday for the FAA because the government would have been unable to collect about $40 million per day in aviation taxes. Airport construction projects that depend on federal grants would have halted and thousands of FAA workers would have been laid off.” [USA Today, 9/28/17]

- Valadao Voted For Consideration Of Extending Expiring FAA Authorities, Establishing Development Of A Private Flood Insurance Market, And Modifying Tax Provisions For People Impacted By Hurricanes Harvey, Irma, And Maria. In September 2017, Valadao voted for: “Adoption of the rule (H Res 538) that would provide for House floor consideration of the bill (HR 3823) that would extend through March 31, 2018, various expiring authorities, programs and activities for the Federal Aviation Administration. The measure would also extend multiple health care programs, would establish the basis for the development of a private flood insurance market, and would modify tax provisions for individuals living in areas impacted by Hurricanes Harvey, Irma and Maria. The rule would also provide for motions to suspend the rules on the legislative day of September 28, 2017.” The rule was adopted by a vote of 223-190. [H RES 538, Vote #539, 9/27/17; CQ, 9/27/17]

- Valadao Voted Against Requiring The Government Pay The U.S. Virgin Islands And Puerto Rico Amounts Equal To 400 Percent Of The Loss In Revenues From Hurricanes Harvey, Irma, And Maria. In September 2017, Valadao voted against: “Nadler, D-N.Y., motion to recommit the bill to the House Ways and Means Committee with instructions to report it back immediately with an amendment that would require the secretary of the Treasury to pay to the U.S. Virgin Islands and Puerto Rico amounts equal to 400 percent of the loss in revenues from Hurricanes Harvey, Irma and Maria for the repair of infrastructure and the payment of health care costs on the islands. It would also modify corporate taxes and charitable contribution limitations in relation to disaster relief.” The motion failed by a vote of 188-277. [H R 3823, Vote #541, 9/28/17; CQ, 9/28/17]

- Valadao Voted To Pass FAA Authorities Tied To Private Flood Insurance Authorization And Hurricane Relief. In September 2017, Valadao voted for: “Curbelo, R-Fla., motion to suspend the rules and pass the bill that would extend through March 31, 2018, various expiring authorities, programs and activities for the Federal Aviation Administration. It would also extend multiple health care programs, would establish the basis for the development of a private flood insurance market, and would modify tax provisions for individuals living in areas impacted by Hurricanes Harvey, Irma and Maria.” The motion was rejected by a vote of 245-171. [H R 3823, Vote #530, 9/25/17; CQ, 9/25/17]

National Flood Insurance Program

Valadao Voted To Reauthorize The National Flood Insurance Program Without Risk-Reduction Programs Or Flood-Risk Mapping
Valadao Voted To Reauthorize The National Flood Insurance Program Without Risk-Reduction Programs Or Flood-Risk Mapping. In November 2017, Valadao voted for: “Passage of the bill, as amended, that would reauthorize the National Flood Insurance Program through fiscal 2022 and would make modifications to the program, including: raise annual surcharges and reserve fund assessments on federal flood insurance policyholders, raise rates on properties that incur multiple losses, establish an annual deductible for severe and extreme repetitive loss properties and end the requirement that flood insurance be purchased for commercial and multifamily properties located in flood risk zones. It would also require that flood insurance provided by private sector carriers be accepted by Federal Emergency Management Agency and considered as meeting the National Flood Insurance Program's mandatory flood insurance purchase requirements, and would allow private insurers and any other interested party to review FEMA information regarding its assessments of flood risk.” The bill passed 237-189. [HR 2874, Vote #630, 11/14/17; CQ, 11/14/17]

- HEADLINE: U.S. House Of Representatives Misses Mark In Reducing Nation's Flood Risk.
  “‘Unfortunately, this bill falls short of significant improvements needed to bolster risk reduction and flood-risk mapping efforts under the National Flood Insurance Program,’ Murdock said. ‘The program has failed to achieve its intended goal of lessening our nation’s flood risk. Congress needs to place more emphasis on reforms that mitigate risk and promote using the best-available science and technology in mapping processes. It is particularly important that reforms enable the restoration of functioning floodplains and disincentivize development in areas of high flood risk.’” [Nature Conservancy, 11/15/17]

- Valadao Voted Against Requiring FEMA To Certify That Claims From Hurricane Sandy Were Resolved Before The National Flood Insurance Program Is Reauthorized. In November 2017, Valadao voted against: “Pascrell, D-N.J., motion to recommit the bill to the House Financial Services Committee with instructions to report it back immediately with an amendment that would prevent the bill's provisions from taking effect unless the Federal Emergency Management Agency certifies the resolution of all claims for losses resulting from Hurricane Sandy of 2012 that were covered under the National Flood Insurance Program.” The motion was rejected 236-190. [HR 2874, Vote #629, 11/14/17; CQ, 11/14/17]

Valadao Voted To Consider The National Defense Authorization Act Of 2018 And Reauthorizing The National Flood Insurance Program. In November 2017, Valadao voted for: “Adoption of the rule (H Res 616) that would provide for House floor consideration of the conference report to accompany the bill (HR 2810) that would authorize $692.1 billion for defense programs in fiscal 2018. It would also provide for consideration of the bill (HR 2874) that would reauthorize the National Flood Insurance Program through fiscal 2022 and would modify several aspects of the program. The rule would require the House clerk to not transmit to the Senate a message that the House has adopted the conference report to accompany the Fiscal 2018 Defense Authorization (HR 2810) until the House receives a message from the Senate that the Senate has passed a bill (HR 4374), without amendment, that would authorize the Food and Drug Administration to expedite consideration of certain medical products at the Pentagon's request.” The rule was adopted 233-187. [HRes 616, Vote #627, 11/14/17; CQ, 11/14/17]

Valadao Joined A Letter Calling On President Biden And Governor Newsom To Declare Emergencies That Would Allow The Maximum Amount Of Water From A Storm To Be Diverted To South Central Valley Farmers

Valadao Joined A Letter Calling On President Biden And Governor Newsom To Declare Emergencies That Would Allow The Maximum Amount Of Water From A Storm To Be Diverted To South Central Valley Farmers. “Reps. Kevin McCarthy and David Valadao joined eight other Republican members of Congress this week in calling on President Joe Biden and Gov. Gavin Newsom to declare emergencies that would allow the maximum amount of water from this week's storms to be diverted south to Central Valley farmers. A letter the lawmakers sent Tuesday asserted government has a moral obligation to provide relief to California families and farms suffering because of this year's 'catastrophic manmade drought.' ‘Government regulations should not and must not deny our constituents critical water from these storms,’ the letter stated. ‘While we cannot make it rain, we must take advantage of opportunities to store water when it does.’ It added that time is of the essence.” [Bakersfield Californian, 10/27/21]

After Hurricane Sandy, Valadao Voted Against Increased FEMA Funding To Prepare For Natural Disasters

2013: Valadao Voted Against Increasing FEMA Funding To Prepare For Natural Disasters. In June 2013, Valadao voted against a “Murphy, D-Fla., motion to recommit the bill to the House Appropriations Committee and report it back immediately with an amendment that would increase by $25 million the total provided for Federal Emergency Management Agency activities including state and local programs, training, exercises and technical assistance; state, local, and tribal emergency response training; and a pre-disaster mitigation grant program. It also would reduce by a total of $10 million the amount provided for expenses for Homeland Security Department operations and the Office of the Under Secretary for Management.” The amendment failed 196-226. Valadao Voted Repeatedly To Roll Back Wall Street Reform

Valadao Voted For A Bill That Would Raise The Minimum Asset Level At Which The More Stringent Bank Regulation Provisions Of The 2010 Financial Overhaul Applied From $50 To $250 Billion. In May 2018, Valadao voted for: “Passage of the bill that would apply the more stringent bank regulation provisions of the 2010 financial overhaul to banks with $250 billion in assets, instead of those with at least $50 billion in assets. It would also allow banks with less than $10 billion in assets to trade with depositors’ money. The bill would lift the threshold for disclosure requirements to $10 million for employee-owned securities and would allow venture capital funds to have up to 250 investors and be exempt from certain registering requirements. It would provide consumers with the right to request a ‘security freeze’ on their credit reports, which would prohibit a consumer reporting agency from releasing information from the consumer’s credit report without express authorization. It would define a ‘qualified mortgage’ as any residential mortgage loan held by a bank, removing the requirement that for a ‘qualified mortgage,’ a bank must determine that a mortgage recipient has the ability to repay.” The bill was passed (thus cleared for the president) by a vote of 258-159. [S. 2155, Vote #216, 5/22/18; CQ, 5/22/18]

- Critics Said The Bill Created Loopholes That Larger Banks Would Exploit. “Rothfus made his claim after voting in favor of the Economic Growth, Regulatory Relief, and Consumer Protection Act, S. 2155, which supporters said will lessen the Dodd-Frank burden on community banking institutions — defined as those with less than $10 billion in assets — and which critics argue creates wiggle room and loopholes that larger banks will exploit. The rollback was signed into law by President Donald Trump on May 24.” [PolitiFact, 5/31/18]

- The Bill Contained Policies Which Would Roll Back Or Eliminate Key Parts From The Dodd-Frank Wall Street Reform And Consumer Protection Act. “Late last year the Economic Growth, Regulatory Relief and Consumer Protection Act, which was sponsored by Banking Committee Chairman Mike Crapo, R-Idaho, with nearly 20 co-sponsors on both sides of the aisle, was introduced in the Committee on Banking, Housing and Urban Affairs […] The bill contains policies which would roll back or eliminate key parts from the Dodd-Frank Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act.” [Housing Wire, 3/6/18]

2017: Valadao Voted For The CHOICE Act To “Overhaul Financial Industry Regulations And Repeal Many Provisions Of The 2010 Dodd-Frank Law.” In June 2017, Valadao voted for: “passage of the bill that would overhaul financial industry regulations and repeal many provisions of the 2010 Dodd-Frank law. It would convert the Consumer Financial Protection Bureau into an executive agency funded by annual appropriations and would modify operations at the Federal Reserve and at the Securities and Exchange Commission. It would repeal the prohibition on banking entities engaging in proprietary trading and would modify regulations governing the amount of capital that banks are required to maintain. It would also nullify the Labor Department’s April 2016 "fiduciary" rule regarding standards for individuals who provide retirement investment advice to act in the best interests of their clients.” The bill passed 233-186. - New York Times: CHOICE Act “To Erase A Number Of Core Financial Regulations,” Including Limits On Risk Taking Enacted After The Financial Crash, And “Would Weaken The Powers Of The Consumer Financial Protection Bureau.” “The House approved legislation on Thursday to erase a number of core financial regulations put in place by the 2010 Dodd-Frank Act, as Republicans moved a step closer to delivering on their promises to eliminate rules that they claim have strangled small businesses and stagnated the economy. […] The Choice Act would exempt some financial institutions that meet capital and liquidity requirements from many of Dodd-Frank’s restrictions that limit risk taking. It would also replace Dodd-Frank’s method of dealing with large and failing financial institutions, known as the orderly liquidation authority — which critics say reinforces the idea that some banks are too big to fail — with a new bankruptcy code provision. In addition, the legislation would weaken the powers of the Consumer Financial Protection Bureau.” [New York Times, 6/8/17]

2017: Valadao Voted For Consideration Of The CHOICE Act That Would Repeal Many Provisions Of The Dodd-Frank Law. In June 2017, Valadao voted for: “Adoption of the rule (H Res 375) that would overhaul financial industry regulations and repeal many provisions of the 2010 Dodd-Frank law. It would convert the Consumer Financial Protection Bureau into an executive agency, modify operations at the Federal Reserve and at the Securities and Exchange Commission, modify regulations governing the amount of capital that banks are required to maintain, and repeal the prohibition on banking entities engaging in proprietary trading.” The rule was adopted, 231-188. [H Res 375, Vote #291, 6/7/17; CQ, 6/7/17]

2015: Valadao Voted For Bill To Deregulate Wall Street

2015: Valadao Voted For Bill To Deregulate Wall Street. In January 2015, Valadao voted for: legislation that combined the text from eleven bills and would roll back or delay a number of regulations in the Dodd-Frank financial reform law. “The most serious attack of the bunch came in the form of a partial two-year delay of the Volcker Rule, which would ban banks from speculating in securities markets with taxpayer money. The bill would have allowed Citigroup and JPMorgan Chase to hold onto almost $50 billion in risky corporate debt packages known as collateralized loan obligations through 2019.” The bill passed, 271 to 154. [HR 37, Vote #37, 1/14/15; Huffington Post, 1/10/15]

2015: Valadao Voted For Weakening Wall Street Reform And Roll Back Rules Limiting Risky Bank Investments

2015: Valadao Voted For Weakening Wall Street Reform And Roll Back Rules Limiting Risky Bank Investments. In January 2015, Valadao voted for: a bill “to relax some requirements under the 2010 Dodd-Frank financial regulatory law. The measure would delay until July 2019 a provision of the law’s Volcker Rule intended to limit risky investments by banks, and make other changes.” The vote failed to reach a 2/3 majority, 276 to 146. [HR 37, Vote #9, 1/7/15; Bloomberg, 1/7/15]

Consumer Financial Protection Bureau

Valadao Voted Against Protecting The Consumer Financial Protection Bureau

Valadao Voted For Limiting Funding For Consumer Financial Protection Bureau. In April 2015, Valadao voted for: a bill that limited funding for the CFPB. “Passage of the bill that would formally establish three advisory boards with which the Consumer Financial Protection Bureau (CFPB) that must consult on matters regarding small businesses, credit unions and community banks. The measure is offset by limiting funding for the CFPB in future years. As amended, the bill would encourage the CFPB to ensure the participation of veteran-owned small-business concerns as members of the Small Business Advisory Board.” The bill passed 235-183. [HR 1195, Vote #167, 4/22/15; CQ News, 4/22/15]

2015: Valadao Voted Against Prohibiting Individuals Or Companies Convicted Of Predatory Lending From Serving On CFPB Boards

Valadao Voted Against Prohibiting Individuals Or Companies Convicted Of Predatory Lending From Serving On CFPB Boards. In April 2015, Valadao voted against: a motion that protected military bases and veterans from predatory lenders. The motion would “prohibit individuals from serving as members of the any of the advisory boards if within the last ten years they have been employed or acted as an agent of a company whose been subject to a state or federal enforcement action for predatory lending or fraud against veterans or servicemembers.” The motion was rejected, 184-234. [HR 1195, Vote #166, 4/22/15; CQ News, 4/22/15]

Valadao Voted To Allow Risky Mortgage Lending Practices

2017: Valadao Voted For Allowing Certain Lenders To Forego Mortgage Escrow Requirements

Valadao Voted For Allowing Certain Lenders To Forego Mortgage Escrow Requirements. In December 2017, Valadao voted for: “Passage of the bill that would exempt lenders with assets of $10 billion or less from the 2010 financial regulatory overhaul requirement that such lenders establish escrow accounts for the first five years of so-called "high-priced" mortgage loans, if the lenders hold the loan on its own balance sheet for three years after the loan is made, and it would exempt companies that service up to 20,000 mortgage loans from current loan servicing and escrow account administration requirements.” The bill passed 294 to 129. [HR 3971, Vote #675, 12/12/17; CQ, 12/12/17]

• Maxine Waters: HR 3971 Could “Set The Stage” For Another Financial Crisis. “A bill opponent, Rep. Maxine Waters, D-Calif., said dropping the regulations would ‘set the stage for a return of the harmful practices of the subprime meltdown and the worst financial crisis since the Great Depression.’” [Concord Monitor, 12/17/17]

2017: Valadao Voted For Exempting Home Manufacturing Companies From Mortgage-Related Regulatory Requirements And Increasing Threshold For “High-Cost Mortgages”

Valadao Voted For Exempting Home Manufacturing Companies From Mortgage-Related Regulatory Requirements And Increasing Threshold For “High-Cost Mortgages.” In December 2017, Valadao voted for: “Passage of the bill that would change the definitions of ‘mortgage originator’ and ‘loan originator’ to exempt companies that manufacture homes and sell manufactured homes from various mortgage-related regulatory requirements. It would increase the maximum allowable rates and fees that may be applied to a manufactured home loan before the loan is classified as a high-cost mortgage.” The bill passed 256 to 163. [HR 1699, Vote #651, 12/1/17; CQ, 12/1/17]

2018: Valadao Voted For A Bill That Created An Exception To Rules Meant To Reduce Risky, High-Cost Mortgages

Valadao Voted For A Bill That Created An Exception To Rules Meant To Reduce Risky, High-Cost Mortgages. In February 2018, Valadao voted for: “passage of the bill that would exclude insurance paid at closing into escrow, as well as fees paid for related services to lender-affiliated companies, from the three percent cap on points and fees imposed on qualified mortgages by modifying the definition of ‘points and fees.’” According to the Center for Responsible Lending, “the Mortgage Choice Act would allow many more risky, high-cost loans to qualify as Qualified Mortgage (QM) loans by creating exceptions to the points and fees threshold.” The bill passed, 280-131. [H.R. 1153, Vote #64, 2/8/18; CQ, 2/8/18; Center for Responsible Lending, 11/13/17]

Debt Collection

2021: Valadao Voted Against Passage Of The Comprehensive Debt Collection Improvement Act

Valadao Voted Against Passage Of The Comprehensive Debt Collection Improvement Act. In May 2021, Valadao voted against: “Passage of the bill, as amended, that would make numerous modifications to existing law related to consumer protections against debt collection practices, including to extend protections related to electronic communications by debt collectors, student loan and medical debt, debt collection from servicemembers and debt collection by government contractors. The bill would prohibit debt collectors from contacting consumers by email, text message or social media without the consumer's consent. It would authorize the Consumer Financial Protection Bureau to issue rules requiring debt collectors to allow consumers to opt out of any method of communication and prohibit the agency from issuing rules allowing debt collectors to send unlimited electronic communications to consumers. It would require lenders to discharge private education loans when a student borrower dies or is permanently disabled, including for any cosigners of the loan. It would prohibit attempts to collect debt arising from medical services until two years after the date the first payment is due and prohibit the inclusion of debt arising from a medically necessary procedure on a credit report. It would prohibit debt collectors from using certain aggressive debt collection tactics against active-duty or recently discharged servicemembers, including threatening a servicemember with a reduction in rank, having their security clearance revoked or prosecuting them under the military justice system. It would extend existing prohibitions on unfair or excessive debt collection tactics to apply to debt collectors hired as contractors by federal, state or local governments; require federal agencies to wait at least 90 days after a debt becomes delinquent and notify consumers at least three times before transferring or selling such debt to a debt collector; and prohibit the Treasury Department from contracting debt collectors to recoup Federal Emergency Management Agency aid overpayments, unless they occurred because of fraud or deceit of the recipient. It would increase civil penalties and authorize courts to award injunctive relief for violations of debt collection practices law; specify that such law applies to entities engaging in non-judicial foreclosures; and restrict the use of written agreements in connection with commercial loans or other credits that include a confession of judgment or other waiver of rights in relation to a legal suit. Among other provisions, it would require numerous Government Accountability Office studies and reports to Congress, including on debt collection practices experienced by servicemembers and debt collection practices during the COVID-19 pandemic. The bill would take effect 180 days after its enactment.” The bill passed 215 to 207. [H R 2547, Vote #141, 5/13/21; CQ, 5/13/21]

Background Checks

Valadao Voted Against Extending The Timeframe For FBI Notification On Background Checks To 20 Days, From Three Days Under Current Law, Which Would Close The “Charleston Loophole” Named After The 2015 Mass Shooting

Valadao Voted Against Extending The Timeframe For FBI Notification On Background Checks To 20 Days, From Three Days Under Current Law. In March 2021, Valadao voted against: “Passage of the bill, as amended, that would require a licensed gun dealer to wait up to 20 business days, as opposed to three under current law, for notification from the FBI regarding an individual's background check before completing the sale or transfer of a firearm. Specifically, it would allow a prospective gun purchaser to petition the Justice Department to complete the sale after 10 days if no determination on their eligibility has been made through the National Instant Criminal Background Check System and allow the dealer to complete the transaction an additional 10 days after the petition is submitted. It would also require the Government Accountability Office, FBI and Justice Department to submit a number of reports regarding the bill's effectiveness and implementation, including on the number of petitions not adjudicated within the second 10-day period and the bill's effect on the safety of victims of domestic violence and sexual assault.” The bill passed by a vote of 219-210. [HR 1446, Vote #77, 3/11/21; CQ, 3/11/21]

- HR 1446 Would Extend The Period For Gun Background Checks From 3 Days Under Current Law To Close The “Charleston Loophole,” Named For The 2015 Mass Shooting There. “The House passed two bills Thursday that would tighten gun sales regulations, sending the measures to a divided Senate. H.R. 8 would expand background checks on individuals seeking to purchase or transfer firearms, and the Enhanced Background Checks Act of 2021 would close the ‘Charleston loophole,’ a gap in federal law that lets gun sales proceed without a completed background check if three businesses days have passed […] The other bill passed Thursday, H.R. 1446, is linked to a shooting in 2015 in Charleston, South Carolina, where a white supremacist used the loophole to obtain firearms he used to kill nine Black people during a Bible study at Mother Emanuel AME Church.” [USA Today, 3/11/21]

Valadao Voted Against Requiring Background Checks On Most Gun Sales, Including Those Between Private Parties

Valadao Voted Against Requiring Background Checks On Most Gun Sales, Including Those Between Private Parties. In March 2021, Valadao voted against: “Passage of the bill, as amended, that would require most purchasers of firearms to undergo a background check through the FBI National Instant Criminal Background Check System. Specifically, beginning 180 days after enactment, it would require any individual seeking to transfer a firearm to first bring the firearm to a licensed dealer. It would require the dealer to take possession of the firearm, complete a background check on the transferee, and return the firearm to its original owner if the transaction is denied. The bill would make a number of exceptions to the requirement, including for loans or gifts between family members; temporary transfers for hunting, use on a shooting range, or pest control by farmers; temporary transfers to prevent imminent death or bodily harm, including self-harm; and transfers to law enforcement personnel, private security professionals, or members of the armed forces, if associated with official duties.” The bill passed by a vote of 227-203. [HR 8, Vote #75, 3/11/21; CQ, 3/11/21]

- HR 8 Would Expand The Cases Where A Background Check Is Required For Gun Sales, Closing The “Gun Show Loophole.” “H.R. 8, a background checks package meant to enhance reviews of those seeking firearms, would not create a registry or other federal mechanisms for review. Instead, the legislation would expand the cases in which a background check is required for the sale or transfer of a firearm, including for private individuals and groups, closing the ‘Gun Show Loophole.’ The requirements would apply to online sales. The bill would make it illegal for anyone who is not a licensed firearm importer, manufacturer or dealer to trade or sell firearms to another person; current federal law requires background checks only for licensed gun dealers.” [USA Today, 3/11/21]

Concealed Carry

Valadao Voted For Permitting Concealed Carry Reciprocity Between States, Which Meant Domestic Abusers Could Carry Concealed Guns In States That Had Rules Meant To Prevent Them From Doing So

Valadao Voted For Permitting Concealed Carry Reciprocity Between States. In December 2017, Valadao voted for: “Passage of the bill that would permit any individual authorized by their home state to carry a concealed handgun to also carry that concealed weapon in any other state that permits the carrying of concealed weapons. The bill would require a twice-annual certification by all federal agencies, federal courts and state governments, in coordination with the Department of Justice, to verify that all relevant data has been reported and uploaded to the National Instant Criminal Background Check System regarding individuals who are not eligible to purchase firearms.” The bill passed 231 to 198. ### Mental Health

Valadao Voted For Prohibiting A Veterans Affairs Department Determination That An Individual Is Mentally Incompetent From Preventing The Individual From Buying A Gun

Valadao Voted For Prohibiting A Veterans Affairs Department Determination That An Individual Is Mentally Incompetent From Preventing The Individual From Buying A Gun. In March 2017, Valadao voted for: “passage of the bill that would prohibit a Veterans Affairs Department determination that an individual is mentally incompetent from being used as basis for that individual’s inclusion in the National Instant Criminal Background Check System, which would thereby prevent the individual from purchasing a gun. Under the measure, an individual could not be considered to be mentally defective without a judicial authority’s finding that the individual poses a danger to himself or herself or others.” The bill passed by a vote of 240-175. 2016: Valadao Voted Against Exempting Claims By Gun Owners Seeking Monetary Relief On Defective Firearms

In January 2016, Valadao voted against: an “amendment that would exempt claims brought by a gun owner seeking monetary relief involving the defective design or manufacturing of a firearm.” The amendment failed, 163-232. [HR 1927, Vote #25, 1/8/16; CQ Floor Votes, 1/8/16]

Regulations

Valadao Co-Sponsored SAFE Act Repeal Bill That Would Keep States And Local Governments From Further Regulating Or Prohibiting A Rifle Or Shotgun

Valadao Supported Bill That Would Deregulate Silencers. “HR 3668 would deregulate silencers. Five California Republicans voiced support for an earlier iteration: Reps. Tom McClintock of Elk Grove, Doug LaMalfa of Richvale, David Valadao of Hanford, Dana Rohrabacher of Orange County and Duncan Hunter of San Diego. We urge them to reconsider, though McClintock issued a press release two weeks ago praising the National Rifle Association-backed bill.” [Editorial, Sacramento Bee, 10/02/17]
Health Care Issues
Significant Findings

✓ 2017: Valadao voted for the American Health Care Act (AHCA) that would gut protections for people with pre-existing conditions and slash Medicaid funding by nearly $1 trillion.

✓ 60,500 of Valadao’s constituents were estimated to lose coverage by 2026 under the provisions of the AHCA.

✓ More than 20,000 of Valadao’s constituents gained insurance coverage through the expansion of Medicaid under the ACA.

✓ Valadao was initially quiet about his position on the AHCA and told constituents he was leaning no, but Valadao voted for the Republican health care repeal bill that would gut protections for people with pre-existing conditions and would lead to 23 million more uninsured.

✓ Valadao’s colleagues thought he would vote against the AHCA because more than half his district was on Medicaid.

  ○ Valadao had more than 400,000 constituents on Medi-Cal and 291,100 with pre-existing conditions.

✓ Valadao “[laid] low after the vote”, “was rushing to an elevator outside his office with a rolling suitcase, would only refer a reporter to the statement his office sent out: saying the bill will stabilize the American healthcare system.”

✓ Valadao defended his AHCA vote by saying it would ensure “our community has access to high quality, affordable health care” and said that it modernized and strengthened Medicaid, increased funding for community health centers, and would produce lower costs and more choices.

✓ Valadao introduced a bill to reauthorize an ACA program to train physicians in rural areas.

✓ Valadao cosponsored a bill to increase Medicaid reimbursements rates in California, after voting to cut an estimated $24 billion per year from Medicaid through the AHCA.

✓ Critics said Valadao cosponsoring the ACCESS Act after voting for the AHCA was like “asking for more legroom on an airplane when they just voted to blow out the engine.”

✓ Valadao repeatedly voted to fully or partly repeal the Affordable Care Act—affecting 60,100 constituents in Valadao’s district.

✓ Valadao voted 32 times to cripple, defund, or alter the Affordable Care Act.

✓ 2013: Valadao voted for FY14 Ryan budget that cut Medicare spending by $356 billion and turned it into a voucher program.

✓ 2014: Valadao voted for FY15 House Republican budget to repeal the Affordable Care Act, cut SNAP funding, and turning Medicare into a voucher program.

✓ Valadao voted for the CHAMPION Act, extending funding for CHIP by gutting health care programs; the bill would have led to people losing health care coverage under the ACA.
Valadao voted to authorize $400 million a year for the Maternal, Infant, And Early Childhood Home Visiting program.

American Health Care Act (AHCA)

Valadao Was Initially Quiet About His Position On The AHCA And Told Constituents He Was Leaning No…

Valadao Undecided On AHCA Day Before Vote, Said He Was Concerned About How It Would Affect Medicaid. “Rep. David Valadao (Hanford), who hails from one of those districts, was undecided on the first bill, and said the changes haven’t helped his original concerns. He’s hearing a lot of worries from people back home. ‘It’s the Medicaid. Medicaid is the issue,’ Valadao said Tuesday. The bill would gradually end federal funding for millions of people who qualified for Medicaid under the Affordable Care Act. Valadao represents one of the California districts whose residents benefited the most from the expansion.” [LA Times, 5/03/17]

Valadao Had Been Coy About His Support, Saying That He Was Still On The Fence Up Until The Vote.” [The Business Journal, 5/04/17]

Shortly Before The Vote, Valadao Told Constituents That He Was “Leaning No” On AHCA. “Some ACA supporters believe the yes votes of the Central Valley Republicans directly contradict their constituents’ needs. ‘The community is not going to forget this,’ said Sarah Hutchinson, senior policy coordinator for ACT for Women and Girls, a Tulare County organization that fosters youth leadership and advocates for health care access. The young people who participate in her program live in congressional districts represented by Nunes and Rep. David Valadao, also a Republican. Hutchinson said young people from her group visited Valadao’s office several times over the past couple of months, asking him to vote against the repeal bill. ‘He continually told us, ‘I’m not sure how I’m voting. I’m leaning no,’’ she said. On Thursday, Valadao voted yes.” [California Healthline, 5/05/17]

…But Valadao Voted For The Republican Health Care Repeal Bill That Would Gut Protections For People With Pre-Existing Conditions And Would Lead To 23 Million More Uninsured—And Hid After His Vote

2017: Valadao Voted For The American Health Care Act – The Republican Health Care Repeal Bill

2017: Valadao voted for: “Passage of the bill that would make extensive changes to the 2010 health care overhaul law, by effectively repealing the individual and employer mandates as well as most of the taxes that finance the current system. It would, in 2020, convert Medicaid into a capped entitlement that would provide fixed federal payments to states and end additional federal funding for the 2010 law’s joint federal-state Medicaid expansion. It would prohibit federal funding to any entity, such as Planned Parenthood, that performs abortions and receives more than $350 million a year in Medicaid funds. As amended, it would give states the option of receiving federal Medicaid funding as a block grant with greater state flexibility in how the funds are used, and would require states to establish their own essential health benefits standards. It would allow states to receive waivers to exempt insurers from having to provide certain minimum benefits, would provide $8 billion over five years for individuals with pre-existing conditions whose insurance premiums increased because the state was granted a waiver to raise premiums based on an individual’s health status, and would create a $15 billion federal risk sharing program to cover some of the costs of high medical claims.” The bill was passed by a vote of 217-213. [HR 1628, Vote #256, 5/4/17; CQ, 5/4/17]

American Health Care Act Would Gut Protections For People With Pre-Existing Conditions

Politifact Found That AHCA “Would Weaken Protections” For Those With Pre-Existing Conditions, “Would Allow States To Give Insurers The Power To Charge People Significantly More.” “An ad by the American Action Network says that under the American Health Care Act ‘people with pre-existing conditions are protected.’ The only kernel of truth here is that the amendment has language that states insurers can’t limit access to coverage for individuals with pre-existing conditions. However, the ad omits that the House GOP health plan would weaken protections for these patients. The legislation would allow states to give insurers the power to charge people significantly more if they had a pre-existing condition. While Republicans point to the fact that those patients could get help through high-risk pools, experts question their effectiveness. Current law does not allow states to charge people with pre-existing conditions significantly more. We rate this claim Mostly False.” [Politifact, 5/24/17]

American Health Care Act Would Lead To 23 Million More Uninsured – Disproportionally Older People With Lower Incomes

CBO Estimated 14 Million More People Would Be Uninsured In 2018; 23 Million More Uninsured By 2026. “CBO and JCT estimate that, in 2018, 14 million more people would be uninsured under H.R. 1628 than under current law. The increase in the number of uninsured people relative to the number under current law would reach 19 million in 2020 and 23 million in 2026 (see Table 4, at the end of this document).” [CBO, 5/24/17]

• CBO Found Increase In Uninsured Would Disproportionately Impact Older People With Lower Income. “Although the agencies expect that the legislation would increase the number of uninsured broadly, the increase would be disproportionately larger among older people with lower income—particularly people between 50 and 64 years old with income of less than 200 percent of the federal poverty level (see Figure 2).” [CBO, 5/24/17]

• CBO: Even In States Without Waivers, More People Would Be Uninsured Than Under Current Law. “CBO and JCT expect that under the current version of the legislation, the effects on health insurance coverage would be similar to those previously estimated for the half of the population that resides in states that would not obtain a waiver from the EHB or community-rating requirements. In general, under H.R. 1628, as passed by the House, fewer people would have coverage through the nongroup market, Medicaid, and employment-based coverage, and more people would be uninsured in those areas than under current law.” [CBO, 5/24/17]

American Health Care Act Would Create An Age Tax On Older Americans
American Health Care Act Allows Insurers To Charge Older Customers Five Times More Than Younger Adults. “Raises premiums for older people. The Affordable Care Act limited insurers from charging older customers more than three times what they charge younger adults. The House bill would raise that to five times. This may enable younger consumers to find cheaper coverage, but older policyholders would face higher rates.” [Huffington Post, 3/6/17]

New York Times: ACHA Achieved Lower Premiums Not Through Increased Choice And Competition, But By Making Health Insurance So Unaffordable For Many Older Americans They Would Leave The Market. “There are a lot of unpleasant numbers for Republicans in the Congressional Budget Office’s assessment of their health care bill. But congressional leadership found one to cheer: The report says that the bill will eventually cut the average insurance premiums for people who buy their own insurance by 10 percent. […] But the way the bill achieves those lower average premiums has little to do with increased choice and competition. It depends, rather, on penalizing older patients and rewarding younger ones. According to the C.B.O. report, the bill would make health insurance so unaffordable for many older Americans that they would simply leave the market and join the ranks of the uninsured.” [New York Times, 3/14/17]

2017: Valadao Voted To Block An Amendment That Would Protect Health Care Coverage For Pre-Existing Conditions, Ban Lifetime Insurance Limits, Protect Medicare, Block Tax Increases On The Middle Class, And Would Require A CBO Estimate Prior To Consideration Of Any Health Care Reform Bill. In May 2017, Valadao voted for “Collins, R-Ga., motion to order the previous question (thus ending debate and possibility of amendment) on the rule (H Res 308) that would provide for House floor consideration of the bill (HR 2192) that would repeal, if the health care marketplace overhaul measure (HR 1628) is enacted” Upon defeat of the motion, Democrats planned to offer an amendment that “The amendment would restrict consideration of legislative provisions relating to health care that would result in: (1) the denial of health insurance on the basis of a preexisting condition or a requirement for individuals with a preexisting condition to pay more for coverage; (2) the elimination of the prohibition on life-time limits on dollar value of health insurance benefits; (3) the termination of the ability of individuals 26 years of age to be included on their parent’s employer or individual health insurance; (4) the reduction in the number of individuals receiving health insurance under the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act; (5) an increased cost to seniors for prescription drugs due to any changes pertaining to closing the Medicare prescription drug ‘donut hole’; (6) the requirement that individuals pay for preventive services such as mammography, health screening, and contraceptive services; (7) reduction of Medicare solvency or any changes to the Medicare guarantee; or (8) the reduction of Federal taxes on the 1% of the population with the highest income or an increase on the 80% of the population with the lowest income. Additionally, the amendment would restrict consideration of legislation relating to health care unless an easily searchable electronic estimate and comparison prepared by the Director of the Congressional Budget Office is made available on a publicly available website of the House.” A vote yes was a vote to block the amendment. The motion was agreed to by a vote of 235-193. [H.Res 308, Vote #252, 5/4/17; CQ, 5/4/17]

2017: Valadao Voted To Block An Amendment That Would Protect Health Care Coverage For Pre-Existing Conditions, Ban Lifetime Insurance Limits, Protect Medicare, Block Tax Increases On The Middle Class, And Would Require A CBO Estimate Prior To Consideration Of Any Health Care Reform Bill. In May 2017, Valadao voted for “Cole, R-Okla., motion to order the previous question (thus ending debate and possibility of amendment) on the rule (H Res 305) that would provide for House floor consideration of the Senate amendments to the bill.” Upon defeat of the motion, Democrats planned to offer an amendment to the bill that would, “restrict consideration of legislative provisions relating to health care that would result in: (1) the denial of health insurance on the basis of a preexisting condition or a requirement for individuals with a preexisting condition to pay more for coverage; (2) the elimination of the prohibition on life-time limits on dollar value of health insurance benefits; (3) the termination of the ability of individuals 26 years of age to be included on their parent’s employer or individual health insurance; (4) the reduction in the number of individuals receiving health insurance under the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act; (5) an increased cost to seniors for prescription drugs due to any changes pertaining to closing the Medicare prescription drug ‘donut hole’; (6) the requirement that individuals pay for preventive services such as mammography, health screening, and contraceptive services; (7) reduction of Medicare solvency or any changes to the Medicare guarantee; or (8) the reduction of Federal taxes on the 1% of the population with the highest income or an increase on the 80% of the population with the lowest income. Additionally, the amendment would restrict consideration of legislation relating to health care unless an easily searchable electronic estimate and comparison prepared by the Director of the Congressional Budget Office is made available on a publicly available website of the House.” A vote yes was a vote to block the amendment. The motion was agreed to by a vote of 231-192. [H.Res 305, Vote #246, 5/3/17; CQ, 5/3/17]

2017: Valadao Voted Against A Motion To Protect Individuals From Discrimination In The Health Insurance Marketplace Based On Gender Or Pre-Existing Conditions, Protect Seniors From Higher Premiums And Out-Of-Pocket Costs Under Medicare Part D. In January 2017, Valadao voted against the “Castor, D-Fla., motion to recommit the bill to the House Judiciary Committee with instructions to report back immediately with an amendment that would add an exemption to the bill for rules that prohibit health insurance companies from discriminating against individuals based on gender or preexisting conditions. The amendment also would exempt from the measure rules that prohibit higher premiums or out-of-pocket costs for seniors for medication under the Medicare Part D prescription drug program.” The motion was rejected by a vote of 183-236. [HR 21, Vote #7, 1/4/17; CQ, 1/4/17]

2017: Valadao Voted Against Exempting Any Rule That Prohibited Insurance Companies From Eliminating Coverage For Dependents Younger Than 26

2017: Valadao Voted Against Exempting From The Bill Any Rule Prohibiting Insurance From Eliminating Health Coverage For Dependents Younger Than 26. In January 2017, Valadao voted against the “Murphy, D-Fla., motion to recommit the bill to the House Judiciary Committee with instructions to report back immediately with an amendment that would exempt from the bill any rule prohibiting an insurance issuer from eliminating health coverage for dependents younger than 26 years old.” The motion was rejected by a vote of 190-235. [HR 26, Vote #22, 1/5/17; CQ, 1/5/17]

• The Purpose Of HR 26 Is To Increase Accountability For And Transparency In The Federal Regulatory Process By Requiring Congress To Approve All New Major Regulations. “This bill states that its purpose is to increase accountability for and transparency in the federal regulatory process by requiring Congress to approve all new major regulations. The bill revises provisions relating to congressional review of agency rulemaking to require federal agencies promulgating rules to: (1) identify and repeal or amend existing rules to completely offset any annual costs of new rules to the U.S. economy…” [HR 26, Summary, 1/5/17]

Valadao Voted Against Requiring A Public CBO Cost Estimate Before Consideration Of Legislation To Repeal Or Replace Obamacare

2017: Valadao Voted To Block A Requirement That A CBO Cost Estimate Be Made Publicly Available Before Considering Any Legislation To Repeal Or Replace The Affordable Care Act. In March 2017, Valadao voted for the “Byrne, R-Ala., motion to order the previous question (thus ending debate and possibility of amendment) on the rule (H Res 210) that would provide for House floor consideration of the bill that would exempt health care plans sponsored by trade and business associations from most state laws and regulations.” Rep. Jared Polis (D-CO) described the vote in a floor speech, saying, “If we defeat the previous question, I will offer an amendment to the rule that would require a CBO cost estimate that analyzes the impact of any legislation amending or repealing the Affordable Care Act, as well as the impact of any manager's amendment to that legislation, to be made publicly available before the bill may be considered on the House floor.” A vote against is a vote to allow the Democratic minority to offer an alternative plan. The motion was agreed to by a vote of 233-186. [H.Res 210, Vote #179, 3/21/17; Congressional Record, Pages H2260-H2267, 3/21/17; CQ, 3/21/17]

2017: Valadao Voted To Block An Amendment To Require A CBO Score For Any Legislation Or Amendments Repealing The Affordable Care Act Before The Legislation Could Be Considered. In March
2017, Valadao voted for the “Collins, R-Ga., motion to order the previous question (thus ending debate and possibility of amendment) on the rule (H Res 209) that would provide for House floor consideration of a bill that would eliminate most of the federal antitrust exemptions for health insurance providers that are subject to regulation at the state level.” According to Rep. Jared Polis (D-CO), “if we defeat the previous question, I will offer an amendment to the rule that would require a CBO cost estimate that analyzes the impact of any legislation amending or repealing the Affordable Care Act, as well as the impact of any manager's amendment to that legislation to be made publicly available before the bill may be considered on the House floor.” A yes vote was a vote to block the amendment. The motion was agreed to be a vote of 231-185. [H.Res 209, Vote #176, 3/21/17; Congressional Record, H2255, 3/21/17; CQ, 3/21/17; Democratic Leader—Previous Questions, 3/21/17]

Valadao Voted To Repeal An Exemption For Members Of Congress From The American Health Care Act

2017: Valadao Voted To Repeal The Republican Provision Exempting Members Of Congress From The Republican Health Care Bill. In May 2017, Valadao voted for “ Passage of the bill would repeal, if the health care overhaul measure (HR 1628) is enacted, an exemption for members of Congress and staff from provisions of the health care overhaul measure that would allow state waivers of certain health insurance minimum benefit and patient protection requirements under the 2010 health care overhaul.” The bill was passed by a vote of 429-0. [HR 2192, Vote #255, 5/4/17; CQ, 5/4/17]

Valadao Claimed He Voted For The AHCA Because It Would Ensure “High Quality, Affordable Healthcare” And That It Would Strengthen Medicaid…

Valadao Defended His AHCA Vote By Saying It Would Ensure “Our Community Has Access To High Quality, Affordable Health Care”

And That The AHCA “Puts More Money In Your Pocket Instead Allowing The Government To Make The Decision On What Plans Are Approved For You”

Valadao Argued That The AHCA “Puts More Money In Your Pocket Instead Allowing The Government To Make The Decision On What Plans Are Approved For You.” “The Hanford residents asked Valadao why the GOP majority in Congress insists on repealing the Affordable Care Act and revising the amount of money budgeted for Medicare, which provides health care for low-income Americans. The GOP proposal allows ‘a more free market approach, it puts more money in your pocket instead allowing the government to make the decision on what plans are approved for you,’ Valadao responded. ‘It’s not a market decision, it’s a personal decision.’” [Fresno Bee, 7/15/17]

And That It Modernized And Strengthened Medicaid, Increased Funding For Community Health Centers, And Produce Lower Costs And More Choices

Valadao: AHCA Modernizes And Strengthens Medicaid, Can’t Deny Coverage For Pre-Existing Conditions, Increases Funding For Community Health Centers, And Produce Lower Costs And More Choices. “As a parent, there is absolutely nothing more important to me than ensuring families have access to quality, affordable health insurance. The American Health Care Act will stabilize our health-care system, ensuring our community has access to high quality, affordable health care. This market-driven, patient-centered reform will decrease costs, improve care, and put patients back in charge. The American Health Care Act ensures all have access to health care by modernizing and strengthening Medicaid for those in need. Under the plan, young adults may stay on their parent’s insurance until the age of 26 and no one can be denied coverage because of a pre-existing health condition. The American Health Care Act helps Americans afford quality coverage by providing monthly health-care vouchers to individuals who don’t receive insurance through work or a government program. Furthermore, the AHCA provides states with $138 billion in funding which can be used to support high-risk pools and cut out-of-pocket costs for families in California. Additionally, this plan will increase funding for community health centers. This increased funding will greatly benefit the Central Valley, which has 57 community health centers serving the community. Free markets and fair competition implemented in this plan will produce lower costs, more choices, and better health care for the Central Valley. Building upon the American Health Care Act, administrative action in combination with stand-alone legislation will stabilize insurance markets, provide states more control, and ultimately ensure patients are in charge of their health care decisions.” [Rep. David Valadao Op-Ed, Fresno Bee, 5/18/17]

| AHCA Would Cut $880 Billion From Medicaid Over 10 Years, Leading States To Roll Back Their Expansion, Kick Millions Off The Program, And Cut Services For Others |
| AHCA Would Cut $880 Billion From Medicaid Over 10 Years. “Some of the gains for the most well off will come at the expense of the vulnerable. Health insurers will be allowed to once again increase premiums on older customers who are more likely to require medical services. Over the next 10 years, $880 billion in federal funding for Medicaid would be cut.” [New York Times, 3/15/17] |
| Fourteen Million People Were Likely To Be Uninsured Due To Provisions Rolling Back Medicaid Expansion. “Fourteen million more people are still likely to end up uninsured under provisions rolling back Obamacare’s Medicaid expansion and enacting deep cuts to the program serving low-income and disabled Americans.” [Politico, 5/24/17] |
| Huffington Post: Under AHCA, “The Federal Guarantee Would Be Over, And With It, The Medicaid Program As We Know It.” “The new version of the program would upend this arrangement. It would devolve Medicaid to the states and reimburse them using a predetermined formula that, as the Congressional Budget Office and other experts have concluded, would not actually keep up with the cost of care. As the federal contribution toward Medicaid eroded over time, states could make up the difference on their own or — more likely — they could make cuts in whom or what the program covers. The federal guarantee would be over, and with it, the Medicaid program as we know it.” [Huffington Post, 3/21/17] |
| Vox: “Cuts Of That Scale Will Necessitate Kicking Millions Of People Off” Medicaid. “The cumulative effect, according to an analysis by the Center on Budget and Policy Priorities, is a $370 billion cut to federal funding to Medicaid over 10 years. Some of that money could be made up for by states, but most of it won't be. And because Medicaid is already the cheapest insurance there is in America — cheaper per person than either Medicare or private insurance — cuts of that scale will necessitate kicking millions of people off the program.” [Vox, 3/10/17] |
No serious analyst thinks it’s possible to take that much money out of the program without people losing access.” [Huffington Post, 5/2/17]

Block Granting Medicaid Would Put Governors In the Position Of Having To Cut Medicaid Services, Limit Coverage, Or Drop People From The Program. “If states exceed that cap to cover the needs of enrollees, they’re on the hook for 100 percent of their Medicaid costs. Researchers project the change will amount to a $280 billion cost shift to states over 10 years. Because Medicaid spending can fluctuate a lot year to year — depending on the cost of drugs, for example, or any health crises that arise — a cap system like this could be really punishing to state economies. And this will most certainly put governors in the position of having to pare down Medicaid services, limit coverage, or drop people from the program altogether. Medicaid researcher Joan Alker called this a politically “ingenious part of the Republican plan” because it’ll shift the burden to the governors to decide what to do to balance their books, and they’ll get blamed for the coverage losses that ensure. “They are going to have to raise taxes, cut services, or cut people off,” she added.” [Vox, 3/10/17]

- FiveThirtyEight: A Cap On Medicaid Reimbursements Could Force States To Ration Coverage Or Health Care. “How the government pays for the entire Medicaid program, not just the expansion, would also change. The federal government has historically paid for a percentage of whatever states’ Medicaid programs cost. The GOP bill would cap how much states could be reimbursed per participant, based on how much states spent in 2016. A cap would mean that when program costs go up, states would either have to reduce coverage or come up with funds to offset the costs. A recession, a disease outbreak or the release of a new, expensive drug (or a price increase to an existing one) could force states to ration coverage or health care if they don’t get additional funding from Congress.” [FiveThirtyEight, 3/7/17]

- Kaiser Family Foundation Expert Said That Medicaid Overhaul Could Shift Significant Financial Burden Onto The States. “But that discussion overlooks the fundamental Medicaid overhaul on the table that could shift significant burdens onto states, said Robin Rudowitz, a Medicaid expert with the nonpartisan Kaiser Family Foundation. ‘States, I think, maybe haven’t been paying that close attention but could be left facing a lot of risk related to financing,’ Rudowitz said. Governors from both parties have started raising concerns about the proposal — including Republicans in Ohio, Massachusetts and Illinois.” [Omaha World Herald, 5/14/17]

- HEADLINE: American Health Care Act’s Medicaid cuts would put significant pressure on states [Omaha World Herald, 5/14/17]

American Health Care Act Would Continue Higher Payments For Participants In Medicaid Expansion Indefinitely As Long As They Remained Enrolled In The Program. “The language would end new enrollment in the Medicaid expansion as of Dec. 31, 2019, but would continue the health care law's higher payments for those participants indefinitely as long as they remained enrolled in the program. Separately, the 19 states that didn’t expand Medicaid would be eligible for extra funds, about $10 billion over five years, or $2 billion a year.” [CQ News, 3/7/17]

- Study Found Fewer Than Half Of People Remain Continuously Eligible For The Medicaid Expansion Over A Year, And Only 20 Percent Are Continuously Eligible Over 4 Years. “This kind of income churn is very common. A study by Harvard's Benjamin Sommers and George Washington University's Sara Rosenbaum found that fewer than half of people eligible for the Medicaid expansion stay continuously eligible over the course of a year, and only 20 percent are continuously eligible over four years. So over a few years, most Medicaid expansion beneficiaries would fall off as their incomes rise and not be able to get back on once they fall again. “I think expansion is going to wither on the vine because of the churn that happens,” Alker told me.” [Vox, 3/10/17]

states to increase their own spending on Medicaid by an estimated $253 billion over ten years in order to maintain their expansions. In 2027, this means these states would have to spend more than four times as much to continue expansion as under current law. [...] In seven states (Arkansas, Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, New Hampshire, New Mexico, and Washington), these higher costs would automatically “trigger” immediate or eventual termination of the Medicaid expansion, without additional action by state policymakers. Laws in these states either explicitly require the expansion to end if the federal matching rate decreases, or they require the state to act to prevent an increase in state Medicaid costs.” [CBPP, 3/8/17]

- CBPP: “Due To The Size Of The Cost-Shift, Most Or All Of The Other 25 States That Have Expanded Medicaid Would Also Have To End Their Expansions Once The House Cuts Took Effect.” “But in practice, due to the size of the cost-shift, most or all of the other 25 states that have expanded Medicaid would also have to end their expansions once the House cuts took effect. This is especially likely since, under the House plan, funding cuts for the expansion population would be coupled with additional federal Medicaid funding cuts for the rest of states’ Medicaid programs, as discussed below.” [CBPP, 3/8/17]

Politifact Found Claim That Republican Health Care Bill Did Not Cut Medicaid “Mostly False;” “The Proposals Include Policy Changes That Will Leave Fewer People Eligible For Medicaid. That’s A Cut.”

“Conway said that Republicans are not cutting the Medicaid program. The Republican health care proposals would slow the rate at which Medicaid spending increases, but spending would still increase. However, the proposals include policy changes that will leave fewer people eligible for Medicaid. That’s a cut. Conway’s claim has an element of truth but leaves out critical facts that would give a different impression. We rate the claim Mostly False.” [Politifact, 6/26/17]

- Politifact: “Fewer People Will Have Access To Medicaid No Matter How Much Money Is Spent.” “Now, Republicans propose reducing payments to states. But at least in terms of the money trends, both situations follow the same general outlines -- with one key difference: The Democrats didn’t change the eligible population, and the Republicans do. That’s a cut. Fewer people will have access to Medicaid no matter how much money is spent.” [Politifact, 6/26/17]

Washington Post Fact Check Gave “Three Pinocchios” To McCarthy’s Claim That No One Would Lose Medicaid Benefits. “McCarthy threads a thin needle here. In arguing that no one is going to lose their Medicaid benefits, he is referring to people currently on Medicaid. But Medicaid, like all health insurance markets, is constantly churning enrollees, so very quickly people currently on Medicaid will have left the system. If they try to get back into the system, however, the planned reductions in funding may mean they no longer find themselves eligible for the program — or that their benefits have been scaled back. Given the magnitude of the funding reductions for Medicaid contemplated by the AHCA, potentially forcing difficult decisions on the states, McCarthy shouldn’t try to hide behind such technical, misleading language. Three Pinocchios” [Washington Post, 5/5/17]

- Washington Post Fact Check: McCarthy Hid Behind “Technical, Misleading Language” In Arguing No One Would Lose Medicaid Benefits. “In arguing that no one is going to lose their Medicaid benefits, he is referring to people currently on Medicaid. New York Times: Republicans Claimed Health Care Bill Would Not Cut Medicaid, Despite Spending For Less Than Would Occur Under Current Law. “The explanation, echoed by many Republicans who see the bill as their best chance to repeal the Affordable Care Act, has reignited a debate over what counts as a cut, in budget parlance. The distinction has become a central talking point for Republicans to rebut claims that they are promoting a bill that could send older people packing from nursing homes and cause children from low-income families to go without medical care. […] At issue is whether the funding changes should be compared to the increases that would occur under current law, the Affordable Care Act, or whether the focus should be on the modest annual increases that would happen under the Republican bill.” [New York Times, 6/27/17]

Wall Street Journal: Because Opportunities For Greater Efficiency In Medicaid Are “Limited,” States Will Likely “Reduce Benefits, Restrict Eligibility, Cut Fees To Providers, Or Some Combination Thereof.” “Advocates argue this will encourage states to find more efficient ways to deliver health care, without hurting the poor. Those opportunities, however, are limited: administrative costs are negligible, and most states are funneling Medicaid patients into cost-conscious managed care plans. States will either have to replace the missing federal money themselves, or reduce benefits, restrict eligibility, cut fees to providers, or some combination thereof, widening the quality disparity between Medicaid and Medicare coverage.” [Wall Street Journal, 6/28/17]

Experts Said There Were No Hidden Efficiencies That Could Make Up For Medicaid Cuts Of The Magnitude Of AHCA

Managed Care Organizations On Medicaid Cuts: “There Are No Hidden Efficiencies That States Can Use To Address Gaps Of This Magnitude Without Harming Beneficiaries Or Imposing Undue Burden To Our Health Care System…” “By 2026, this would amount to a 25 percent shortfall in covering the actual cost of providing care to our nation’s neediest citizens. While this may appear positive from an immediate budgetary perspective these amounts spell deep cuts, not state flexibilities, in Medicaid. There are no hidden efficiencies that states can use to address gaps of this magnitude without harming beneficiaries or imposing undue burden to our health care system and all U.S. taxpayers. Reducing the federal government’s share of Medicaid in this manner is not meaningful reform to bend the cost curve. It is simply an enormous cost shift to the states.” [Washington Post, 6/22/17; Managed Care Organization Executives Letter To Senate, 6/20/17]

Valadao Said He Voted For The American Health Care Act Because It Included A Pilot Project To Raise Reimbursement Rates For Doctors Willing To Work In The 21st District

Valadao Said He Voted For The American Health Care Act Because It Included A Pilot Project To Raise Reimbursement Rates For Doctors Willing To Work In The 21st District. “That vote was his support of the American Health Care Act of 2017, the Republican push to ‘repeal and replace’ Obamacare. If it had been adopted, the act would have scaled back government assistance for health care and sharply reduced the number of people who would have been eligible. The 21st District is one of the poorest in the nation, and government-run assistance programs make a real difference for the people living in Kings County and parts of Kern, Tulare and Fresno counties. Valadao said he voted for the plan because it included a pilot project to raise reimbursement rates for doctors willing to work in the 21st. The district struggles to attract doctors because of poor reimbursement rates from the government.” [Fresno Bee, Editorial, 2/26/20]

Valadao Said That The AHCA Was Amending The “Failing” Affordable Care Act To Improve Access To Health Care

AP: “Valadao Characterized The Republican Health Plan As One That Amends The ‘Failing’ Affordable Care Act To Improve Access To Health Care.” “Valadao characterized the Republican health plan as one that amends the ‘failing’ Affordable Care Act to improve access to health care. Like Denham, Valadao represents a Central Valley district where many residents get coverage through Medi-Cal, which liberals say is endangered by the GOP bill.” [AP, 5/5/17]

Bakersfield Californian: Valadao Said That Democrats Did Not Reach Out And Offer A Compromise On Obamacare That Moderate Republicans Would Vote For. “Valadao said his vote came from a desire to create action that might bring both Democrats and Republicans to a compromise. ‘I had to choose to move the debate forward,’ he said. He knows the hospitals in his district -- from Kern Medical Center in Bakersfield to the hospital in Coalinga -- are happy to at least be getting some money under ACA from indigent patients who they used to treat for free. But, he said, ‘people aren't happy on Medicaid. My hospitals are saying they're losing specialists. People go to the emergency room because a doctor won't see them.’ There are things in Obamacare, Valadao said, that worked. But it's far from perfect. Republican bills aren't perfect, either, he said. But Democrats won't reach out to Republicans, he said, and offer a compromise that moderate Republicans could support -- even if conservative Republicans hated it.” [Bakersfield Californian, 8/10/17]

Fresno Bee Editorial: Valadao Voted To Give Tax Breaks For The Rich And Kick People Off Their Insurances, Co-Sponsored Amendment That Is Inadequate For People With Pre-Existing Conditions. “If there was any doubt, it evaporated Thursday: President Donald Trump and his Republican allies in the House of Representatives want to make America sick again. … House Republicans shredded the Affordable Care Act by passing a health-care bill that is bad for America – and the San Joaquin Valley, in particular. … Access to affordable health care has always been a challenge for the working poor and even middle-class Valley residents. That longstanding hurdle finally was lowered when President Barack Obama signed the Affordable Care Act into law and California leaders – unlike those in many other states – fully embraced its provisions. Supporters of Rep. David Valadao, R-Hanford, have spent millions of dollars on campaign ads portraying him as a friend of working men and women, and veterans. But with his vote Thursday, he revealed his true colors: just another foot soldier in the Trump offensive to reward the rich and punish everyone else. Valadao did co-sponsor the Upton Amendment. It added $8 billion over five years to $130 billion in the bill to fund high-risk pools and subsidize pre-existing conditions in states that seek waivers under the AHCA. That sounds like a lot. But it’s not when you consider that 130 million Americans have pre-existing conditions. According to the left-leaning Center for American Progress, people with pre-existing conditions can now expect shockingly high surcharges on their insurance premiums if the bill passes the Senate. A few examples: diabetes, $5,510; bipolar disorder, $8,370; breast cancer, $28,230; and lung cancer, $71,880. The Center for American Progress also calculated the number of Americans with pre-existing conditions by congressional district: In Valadao’s district, it is 291,100, including 52,600 children. … In a statement released to the media, Valadao said, “The American Health Care Act will stabilize our health care system, ensuring our community has access to high quality, affordable health care.” … Don’t believe either one of them. What they backed Thursday was legislation that provides $600 billion in tax cuts for the rich, deprives 24 million Americans of health insurance and raises health insurance premiums.” [Fresno Bee Editorial, 5/04/17]

Merced Sun-Star Editorial: Valadao Voted To Cut Taxes For The Rich And Give Insurance Companies A $100 Million Per Year Windfall, Eliminate Protections For Pre-Existing Conditions And Gut Medi-Cal Funding. “Ignoring the polls and the cries of hundreds of constituents, House Republicans – and only Republicans – voted to kill Obamacare on Thursday. … Under the Republicans’ version, people with pre-existing conditions – from pregnancy to diabetes to heart disease – are destined to pay more and get less. Programs for children, clinics for veterans, services for older Americans will be squeezed – some out of existence. Retirees could pay triple their current costs. But insurance companies are likely to be doing much better. One estimate puts their windfall at $100 million a year. Every single California Republican – including … David Valadao of Hanford … – embraced this mess. Why? The AHCA is a $300 billion tax cut for the very rich, and it’s the very rich who contribute the most to political campaigns. Those who are sick and vulnerable have less to give. … We doubt their lack of courage will that soon fade from memory. That’s especially true for Denham and Valadao, who tried to hide behind a promise of an additional $8 billion over five year to subsidize high-risk pools. One study puts the annual shortfall for such pools at nearly $200 billion.” [Merced Sun-Star Editorial, 5/04/17]

More Than 20,000 Of Valadao’s Constituents Were Insured By The Expansion Of Medicaid Under The ACA

Medicaid Expansion Estimated To Have Insured 20,356 In CA-21. “The reason is that so many people in Valadao’s 21st Congressional District received health insurance under the Affordable Care Act’s expansion of Medi-Cal, the government-funded health care program for low-income residents. Under the expansion, the number of Kings County residents in Medi-Cal increased by 20,356 to reach a total of 45,131, according to Keith Winkler, former Kings County public health director. It’s likely that most of those added did not previously have health insurance. The AHCA phases out the federal funding that made the Medi-Cal expansion possible.” [The Sentinel, 5/06/17]

Fresno Bee Op-Ed: “GOP Health Plan Cripples Health Center Care For Elderly Valadao Constituents.” [Fresno Bee, Soyla Reyna-Griffin Op-Ed, 6/07/17]

Fresno Bee Op-Ed: Valadao Wrong That ACA Reduced Access To Healthcare Services And Treatment. “Valadao states that ‘Obamacare’s devastating impact on the health-care industry effectively reduced access to health-care services and treatments for entire communities.’ This is simply not true. California’s uninsured rate fell from 17.2 percent in 2013 to a historic low of 8.6 percent in 2015. For community health centers, the rate dropped from 35 percent in 2012 to 24 percent in 2015. The ACA did not reduce access to care, but rather, gave people the access to care they deserve. At Valley Health Team, we’ve seen a 92 percent increase in patients served from 2013 to 2016.” [Fresno Bee, Soyla Reyna-Griffin Op-Ed, 6/07/17]

Fresno Bee Op-Ed: Valadao Wrong That Community Health Centers Will Be Better Off. “Valadao claims community health centers will benefit from increased funding under the AHCA. He is misinformed. Yes, under AHCA, community health centers will be given a one-time 2017-18 infusion of $422 million (nationwide), but this money is being taken from other safety-net providers leaving health centers to fill in the gaps. This amount – spread among more than 1,400 health centers nationwide – is nowhere near enough to fill in the gaps of the other safety net providers or offset cuts to the Medicaid program, which the Congressional Budget Office estimates will total $880 billion over the next 10 years. For health centers like ours around the country, cuts to Medicaid will be devastating to our patients and to our capacity to care for them.” [Fresno Bee, Soyla Reyna-Griffin Op-Ed, 6/07/17]

ACA Expanded Access To Healthcare; Area Health Centers Expanded. “Here in Los Angeles County, we’ve spoken regularly with Rep. Steve Knight, R-Santa Clarita, our area’s only Republican representative, on the impact of the Affordable Care Act (ACA) on his district, and the potential effects of replacing the ACA with the proposed AHCA. More than 80,000 people in Knight’s district currently benefit from the ACA, with close to 21,000 enrolled in Covered California and almost 60,000 adults newly covered as part of the Medi-Cal expansion. These people could all lose coverage under the AHCA. The ACA’s massive expansions in coverage allowed community providers to dramatically expand access to care. The Antelope Valley Community Clinic, for example, opened in 2010, the year the ACA was passed. In just five years, the clinic went from providing 12,000 patient visits and 25 employees to 100,000 visits and 235 employees. Thanks to the ACA, the clinic expanded its facilities and became a one-stop shop for physical, mental and oral health needs for the underserved in the High Desert. Antelope Valley residents can finally access comprehensive preventive services that keep them healthy and productive in society. If patients lose coverage under the AHCA, the clinic would be forced to choose between scaling back services or laying off staff. This would cost taxpayers more in the long run, as the newly uninsured would delay care and rely on the emergency room when they experience an avoidable health emergency.” [Los Angeles Daily News column, 6/09/17]

Central Valley Health Network Was “Disappointed” With Valadao’s Vote For The AHCA After Having Given Him An Award The Year Before For “Promoting Sensible Healthcare Policies”

Valadao “Disappointed” Organization That Presented Him With Health Champion Award. “Cathy Frey, CEO of the Central Valley Health Network, based in Sacramento, said the new proposal by Denham and Valadao could be a response to the heat they are feeling from their constituents, since the congressmen voted for the AHCA in May. … Earlier this year, before Valadao’s AHCA vote, Frey’s group had given him a “Health Champion” award for his leadership in “promoting sensible healthcare policies” and his support of community health centers in the Valley. His support for a plan that could potentially end coverage for some of the patients those health centers serve came as a surprise, Frey said. ‘Disappointment is the word that comes to mind,’ she said.” [California Healthline, 6/22/17]

And Valadao Even Tried To Reauthorize An ACA Program To Train Physicians In Rural Areas

Valadao Introduced Bill To Reauthorize Program That Trains Physicians In Rural Areas That Was Originally Created By The ACA. “Just two months before it was set to lose federal funding, Congressman David Valadao co-introduced legislation Tuesday to continue operating a critical program that trains physicians in rural areas. The Training the Next Generation of Primary Care Doctors Act of 2017 would reauthorize the Teaching Health Center Graduate Medical Education Program for three years, according to a news release issued by Valadao’s office. It would also allow for the expansion of new programs within existing centers and the creation of new teaching health centers while emphasizing the importance of establishing sustainable funding. ‘As fewer medical school graduates pursue careers in rural America, Teaching Health Centers provide critical health care services many families rely on,’ Valadao said. ‘By reauthorizing the THC Graduate Medical Education Program, and prioritizing rural and medically underserved areas, our bill will ensure our most disadvantaged communities, like California’s Central Valley, have access to the primary care services they deserve.’ Teaching Health Centers were established under the Affordable Care Act as a way of increasing the number of primary care physicians to serve those in medically underserved areas. Kern County is among them.” [Bakersfield Californian, 7/25/17]

Valadao Cosponsored A Bill To Increase Medicaid Reimbursements Rates In California, After Voting To Cut An Estimated $24 Billion A Year From Medicaid Through The AHCA
Valadao And Denham’s ACCESS Act Of 2017 Would Have Used Federal Money To Pay Doctors More To Provide Medi-Cal Services In Poor Areas Like Valadao’s Central Valley

Valadao’s Bill To Address Medicaid Reimbursement Rates Antithetical To AHCA Vote. “Representatives Jeff Denham and David Valadao have co-sponsored House Bill 2779 which would use federal money to pay doctors more for providing Medi-Cal services in some of the poorest areas of the state like the Central Valley. … A bigger concern for Perrone and other health care insiders is the vote by both Denham and Valadao for the Republican American Health Care Act. According to an independent analysis of the bill, it would cut around $800 billion dollars from the program nationwide over the next decade, likely leading to thousands being kicked off all together. The AHCA could cost California an estimated $24 billion a year. ‘This is the equivalent of asking for more legroom on an airplane when they just voted to blow out the engine,’ says Anthony Wright with Health Access California. Wright says it’s hard for him to take the new Denham/Valadao bill seriously considering their votes for the AHCA. ‘There does need to be improvement in access in the Medi-Cal program. What is the height of hypocrisy is raising that while having voted to make the situation billions of dollars worse with their vote for the house health bill,’ Wright says.” [Valley Public Radio, 6/13/17]

Critics Said Valadao Cosponsoring The ACCESS Act After Voting For The AHCA Was Like “Asking For More Legroom On An Airplane When They Just Voted To Blow Out The Engine”

Health Access California Executive Director: The ACCESS Act Was “The Equivalent Of Asking For More Legroom On An Airplane When They Just Voted To Blow Out The Engine [By Voting For The AHCA]” “Representatives Jeff Denham and David Valadao have co-sponsored House Bill 2779 which would use federal money to pay doctors more for providing Medi-Cal services in some of the poorest areas of the state like the Central Valley. … A bigger concern for Perrone and other health care insiders is the vote by both Denham and Valadao for the Republican American Health Care Act. What is the height of hypocrisy is raising that while having voted to make the situation billions of dollars worse with their vote for the house health bill,’ Wright says.” [Valley Public Radio, 6/13/17]

And That The Bill Was “Embarrassingly Transparent In Its Attempt To Change The Focus”

Valadao’s Bill “Embarrassingly Transparent In Its Attempt To Change The Focus.” “‘The proposal is really embarrassingly transparent in its attempt to change the focus of discussion away from basic coverage for low-income folks,’ said John Capitman, executive director of the Fresno-based Central Valley Health Policy Institute.” [California Healthline, 6/22/17]

And Short On Details Such As Costs Of Methods To Address The Doctor Shortage

Valadao’s Bill “Short On Details,” Does Not Specify Costs Of Project Or Methods To Address Doctor Shortage. “Some political observers were surprised when two Republican congressmen from California’s Central Valley voted for the GOP-led House bill to repeal the Affordable Care Act and curtail federal spending on Medicaid, the health program for low-income people. After all, thousands of people in their districts could lose their health coverage if the bill became law. Now, Reps. David Valadao (R-Hanford) and Jeff Denham (R-Turlock) have introduced legislation of their own to increase payments for doctors who treat Medicaid patients. Medicaid reimbursement rates in California are among the nation’s lowest, hampering some patients’ access to care. Critics say the bill is short on details, and they call it a ‘distraction’ from what they view as the congressmen’s votes to strip health coverage from their own constituents. … The Denham-Valadao bill does not specify the cost of the Medicaid pilot project it seeks to establish, nor does it say what kind of payment-boosting methods could be tested or how long the study would last. That lack of detail makes it difficult to analyze the legislation’s impact, some health policy experts said.” [California Healthline, 6/22/17]

Critics Argued That Increased Coverage, Not Higher Doctor Reimbursement Rates Would Draw More Doctors To Central Valley

Higher Doctor Reimbursement Rates Alone Wouldn’t Draw More Doctors To Central Valley, Must Be Done By Increasing Coverage; Boosting Rates While Stripping Coverage From People “Illogical And Would Not Make It Easier For Doctors To Sustain A Practice.” “Capitman agreed that higher reimbursement rates could encourage more Central Valley doctors to see Medi-Cal patients, but that alone wouldn’t draw more physicians to the region. Chris Perrone, director of the Improving Access team at the California Health Care Foundation, said boosting Medicaid rates while stripping coverage from some people is illogical and would not make it easier for doctors to sustain a practice. … ‘If the goal is to improve access to care, the place to start is not with reimbursements. The place to start is with coverage,’ Perrone said. ‘To vote for a bill that pulls back Medicaid expansion and then to propose this other bill is preposterous.’” [California Healthline, 6/22/17]

Valadao Introduced A Bill To Reauthorize An ACA Program To Train Physicians In Rural Areas

Valadao Introduced Bill To Would Reauthorize Program That Trains Physicians In Rural Areas, Was Originally Created By The ACA. “Just two months before it was set to lose federal funding, Congressman David Valadao co-introduced legislation Tuesday to continue operating a critical program that trains physicians in rural areas. The Training the Next Generation of Primary Care Doctors Act of 2017 would reauthorize the Teaching Health Center Graduate Medical Education Program for three years, according to a news release issued by Valadao’s office. It would also allow for the expansion of new programs within existing centers and the creation of new teaching health centers while emphasizing the importance of establishing sustainable funding. ‘As fewer medical school graduates pursue careers in rural America, Teaching Health Centers provide critical health care services many families rely on,’ Valadao said. ‘By reauthorizing the THC Graduate Medical Education Program, and prioritizing rural and medically underserved areas, our bill will ensure our most disadvantaged communities, like California’s Central Valley, have access to the primary care services they deserve.’ Teaching Health Centers were established under the Affordable Care Act as a way of increasing the number of primary care physicians to serve those in medically underserved areas. Kern County is among them.” [Bakersfield Californian, 7/25/17]

Valadao Introduced Bill That Would Expand Teaching Hospital Residencies In Rural Areas. “Today, United States Congressman David G. Valadao (CA-21), joined by Congressman Jeff Denham (CA-10), introduced legislation to further expand the Teaching Health Center (THC) Graduate Medical Education (GME) program. H.R. 3451, the Creating Additional Residency Expansion Act (CARE Act) expands the THCGME program by a total of twenty new centers, requiring the establishment of at least ten entirely new residency program centers. The legislation provides $57 million over fiscal years 2019 through 2020 to fund an additional 240 residency slots. Furthermore, the CARE Act directs the Secretary of Health and Human Services to prioritize centers located in counties with high Medicaid populations.” [Rep. David Valadao press release, 7/27/17]

Valadao Spoke About Funding Valley Fever Programs After Having Voted For AHCA. “Valley fever infects more than 13,000 people annually in Arizona and California and kills more than 100. Yet the two states spend less on public awareness about the disease in one year than what the Bakersfield City School District spends on lunch milk for a month and less than what Pima County, Arizona’s Parks and Recreation Department spent on janitorial supplies in 2016. Government-funded awareness campaigns can transform public behavior and lead to different approaches by doctors and nurses. When it comes to valley fever, though, state and local agencies in both locales have historically struggled with support for one of the most important aspects of combatting the disease: warning the public of its existence. Since the beginning of 2011, valley fever — which is caused by breathing in coccidioidal fungal spores that get swept into the air — has infected more than 75,000 people in California and Arizona, the two regions with the highest number of cases. California experienced a valley fever epidemic last year and a wet winter signals that 2017 could be worse.” [Bakersfield Now, 8/26/17]
“House Passes Community Health Center Funding Bill; Valadao-Sponsored Boost In Spending For Doctors’ Training Included.” “Legislation passed in the House Friday included a provision introduced by Congressman David Valadao, R-Hanford, to nearly double the funding for the Teaching Health Center Graduate Medical Education Program to $126.5 million over two years. ‘I applaud my colleagues in the House of Representatives for passing this legislation, which extends funding for the critical health care programs my constituents depend upon,’ Valadao said. ‘The Teaching Health Center Graduate Medical Education program ensures our most disadvantaged communities have access to the medical professionals and health care services they deserve.’ The program allows medical residents to practice at FQHCs. In areas like Kern County, much of which is designated by the federal government as a medically underserved area, those residents are vital to providing care, health care leaders say.” [Bakersfield, 11/03/17]

2,582,200 Californians, Including 60,500 Of Valadao’s Constituents, Were Estimated To Lose Health Coverage In 2026 Under The AHCA, And Californians With Asthma Could See A $4,120 Premium Surcharge

60,500 Residents Of California’s 21st Congressional District Were Estimated To Lose Health Insurance Coverage In 2026 Under The AHCA

CBO Estimated 14 Million More People Would Be Uninsured In 2018; 23 Million More Uninsured By 2026. “CBO and JCT estimate that, in 2018, 14 million more people would be uninsured under H.R. 1628 than under current law. The increase in the number of uninsured people relative to the number under current law would reach 19 million in 2020 and 23 million in 2026 (see Table 4, at the end of this document).” [CBO, 5/24/17]

“Under the AHCA: Average premiums would increase for all ages starting at about age 46. Premiums for 60- to 64-year-olds would increase by an average of $3,200, amounting to average unsubsidized premiums of almost $18,000 per year. Meanwhile, 20- to 29-year-olds are expected to see significantly smaller average savings, of only $700 per year, giving them average unsubsidized premiums of $4,010 per year.” [AARP, 5/4/17]

Affordable Care Act (ACA)

Valadao Claimed The ACA Made The Health Care System Worse And People Rejected High Paying Jobs Because They Did Not Want To Lose Their Eligibility For Medi-Cal

Valadao Said ACA Make The Health Care System Worse And That The Medicaid Expansion Overloaded States

Valadao: “ACA Made The Health Care System Worse.” “Our nation’s health care system was struggling before Obamacare, but passage of the health-care reform bill in 2010, made it worse. Every day, I hear from my constituents about the ways in which our health-care system is failing Central Valley families. Our depleted health-care system has restricted health-care professionals’ ability to provide care, increased premiums for families and individuals across the country, eliminated patient choice, and severely reduced access to health care in our region of California. The failed law has created a health-care system that is simply unsustainable and fails to provide quality care. Health-care costs have increased by an average of 25%.” [Fresno Bee, Rep. David Valadao Op-Ed, 5/18/17]

Valadao: Medicaid Expansion Was Overloading States And Failed Policies Were Leading To A Shortage Of Medical Workers. “The Medicaid expansion is overloading states, which, in order to keep up, will have to increase taxes or increase out-of-pocket expenses to patients. Despite paying more, Americans are getting less. Nearly one-third of counties only have one insurer offering plans on the exchange, leaving patients little choice. Even worse, these failed policies are causing a shortage of doctors and medical providers, leading to increased wait times, reduced services, and again, fewer options. Obamacare’s devastating impact on the health-care industry effectively reduced access to health-care services and treatment for entire communities. Possession of an insurance card does not equate to health-care services and medical treatment. This is why I voted in favor of the American Health Care Act.” [Fresno Bee, Rep. David Valadao Op-Ed, 5/18/17]

Valadao Claimed That People Were Not Taking High Paying Jobs Because They Did Not Want To Lose Their Eligibility For Medi-Cal

Valadao Claimed That People Were Not Taking High Paying Jobs Because They Did Not Want To Lose Their Eligibility For Medi-Cal. “Valadao said that Medicaid, which in California is known as Medi-Cal, is preventing people from taking higher-paying jobs because they don’t want to lose their eligibility for the program. ‘I have people in your own group telling me that they are holding themselves back salary- and wage-wise because they wouldn’t be able to qualify for Medicaid,’ he told the protesters.” [Fresno Bee, 7/15/17]

Valadao Voted 32 Times To Cripple, Defund, Or Change the Affordable Care Act

Valadao Voted For Beginning Process Of Repealing Affordable Care Act

Valadao Voted For Beginning The Process Of Repealing Affordable Care Act. In January 2017, Valadao voted for: “Adoption of the concurrent resolution that includes reconciliation instructions for the House Energy and Commerce and Ways and Means Committees as well as the Senate Finance and Health, Education, Labor and Pensions Committees to develop legislation to reduce the deficit by at least $1 billion each over a 10-year period by January 27, 2017, which is expected to repeal parts of the 2010 health care law. The concurrent resolution also would set broad spending and revenue targets over the next 10 years. It would allow $3.3 trillion in new budget authority for fiscal 2017.” The resolution was adopted 227-198. [S Con Res 3, Vote #58, 1/13/17; CQ Floor Votes, 1/13/17]

• The Vote “Began The Process Of Dismantling The Affordable Care Act” By Allowing Republicans To Use Budget Reconciliation To Roll Back The Law. “The House of Representatives began the process of dismantling the Affordable Care Act on Friday, approving a budget resolution on a mostly party line vote. The vote was 227-198. The Senate passed the measure earlier this week. It allows Republicans on Capitol Hill to use a process known as ‘budget reconciliation’ to roll back major parts of the health care law. Top Republican leaders are also saying they plan to move to replace Obamacare along the same track, but they are still struggling to come up with the details on how it will work.” [CNN, 1/3/17]

Valadao Voted Two Times To Defund The Affordable Care Act Or Major Provisions Of The Bill

Valadao Voted For Defunding The Affordable Care Act. In September 2013, Valadao voted for: “Passage of the joint resolution that would provide continuing appropriations through Dec. 15, 2013 for government operations that would reflect an annual discretionary level of about $986.3 billion. It also would defund the 2010 health care overhaul and allow the U.S. Treasury, once the statutory debt limit is reached, to continue borrowing over the debt limit until Dec. 15, 2014. Funds could only be used to pay the principal and interest on both government debt held by the public and on obligations to the Social Security trust fund.” [H J Res 59, Vote #478, 9/20/13; CQ Floor Votes, 9/20/13]

Valadao Voted For Prohibiting The Treasury Department And IRS From Enforcing The Affordable Care Act. In August 2013, Valadao voted for: “Passage of the bill that would prohibit the Treasury secretary, or any delegate of the secretary, including the IRS, from implementing or enforcing any provisions of the 2010 health care law. Provisions of the law slated to go into effect in 2014 require individuals to have health insurance.” [HR 2009, Vote #447, 8/2/13; CQ Floor Votes, 8/2/13]

Valadao Voted Eight Times To Delay Key Provisions Of The Affordable Care Act

Valadao Voted For Requiring Regulations and Rule Changes In The Affordable Care Act Be Subject To Congressional Approval. In July 2015, Valadao voted for: an amendment that would require “rule and regulations under the Affordable Care Act to be subject to the congressional approval process established in the bill.” The amendment passed, 242-167. [HR 427, Vote #474; CQ Floor Votes, 7/28/15]

Valadao Voted For Repealing The Sustainable Growth Rate Formula, And Delaying Tax Penalty For Individual Mandate For Five Years. In March 2014, Valadao voted for: “Passage of the bill that would repeal the sustainable growth rate formula and replace it with systems to adjust payments based on performance factors or on a provider’s participation in payment models that move them away from the fee-for-service structure. The bill would provide for an annual 0.5 percent payment increase for physicians from 2014 through 2018. As amended, the bill would delay for five years the penalties under the 2010 health care law on individuals who do not purchase health insurance.” [HR 4015, Vote #135, 3/14/14; CQ Floor Votes, 3/14/14]

Valadao Voted For Delaying Tax Penalty For Individual Mandate Under The Affordable Care Act. In March 2014, Valadao voted for: “Passage of the bill that would delay, until January 2015, the tax penalty for individuals who fail to purchase health insurance under the 2010 health care overhaul. It also would delay certain phase-in and indexing requirements related to the individual mandate penalty.” [HR 4118, Vote #97, 3/5/14; CQ Floor Votes, 3/5/14]

Valadao Voted For Delaying Individual Mandate For One Year. In September 2013, Valadao voted for: “Rogers, R-Ky., motion to recede from House amendments and concur in the Senate amendment with an additional House amendment to the joint resolution that would provide fiscal 2014 continuing appropriations. The House amendment would fund the government until Dec. 15, 2013, and delay for one year a requirement in the 2010 health care overhaul that all individuals purchase health insurance or pay a tax penalty. It also would require the president, vice president, members of Congress, congressional staff and political appointees to purchase health insurance through the health care law’s state insurance exchanges and would limit the subsidies they may receive for purchasing insurance.” [HJRes 59, Vote #504, 9/30/13; CQ Floor Votes, 9/30/13]

Valadao Voted For Delaying Implementation Of The Affordable Care Act For One Year. In September 2013, Valadao voted for: “Rogers, R-Ky., motion to concur in the Senate amendment to the joint resolution that would provide fiscal 2014 continuing appropriations with a Blackburn, R-Tenn., amendment that would delay for one year implementation of any provision of the 2010 health care overhaul that would take effect between Oct. 1, 2013, and Dec. 31, 2014, including the individual mandate and the imposition or increase of specified taxes and fees. It also would allow companies and insurance providers until 2015 to opt out of mandated birth control coverage for religious or moral reasons, and bar appropriations and transfers from the Patient-Centered Outcomes Research Fund. It also would set the expiration date for the continuing appropriations to Dec. 15, 2013.” [HJRes 59, Vote #498, 9/29/13; CQ Floor Votes, 9/29/13]

Valadao Voted For Blocking Subsidies In Affordable Care Act Until A Program To Verify Recipient Qualifications Was In Place. In September 2013, Valadao voted for: “Passage of the bill that would block premium and cost-sharing subsidies under the 2010 health care overhaul law until a program to verify recipient qualifications is in place. As amended, the bill would require the Health and Human Services inspector general to certify the program.” [HR 2775, Vote #458, 9/12/13; CQ Floor Votes, 9/12/13]

Valadao Voted For Delaying The Individual Mandate For One Year. In July 2013, Valadao voted for: “Passage of the bill that would delay for one year, until the start of 2015, the requirement in the 2010 health care overhaul that most individuals maintain health insurance coverage or pay a penalty.” [HR 2668, Vote #363, 7/17/13; CQ Floor Votes, 7/17/13]

Valadao Voted For Delaying The Employer Mandate For One Year. In July 2013, Valadao voted for: “Passage of the bill that would delay for one year, until the beginning of 2015, the requirement in the 2010 health care overhaul that businesses with 50 or more full-time employees provide health insurance to their workers or pay a penalty. It also would delay by one year associated reporting requirements for employers and insurance providers.” [HR 2667, Vote #361, 7/17/13; CQ Floor Votes, 7/17/13]

Valadao Voted Four Times On Repealing Parts Of The Affordable Care Act

Valadao Voted For A Motion Agreeing With Senate Amendment To Place A Moratorium On Health Care Reform’s Medical Device Tax. In December 2015, Valadao voted for: concurring with a Senate amendment to a tax package that included a two year moratorium on the 2.3 percent medical device tax implemented under the Affordable Care Act. The amendment passed, 318-109. [HR 2029, Vote #703, 12/17/15; Med Device Online, 12/17/15]

Valadao Voted For Eliminating The Independent Payment Advisory Board. “The House easily passed a repeal of Obamacare’s Independent Payment Advisory Board, with a handful of Democrats voting with Republicans against a part of the law aimed at checking the growth of Medicare spending. The Independent Payment Advisory Board has never been used. It consists of 15 members and was included in the law to control the rate of Medicare growth and to help the program come up with savings. The law said the board would make savings recommendations if Medicare spending was projected to exceed a certain target rate, but so far, spending hasn’t grown fast enough to trigger the IPAB. The 244-154 vote occurred days before an expected Supreme Court ruling on the legality of Obamacare subsidies.” The bill passed, 244-154. [HR 1190, Vote #376, 6/23/15; National Journal, 6/23/15]
Valadao Voted For A Repealing Medical Device Tax Under The Affordable Care Act. “The House defied a White House veto threat and voted Thursday to abolish a tax on medical device makers as a group of Democrats uncharacteristically joined Republicans in moving to kill part of President Barack Obama’s health care law … The Republican-led House has voted more than 50 times since 2011 to void all or part of Obama’s health care overhaul, usually along party lines.” The bill passed 280 to 140. [HR 160, Vote #375, 6/18/15; Associated Press, 6/18/15]

Valadao Voted For Repealing The Medical Device Tax. In September 2013, Valadao voted for: “Rogers, R-Ky., motion to concur in the Senate amendment to the joint resolution that would provide fiscal 2014 continuing appropriations with a Paulsen, R-Minn., amendment that would repeal the 2.3 percent medical device tax included in the 2010 health care overhaul. It also would set the expiration date for the continuing appropriations to Dec. 15, 2013; bar authority for capital construction for the Dwight D. Eisenhower Memorial Commission through Dec. 15, 2013; and extend and increase available visas for the special immigrant visa program for Iraqis who supported U.S. efforts in Iraq after March 2003.” [H J Res 59, Vote #497, 9/20/13; CQ Floor Votes, 9/20/13]

Valadao Voted Seven Times To Change The Affordable Care Act

Valadao Voted For A Bill Blocking Federal Funding For Abortion, Including ACA Tax Credits For Small Businesses Providing Healthcare That Includes Abortion Coverage. “The House did easily pass H.R. 7, the No Taxpayer Funding for Abortion and Abortion Insurance Full Disclosure Act of 2015, sponsored by Rep. Chris Smith (R-N.J.). White House advisers said they would recommend a veto should the bill reach the president’s desk. The Hyde Amendment already prevents the use of federal funds to pay for abortion, except in cases of incest, rape and life endangerment of the mother. That is passed every year as part of an appropriations bill, but this bill would make that permanent law. The House bill would also restrict small businesses from getting an Affordable Care Act tax credit if they purchase employee health plans that include abortion coverage on the Small Business Health Options Program, or SHOP exchange.” [HR 7, Vote #45, 1/22/15; Politico, 1/22/15]

Valadao Voted For Increasing The Definition Of Full-Time From 30 Hours To 40 Hours Under Affordable Care Act. “The House will vote again on Thursday to lengthen Obamacare’s full-time workweek definition to 40 hours, but the Senate has work to do before it can hope to get its first anti-Obamacare bill to the president’s desk.” The bill passed, 252-172. [HR 30, Vote #14, 1/8/15; Politico, 1/8/15]

Valadao Voted For A Bill To Allow Companies To Keep Employer-Sponsored Group Health Plans Not In Compliance With Affordable Care Act Requirements. “Another Republican effort to undo a pillar of the 2010 health care law took center stage in the House on Thursday as lawmakers passed a measure that would allow companies and workers to keep employer-sponsored group health plans not in compliance with the law’s coverage requirements. Lawmakers backed, 247-167, a bill (HR 3522) that would permit insurers to continue providing any group plans offered in 2013, regardless whether they meet criteria in the law (PL 111-148, PL 111-152). Insurers could offer those plans to existing or new enrollees through December 31, 2018, but could not offer the coverage through health insurance exchanges.” [HR 3522, Vote #495, 9/11/14; CQ News, 9/11/14]

Valadao Voted For Increasing The Definition Of Full-Time From 30 Hours To 40 Hours Under Affordable Care Act. In April 2014, Valadao voted for: “Passage of the bill that would change the definition of a full-time work week from 30 hours to 40 hours for purposes of the 2010 health care law’s employer mandate. It also would change how the 50-employee threshold is calculated, by requiring employers to divide the aggregate number of hours worked in a month by part-time workers by 174, rather than 120 as required by current law.” [HR 2575, Vote #156, 4/3/14; CQ Floor Votes, 4/3/14]

Valadao Voted For Requiring HHS To Provide Weekly Reports On HealthCare.gov, Including Enrollment Data. In January 2014, Valadao voted for: “Passage of the bill that would require the Health and Human Services Department to report weekly on the performance of HealthCare.gov and its affiliated call center, including health insurance enrollments, website problems and other consumer interactions. It also would require HHS to disclose the names of navigators and insurance agents who educate consumers about the health care law and assist them in purchasing health insurance through the federal website.” [HR 3362, Vote #23, 1/16/14; CQ Floor Votes, 1/16/14]
Valadao Voted For Requiring HHS To Notify Individuals Of Any Security Breach Of Data From HealthCare.gov. In January 2014, Valadao voted for: “Passage of the bill that would require the Health and Human Services Department to notify individuals within two business days of any security breach of health care exchange system information that resulted in the theft or unlawful access of individuals’ personally identifiable information from HealthCare.gov, or the state or small business exchanges’ websites.” [HR 3811, Vote #11, 1/10/14; CQ Floor Votes, 1/10/14]

Valadao Voted For Bill To Allow Companies To Keep Employer-Sponsored Group Health Plans Not In Compliance With Affordable Care Act Requirements. In November 2013, Valadao voted for: “Passage of the bill that would allow health insurance companies to continue to offer in 2014, outside of the new insurance exchanges, health care plans in the individual market that were in effect as of Jan. 1, 2013. Such policies would be treated as grandfathered health plans that satisfy the minimum essential health insurance coverage requirements set by the 2010 health care overhaul.” [HR 3350, Vote #587, 11/15/13; CQ Floor Votes, 11/15/13]

Valadao Voted Two Times To Fully Repeal The Affordable Care Act

2015: Valadao Voted For Repealing The Affordable Care Act. In February 2015, Valadao voted for: the “Passage of the bill that would repeal the 2010 health care overhaul. The bill would delay the repeal by 180 days after enactment and direct the House Education and the Workforce, Energy and Commerce, Judiciary and Ways and Means committees to submit alternative legislation with a number of provisions, including ones to increase economic growth by eliminating certain regulations; lower health care premiums through increased competition; overhaul the medical liability system; and provide states greater flexibility to administer Medicaid programs.” The bill passed 239-186. [HR 596, Vote #58, 2/3/15; CQ Floor Votes, 2/3/15]

- The Hill: The Vote Was The Fourth Vote To “Completely Repeal” The Affordable Care Act; For The First Time, The Bill Included Instructions For Committees To Replace The Bill, But With No Deadline To Finish. “The GOP House on Tuesday voted for the fourth time to completely repeal ObamaCare, but this time with instructions for several committees to replace the healthcare law with new policies. […] This is the first time the House has coupled an ObamaCare repeal vote with instructions to write a replacement, but they included a significant caveat. The legislation doesn’t impose any deadlines on committees to finish their work.” [The Hill, 2/3/15]

2013: Valadao Voted For Repealing The Affordable Care Act. In May 2013, Valadao voted for: “Passage of the bill that would repeal the 2010 health care overhaul law, which requires most individuals to buy health insurance by 2014, makes changes to government health care programs and sets requirements for health insurers. It also would repeal provisions pertaining to the Independent Payment Advisory Board. The bill would restore the provisions of law amended or repealed by the health care overhaul, and repeal certain provisions of the health care reconciliation law.” The bill passed 229-195. [HR 45, Vote #154, 5/16/13; CQ Floor Votes, 5/16/13]

- Washington Post: The Bill “Would Repeal The Health Care Law In Full.” “Since Republicans took control of the House of Representatives in 2011, the House has voted 36 times to repeal either all, or part, of President Obama’s health-care law. On Thursday, the House is scheduled to do it again, taking up another bill that would repeal the health care law in full.” [Washington Post, 5/15/13]

Valadao Voted Five Times For Republican Budget Resolutions That Fully Repealed The Affordable Care Act

2015: Valadao Voted For A Republican Conference Report On Budget That Began Process To Repeal Affordable Care Act. In April 2015, Valadao voted for: “House and Senate Republicans agreed on a unified budget plan Wednesday that would allow them to bypass Democrats and send President Barack Obama legislation to repeal or revise his landmark health-care law. The budget proposal spells out the Republican Party’s priorities by calling for $5.3 trillion in spending cuts to reach balance in nine years.” An agreement to pass the Conference Report passed 226 to 197. [S Con Res 11, Vote #183, On Agreeing to the Conference Report, 4/30/15; Bloomberg, 4/29/15]

2015: Valadao Voted For A Republican Budget That Repealed The Affordable Care Act. In March 2015, Valadao voted for: “[The Republican budget] also includes parliamentary language, called reconciliation that orders House committees to draft legislation repealing the Affordable Care Act. Under budget rules, that reconciliation repeal bill cannot be filibustered in the Senate and would need only a majority vote to pass.” The resolution passed 228 to 199. [H Con Res. 27, Vote #142, 3/25/15; New York Times, 3/25/15]

2015: Valadao Voted For A Budget Alternative That Repealed The Affordable Care Act. In March 2015, Valadao voted for: a budget alternative known as Price amendment #2 offered as an amendment on the floor that would repeal the Affordable Care Act, slash Pell grants and alter Medicare while requiring no offsets for increased OCO defense spending. “Tom Price, R-Ga., also submitted an amended version that included increased defense spending without requiring cuts in other areas to offset the spending. Price’s plan increased funding to the Overseas Contingency Operations Fund by $2 billion over the committee plan, to $96 billion, and requires no offsets. The version that passed out of committee would have required offsets over $73.5 billion in the OCO fund, which pays for wars and other overseas activities and is not subject to sequester caps.” The resolution passed 219 to 208. [H. Con Res. 27, Vote #141, 3/25/15; US News and World Report, 3/25/15]

2015: Valadao Voted Against Republican Study Committee Budget That Repealed The Affordable Care Act. In March 2015, Valadao voted against: the “Stutzman, R-Ind., substitute amendment that would provide for $ 2.804 trillion in new budget authority in fiscal 2016, not including off-budget accounts. The substitute would call for reducing spending by $7.1 trillion over 10 years compared to the Congressional Budget Office baseline. The proposal would call for capping discretionary spending at $975 billion in fiscal 2016, freezing it for two years, and then allowing it to grow with inflation. It would call for setting discretionary defense spending at $570 billion, non-defense discretionary spending at $405 billion and allowing for $38 billion in Overseas Contingency Operations. The measure would call for, after fiscal 2019, OCO spending being incorporated into (non-emergency) discretionary defense spending. The proposal would call for repeal of the 2010 health care overhaul, converting Medicaid and the Children’s Health Insurance Program into block grant programs and transitioning Medicare to a premium-support system. It would propose changing the inflationary index for Social Security benefits to ‘chained’ CPI for all government programs and gradually increases eligibility to age 70 for Social Security. It also would propose converting the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program into a block grant program and changing it to a discretionary program. The amendment would outline guidance for a tax overhaul, including stating that taxes should be revenue neutral based on dynamic scoring and that the alternative minimum tax be repealed. It also would propose that federal funding for transportation be limited to core federal duties, such as the interstate highway system.” [H Con Res 27, Vote #138, 3/25/15; CQ, 3/25/15]

2014: Valadao Voted For Republican Budget That Repealed The Affordable Care Act. In April 2014, Valadao voted for: “Adoption of the concurrent resolution that would provide for $2.842 trillion in new budget authority in fiscal 2015, not including off-budget accounts. It would assume $5.1 trillion in reductions over the next 10 years in both discretionary and mandatory spending. The proposal would assume the repeal of the 2010 health care overhaul. It also would propose extending the 2013 law that withheld the pay of members of Congress unless the House and Senate each approve a budget resolution. It would propose changing the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program into a block grant program and call for a decrease of $125 billion in SNAP funding over five years. The proposal would call for expanded work and job training requirements in order to receive aid from the Temporary Assistance to Needy Families Program and would propose preventing beneficiaries from receiving unemployment insurance and disability insurance concurrently. It would call for the creation of a block grant program for Medicaid run by individual states. It also would include a proposal for a 10-year ‘doc fix’ to prevent a 24 percent cut in Medicare payments to doctors. It would assume the enactment of legislation to consolidate the current seven individual tax brackets into two, allowing for the reduction of the top individual rate from 39.6 percent to 25 percent and the corporate rate from 35 percent to 25 percent and call for repeal of the alternative minimum tax. It also would call for a maximum-income cap to qualify for Pell Grants and the elimination of eligibility for less than half-time students.” The resolution was adopted 219-205. [H Con Res 96, Vote #177, 4/10/14; CQ Floor Votes, 4/10/14]

2014: Valadao Voted Against Republican Study Committee Budget That Repealed The Affordable Care Act. In April 2014, Valadao voted against: “the Republican Study Committee’s budget that would balance the federal budget in four years, rein in Washington’s huge deficits, and repeal ‘ObamaCare.’ The RSC budget failed to receive a majority vote for passage, but a subsequent vote on the Ryan budget was approved.” [H Con Res 96, Vote #175, 4/10/14; Rep. Hall, Press Release, 4/10/14]

2013: Valadao Voted For Republican Budget That Repealed The Affordable Care Act. In March 2013, Valadao voted for: “Adoption of the concurrent resolution that would provide $2.769 trillion in new budget authority in fiscal 2014, not including off-budget accounts. It would assume that the spending levels required by the sequester remain in place and that non-war discretionary spending for all future years will be at post-sequester levels. It would assume that all discretionary savings from the sequester beginning in fiscal 2014 will come from non-defense programs. It would assume $5.7 trillion in reductions over the next 10 years in both discretionary and mandatory spending. It would assume repeal of the 2010 health care overhaul and a restructuring of Medicare into a "premium support" system beginning in 2024. It would call for an overhaul of the tax code, under which the alternative minimum tax would be repealed, the six current individual income tax brackets would be consolidated into two and tax credits and deductions would be eliminated or curtailed.” The resolution passed 221-207. [H Con Res 25, Vote #88, 3/21/13; CQ, 3/21/13]

2013: Valadao Voted Against Republican Study Committee Budget That Repealed The Affordable Care Act. In March 2013, Valadao voted against: “the Republican Study Committee substitute keeps the sequester in place, repeals the Affordable Care Act, and privatizes Medicare, exempting only those 60 years or older from the changes. The measure would also cut Social Security benefits by increasing the retirement age to 70, and cap funding below 2008 levels for education, infrastructure, and other important domestic programs until 2017.” [H Con Res 25, Vote #86, 3/20/13; Rep. Hanabusa, Press Release, 3/20/13]

Valadao Voted For Repealing Major Pillars Of Affordable Care Act, Including The Individual Mandate

2016: Valadao Voted For Overturning Obama’s Veto Of A Bill That Would Repeal Major Portions Of The Affordable Care Act. In February 2016, Valadao voted for: “Passage, over President Obama’s Jan. 8 2016, veto, of the bill that would repeal portions of the 2010 health care law and block federal funding for Planned Parenthood for one year. The bill would zero-out the law’s penalties for noncompliance with the law’s requirements for most individuals to obtain health coverage and employers to offer health insurance. The bill would scrap in 2018 the law’s Medicaid expansion, as well as subsidies to help individuals buy coverage through the insurance exchanges. It also would scrap certain taxes included in the law, including the tax on certain high-value employer-sponsored health insurance plans.” A two-thirds majority was required to override the President’s veto. The motion was rejected 241-186. [HR 3762, Vote #53, 2/2/16; CQ Floor Votes, 2/2/16]

- The Bill Attempted “To Overturn President Obama’s Veto Of Legislation To Repeal Obamacare.” “House Republicans are moving on to a new round of budget fights after failing on Tuesday to overturn President Obama’s veto of legislation to repeal Obamacare and defund Planned Parenthood. Republicans were not able to rally the support of two-thirds of the House necessary to overturn the veto, leaving conservatives to turn their attention to a final year of budget fights with the president. The 241-186 vote, appropriately scheduled for Groundhog Day, was the 63rd time the House has voted to overturn all or part of Obama’s signature health care law.” [Washington Post, 2/2/16]

to concur in the Senate amendment to the bill that would repeal portions of the 2010 health care law and block federal funding for Planned Parenthood for one year. The bill would zero-out the law’s penalties for noncompliance with the law’s requirements for most individuals to obtain health coverage and employers to offer health insurance. The bill would scrap in 2018 the law’s Medicaid expansion, as well as subsidies to help individuals buy coverage through the insurance exchanges. It also would scrap certain taxes included in the law, including the tax on certain high-value employer-sponsored health insurance plans.” The bill passed 240-181. [HR 3762, Vote #6, 1/6/16; CQ Floor Votes, 1/6/16]

- CNN: The Legislation Would “Repeal Obamacare.” “The GOP-controlled House of Representatives on Wednesday afternoon passed legislation that would repeal Obamacare, and after more than 60 votes to roll back all or part of the law, the bill dismantle it will finally get to the President’s desk.” [CNN, 1/6/16]

2015: Valadao Voted For House Passage Of A Bill To Repeal Major Portions Of The Affordable Care Act, Including The Individual Mandate. In October 2015, Valadao voted for: “Passage of the bill that would repeal portions of the 2010 health care law, including: the requirements for most individuals to have health insurance and employers with more than 50 employees to offer it or face penalties, the 2.3 percent tax on the sale of medical devices, the tax on certain high-value employer-sponsored health insurance plans, and the Prevention and Public Health Fund. The measure also would block, for one year, federal funding for Planned Parenthood and would increase funding for community health centers by $235 million in both fiscal 2016 and 2017.” The bill passed 240-189. [HR 3762, Vote #568, 10/23/15; CQ Floor Votes, 10/23/15]

- Los Angeles Times: The Bill “Would Repeal Several Major Pillars Of President Obama’s Landmark 2010 Law, Including The Requirement That Americans Have Health Coverage.” “House Republicans pushed forward with another vote to roll back the Affordable Care Act on Friday, passing a bill that would repeal several major pillars of President Obama’s landmark 2010 law, including the requirement that Americans have health coverage.” [Los Angeles Times, 10/23/15]

- HEADLINE: House Republicans vote to repeal Obamacare, again [Los Angeles Times, 10/23/15]

- According To The CBO, The Bill Would Increase The Number Of Uninsured Americans By 32 Million. “The number of people who are uninsured would increase by 18 million in the first new plan year following enactment of the bill. Later, after the elimination of the ACA’s expansion of Medicaid eligibility and of subsidies for insurance purchased through the ACA marketplaces, that number would increase to 27 million, and then to 32 million in 2026.” [CBO, 1/2017]

- According To The CBO, The Bill Would Cause Health Insurance Premiums To Double. “Premiums in the nongroup market (for individual policies purchased through the marketplaces or directly from insurers) would increase by 20 percent to 25 percent—relative to projections under current law—in the first new plan year following enactment. The increase would reach about 50 percent in the year following the elimination of the Medicaid expansion and the marketplace subsidies, and premiums would about double by 2026.” [CBO, 1/2017]

- According To The CBO, The Bill Would Leave In Place Rules That Insurance Companies Could “Not Deny Coverage Or Vary Premiums Because Of An Enrollee’s Health Status Or Limit Coverage Because Of Preexisting Medical Conditions.” “Importantly, H.R. 3762 would leave in place a number of market reforms—rules established by the ACA that govern certain health insurance markets. Insurers who sell plans either through the marketplaces or directly to consumers are required to: Provide specific benefits and amounts of coverage; Not deny coverage or vary premiums because of an enrollee’s health status or limit coverage because of preexisting medical conditions; and Vary premiums only on the basis of age, tobacco use, and geographic location.” [CBO, 1/2017]
60,100 Individuals In Valadao’s District Stood To Lose Their Health Insurance Coverage If The Affordable Care Act Was Repealed

Los Angeles Times: “Statewide, About A Third Of Residents Receive Medi-Cal...In The San Joaquin Valley, Including Tulare, Merced And Fresno, Around Half The Population Is Enrolled In The Program.” “Tens of thousands of the newly insured receive federal subsidies to shop on the Covered California healthcare exchange, but the most dramatic impact in the region came from the expansion of Medi-Cal, subsidized care for the poor that was broadened to cover childless adults. Statewide, about a third of residents receive Medi-Cal. But in several counties in the San Joaquin Valley, including Tulare, Merced and Fresno, around half the population is enrolled in the program.” [Los Angeles Times, 2/2/17]

2013: Valadao Voted For FY 2014 Ryan Budget That Called For Restructuring Of Medicare Into A “Premium Support” System And $5.7 Trillion In Spending Cuts Over Ten Years. In March 2013, Valadao voted for: “Adoption of the concurrent resolution that would provide $2.769 trillion in new budget authority in fiscal 2014, not including off-budget accounts. It would assume that the spending levels required by the sequester remain in place and that non-war discretionary spending for all future years will be at post-sequester levels. It would assume that all discretionary savings from the sequester beginning in fiscal 2014 will come from non-defense programs. It would assume $5.7 trillion in reductions over the next 10 years in both discretionary and mandatory spending. It would assume repeal of the 2010 health care overhaul and a restructuring of Medicare into a “premium support” system beginning in 2024. It would call for an overhaul of the tax code, under which the alternative minimum tax would be repealed, the six current individual income tax brackets would be consolidated into two and tax credits and deductions would be eliminated or curtailed.” The resolution passed 221 to 207. [H. Con. Res, 25, Vote #88, 3/21/13; CQ, 3/21/13]

- National Journal: “For Those Younger Than Age 55, Medicare Could Look Unrecognizable” If Ryan Budget Were Implemented. “And, for those younger than age 55, Medicare could look unrecognizable: People receive a fixed sum of money from the federal government to buy health insurance in their old age, regardless of the way inflation has caused health care costs to increase.” [National Journal, 3/10/13]

- CBPP: Ryan Budget Would Cut Medicare Spending By A Total Of $356 Billion." According to an analysis of the Ryan budget conducted by the Center on Budget and Policy Priorities: “Over the 2013 to 2023 period, the Ryan budget would cut Medicare spending by a total of $356 billion. His budget would save $129 billion compared to current law from limiting medical malpractice awards, increasing income-tested premiums, and repealing the Medicare benefit improvements in health reform, including closure of the prescription drug ‘donut hole.’ Ryan’s baseline includes $138 billion in scheduled cuts from Medicare’s sustainable growth rate formula for physicians and $89 billion in Medicare cuts from sequestration, bringing his total Medicare reductions to the aforementioned $356 billion.” [Center on Budget and Policy Priorities, 3/12/13]

- CBPP: Families Making Less Than $200,000 Would Face Average Tax Hike of $3,000. “Families with children that have incomes below $200,000 would have to face tax increases averaging more than $3,000 a year, if policymakers were to avoid increasing the deficit while reaching Chairman Ryan’s 25-percent top-tax-rate goal… If policymakers enacted the same extremely ambitious reductions in tax expenditures for filers with incomes above $200,000…, filers with incomes of $1 million or more would lose tax breaks totaling about $90,000 on average – still leaving them with an average net tax cut of about $245,000…” [Center on Budget and Policy Priorities, 3/17/13]
CBPP: Millionaires Would Likely Experience A $245,000 Net Tax Cut. According to an analysis of the Ryan Budget conducted by the Center on Budget and Policy Priorities, “If policymakers enacted the same extremely ambitious reductions in tax expenditures for filers with incomes above $200,000 that TPC assumed when it analyzed Romney’s tax plan, filers with incomes of $1 million or more would lose tax breaks totaling about $90,000 on average – still leaving them with an average net tax cut of about $245,000. Households with incomes above $200,000 would get a net cut of about $16,000.” [Center on Budget and Policy Priorities, 3/17/13]

2014: Valadao Voted For FY 2015 House Republican Budget To Repeal The Affordable Care Act, Cut SNAP Funding, And Voucherize Medicare

2014: Valadao Voted For FY 2015 House Republican Budget That Would Repeal The Affordable Care Act, Cut SNAP Funding, And Alter Medicare. In April 2014, Valadao voted for: “Adoption of the concurrent resolution that would provide for $2.842 trillion in new budget authority in fiscal 2015, not including off-budget accounts. It would assume $5.1 trillion in reductions over the next 10 years in both discretionary and mandatory spending. The proposal would assume the repeal of the 2010 health care overhaul. It also would propose extending the 2013 law that withheld the pay of members of Congress unless the House and Senate each approve a budget resolution. It also would call for a maximum-income cap to qualify for Pell Grants and the elimination of eligibility for less than half-time students.” The budget passed 219 to 205. [H.C Con. Res 96, Vote #177, 4/10/14; CQ, 4/10/14]

AARP: Republican Budget Would Remove the Medicare Guarantee. “Chairman Ryan’s proposed budget fails to address the high costs of health care and instead shifts costs onto seniors and future retirees. Repealing the benefits of the Affordable Care Act ignores the progress we’ve made to improve access to health care and protect against discrimination based on age, gender or medical history. Removing the Medicare guarantee of affordable health coverage for older Americans by implementing a premium support system and asking seniors and future retirees to pay more is not the right direction.” [AARP Press Release, 4/1/14]

NCPSSM: Republican Budget Would Ultimately Kill Traditional Medicare. “This is a budget that doubles-down on an ideological quest to turn Medicare into “coupon care”, making it harder for seniors to choose their own doctors and ultimately killing traditional Medicare. If the GOP/Ryan budget becomes law, seniors will immediately lose billions in prescription drug savings, free wellness visits and preventative services provided in the ACA, and the Part D donut hole returns.” [National Committee to Preserve Social Security & Medicare, 4/1/14]

Associated Press: “The Proposal Would Reprise a Voucher-Like Medicare Program.” “The proposal would reprise a voucher-like Medicare program for future retirees that would be the basis for GOP claims that the measure would drive down government debt over the long term.” [Associated Press, 4/1/14]

Los Angeles Times: Republican Budget Would Turn Medicare into a “Voucher-Like Program” That “May Not Fully Cover the Cost” of Medicare. “Ryan retained his idea for turning the Medicare health system into a voucher-like program for future seniors, providing a fixed amount of cash that can be applied toward the purchase of private health insurance. The voucher may also be used to enroll in traditional Medicare, but it may not fully cover the cost.” [Los Angeles Times, 4/1/14]

2017: Valadao Voted For The Republican Tax Scam Bill – “A Major Victory” For Big Pharma Investors

Valadao Voted For The Republican Tax Scam Bill

Valadao Voted For Final Passage Of The Tax Cuts And Jobs Act. [HR 1, Vote #699, 12/20/17; CQ Floor Votes, 12/20/17]

Tax Cuts And Jobs Act Included A “Major Victory For Pharma Manufacturers”

Politico: Repatriation Provision In Tax Bill Was A “Major Victory For Pharma Manufacturers.” “The bill, H.R. 1 (115), lowers the corporate tax rate and would offer a one-time reduction on profits U.S.-based multinational companies earn and keep abroad. The repatriation provision is seen as a major victory for pharma manufacturers who store boatloads of cash in countries where tax rates are lower.” [Politico, 12/4/17]

- Pharmaceutical Companies Were “One Of The Biggest Beneficiaries” Of The Provision, And Were Seen As Likely To Return Money To Their Shareholders, Rather Than Invest In Research And Innovation. “U.S. drugmakers will be one of the biggest beneficiaries of the repatriation portion of the bill. They’ve been sitting on billions of dollars in overseas earnings and can now bring home that cash at a reduced rate. While the tax bill has been promoted by Republicans as a job creator, the reality is that drug companies are more likely to return the money to shareholders, or use it to make acquisitions.” [Bloomberg, 12/20/17]

- Tax Bill Was Estimated To Save Top Five Pharmaceutical Companies $42.7 Billion. “The tax proposal supported by President Donald Trump and congressional Republicans would give five top pharmaceutical corporations a $42.7 billion tax break.” [Public Citizen and ITEP, 11/20/17]

Pharmaceutical Companies Worked To Benefit Shareholders, Rather Than To Bring Down The Cost Of Drugs Or Invest In New Research And Development

Pharmaceutical Companies Were Predicted To Use Savings From Tax Bill To Invest In Mergers And Acquisitions In An Effort To Preserve Patents And Prevent Competitors From Producing Cheaper, Generic Drugs. “Blue-chip drugmakers holding $200 billion in cash, mostly overseas, will start investing more of it in mergers and acquisitions after President Trump’s tax overhaul slashed the cost of spending the money in the U.S., debt-ratings firm Moody’s predicts. […] Amgen, Pfizer, Gilead, and Celgene are the most likely to seek deals, Moody’s projects, as they grapple with challenges from a shrinking market for some medications to the expiration of patents on others that will enable rivals to produce cheaper generic versions.” [Washington Examiner, 1/9/18]

Nine Pharmaceutical Companies Announced $50 Billion In Share Buybacks After Tax Bill Passed, “A Sum That Towers Over Investments In Employees Or Drug Research And Development.” “The pharmaceutical industry is using a large portion of its windfall from Republicans’ corporate tax cuts to boost its stock prices. Nine drug companies are spending a combined $50 billion on new share buyback programs, a sum that towers over investments in employees or drug research and development. The bottom line: All of those buybacks were announced during or after the passage of the Republican tax bill. That money is enriching hedge funds, other Wall Street investors and top drug company executives, but it isn’t necessarily helping patients.” [Axios, 2/22/18]

Opioid Epidemic

Valadao Voted For A Comprehensive Opioid Bill, But Voted Against Amendment To Appropriate Additional Funding For States To Combat The Opioid Crisis

Valadao Voted For The Substance Use-Disorder Prevention that Promotes Opioid Recovery and Treatment for Patients and Communities Act. In June 2018, Valadao voted for: “Passage of the bill that would modify Medicare and Medicaid and a variety of other health programs in relation to opioid abuse. It would expand both Medicare and Medicaid to cover medication-assisted treatment for substance use disorder, would require all state Medicaid programs, beginning Jan 1, 2020, to operate pharmacy programs that identify people at high risk of abusing controlled substance, and would place new requirements on states regarding Medicaid drug review and utilization requirements. It would appropriate $15 million annually, from fiscal 2019 through 2023, to support the establishment or operation of public health laboratories to detect synthetic opioids.” The bill passed by a vote of 396-14. [HR 6, Vote #288, 6/22/18; CQ, 6/22/18]

• HEADLINE: House passes comprehensive bill to combat growing opioid epidemic [ABC News, 6/22/18]

• HR 6 Was A “Catchall Bill” That Incorporated A Number Of Proposals To Curb Opioid Addiction Relating To Medicaid, Medicare, And Public Health. “The House on Friday passed, 396-14, a bill (HR 6) that will serve as the legislative vehicle for many of the 55 other House-passed bills designed to curb opioid addiction, ending two weeks of floor votes on opioids measures. The catchall bill would incorporate a number of proposals from the Energy and Commerce and the Ways and Means committees relating to Medicaid, Medicare, and public health.” [CQ, 6/22/18]

Valadao Voted Against Amending An Opioid Bill To Appropriate $995 Million, Over Three Years, For Opioid Grant Programs. In June 2018, Valadao voted against: “Tonko, D-N.Y., motion to recommit the bill to the House Energy and Commerce Committee and the House Ways and Means Committee with instructions to report it back immediately with an amendment that would appropriate $995 million annually, for fiscal 2019 through 2021, for state opioid grant programs and would allow the Health and Human Services Department to increase the number of residency positions at hospitals that have established programs related to addiction.” The motion was rejected by a vote of 185-226. [HR 6, Vote #287, 6/22/18; CQ, 6/22/18]

• Rep. Tonko: Motion Would Show States That Congress Was Making “Sustained, Meaningful Investments” In The Opioid Crisis. “Secondly, this motion would allot an additional $1 billion annually to States through 2021 so that we can continue to invest in locally designed prevention, treatment, and recovery solutions. It is clearly going to take more than 2 years to battle the epidemic, and we need to let providers in States know that we are making sustained, meaningful investments in this area. Finally, our motion to recommit includes a commonsense prescription drug policy which will reduce prescription drug prices for all Americans by reducing gaming by drug manufacturers to prevent generics from coming to market.” [Congressional Record, 6/22/18]

Valadao Voted For Allowing Medicaid Coverage Of Up To 30 Days Of Opioid Abuse Treatment At Inpatient Mental Health Facilities, But Voted Against Providing Federal Funding To Cover The Treatment

Valadao Voted For Allowing Medicaid Coverage Of Up To 30 Days Of Opioid Abuse Treatment At Inpatient Mental Health Facilities. In June 2018, Valadao voted for: “Passage of the bill that would temporarily allow, until 2023, the use of Medicaid funds to pay for substance use disorder treatment at certain inpatient mental health treatment facilities. It would require states, to be eligible for such funds, to include in their state Medicaid plan information on how the state will improve access to outpatient care, the process to be used for transitioning individuals to appropriate outpatient care, and how individuals will be screened and assessed. The bill would limit an individual to a maximum of 30 days of inpatient treatment in a 12-month period that could be covered by Medicaid.” According to CBS News, the bill “would allow state Medicaid programs to cover up to 30 days of care for eligible individuals which an opioid use disorder. The law currently bars federal Medicaid funds from being used to pay for treatment at larger inpatient mental health facilities, which has contributed to the shortage of treatment options.” The bill passed by a vote of 261-155. [H.R. 5797, Vote #276, 6/20/18; CQ, 6/20/18; CBS News, 6/22/18]

Valadao Voted Against Providing Federal Matching Funds For Medicaid Coverage Of Substance Abuse Treatment. In June 2018, Valadao voted against: “Castor, D-Fla., motion to recommit the bill to the House Energy and Commerce Committee with instructions to report it back immediately with an amendment that would replace the bill’s provisions with a program that would provide federal matching funds for the treatment for eligible individuals suffering from substance abuse disorders. It would require that states extend Medicaid eligibility to receive such federal funds.” The motion was rejected to by a vote of 190-226. [H.R. 5797, Vote #275, 6/20/18; CQ, 6/20/18]

Valadao Voted For Sentencing Guidelines For Distributing Synthetic Opioids That Democrats Warned Would Impose Mandatory Minimums For Low-Level Offenders, Rather Than Expanding Treatment

Valadao Voted For Creating Sentencing Guidelines For Manufacturing Or Distributing Synthetic Opioids. In June 2018, Valadao voted for: “Passage of the bill that would create a new category of controlled substances, "schedule A," for drugs or substances that have similar chemical structures or effects as controlled substances in schedules I through V. It would immediately classify certain fentanyl analogues as schedule A drugs. The bill would establish maximum penalties for the manufacture, distribution or dispensing of schedule A drugs, though possession of such substances alone would not constitute a basis for criminal or civil penalties.” The bill passed, 239-142. [H.R. 2851, Vote #268, 6/15/18; CQ, 6/15/18]

- Democrats Warned The Bill Would Impose Mandatory Minimum Sentences, Filling Prisons With Low-Level Drug Offenders. “The House on Friday passed Rep. John Katko’s bill aimed at combating the opioid epidemic by making it easier for the federal government to stop the importation and distribution of synthetic drugs. But Democrats who opposed the bill warned the law would also impose mandatory minimum sentences, filling up the nation’s prisons with low-level drug offenders rather than expanding treatment options […] House Democratic Whip Steny Hoyer said before the vote that the bill could have unintended consequences. ‘This legislation lacks clarity that could result in thousands of Americans being incarcerated, potentially for life sentences, thus exacerbating an already over-populated prison system,’ Hoyer said. ‘Those suffering from opioid addiction need treatment and proper medical care, not more laws that will simply put them behind bars.’” [Syracuse Post-Standard, 6/15/18]
Valadao Voted Against Considering An Amendment To Prohibit Restrictions On Medical Malpractice Lawsuits For “Grossly Negligent” Prescription Of Opioids

Valadao Voted Against Consideration Of An Amendment To The Underlying Legislation That Would Prohibit Restrictions On Medical Malpractice Lawsuits For “Grossly Negligent” Prescription Of Opioids. In June 2017, Valadao voted against: “Kuster, D-N.H., motion to recommit the bill to the House Judiciary Committee with instructions to report it back immediately with an amendment that would modify the bill’s definition of ‘health care lawsuits’ to not include a claim or action related to the ‘grossly negligent’ prescription of opioids.” The motion was rejected, 235-191. [HR 1215, Vote #336, 6/28/17; CQ, 6/28/17]

Valadao Commended The Appropriations Bill For Funding Opioid Programs. “This legislation provides funding for the critical programs my constituents depend upon every single day. The Make America Secure and Prosperous Appropriations Act makes necessary infrastructure investments, increases funding to advance life-saving research at the National Institutes of Health (NIH), and ensures the safety of all Americans by investing in local law enforcement as well strengthening as our national security priorities. On top of that, this legislation reduces wasteful spending, ensuring my constituents’ tax dollars are used in the most efficient and responsible manner possible. Highlights of the legislation include: Cuts funding for the EPA by $528 million below FY17 levels – bringing EPA’s budget to below FY06 levels; Cuts the IRS by $149 million, which holds the agency’s budget below the 2008 level; Funds critical programs that support farmers and ranchers, including programs that help with the implementation of the Farm Bill; Provides funding for anti-opioid programs; Implements reforms, peels back regulations, and streamlines the bureaucracy; Increases funding for critical education programs including Early Childhood programs and the Child Care and Development Block Grant program; Includes provisions protecting 2nd Amendment rights.” [Rep. Valadao press release, 9/14/17]

CHIP

Valadao Voted For The CHAMPION Act, Extending Funding For CHIP By Gutting Health Care Programs, Which Would Have Resulted In People Losing Health Care Coverage Under The ACA

Valadao Voted For The CHAMPION Act, Extending Funding For CHIP By Gutting Health Care Programs Resulting In People Losing Health Care Coverage Under The ACA. In November 2017, Valadao voted for: “Passage of the bill, as amended, that would extend funding for the Children's Health Insurance Program through fiscal 2022, and would increase funding from $21.5 billion in fiscal 2018 to $25.9 billion in fiscal 2022. It would also provide $3.6 billion annually for community health centers through fiscal 2019, and would extend funding for a number of other public health programs through fiscal 2019. It would provide for up to $1 billion in additional Medicaid funding to Puerto Rico and would eliminate, through fiscal 2019, scheduled cuts in Medicaid funding to hospitals that serve large numbers of uninsured and low-income patients. It would reduce spending from the Prevention and Public Health Fund through fiscal 2026, would require high-income individuals enrolled in Medicare parts B and D to pay the entirety of their premiums for these services and would shorten the grace period for certain missed payments on federally subsidized health insurance plans purchased through state exchanges to offset the cost of the measure's funding for CHIP, community health centers and other health programs.” The bill passed 242-174. [HR 3922, Vote #606, 11/3/17; CQ, 11/3/17]

• The CHAMPION Act Would Cut “Billions In Funding” For An ACA Health Fund And Raise Medicare Premiums On The Wealthy. “A five-year reauthorization bill passed the U.S. House on Friday by a 242-174 vote, but some have voiced worries that obstacles remain in the more-evenly divided Senate due to disagreements between Republicans and Democrats over how to pay for it. Only three House Republicans voted against the bill, while just 15 Democrats voted in support of it. Many Democrats have criticized the bill, called the CHAMPION Act, for paying for the reauthorization by cutting billions in funding for the Prevention and Public Health Fund established by the Affordable Care Act, reducing the grace period for people who miss premium payments on health plans bought on the federal exchange and raising Medicare premiums for wealthy recipients.” [Deseret News, 11/5/17]
- Deseret News: “The CHAMPION Act Would Save The Federal Government $4.9 Billion From 2018 Through 2027 ‘As A Result’ Of More People Losing Their Coverage On The Federal Exchange.” “A Congressional Budget Office report estimated last month that the CHAMPION Act would save the federal government $4.9 billion from 2018 through 2027 ‘as a result’ of more people losing their coverage on the federal exchange because of stricter grace period guidelines.” [Deseret News, 11/5/17]

- Valadao Voted Against Modifying The Medicare Advantage Payment System To Offset The Cuts In The CHAMPION Act. In November 2017, Valadao voted against: “Clyburn, D-S.C., motion to recommit the bill to the House Energy and Commerce Committee with instructions to report it back immediately with an amendment that would modify the Medicare Advantage payment system to offset the funding in the measure.” The motion was rejected 231-187. [HR 3922, Vote #605, 11/3/17; CQ, 11/3/17]

- Valadao Voted For Consideration Of The CHAMPION Act, Extending Funding For CHIP By Gutting Health Care Programs Resulting In People Losing Health Care Coverage Under The ACA. In November 2017, Valadao voted for: “Adoption of the rule (H Res 601) that would provide for House floor consideration of the bill (HR 3922) that would extend funding for the Children's Health Insurance Program for five years, community health centers for two years and other public health programs for two years. It would also provide for up to $1 billion in additional Medicaid funding to Puerto Rico.” The resolution was adopted 231-192. [HRes 601, Vote #603, 11/2/17; CQ, 11/2/17]

Maternal, Infant, And Early Childhood Health Care

- Valadao Voted To Authorize $400 Million A Year For The Maternal, Infant, And Early Childhood Home Visiting Program. In September 2017, Valadao voted for: “Passage of the bill that would authorize, through fiscal 2022, $400 million a year for the Maternal, Infant and Early Childhood Home Visiting program created under the 2010 health care overhaul. The bill would require entities that receive grants under the Maternal, Infant and Early Childhood Home Visiting program to continue to demonstrate improvements in applicable benchmarks and guidelines.” The bill passed by a vote of 214-209. [HR 2824, Vote #537, 9/26/17; CQ, 9/26/17]

- Valadao Voted Against Eliminating Requirements For Grantees Of The Maternal, Infant And Early Childhood Home Visiting Program To Demonstrate Improvements In Applicable Benchmarks. In September 2017, Valadao voted against: “DelBene, D-Wash., motion to recommit the bill to the House Ways and Means Committee with instructions to report it back immediately with an amendment that would eliminate the bill’s provisions that would require entities that receive grants under the Maternal, Infant and Early Childhood Home Visiting program to continue to demonstrate improvements in applicable benchmarks and guidelines.” The motion failed by a vote of 191-232. [HR R 2824, Vote #536, 9/26/17; CQ, 9/26/17]

- Valadao Voted Against An Amendment That Would Remove A Requirement That States Track Whether The Home Visit Program Increases Employment And Earnings. In September 2017, Valadao voted against: “Pascrell, D-N.J., amendment that would remove the bill’s provision that would require states or other eligible entities to track whether the home visit program increases employment and earnings as a measure of the program goals.” The amendment was rejected by a vote of 191-231. [HR R 2824, Vote #536, 9/26/17; CQ, 9/26/17]

- Valadao Voted To Adopt The Rule That Would Provide For House Floor Consideration Of Authorization For The Maternal, Infant And Early Childhood Home Visiting Program. In September 2017, Valadao voted for: “Adoption of the rule (H Res 533) that would provide for House floor consideration of the bill (HR 2824), that would authorize, through fiscal 2022, $400 million a year for the Maternal, Infant and Early Childhood Home Visiting program created under the 2010 health care overhaul, and for consideration of the bill (HR 2792), that would prohibit, beginning in 2021, the payment of social security benefits to an individual who is the subject of an outstanding arrest warrant for committing a felony or for violating a condition of parole or probation. The rule would also provide for the text of the Control Unlawful Fugitive Felons Act (HR 2792), as passed by the House, if passed by the House, to be incorporated into the text of the Increasing Opportunity through Evidence-Based Home Visiting Act (HR 2824) during the engrossment of HR 2824.” The rule was adopted by a vote of 230-190. [H RES 533, Vote #533, 9/26/17; CQ, 9/26/17]

Telehealth

Valadao Co-Sponsored The Telehealth Extension Act That Would Extend Telehealth Services To Medicare Beneficiaries. “Telehealth services are critical for seniors in our community, especially during this health crisis. I am proud to cosponsor the Telehealth Extension Act to extend telehealth services to Medicare beneficiaries, regardless of where they live.” [@RepDavidValadao Twitter, 1/3/22]
Housing Issues

Significant Findings

- Valadao voted to prevent the Department of Justice from enforcing disparate impact claims under the Fair Housing Act.
- Valadao voted to bar funding for the “critical” private enforcement initiative of the Fair Housing Initiatives Program.
- Valadao voted for an amendment barring implementation of housing rule meant to combat housing segregation.
- Valadao voted to weaken housing discrimination protections.

Discrimination

Valadao Voted To Prevent The Department Of Justice From Enforcing Disparate Impact Claims Under The Fair Housing Act

2015: Valadao Voted For An Amendment That Prevented The Department Of Justice From Enforcing Disparate Impact Claims Under The Fair Housing Act. In June 2015, Valadao voted for an amendment that prevented the Department of Justice from enforcing disparate impact claims under the Fair Housing Act. “Housing discrimination claims: The House has passed an amendment sponsored by Rep. Scott Garrett, R-N.J., to the Commerce, Justice, Science, and Related Agencies Appropriations Act (H.R. 2578). The amendment would bar funding for Justice Department enforcement actions under the Fair Housing Act that rely on the theory of disparate impact to allege racial and other forms of discrimination by mortgage lenders, landlords, and home insurers. Garrett said the threat of prosecution for treating various classes of homeowners and renters differently, based on their economic status, would impede the ability ‘for lenders to make rational economic decisions about risk’ rather than based on the possibility that the Justice Department will consider their actions discriminatory.” The amendment passed 232 to 196. [HR 2578, Vote #287, 6/3/15; On Agreeing to the Amendment, 6/3/15; Citizen-Times, 6/5/15]

Valadao Voted To Bar Funding For The “Critical” Private Enforcement Initiative Of The Fair Housing Initiatives Program

2015: Valadao Voted For An Amendment That Barred Funding For The Private Enforcement Initiative Of The Fair Housing Initiatives Program. In June 2015, Valadao voted for an amendment to the Transportation, Housing and Urban Development, and Related Agencies Appropriations Act, 2016 that would “bar funds from being used for the Private Enforcement Initiative of the Fair Housing Initiatives Program.” The amendment passed 224 to 198. [CQ Floor Votes, 6/4/15; HR 2577, Vote #307, 6/4/15]

- National Council On Independent Living: PEI Grantees Are “Critical” To Enforcement Of The Fair Housing Act. “PEI grants support local, private fair housing groups’ testing, complaint intake, and investigation efforts. PEI grantees are critical to enforcement efforts for the Fair Housing Act. Disability-related complaints is the largest category of Fair Housing complaints. To remove funding for the PEI program would damage Fair Housing enforcement in many communities. This harms people with disabilities when fair housing enforcement is not readily available in communities.” [NCIL, 6/5/15]
Valadao Voted For An Amendment Barring Implementation Of Housing Rule Meant To Combat Housing Segregation

2015: Valadao Voted For Amendment Barring The Implementation Of Affirmatively Furthering Fair Housing Rule. In June 2015, Valadao voted for an amendment to the Transportation, Housing and Urban Development, and Related Agencies Appropriations Act, 2016 that would “bar funding for HUD to implement, enforce or administer the proposed Affirmatively Furthering Fair Housing Rule.” The amendment passed 229 to 193. [HR 2577, Vote #311, 6/9/15; CQ Floor Votes, 6/9/15]

The Affirmatively Furthering Fair Housing Rule Was Established To Combat Housing Discrimination. According to the Federal Register, the Affirmatively Furthering Fair Housing Rule “[e]stablish[es] an approach to affirmatively further fair housing that calls for coordinated efforts to combat illegal housing discrimination, so that individuals and families can make decisions about where to live, free from discrimination, with necessary information regarding housing options, and with adequate support to make their choices viable.” [Federal Register, 7/19/13]

Valadao Voted To Weaken Housing Discrimination Protections

2015: Valadao Voted For Amendment To Bar Housing And Urban Development From Enforcing Regulation Combating Discrimination In the Housing Market. In June 2015, Valadao voted for an amendment to the FY16 Transportation-HUD Appropriations bill that would bar funds from being used by HUD to administer a federal regulation that dictates, “If the policies of governmental agencies, banks or private real estate companies unjustifiably perpetuate segregation, regardless of their intent, they could be found in violation of the Fair Housing Act.” The amendment was adopted by a vote of 231-195. [HR 2577, Vote #323, 6/9/15; ProPublica, 1/21/15]
Immigration & Border Issues

✓ Valadao cosponsored the DREAM Act, but in 2017-18 voted 21 times to block consideration of the DREAM Act and refused to sign on to a DREAM Act-specific discharge petition.

✓ Valadao’s former communications director made derogatory remarks about Muslims and undocumented immigrants, referring to U.S.-born children of undocumented parents as “anchor babies” and “illegal aliens.”

✓ 2018: After leading a discharge petition to bring the DREAM Act and three other immigration reform bills to a vote under a “Queen of the Hill” rule, Valadao bowed to Republican leadership to help kill it.

  ✓ The discharge petition would bring the conservative Goodlatte bill, a clean version of the DREAM Act, a Republican leadership-sponsored bill, and a bipartisan immigration compromise to the floor.

✓ As an assemblyman in 2011, Valadao voted against the California version of the Dream Act.

✓ Valadao claimed he supported DACA…

  ✓ Valadao voted against cutting off funding for DACA and against a bill that would roll back Obama’s executive actions on immigration.

✓ …but Valadao also repeatedly undermined DACA and DAPA.

  ✓ Valadao said DACA trapped families on the U.S. side of the border.

✓ 2017: Valadao voted against eliminating border wall funding.

✓ 2021: Valadao co-sponsored the American Families United Act would provide the DHS Secretary and Attorney General with case-by-case discretion to stop deportations in instances where an individual is an immediate relative of a U.S. citizen and when the removal of the relative would present a hardship to a U.S. citizen.

✓ 2017: Valadao voted against prohibiting the use of privatized for-profit immigration detention facilities.

Valadao’s Former Communications Director Had A History Of Islamophobic Comments And Made Derogatory Remarks About Undocumented Immigrants

Valadao’s Former Communications Director, Faith Vander Voort, Once Argued That Muslims Can’t Be President

Faith Vander Voort Worked As Valadao’s Communications Director

Faith Vander Voort Worked As Valadao’s Communications Director. “Faith Vander Voort is joining TAG Strategies as managing director for their communications and public affairs shop. She most recently was communications director for Rep. David Valadao (R-Calif.) and is a Trump Interior alum.” [Politico, 1/18/22]

Valadao’s Communications Director, Faith Vander Voort, Once Argued That Muslims Can’t Be President

“A top spokeswoman for Interior Secretary Ryan Zinke made Islamophobic comments in a 2015 blog post, arguing that a Muslim ‘could never serve’ as president of the United States, HuffPost has learned. In the post, titled ‘Did I offend you?,’ Faith Vander Voort came to the defense of then-Republican presidential candidate Ben Carson, who, less than two weeks earlier, said: ‘I would not advocate that we put a Muslim in charge of this nation. I absolutely would not agree with that.’ ‘A devout Muslim,’ Vander Voort wrote in her post, ‘could never serve in the Oval Office of the United States of America, not because of exclusion or discrimination, but because their own religion strictly prohibits them from taking an oath to anything other than Allah.’” [HuffPost, 7/25/18]

Vander Voort Defended The Use Of The Term “Anchor Babies” When Referring To Children Born In The U.S. To Undocumented Immigrants: “Those Babies Are Illegal Aliens”

Vander Voort Defended The Use Of The Term “Anchor Babies” When Referring To Children Born In The U.S. To Undocumented Immigrants. “Along with the anti-Muslim comments, Vander Voort defended using the pejorative term ‘anchor babies’ when referring to children born in the U.S. to undocumented parents. She noted that a BuzzFeed video — it’s unclear which one — had suggested alternative terms, including ‘Americans.’ ‘I’m sorry BuzzFeed, but you need to re-read the 14th amendment to the Constitution of the United States because those babies are illegal aliens,’ she wrote. ‘Not Americans. Why do we strive to make a fancy and comfortable title for someone who entered our nation illegally? Because heaven forbid we offend them. Here, let’s grant them amnesty while we’re at it.’” [HuffPost, 7/25/18]

- Vander Voort: “I’m Sorry BuzzFeed, But You Need To Re-Read The 14th Amendment To The Constitution Of The United States Because Those Babies Are Illegal Aliens.”

✓ 2017: Valadao voted 3 times against blocking Trump’s Muslim ban.
✓ 2021: Valadao voted against the NO BAN Act, prohibiting the president from banning individuals seeking immigrant visas based on their religion.
✓ Valadao voted to halt Obama’s Syrian resettlement program but also claimed that he opposed Trump’s executive order restricting the U.S.’ intake of refugees.
entered our nation illegally? Because heaven forbid we offend them. Here, let’s grant them amnesty while we’re at it.”” [HuffPost, 7/25/18]

Vander Voort published the post to her personal website on Oct. 1, 2015 while she was working as a press intern for Rep. Steve King (R-Iowa). The post was deleted sometime between October 2016 and January 2017, but can still be viewed on the Internet Archive, a digital archive of webpages.” [HuffPost, 7/25/18]

- Vander Voort: “I Will Always Be Proud To Have My Name Tied To His For The Rest Of My Professional Career.” “In another deleted blog post from December 2015, at the end of her internship with King, Vander Voort called the congressman ‘one of the good ones’ and ‘a man of principle.’ ‘I will always be proud to have my name tied to his for the rest of my professional career,’ she wrote.” [HuffPost, 7/25/18]

Rep. Steve King Said The U.S. Government Should Spy On Mosques And Said Undocumented Immigrants Have Calves The Size Of Cantaloupes “Because They're Hauling 75 Pounds Of Marijuana Across The Desert.” “King has a long history of making bigoted and Islamophobic proclamations. He’s said the U.S. government should spy on mosques and that the undocumented young people known as Dreamers have calves the size of cantaloupes ‘because they’re hauling 75 pounds of marijuana across the desert.’ In 2013, he introduced a bill to stop children of undocumented parents from gaining citizenship, saying that ‘the current practice of extending U.S. citizenship to hundreds of thousands of ‘anchor babies’ must end because it creates a magnet for illegal immigration into our country.’” [HuffPost, 7/25/18]

Rep. Steve King Promoted A British Neo-Nazi On Twitter. “On June 12, Rep. Steve King (R-Iowa) tweeted: “Europe is waking up... Will America... in time?” and linked to an anti-immigrant tweet by a well-known British neo-Nazi named Mark Collett.” [HuffPost, 7/19/18]

Immigration Reform

Valadao Supported A Discharge Petition To Force A Vote On Immigration Bills Concerning DACA. “A bipartisan group of House members led by California Rep. Jeff Denham, a Republican from Turlock, filed a petition Wednesday to force a vote on four immigration bills over the objections of GOP leadership. […] If the discharge petition gets the backing of more than half of all House members, it would trigger what is called a ‘queen of the Hill’ vote on four immigration bills: one favored by the Trump administration, one preferred by Democrats, one bipartisan proposal and an immigration bill of Ryan’s choice. If more than one is passed, the bill with the most votes would move forward to the Senate.” [Los Angeles Times, 5/9/18]

- Valadao Was An Initial Sponsor Of The Discharge Petition Effort. “Fifteen House Republicans have signed on to a discharge petition filed Wednesday that is intended to force votes on a series of immigration measures — including legislation to protect so-called Dreamers, […] Democrats have been pressing for an immigration vote in the House and would be expected to back the petition. If all House Democrats sign it, it would need 25 Republican signatories to force a vote. GOP Rep. Carlos Curbelo (Fla.) filed the motion, and was quickly joined by Republican Reps. Jeff Denham (Calif.), Will Hurd (Texas), Mario Díaz Balart (Fla.) and David Valadao (Calif.) as initial sponsors.” [The Hill, 5/9/18]

Valadao Signed The Discharge Petition That Would Have Brought Four Immigration Bills To The Floor For A Vote. [Discharge Petition No. 10, signed 5/9/18]

The Discharge Petition Would Bring The Conservative Goodlatte Bill, The Democratic DREAM Act, A Republican Leadership Sponsored Bill, And A Bipartisan Immigration Compromise To The Floor Under A “Queen Of The Hill” Rule. “The proposals in Denham’s Queen of the Hill rule are a conservative bill proposed by Rep. Bob Goodlatte (R-Va.) that would grant temporary status to so-called Dreamers while imposing a series of restrictive measures on legal and illegal immigration; the Dream Act, which would grant a path to citizenship to at least 1.8 million Dreamers; the USA Act, a bipartisan compromise that would pair Dream Act-like measures with $25 billion in border security; and an open slot for Speaker Paul Ryan (R-Wis.) to propose an immigration bill of his choosing.” [The Hill, 5/17/18]

• The Discharge Petition Would Have Forced A Vote On Four Bills That Helped DREAMers To Varying Degrees, Though Some Paired That Help With Severe Reductions Of Legal Immigration. “All four would help Dreamers to some degree, though they differ on how much border security or immigration enforcement they include in exchange. For example, the Trump-backed bill also would dramatically reduce legal immigration and provide money to build a wall at the southern border, while the Democrats’ favored bill would deal only with legal status for Dreamers. Denham got 247 House members to sign on as co-sponsors of an earlier resolution requesting a vote, including all 39 California House Democrats and five of the state’s 14 Republicans. But some of those supporters oppose using the more aggressive tactic of a discharge petition. Denham and Rep. David Valadao, a Republican from Hanford, are the only two California Republicans to sign onto the discharge petition so far.” [Los Angeles Times, 5/9/18]

May 16, 2018: McCarthy And Ryan Met With Republicans Backing The Discharge Petition, Warning It Could Have Political Consequences. “The effort began in a closed-door morning meeting where Majority Leader Kevin McCarthy (R-Calif.) warned that a freewheeling immigration debate could have sharp political consequences. It continued in the evening, when the leaders of a petition effort that would sidestep were summoned to a room with House Speaker Paul D. Ryan (R-Wis.), McCarthy and three other top leaders.” [Washington Post, 5/16/18]

• Republican House Leadership Convinced Valadao And Other Republicans To Back Down. “Two Republican Bills On Tuesday night, with the petition stuck at 216 signatures, the moderates backed down, accepting a proposal by Speaker Paul D. Ryan (R-Wis.) to put aside their effort and instead have the House debate two bills next week -- both of which have only GOP support. […] All of California's 39 Democratic House members signed the petition, as have three of the state's 14 Republican representatives -- Denham and Reps. David Valadao of Hanford […]” [Los Angeles Times, 6/12/18]

Washington Post: While Swing Districts Republicans Were “Districts Eager To Strike A Compromise” On The Dream Act, Republican Leadership Argued “A Moderate Immigration Bill Could Hurt Republicans In November’s Elections.” “The immigration issue has bedeviled congressional Republicans, with members in swing districts eager to strike a compromise that would legalize ‘dreamers’ — young undocumented immigrants who arrived in the United States as children — while conservatives have been wary of granting anything that could be construed as ‘amnesty’ for lawbreakers, at least not without major policy concessions. Ryan, speaking behind closed doors to House Republicans on Wednesday morning, asked members to give him more time to work out a way forward in conjunction with President Trump, who wants major concessions in return for legalizing dreamers.
McCarthy had a blunter message, according to two members present who spoke on the condition of anonymity to describe a private meeting and as first reported by Politico: Signing the discharge petition and paving the way for passage of a moderate immigration bill could hurt Republicans in November’s elections by depressing conservative turnout and upending leadership’s plans to focus on tax cuts and other GOP successes. ‘Things are going great,’ one lawmaker said, paraphrasing McCarthy. ‘Let’s stick together.’” [Washington Post, 5/16/18]

June 2018: Valadao Voted To “Effectively Kill” The Discharge Petition Effort For DREAM Act Immigration Reform That He Had Pushed, By Moving More Restrictive Republican-Only Bills To A Vote Instead

Valadao Voted For A Rule Bringing The Securing America’s Future Act Of 2018 To The Floor For A Vote. In June 2018, Valadao voted for: “Adoption of the rule (H Res 954) that would provide for House floor consideration of the bill (HR 4760) that would authorize $24.8 billion for fiscal 2018 through fiscal 2022 for various border security activities and would provide individuals registered under the Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals program with a three-year, renewable contingent non-immigrant legal status but with no special path to citizenship. Adoption of the rule would provide for the automatic adoption of an amendment that would modify funds authorized for border activities under the bill; authorizing $24.8 billion for fiscal 2018 through fiscal 2022, instead of authorizing $24.8 billion annually for fiscal 2018 through fiscal 2022.” The resolution passed 226 to 195. [H Res 954, Vote #280, 6/21/18; CQ, 6/21/18]

- Moderate Republicans Agreed To Process To Vote On Republican-Only Immigration Bills, Even Though It “Would Effectively Kill Their Discharge Petition” To Bring Bipartisan Immigration Fix To The Floor. “They agreed to a process that night that would effectively kill their discharge petition. With no agreement in sight, Ryan proposed two immigration votes: One on a conservative DACA bill, the other on ‘compromise’ legislation they’d continue trying to negotiate. Sensing the wind was against them, moderates reluctantly agreed.” [Politico, 6/27/17]

- Los Angeles Times: The Vote “Meant Defeat” For The Discharge Petition Effort. “An effort by moderate Republicans to force votes on a bipartisan immigration bill failed in the House on Tuesday, with members agreeing instead to vote on legislation that would guarantee funds for President Trump’s proposed border wall. The agreement meant defeat, at least for now, for an effort led by Rep. Jeff Denham of Turlock and other GOP moderates to use a rare parliamentary maneuver known as a discharge petition to force the House to vote on the bipartisan immigration plan, and three other bills, over the objections of party leaders. […] Defeat of the effort greatly reduces the chances — already slim — that Congress could pass any form of Dreamer legislation before this year’s midterm election.” [Los Angeles Times, 6/12/18]

- Ryan “Acknowledged That One Of The Main Goals Of These Votes Was To Forestall” The Discharge Petition. “At Thursday’s weekly news conference, Ryan acknowledged that one of the main goals of these votes was to forestall a renegade group of Republicans from working with Democrats to pass a more liberal overhaul of immigration laws. ‘Our goal was to prevent a discharge petition from reaching the floor, because a discharge petition would have brought legislation to the floor that the president would have surely vetoed,’ Ryan said. ‘It would have been an exercise in futility.’ So instead, he set up this tortured series of votes.” [Washington Post, 6/21/18]

- New York Magazine: “The Only Real Purpose Of This Exercise Was To Preempt A Discharge Petition” That Would Have Brought A Bipartisan Immigration Bill To The Floor. “Indeed, the only real purpose of this exercise was to preempt a discharge petition that House Democrats and some politically vulnerable House
Republicans had signed that might have brought a Democratic immigration bill — indeed, the original DREAM Act — to the floor under conditions where it might have actually passed. So for all the endless and interminable and redundant House GOP talk about wanting to take action on immigration, when votes were finally held it was really about preventing action on immigration.” [New York Magazine, 6/21/18]

Valadao Voted Against Replacing An Extreme Bill That Restricted Legal Immigration With The Text From The Dream Act, And Voted To Block An Amendment That Would Have Brought The Dream Act Up For A Vote

Valadao Voted Against Replacing The Text Of The Goodlatte Bill With The Text Of The DREAM Act. In June 2018, Valadao voted against: “Lujan Grisham, D-N.M., motion to recommit the bill to the House Judiciary Committee with instructions to report it back immediately with an amendment that would replace the bill’s provisions with a system that would provide a pathway to citizenship for recipients of the Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals program.” According to the Democratic Leader’s Office, the motion “would strike the text in the underlying bill and replace it with the text of Rep. Roybal-Allard’s bill H.R. 3440 – Dream Act of 2017.” The motion failed 191 to 234. [HR 4760, Vote #281, 6/21/18; CQ, 6/21/18; DemocraticLeader.gov, 6/21/18]

Valadao Voted For Blocking Amendment To The Rule To Bring Up The Four Bills From The Discharge Petition – Two Republican Bills, The DREAM Act, And A Bipartisan Bill – Under A Queen Of The Hill Rule. In June 2018, Valadao voted for: “Burgess, R-Texas, motion to order the previous question (thus ending debate and possibility of amendment) on the rule.” According to the Democratic Leader’s office, “The Democratic Previous Question would would [sic] provide for consideration of H.R. 4760 – Securing America’s Future Act, and will make in order four substitute amendments to that bill, drafted at the discretion of the authors so long as they are germane to the underlying bill. H.Res. 774 allows for the amendment that receives the most votes (and at least a simple majority) to pass the House under a rule known as “queen-of-the-hill.” The four amendments that H.Res. 774 allows for are: an amendment offered by Rep. Goodlatte, which could be similar to H.R. 4760, an amendment offered by Rep. Roybal-Allard, which could be similar to a clean DREAM Act an amendment offered by Speaker Ryan an amendment offered by Rep. Denham, which could be similar to the bipartisan bill H.R. 4796 – USA Act. If the underlying Rule passes, it will turn off the discharge petition, and allow the House GOP to bring up anti-immigrant legislation that does not solve the DACA crisis.” A vote for the motion was a vote to block consideration of the amendment. The motion was agreed to 232-190. [H Res 954, Vote #279, 6/21/18; CQ, 6/21/18; DemocraticLeader.gov, 6/21/18]

Valadao Voted For Republican Immigration “Compromise” With A Path To Citizenship For A Limited Number Of DREAMers, Restrictions On Legal Immigration, And $25 Billion For A Border Wall

Valadao Voted For Border Security and Immigration Reform Act of 2018, Which Would Appropriate Funds To Build A Border Wall With Mexico, Renew DACA For 6 Years, End The Diversity Visa Program And Require That Undocumented Immigrants Be Detained With Their Children. In June 2018, Valadao voted for: “Passage of the bill that would appropriate $23.4 billion for various border security activities. Included would be $16.6 billion for a ‘border wall system,’ which would be available from fiscal 2019 through fiscal 2027, and $6.8 billion for border security investments, which would be available from fiscal 2019 through fiscal 2023. It would provide those with Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals status a six-year renewable contingent non-immigrant legal status and would allow them to apply for a green card after five years, providing a path to citizenship. It would modify legal immigration by ending the diversity visa program and reallocating those visas to other classifications. The bill would require that undocumented immigrants who are charged with a misdemeanor offense for improper entry into the United States be detained with their minor children.” The bill failed 121-301. [HR 6136, Vote #297, 6/27/18; CQ, 6/27/18]

- The Bill, Known As “Goodlatte 2,” Was Republicans Attempt At An Immigration Compromise. “House Republicans’ legislative attempt to find consensus within their own party on the divisive issue of immigration
failed on the floor Wednesday, with the chamber overwhelmingly rejecting their so-called compromise bill, 121-301.” [Roll Call, 6/27/18]

- The Bill Would Have Allowed Dreamers To Apply For A “Merit-Based” Visa With A Path To Citizenship. “It would have provided DACA recipients the opportunity to obtain an indefinitely renewable three-year non-immigrant legal status. Goodlatte 2 included the same provision but made it last for six years and expanded its eligibility beyond current DACA recipients to those who would qualify but had not applied. Under the compromise bill, Dreamers could also apply for a new merit-based visa and eventually citizenship, something some conservatives felt amounted to amnesty.” [Roll Call, 6/27/18]
  - The Bill Added Restrictions To DACA Eligibility; The Bill Would Likely Provide A Pathway To Citizenship To Only 18 Percent Of Dreamers. “These restrictions were also in DACA, but the new bill would go even further to restrict eligibility. [...] In the best case scenario, the House GOP plan would likely provide a pathway to citizenship to fewer than 630,000 Dreamers—barely a third of the president’s promise in January and just 18 percent of the entire Dreamer population. Moreover, only an estimated 421,000 immigrants are likely to become citizens.” [CATO Institute, 6/19/18]

- The Bill Would Have Required Families Who Illegally Crossed The Border To Be Housed Together, Rather Than In Criminal Custody, But Eliminated The 20 Day Cap On Administrative Custody For Accompanied Children. “The compromise bill also included language intended to prevent children from being separated from their parents when detained at the border. It would have required the Department of Homeland Security to house families together while the parents are going through criminal proceedings for the misdemeanor of first-time illegal border crossing, instead of in criminal custody, and would have eliminated the 20-day cap on administrative custody for accompanied children.” [Roll Call, 6/27/18]

- The Bill Granted $25 Billion In Funds For A Southern Border Wall. “The bill also called for granting $25 billion in funds for a southern border wall, making it more difficult for migrants to seek asylum, and allowing families to be detained indefinitely at the border in response to the Trump administration’s ‘zero-tolerance’ family separation policy. It also included provisions that would have significantly cut legal immigration levels.” [Vox, 6/27/18]

Valadao Voted Against Amending The Border Security And Immigration Reform Act Of 2018 To Prohibit Law Enforcement From Detaining, Separately From Their Child, Any Individual Accused Of Entering The U.S. Illegally. In June 2018, Valadao voted against: “Espaillat, D-N.Y., motion to recommit the bill to the House Judiciary Committee with instructions to report it back immediately with an amendment that would prohibit law enforcement from detaining, separately from their child, any individual accused of illegally entering the United States with a child, in cases in which the child is under the age of 18.” The motion failed, 190-230. [H.R. 6136, Vote #296, 6/27/18; CQ, 6/27/18]

It would modify legal immigration by ending the diversity visa program and restricting most family-based immigration to allow only spouses and minor children of legal permanent residents to receive green cards. […] Rep. Goodlatte’s bill offers only a tenuous second-class status to a small subset of people. Left out of the measure, for example, are people such as the 120,000 young Dreamers who never had the opportunity to apply for protection because of the Trump administration’s decision to end the initiative. For these individuals—and for hundreds of thousands of other Dreamers—the Goodlatte bill offers the same peril it offers to all other undocumented immigrants: the threat of criminal prosecution, imprisonment, and deportation.” [Center for American Progress, 6/7/18]

- Securing America’s Future Act Would “Make It Easier To Deport Asylum Seekers, Including Unaccompanied Children.” Securing America’s Future Act would “make it easier to deport asylum seekers, including unaccompanied children, without providing basic due process protections. […] Instead of recognizing the unique vulnerability of people fleeing violence and persecution, the bill would make it far more likely that asylum seekers and unaccompanied children will be quickly deported back to their countries of origin, potentially being returned to harm or even death.” [Center for American Progress, 6/7/18]

- Securing America’s Future Act Would Criminalize All Undocumented Immigrants. “Under long-standing immigration law, being in the country without status is a civil—not criminal—violation. The Goodlatte bill would change the law and make unlawful presence a crime, turning the 11 million undocumented immigrants in the country today into criminals overnight.” [Center for American Progress, 6/7/18]

Valadao Voted Against The “Hardline” Conservative Goodlatte Immigration Bill

Valadao Voted Against The Conservative Goodlatte Immigration Bill. “The House voted down an immigration reform bill sponsored by Rep. Bob Goodlatte, R-Va., Thursday that would have dramatically increased border security and provided a pathway to citizenship for roughly 700,000 of the 1.8 million Dreamers living in the United States. The bill - the more conservative option of two pieces of immigration legislation originally scheduled to be voted on this week - was defeated by a final vote of 193-231. No Democrats voted for the bill, and these 41 Republicans voted nay: […] David, Valadao.” [Washington Examiner, 6/21/18]

McClatchy: “Valadao Has Positioned Himself As One Of The Few Congressional Republicans Daring To Support A Comprehensive Package That Includes A Pathway To Legal Status.” “California Republican Rep. David Valadao of Hanford is pushing for an immigration overhaul, placing himself in the middle of the very issue that's ripping both parties apart. Through public statements, legislation and now an earnestly worded plea to President Donald Trump, Valadao has positioned himself as one of the few congressional Republicans daring to support a comprehensive package that includes a pathway to legal status for immigrants who are already in this country illegally. ‘For too long, extremes on either side of the aisle have discouraged constructive discussion regarding immigration,’ Valadao said in the two-page letter sent to Trump on Tuesday, ‘but I believe with new executive leadership, now is the time to enact meaningful reform.’” [McClatchy, 2/8/17]

New York Times: “Valadao, The Son Of Portuguese Immigrants, Is One Of A Few Republicans In The State Offering Full-Throated Support For Sweeping Changes To The Country's Immigration Laws.” “Mr. Valadao, the son of Portuguese immigrants, is one of a few Republicans in the state offering full-throated support for sweeping changes to the country’s immigration laws. Representatives Jeff Denham and Devin Nunes, whose districts include northern stretches of the state's agricultural center, have said they would support some kind of legalization process for the nation's roughly 11 million illegal immigrants, the most divisive issue in the debate.” [New York Times, 9/8/13]

2013: Valadao Backed A Democratic Immigration Bill That Included A Pathway To Citizenship For Undocumented Immigrants

Bakersfield Californian: Valadao Officially Backed Democrats H.R. 15, the Border Security, Economic Opportunity, and Immigration Modernization Act by Congressman Joe Garcia, D-Fla. “A day after saying he was on the fence about it, Congressman David Valadao bucked his party leadership Wednesday and officially backed a Democratic colleague's immigration bill that includes a path to citizenship for illegal immigrants. Valadao became the third Republican House member to support H.R. 15, the Border Security, Economic Opportunity, and Immigration Modernization Act by Congressman Joe Garcia, D-Fla. Rep. Jeff Denham of Turlock made national news when he became the first a few days ago. Florida Republican Congresswoman Ileana Ros-Lehtinen announced her backing of the bill Tuesday.” [Bakersfield Californian, 10/30/13]

Valadao Was One Of Only Two Republicans From The California Delegation To Support A Pathway To Citizenship For Undocumented Immigrants…

San Francisco Chronicle: Valadao Was “One Of Only Two Of The 15 Republican House Members From California Who Explicitly Support A Pathway To Citizenship For Undocumented Immigrants.” “Valadao's political predicament: The resident of Hanford Kings County is one of only two of the 15 Republican House members from California who explicitly support a pathway to citizenship for undocumented immigrants. It's a phrase that few Republicans anywhere are willing to utter for fear of being accused of wanting ‘amnesty’ for those in the country illegally. As the immigration battle kicks into high gear, House Democrats need to find about 20 Republicans like Valadao if any reform package is going to contain a pathway, which is the main stumbling block to passing immigration reform. The Democratic-controlled Senate have passed a measure that included one, but Republicans who control the House oppose it.” [San Francisco Chronicle, 7/23/13]
…And Was The Only Republican On The Homeland Security Subcommittee To Vote Against The Poison Pill Amendment Introduced To Kill Immigration Reform

Bakersfield Californian: Valadao Was The Only Republican On The Homeland Security Subcommittee To Vote Against The Poison Pill Amendment Introduced To Kill Immigration Reform. “Democrats hold a 15-point registration advantage in the district, however, making Valadao a target -- and a vulnerable one if the Democrats put up, and fund, a credible candidate. And now they have: Tulare County native Amanda Renteria, a Stanford grad, former intercollegiate athlete, Harvard Business School alum and veteran U.S. Senate staffer. Valadao has long known someone with money and cred would show up, and he's been carving out a moderate voting record in preparation. Most notable is Valadao's support for immigration reform. When Rep. Steve King, R-Iowa, introduced a poison-pill amendment to the immigration bill last summer, every Republican on the Homeland Security Subcommittee supported it. Everyone except Valadao.” [Bakersfield Californian, 10/6/13]

Valadao Was Criticized By Local Media For His Ineffectiveness On Immigration

Fresno Bee: “While We Acknowledge Valadao's Efforts To Push Immigration Reform Through The Republican Controlled House Of Representatives, Voters Should Be Most Concerned About The Effectiveness Of Their Representative.” “While we acknowledge Valadao's efforts to push immigration reform through the Republican controlled House of Representatives, voters should be most concerned about the effectiveness of their representative. Valadao has fallen short in meeting the needs of his constituents. He sought to repeal Obamacare, voted to shut down the federal government last year (a decision that cost the San Joaquin Valley's tourism industry many millions of dollars) and failed to convince his GOP colleagues to support immigration reform. Given the lack of access to medical care by many people in his impoverished district before the implementation of Obamacare, his repeated -- and unfruitful -- attempts to repeal the law indicate that he is more in step with the whims of GOP leadership than with the concerns of residents.” [Fresno Bee, Editorial, 10/3/14]

United Farm Workers: Protesters Protested At Valadao's Office To Mark The 5th Anniversary of DACA. “Statewide car caravans leaving Sacramento and Los Angeles on Tuesday will end the day by converging in Bakersfield at 4:30 p.m. outside the district office of U.S. Rep. David Valadao (R-CA) to mark the 5th anniversary of the DACA program protecting Dreamers that could be eliminated by the Trump administration and by a threatened lawsuit filed next month by Republican elected officials in Texas and nine other states. Car caravanners and local activists from the UFW Foundation, Dolores Huerta Foundation, SEIU Local 521 and Coalition for Humane Immigrant Rights of Los Angeles will use the anniversary to urge Valadao to unequivocally support DACA, the Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals, which since President Obama signed it in 2012 has protected from deportation nearly 800,000 young people nationally who were brought to this country as children and have known no other home.” [United Farm Workers, press release, 8/21/17]
The DREAM Act Granted Lawful Resident Status To Undocumented Americans Who Entered The U.S. As Minors

The Dream Act Of 2017 Would Have Granted Lawful Permanent Resident Status On A Conditional Basis To Immigrants Who Entered The United States As Minors. “This bill directs the Department of Homeland Security (DHS) to cancel removal and grant lawful permanent resident status on a conditional basis to an alien who is inadmissible or deportable or is in temporary protected status who: (1) has been continuously physically present in the United States for four years preceding this bill's enactment; (2) was younger than 18 years of age on the initial date of U.S. entry; (3) is not inadmissible on criminal, security, terrorism, or other grounds; (4) has not participated in persecution; (5) has not been convicted of specified federal or state offenses; and (6) has fulfilled specified educational requirements.” [Congress.gov, 7/26/17]

The Dream Act Of 2017 Would Have Required DHS To Cancel Removal Of DACA Recipients. “DHS shall cancel the removal of, and adjust to the status of an alien lawfully admitted for permanent residence on a conditional basis, an alien who was granted Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals (DACA) status unless the alien has engaged in conduct that would make the alien ineligible for DACA. DHS may not: (1) grant conditional permanent resident status without the submission of biometric and background data, and completion of background and medical checks; and (2) disclose or use information provided in applications filed under this bill or in DACA requests for immigration enforcement purposes.” [Congress.gov, 7/26/17]

The Dream Act Of 2017 Set Forth Documentation Requirements And Repealed The Denial Of An Undocumented Immigrant’s Eligibility For Higher Education Benefits Based On State Residence. “The bill prescribes the conditions under which DHS: (1) may terminate a person's conditional permanent resident status, and (2) shall adjust a person's conditional status to permanent resident status. The bill: (1) sets forth documentation requirements for establishing DACA eligibility, and (2) repeals the denial of an unlawful alien's eligibility for higher education benefits based on state residence.” [Congress.gov, 7/26/17]

Valadao Cosponsored The DREAM Act, But Refused To Sign On To The DREAM Act Discharge Petition

Valadao Cosponsored The DREAM Act. “Today, U.S. Congressman David G. Valadao (CA-21) cosponsored H.R. 3440, the DREAM Act of 2017, legislation allowing certain immigrant youth who reside in the United States to earn lawful permanent residence and American citizenship. ‘These young people, known as Dreamers, make significant contributions to our communities each and every day,’ said Congressman Valadao. ‘These individuals were brought to the United States through no fault of their own, and have lived with the uncertainty about their future for far too long.’ He continued, ‘By passing legislation such as the DREAM Act or the RAC Act, Congress can provide a legislative solution so these individuals may continue to live in America - the only home they know.’” [Rep. David Valadao, press release, 9/13/17]

September 2017: Valadao Refused To Sign On To The DREAM Act Discharge Petition

Valadao Refused To Sign On To DREAM Act Discharge Petition. “Rep. David Valadao (R-Calif.), one of the RAC Act’s earliest supporters and a co-sponsor of the DREAM Act, also told The Hill he would not sign on to a discharge petition.” [The Hill, 9/26/17]

- Valadao Refused To Sign On To DREAM Act Discharge Petition, Tried To Blame Democrats For Not Having Enough Signers. “California Reps. Jeff Denham and David Valadao co-sponsored Democrats’ legislative fix to address expiring protections for young immigrants, but they don’t plan to join the effort to force a vote on it. House Democrats announced Sept. 25 that they would try to force a vote on Rep. Lucille Roybal-Allard’s version of the Dream Act, which is backed by every House Democrat and four Republicans, through a procedural move called a discharge petition. To pull the bill from committee and force a vote on the House floor, Democrats need signatures on the petition from 218 House members. Valadao of Hanford said Democrats should focus on getting a majority of the House to sign onto their bill as co-sponsors before they try to force a vote. “They’ve got to focus on getting over 218 co-sponsors before they have any more debate on anything. They are sitting [under] 200,” Valadao said. As of Wednesday, all 194 Democrats and one Republican, Rep. Mike Coffman (R-Colo.), had signed the petition. The last signer came on board Sept. 28. House leaders control which bills come to the floor for a vote and when, and members are often reluctant to force leaders' hands. That's one reason discharge petitions are rarely successful.” [Los Angeles Times, 10/04/17]

| Valadao Voted 21 Times To Block The DREAM Act |

Valadao Voted For Blocking The DREAM Act. In March 2018, Valadao voted for: “Sessions, R-Texas, motion to order the previous question (thus ending debate and possibility of amendment).” According to the Democratic Leader’s website, “the Democratic Previous Question would amend the rule to allow for consideration of H.R.3440, which would permanently protect DREAMers and allow them to remain here and work legally to contribute to strengthening the nation they have called home since childhood.” A vote for the motion was a vote to block consideration of the DREAM Act. We have done it 23, and every single time this effort has been blocked by the majority. To address my friend who correctly cited that we were bringing this up: […] We on this side of the aisle clearly want to fix this problem. So let’s do it now. Jim McGovern: “Mr. Speaker, I am going to urge that my colleagues vote to defeat the previous question, and I will give a little explanation why. Mr. Speaker, this past weekend, President Trump tweeted that he wants to show that ‘Democrats do not want to solve DACA, only use it.’ Well, I would beg to differ. This is the 19th time that we have attempted to bring the bipartisan bill, H.R. 3440, the Dream Act, for a vote on the House floor, and, if we defeat the previous question, we will bring that bill up. Motion agreed to by a vote of 232-187. [H.R. 695, Vote #47, 1/30/18; Congressional Record, page H694, 1/30/18; CQ, 1/30/18]

Valadao Supported DACA…

Valadao Said “Congress Must Come Together Within The Next 6 Months To Reach A Legislative Solution [For DACA].” “Rep. David Valadao, R-Calif., issued the following statement on the Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals program: ‘For years, Congress has failed to repair our broken immigration system. However, in light of the President's announcement, Congress must come together within the next six months to reach a legislative solution. I will continue to advocate on behalf of dreamers. America is the only home these young people know and I will do everything in my power to ensure those who were brought to the United States through no fault of their own are not unjustly punished.’” [Rep. David Valadao, press release, 9/5/17]

Valadao Requested That Trump Support DACA

Valadao Requested Support For DACA From Trump. “Earlier this week, United States Congressman David G. Valadao (CA-21) joined with five colleagues to request support from President Donald J. Trump for the Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals program, also known as DACA. Congressman David G. Valadao stated, ‘It is clear our immigration system is in desperate need of reform and it is imperative Congress act to correct its severe shortcomings immediately. However, targeting individuals who were brought to America as children through no fault of their own is neither the way to repair our broken system nor the way to protect our nation.’ He continued, ‘Instead, by temporarily maintaining the protections of the DACA program, Congress can continue our work to repair our system, while allowing these young people to work and study without fear of deportation.’” [Rep. David Valadao, press release, 8/25/17]
Valadao Voted Against Cutting Off Funding For DACA

Valadao Voted Against Ending DACA and Make Hundreds of Thousands of DREAMers Eligible for Deportation. In August 2014, Valadao voted against making the “passage of the bill that would bar any federal agency from issuing, after July 30, 2014, policies that would expand the number of immigrants eligible for deferred action, the 2012 executive memorandum on Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals, unless explicitly authorized by law -- effectively blocking deportation relief from being provided to any additional illegal immigrants. It also would prohibit the federal government from newly authorizing deferred action for any class of immigrants who do not have lawful immigration status.” Passed by a vote of 216-192. [HR 5272, Vote #479, 8/1/14; CQ, 8/1/14]

- Los Angeles Times: Valadao “Broke From Fellow Republicans And Voted Against Cutting Off Funding” For DACA. “David Valadao, a soft-spoken California dairy farmer, was barely six months in Congress when he made a splash. He broke from fellow Republicans and voted against cutting off funding for an Obama administration program that stopped deporting young immigrants brought into the country illegally as children. ‘Obviously, I have to represent my constituents,’ said Valadao, whose Central Valley district is 71% Latino.” [Los Angeles Times, 9/1/13]

- Politico: The Bill Would “Essentially Makes Those Hundreds Of Thousands Of Young Undocumented Immigrants Eligible For Deportations.” [Politico, 8/01/14]

Valadao Voted Against Amendment To Defund Immigration Executive Order. On January 14, 2015, Valadao voted against an amendment to defund President Obama’s executive action on immigration. “One of the amendments would choke off funding for Obama’s executive action announced in November, which would allow some illegal immigrants to stay in the country and obtain work permits.” The amendment was adopted 237 to 190. [HR 240, Vote #29, 1/14/15; The Hill, 1/14/15]

- Valadao Voted Against A Bill That Rolled Back Obama’s Executive Actions On Immigration. “Valley Republican Reps. David Valadao of Hanford and Jeff Denham of Turlock voted against a House bill Wednesday that would provide nearly $40 billion to finance the Homeland Security Department through the rest of the budget year. The bill includes provisions rolling back President Barack Obama's actions on immigration.” [Fresno Bee, 1/14/15]

Valadao Voted Against Restarting Deportations Of Undocumented Families

2015: Valadao Voted Against Amendment To Defund Immigration Executive Order. On January 14, 2015, Valadao voted against an amendment to defund President Obama’s executive action on immigration. “One of the amendments would choke off funding for Obama’s executive action announced in November, which would allow some illegal immigrants to stay in the country and obtain work permits.” The amendment was adopted 237 to 190. [HR 240, Vote #29, 1/14/15; The Hill, 1/14/15]

Valadao Voted Against An Amendment To End Deferred Action For Childhood Arrivals. On January 24, 2015, Valadao voted against an amendment to the Department of Homeland Security funding bill that would end a program to suspend the deportation of DREAMers. “A second amendment would halt the Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals Program (DACA), which lifts deportation for some illegal immigrants who came to the United States as children.” The amendment was adopted 218 to 209. [HR 240, Vote #30, 1/14/15; The Hill 1/14/15]

Valadao Was A Member Of The Informal Republican Working Group Trying To Come Up With A DACA Fix
Valadao Member Of Group To Come Up With DACA Fix. “Moderate House Republicans angling for a legislative fix to the Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals program have quietly created an informal working group to try and craft an immigration plan that could pass Congress, according to GOP sources. The lawmakers have met off and on for months. But it was in anticipation of President Donald Trump’s eventual decision last week to phase out the Obama-era executive action that granted hundreds of thousands of young undocumented immigrants work permits and deportation protections, said one person familiar with the group’s workings. Now that Trump has made his DACA decision official, the group will be meeting more frequently. Republicans who have engaged in the casual talks include Reps. Carlos Curbelo and Mario Diaz-Balart of Florida; Jeff Denham and David Valadao of California, Mark Amodei of Nevada and Dan Newhouse of Washington, among other lawmakers. The GOP leadership is aware of these discussions, although it’s not a group led by Speaker Paul Ryan (R-Wis.) nor his top deputies.” [Politico, 9/14/17]

Valadao And Five Other Republicans Sent Trump A Letter Defending DACA

Valadao Sent Letter To Trump Defending DACA. “Reps. Jeff Denham and David Valadao joined four other Republicans Thursday to urge President Trump to leave in place deportation protections for some people who were brought to the country illegally as children. … In a letter to Trump, the representatives encouraged the president to focus on deporting criminals and to allow the program to continue until Congress can find a permanent legislative solution for the people who qualify for the program. Denham of Turlock and Valadao of Hanford each represent agricultural districts in the Central Valley with large Latino populations, and each face potentially tough battles with Democrats in 2018.” [Los Angeles Times, 8/24/17]

“Rep. Valadao and Colleagues Request Support for DACA from President Trump.” “Congressman David G. Valadao stated, ‘It is clear our immigration system is in desperate need of reform and it is imperative Congress act to correct its severe shortcomings immediately. However, targeting individuals who were brought to America as children through no fault of their own is neither the way to repair our broken system nor the way to protect our nation.’ He continued, ‘Instead, by temporarily maintaining the protections of the DACA program, Congress can continue our work to repair our system, while allowing these young people to work and study without fear of deportation.’” [Rep. David Valadao press release, 8/25/17]

Valadao Supported The USA Act, Which Would Protect DACA Recipients And Enhance Border Security With Technology And Physical Barriers

Valadao Supported The USA Act, Which Protected DACA Recipients And Enhanced Border Security. “On Tuesday, Representatives Will Hurd (TX-23), Pete Aguilar (CA-31) and Jeff Denham (CA-10) introduced the Uniting and Securing America (USA) Act, a bipartisan bill that protects DACA recipients from deportation while implementing new commonsense border security measures through enhanced technology, manpower and physical barriers, where necessary. The bill also addresses the immigration backlog that keeps families in limbo while advancing reforms in Central America to address the factors driving migration to the United States. […] ‘With the March deadline quickly approaching, it is more critical than ever that Congress come together to provide a legal path forward for Dreamers. The USA Act is a reasonable, bipartisan solution to ensure these young people may remain in the only home they know, the United States,’ said Rep. David G. Valadao (CA-21).” [Colton Courier, 1/18/18]

…but Valadao Helped To Undermine DACA

Valadao: Trump’s DACA Action “A Real Opportunity.” [KMPH, 9/06/17]

…but Valadao Did Not Address Trump By Name In Criticisms Of DACA Repeal
Valadao Did Not Address Trump By Name In Criticisms Of DACA Repeal. “While not directly criticizing President Trump’s decision to end the DACA program, Rep. David Valadao, R-Hanford, said he would work to help young people who are already living in America under the program. In a statement issued shortly after the president’s decision was announced, Valadao said it is up to Congress to find a solution to the issue of young people illegally brought into the United States by their undocumented parents.” [Fresno Bee, 9/05/17]

Valadao Said DACA “Did Little To Improve Our Immigration System” And Trapped “Workers On This Side Of The Border, Preventing Them From Returning To Their Families In Their Home Countries”

Valadao Criticized DACA, Claimed It “Did Little To Improve Our Immigration System” And It “Trapped Many Workers On This Side Of The Border, Preventing Them From Returning To Their Families In Their Home Countries.” “It is an unfortunate reality that the policies implemented by previous administrations did little to improve our immigration system. Instead, executive orders and regulations trapped many workers on this side of the border, preventing them from returning to their families back in their home countries, and imposing unfair ultimatums on those who contribute so much to our economy and communities.” [Rep. Valadao Op-Ed, Fresno Bee, 8/02/17]

Valadao Voted For A Resolution To Allow Paul Ryan To File A Friend Of The Court Brief In Support Of Texas’s Lawsuit Against DACA And DAPA. “Emilio Huerta, one of two Democratic challengers in this year's 21st Congressional District race, has fired a broadside at incumbent Rep. David Valadao, R-Hanford, over his vote on an immigration-related House resolution. The resolution enables Speaker of the House Paul Ryan to file a friend of the court brief in support of Texas in a court case brought by the Obama administration against the state as part of an ongoing dispute over the president's executive action to implement immigration reform. Those executive actions -- an expansion of the existing Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals program and creation of the Deferred Action for Parents of Americans program -- granted limited protections from deportation for children brought into the United States while they were minors and the undocumented parents of their citizen children who were born in the United States. Texas was one of several states that sued to block the executive action.” [Bakersfield Californian, 3/19/16]

• Protestors Criticized Valadao For Vote To End DACA. “The protesters also voiced their concerns about his promise to protect DACA recipients. ‘He said he supports DACA, he supports the Bridge Act, but at the same time in 2015 he also signed on to a house resolution that was against expanding DACA and against providing protection for undocumented parents,’ said Marichel Mejia, civil engagement organizer for the United Farm Workers foundation. In 2015, Valadao voted in favor of a House resolution in support of a lawsuit being filed by a number of states against then-President Barak Obama, which claimed he overstepped his authority in creating the Deferred Action for Parents of Americans program, referred to as DAPA. House Republicans said at the time their support for the lawsuit was tied to their concern over executive overreach and not the DAPA program itself.” [Bakersfield Now, 8/15/17]

Valadao Said Obama’s Immigration Order Creating DACA Would “Only Make A Long-Term Solution More Difficult To Achieve”

2014: Valadao On Obama’s Executive Immigration Action: “The President’s Strategy Of Bypassing Congress Will Only Make A Long-Term Solution More Difficult To Achieve.” “In the wake of President Barack Obama's executive action Thursday night to change immigration policy, reaction is coming in from Rep. David Valadao, R-Hanford, and local agricultural leaders. ‘I am extremely disappointed with Democrats and Republicans who have failed to act on immigration reform during the 113th Congress,’’ Valadao said in a written statement. ‘However, the President's strategy of bypassing Congress will only make a long-term solution more difficult to achieve.’ Valadao, who has repeatedly stated his desire for comprehensive immigration reform, has been at odds with House Republican leadership over his stance. Valadao’s 21st Congressional District, which includes Kings County, has a majority Hispanic population and a farm sector that depends largely on immigrant labor.” [Hanford Sentinel, 11/20/14]

Valadao Voted In Favor Of The Dream And Promise Act

Valadao Voted For The Dream Act, Providing Residency Status For Undocumented Immigrants Who Entered The US As Children Or From TPS-Designated Nations. In March 2021, Valadao voted for: “Passage of the bill that would provide legal residency status for certain undocumented immigrants who entered the United States as children or from nations with Temporary Protected Status designation and would prohibit the Homeland Security and Justice Departments from initiating or continuing the removal of such individuals.” The bill passed 228 to 197. [HR 6, Vote #91, 3/18/21; CQ, 3/18/21]

- Valadao Said Children Brought To The U.S. Through No Fault Of Their Own Should Be Welcomed In The U.S. “Reps. David Valadao, R-Hanford, voted to approve the Dream and Promise Act, which would provide a path to citizenship for immigrants who were brought into the country illegally as children, known as Dreamers. It also grants a path to citizenship for immigrants in the country with temporary protected status or other protections […] Valadao said he voted for the bill to help his constituents in the San Joaquin Valley. ‘I am proud to protect our Dreamers. My Congressional District is home to more than 7,000 DACA (Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals) recipients,’ Valadao said in a statement to McClatchy. ‘These young people go to work, attend school, pay taxes, and are actively involved in our communities. We must ensure that people who were brought here as children through no fault their own, and call the United States home, are welcome here.’” [Sacramento Bee, 3/18/21]

Farm Workforce Modernization Act

2021: Valadao Voted For The Farm Workforce Modernization Act, Allowing Undocumented Agricultural Workers To Apply For Residency Status. In March 2021, Valadao voted for: “Passage of the bill that would allow certain undocumented agricultural workers in the United States to apply for certified agricultural worker status and subsequently permanent residency status. It would also overhaul the H-2A nonimmigrant visa program for temporary agricultural workers and replace the E-Verify employment status verification system with a similar system for use by the agricultural sector; and authorize funding for certain Agriculture Department housing programs.” The bill passed 247 to 174. [HR 1603, Vote #93, 3/18/21; CQ, 3/18/21]

Border Wall Funding

Valadao Voted Against Increasing FEMA Funding, Eliminating Funding For A Border Wall, And Decreasing Funding For ICE Operations In The FY 2018 Omnibus. In September 2017, Valadao voted against: “Jackson Lee, D-Texas, motion to recommit the bill to the House Appropriations Committee with instructions to report it back immediately with an amendment that would increase funding for the Federal Emergency Management Agency’s National Predisaster Mitigation Fund by $2.4 billion, would eliminate $1.6 billion in funding to U.S. Customs and Border Protection for procurement, construction and improvement of a barrier along the southern U.S. border, and would decrease funding for U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement operations by $849.5 million.” The motion was rejected by a vote of 186-223. [H R 3354, Vote #527, 9/14/17; CQ, 9/14/17]
Valadao Voted For The “Security Minibus” Which Included $1.6 Billion In Funding For A Southern Border Wall. In July 2017, Valadao voted for: “Passage of the bill that would provide $788 billion in discretionary funding for fiscal 2018 to various departments, agencies and legislative operations, including $658.1 billion in funding for Defense programs; $88.8 billion in net appropriations subject to discretionary caps for fiscal 2018 that would provide funding for military construction activities and for VA programs and activities; $37.6 billion in net appropriations subject to discretionary caps for fiscal 2018 that would provide funding for the Energy Department, Army Corps of Engineers, Bureau of Reclamation and related agencies; and $3.6 billion in funding fiscal 2018 for operations of the House of Representatives, joint House-Senate items and legislative branch entities such as the Library of Congress, the Capitol Police, and the Government Accountability Office. The bill would provide $1.6 billion in funding to U.S. Customs and Border Protection for procurement, construction and improvement of a barrier along the southern U.S. border.” Passed by a vote of 235-192. [H R 3219, Vote #35, 7/27/17; CQ, 7/27/17]

Valadao Voted Against A Motion To Eliminate Border Wall Funding From The Security Minibus. In July 2017, Valadao voted against: “Roybal-Allard, D-Calif., motion to recommit the bill to the House Appropriations Committee with instructions to report it back immediately with an amendment that would eliminate the bill’s provision related to providing funding to U.S. Customs and Border Protection for procurement, construction and improvement of a barrier along the southern U.S. border.” According to the Democratic Leader’s Office, “Democrats’ Motion to Recommit would strike the division of the underlying bill that appropriates $1.6 billion in taxpayer funds to begin construction of President Trump’s border wall along the U.S. – Mexico border.” Motion rejected by a vote of 193-234. [H R 3219, Vote #434, 7/27/17; CQ, 7/27/17; Democratic Leader’s Office, motion to recommit, 7/27/17]

Valadao Voted Against Prohibiting Funds In The FY 2018 Defense Authorization From Being Used To Plan, Develop, Or Constrict A Border Wall. In July 2017, Valadao voted against: “Lujan Grisham, D-N.M., motion to recommit the bill to the House Armed Services Committee with instructions to report it back immediately with an amendment that would prohibit funds authorized by the bill from being used to plan, develop, or construct any barriers, including walls or fences, along “the international border of the United States.” According to the Democratic Leader’s website, “Democrats’ Motion to Recommit would prohibit any funds authorized to be appropriated in the underlying bill from being used to plan, develop, or construct any barriers, including walls or fences, along the international border of the United States.” The motion was rejected by a vote of 190-235. Deportation Reform

Valadao Co-Sponsored The American Families United Act To Promote Family Unity By Amending The Immigration And Nationality Act To Help Families Reunite With Their Loved Ones. “Congresswoman Veronica Escobar (TX-16) and Congressman David Valadao (CA-21) introduced the American Families United Act. This bipartisan legislation is designed to preserve and promote family unity by amending the Immigration and Nationality Act to help millions of U.S. citizens reunite with their loved ones […] ‘Without a fair process to give parents and spouses of American citizens an opportunity to obtain legal status, millions of immigrants live in constant fear of being separated from their families,’ said Congressman Valadao. ‘This bill will allow American families to stay together while undocumented spouses living in the United States go through the immigration system. Our immigration policy must encourage families to come out of the shadows and earn citizenship through the proper channels.’” [Congresswoman Veronica Escobar, Press Release, 4/30/21]

- The American Families United Act Would Provide The DHS Secretary And Attorney General With Case-By-Case Discretion To Stop Deportations In Instances Where An Individual Is An Immediate Relative Of A U.S. Citizen And When The Removal Of The Relative Would Present A Hardship To A U.S. Citizen. “Specifically, the American Families United Act would: Provide DHS and the Attorney General with the discretion to protect certain family members of U.S. citizens from removal. DHS would have the discretion to waive grounds for deportation or inadmissibility, decline to issue or reinstate removal orders, and grant permission to reapply for immigration status for (1) the spouse of U.S. citizen or (2) the parent of a U.S. citizen child if the other parent is either a U.S. citizen or was a U.S. citizen at the time of his or her death.” [National Immigration Forum, 4/14/21]

Family Separation

Valadao Voted For Blocking Consideration Of A Bill Prohibiting The Department Of Homeland Security From Separating Immigrant Families

In June 2018, Valadao voted for: “Newhouse, R-Wash., motion to order the previous question (thus ending debate and possibility of amendment) on the rule (H Res 953) that would provide for House floor consideration of the bill (HR 6136) that would appropriate $23.4 billion for various border security activities.” According to the Congressional Record, “If we defeat the previous question, I will offer an amendment to the rule to bring up Ranking Member Nadler’s bill, H.R. 6135, the Keep Families Together Act, which I am proud to cosponsor. This thoughtful proposal would prohibit the Department of Homeland Security from separating children from their parents, of course, except in extraordinary circumstances, and limit the criminal prosecution of asylum seekers.” A vote for the motion was a vote to block consideration of the bill prohibiting immigrant family separations. The motion was agreed to 233-191. [HR 6136, Vote #285, 6/21/18; CQ, 6/21/18; Congressional Record, 6/21/18]

Valadao Said He Would Back A Standalone Measure Dealing Only With Family Separations If It Was “Reasonable.” “House GOP leaders will push ahead with a vote Wednesday on their compromise immigration bill, making one last effort to pass the measure even as key lawmakers express pessimism they have any shot of success. […] Rep. David Valadao (R-Calif.) said he stayed in Washington through the weekend to work on changes to the measure. But if it fails on the floor, Valadao said he's prepared to back a standalone measure dealing only with family separations. ‘If it's a reasonable proposal, yeah, absolutely,’ Valadao told The Hill. ‘At the end of the day, we've got to find a way to make sure we keep families together as much as we possibly can, as quickly as we possibly can.’ The compromise bill would provide a pathway to citizenship for so-called Dreamers; earmark $25 billion for Trump's border wall and other security measures; end the diversity visa lottery program; and limit family-based migration. It also would prevent children from being separated from their parents at the border, an issue that has exploded in recent weeks due to the Trump administration's controversial ‘zero tolerance’ immigration policy.” [The Hill, 6/25/18]

Valadao Voted Against Prohibiting The Use Of Privatized For-Profit Immigration Detention Facilities

In September 2017, Valadao voted against: “Castro, D-Texas, amendment that would prohibit funds appropriated to the Department of Homeland Security to be used to enter into contracts with privatized immigration detention facilities.” The amendment was rejected by a vote of 183-230. [H R 3354, Vote #465, 9/7/17; CQ, 9/7/17]
Valadao Released A Survey Asking Constituents To State Their Opinions On The Separation Of Migrant Families

Valadao Released A Survey Asking Constituents To State Their Opinions On The Separation Of Migrant Families. “Two days after he spoke out against the separation of migrant families, Rep. David Valadao released a survey asking his constituents to weigh morality vs. law and order at the U.S.-Mexican border. The survey cites ‘recent reports’ that say more than 32,372 unaccompanied children and an additional 59,113 family units have been apprehended at the border in 2018. […] It ended by asking: ‘In your opinion, should those who attempt to illegally enter the U.S. be criminally prosecuted and, as a result, be separated from their children?’ Four responses were available: ‘Yes, those who enter the United States illegally should be criminally prosecuted and as a result, be separated from their children.’ ‘No, those who enter the United States illegally should NOT (be) criminally prosecuted.’ ‘We need to strike a balance between securing our border and keeping families together.’ ‘I am unsure of how to handle the situation at our southern border.’” [Fresno Bee, 6/20/18]

Valadao Came Out Against The Separation Of Families Two Days Before Sending Out The Survey

Valadao Came Out Against The Separation Of Families Two Days Before Sending Out The Survey That “Walked Back That Position To Much More Legal Terms.” “On Monday, Valadao said he was firmly against the separation of families at the border. ‘While we must work towards a solution that reduces the occurrence of illegal border crossings, it is unacceptable to separate young children from their parents,’ his statement said. Wednesday's survey, however, walked back that position to much more legal terms. It referenced prosecutions, crimes and numbers. And there was no option that only says ‘no, don't separate children from their parents at the border.’ TJ Cox, the Fresno Democrat running against Valadao in November, hammered the congressman's survey on Wednesday. ‘As a son of immigrants, here's what I know: You don't need a survey to tell you that ripping kids away from their families is immoral,’ Cox wrote in a tweet.” [Fresno Bee, 6/20/18]

Valadao Said That It Was “Unacceptable To Separate Young Children From Their Families”

Valadao Said That It Was “Unacceptable To Separate Young Children From Their Families.” “Valadao of Hanford Kings County, who represent Central Valley districts with large numbers of Democratic and Latino voters. Both decided to oppose Trump's family separation policy. ‘While we must work to reduce the occurrence of illegal border crossings, it is unacceptable to separate young children from their parents,’ Valadao tweeted Monday. ‘This is exactly why passage of a compromise solution is absolutely necessary.’” [San Francisco Chronicle, 6/20/19]

California Dream Act

Valadao Said He Voted Against The California Dream Act In 2011 Because He Believed Immigration Should Be A Federal Issue

Valadao’s Spokesperson Said He Voted Against The California DREAM Act In 2011 Because He Believed That Immigration Should Be A Federal Issue. “Valadao's opponents also cite his 2011 vote while he served in the state Assembly that opposed the California Dream Act, which allows immigrants in California without legal permission to get privately funded scholarships to attend the state's public universities. Another provision allows immigrants to qualify for state financial aid to attend college. ‘If there's anything that affects the kids in the Central Valley, the undocumented dreamers in the Central Valley, it's the California Dream Act that he opposed,’ said Amanda Renteria, Valadao's chief Democratic opponent. Valadao spokeswoman Anna Vetter said the congressman voted against the legislation because he believes immigration is a federal issue. Further, he supports a path to citizenship for the so-called dreamers, she said.” [Associated Press, 5/17/14]
Muslim Ban

Valadao Voted 3 Times Against Blocking Trump’s Muslim Ban

Valadao Voted To Block Consideration Of An Act Nullifying Trump’s Immigration Executive Order. In January 2017, Valadao voted for the “Newhouse, R-Wash., motion to order the previous question (thus ending debate and the possibility of amendment) on the rule (H Res 70).” According to Democratic Leader Nancy Pelosi’s office, “The Democratic Previous Question would amend the rule to allow for consideration of HR 724, the Statue of Liberty Values Act of 2017, which provides that President Trump’s Immigration Executive Order shall have no force or effect.” A vote for the previous question was a vote in support of the executive order. The motion was agreed to by a vote of 236-183. [HRes 70, Vote #68, 1/30/17; CQ, 1/30/17; Democratic Leader—Previous Questions, 1/30/17]

Valadao Voted To Block Consideration Of An Act To Nullify Trump’s Immigration Executive Order. In February 2017, Valadao voted for the “Buck, R-Colo., motion to order the previous question (thus ending debate and the possibility of amendment) on the rule (H Res 71).” According to Democratic Leader Nancy Pelosi’s office, “The Democratic Previous Question would amend the rule to allow for consideration of HR 724, the Statue of Liberty Values Act of 2017, which provides that President Trump’s Immigration Executive Order shall have no force or effect.” A vote for the previous question was a vote in support of the executive order. The motion was agreed to by a vote of 231-191. [HRes 71, Vote #70, 2/1/17; CQ, 2/1/17; Democratic Leader—Previous Questions, 2/1/17]

Valadao Voted To Block Consideration Of An Act Nullifying Trump’s Immigration Executive Order. In February 2017, Valadao voted for the “Cole, R-Okla., motion to order the previous question (thus ending debate and the possibility of amendment) on the rule (H Res 74).” According to Democratic Leader Nancy Pelosi’s office, “The Democratic Previous Question would bring up HR 724, the Statue of Liberty Values Act, offered by Congresswoman Zoe Lofgren, which would give the Republican Congress a second chance in as many days to defund and rescind President Trump’s unconstitutional and dangerous ban.” A vote for the previous question was a vote in support of the executive order. The motion was agreed to by a vote of 230-188. [HRes 74, Vote #74, 2/2/17; CQ, 2/2/17; Democratic Leader—Previous Questions, 2/2/17]

Sanctuary Cities

Valadao Voted For A Bill To Ban Sanctuary Cities

Valadao Voted For A Bill To Ban Sanctuary Cities. In June 2017, Valadao voted for: “Passage of the bill that would prohibit federal, state and local governments from restricting any federal, state, or local government entity or official from complying with immigration laws or from assisting federal law enforcement entities or officials in their enforcement of such laws. The bill would allow the Homeland Security Department to issue detainers for arrests of individuals in violation of "any criminal or motor vehicle law" in cases where there is probable cause to believe such individual is an "inadmissible or deportable alien," and would revoke eligibility for certain federal law enforcement grants for states and cities found not to be in compliance with the bill's provisions.” The bill passed 228-195. [HR 3003, Vote #342, 6/29/17; CQ, 6/29/17]

- New York Times: The No Sanctuary For Criminals Act “Broadens The Pool Of Money That Cities Could Lose For Not Cooperating With Federal Immigration Officials.” “One of the House bills, known as the No Sanctuary for Criminals Act, potentially broadens the pool of money that cities could lose for not cooperating with federal immigration officials. It also seeks to indemnify local law enforcement officials who detain immigrants on behalf of the federal authorities from lawsuits, making the federal government the defendant in such cases. The bill passed 228 to 195.” [New York Times, 6/29/17]
• The National Fraternal Order Of Police Opposed The No Sanctuary For Criminals Act. “Some law enforcement officials have also expressed concerns with the legislation. The National Fraternal Order of Police came out against the sanctuary cities bill this week. In a letter to House leadership, the group’s national president, Chuck Canterbury, said, ‘Law enforcement officers do not get to pick and choose which laws to enforce, and must carry out lawful orders at the direction of their commanders and the civilian government that employs them.’” [New York Times, 6/29/17]

• ACLU: HR 3003 Would Violate 4th Amendment Protections Against Detention Without Due Process Or Probable Cause. “And the American Civil Liberties Union said the sanctuary cities bill violates the Fourth Amendment by requiring local law enforcement to hold people without due process or probable cause when requested by immigration agents.” [New York Times, 6/29/17]

Valadao Voted For Consideration Of A Bill To Ban Sanctuary Cities. In June 2017, Valadao voted for: “Adoption of the rule (H Res 414) that would provide for House floor consideration of the bill (HR 3003) that would prohibit federal, state and local governments from restricting any federal, state, or local government entity or official from complying with immigration laws or from assisting federal law enforcement in its enforcement of such laws.” The bill passed 235-190. Refugees

Valadao Voted Against The NO BAN Act, Prohibiting The President From Banning Individuals Seeking Immigrant Visas Based On Their Religion. In April 2021, Valadao voted against: “Passage of the bill that would explicitly prohibit discrimination based on religion with regard to individuals seeking immigrant visas, nonimmigrant visas or other entry into the United States. It would limit the president's ability to restrict entry of a class of foreign nationals, including to require that such restrictions be temporary, narrowly tailored and subject to a State Department determination that they are in the interest of U.S. public safety or international stability. It would require the State and Homeland Security departments to notify Congress prior to the issuance of any such restriction and provide information regarding its justification and planned duration; brief Congress within 48 hours of its issuance; and report Congress every 30 days during the restriction on its continued justification and how visa applicants are impacted. It would terminate the restriction, absent intervening congressional action, if the briefing or reports are not provided. The bill would allow individuals present in the United States who are harmed by entry restrictions in violation of the bill's provisions to seek declaratory or injunctive relief through a U.S. district court. It would also require the State and Homeland Security departments to submit a report to Congress describing the implementation of proclamations by former President Donald Trump that restricted the entry of individuals from certain countries, including the number of refugees admitted and the number of visa applicants admitted or rejected, disaggregated by country and visa category.” The bill passed 218 to 208. [HR 1333, Vote #127, 4/21/21; CQ, 4/21/21]

Valadao Voted To Halt Obama’s Syrian Resettlement Program…

Valadao Voted To Halt Obama’s Syrian Resettlement Program. In November 2015, Valadao voted for “Passage of the bill that would prohibit admitting any refugee from Iraq or Syria to the United States before the secretary of Homeland Security, with the unanimous concurrence of the director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the director of National Intelligence, has conducted a thorough background check on any refugee from Iraq or Syria and certified that they are not a security threat to the United States. Further, the bill would require that the secretary of Homeland Security submit a monthly report to the appropriate congressional committees on the number of applications for admission and number of security certifications not made.” The bill passed 289 to 137. [HR 4038, Vote #643, 11/19/15; CQ, 11/19/15]
Valadao Opposed Executive Order Restricting Refugees. “Another San Joaquin Valley Republican congressman on Monday joined the chorus of skepticism about President Donald Trump’s controversial executive order restricting refugees. In a statement issued Monday afternoon, Rep. David Valadao, R-Hanford, said he supports stronger screening measures, but he took exception to those imposed by the president’s executive order issued last Friday. ‘These issues are complex and should not be addressed through hasty, unclear executive actions,’ Valadao said. ‘Instead, the president and Congress should work together towards a thoughtful, constructive solution to strengthen our national security while upholding our American values.’” [Sacramento Bee, 1/30/17]

• The Executive Order Was Described As A “Temporary Stopgap To Give The Administration Time To Put A New Vetting System In Place That Can Adequately Assess A Refugee’s Veracity And Intentions.”
  “The chairman of the House Permanent Select Committee on Intelligence, Rep. Devin Nunes, R-Tulare, and Rep. Tom McClintock, R-Elk Grove, whose district sweeps through a number of Sierra Nevada counties, have supported Trump’s order. ‘This is a temporary stopgap to give the administration time to put a new vetting system in place that can adequately assess a refugee’s veracity and intentions,’” McClintock said Sunday. Nunes, who advised Trump as part of the president’s transition executive committee, called the order a “common-sense security measure.” [Sacramento Bee, 1/30/17]

Guest Worker Programs

Valadao Claimed He Supported A New Or Seriously Reformed Guest Worker Program

2017: Valadao Testified To The Judiciary Committee On The Need For Reforming The Guest Worker Program. “Washington: Office of the MP David G. Valadao has issued the following news release: Today, United States Congressman David G. Valadao (CA-21) testified before the House Judiciary Committee Subcommittee on Immigration and Border Security. The hearing titled, ‘Agricultural Guestworkers: Meeting the Growing Needs of American Agriculture,’ focused on the current agriculture guestworker program, known as the H-2A program and its inability to meet the needs of today’s farmers. As the only dairy farmer in Congress, United States Representative David G. Valadao was invited to testify before the committee. During his testimony, Congressman Valadao explained the importance of immigrant guestworkers, the shortcomings of the H-2A program, and possible solutions moving forward.” [Rep. David Valadao, press release, 7/20/17]

• Valadao Stressed The Need For Agricultural Worker Program Overhaul. “In particular, Valadao pressed Trump for an agricultural worker program long sought by farmers in California’s Central Valley, as well as ‘consideration for those who were brought to this country as minors, and at no fault of their own.’” [Sacramento Bee, 2/08/17]

Valadao Supported Foreign Farm Workers, Said The System Had To Be Repaired. “The last time foreign farm workers got amnesty to stay in this country, many left the farms for better paying jobs. So as the agriculture community pushes for a way to get more farm workers into the United States, it’s finding not only the political obstacle — Republican lawmakers are reluctant to do much for undocumented immigrants — but also an historic one, a memory of a Reagan administration amnesty policy. … ‘We must repair the system, both for the current workforce and in order to ensure our agricultural communities have access to the workers they desperately need for years to come,’ Rep. David Valadao, R-Calif., a dairy farmer, told the House subcommittee on immigration and border security.” [McClatchy, 7/19/17]

Valadao Supported Farm Workers Not Having Contractual Agreement With Employers. “Further, we must reform the system to provide both employer and employee choice and flexibility. This can be achieved by ensuring employees have the freedom to move from employer to employer without a contractual commitment.” [Rep. David Valadao press release, 7/19/17]
2012 Fresno Bee: Valadao Supported A Workable Guest Worker Program. “On immigration, while Valadao talks about a workable guest-worker program, both Xiong and Hernandez talk about a path to citizenship for immigrants who are not in the country legally but have worked for a period of time and not been arrested. Both Xiong and Hernandez also support the DREAM Act, which would grant college aid to students whose illegal-immigrant parents brought them to the U.S. Hernandez also said he supports such immigrant students being eligible for in-state college tuition.” [Fresno Bee, 5/4/12]

Valadao Criticized H-2A Visa Programs, Called For Reforms

Valadao Criticized H-2A Visa Programs, Called For Reforms. “I believe reforming our nation’s immigration system is of critical importance. In order to do so, we must address both the emotional aspect of the issue as well as the economic realities. … Despite demand for labor, the truth is, most Americans are unwilling to fill these positions, and subsequently, our agriculture industry faces a serious labor shortage. While many immigrants come to this country to fill farmworker positions, care for livestock and harvest produce in a timely manner, the shortcomings of the H-2A Temporary Agricultural Workers program, which allow U.S. employers to bring immigrants to the United States to fill temporary agricultural jobs, have further exacerbated this shortage. The H-2A Visa program’s inability to meet the needs of year-round farmers (dairy farms, livestock ranches, and agriculture operations with multiple crops and harvests) severely threatens farmers ability to meet demand. We must repair the system, both for the current workforce and in order to ensure our agricultural communities have access to the workers they desperately need for years to come. Reforms must provide both employer and employee choice and flexibility. This can be achieved by ensuring employees have the freedom to move from employer to employer without a contractual commitment. In doing so, we can ensure our farmers and ranchers have access to the workforce they depend on.” [Rep. Valadao Op-Ed, Fresno Bee, 8/02/17]

Valadao Came Out Against A Guest Worker Program Opposed By The UFW

Valadao Came Out Against A Guest Worker Program Opposed By The UFW. “Saying it's time to move forward, not backward, Rep. David Valadao (R-Hanford) announced today that he will not support the Agricultural Guestworker Act (H.R. 1773), which was filed by House Judiciary Committee Chairman Rep. Bob Goodlatte (R-Va) on April 26. The House Judiciary Committee is holding the markup of H.R. 1773 Wednesday. United Farm Workers President Arturo S. Rodriguez issued the following statement from Keene, CA.: ‘On behalf of all the men and women who labor in the fields, picking the fruits and vegetables that feed this great nation, the United Farm Workers would like to thank Congressman David Valadao for rejecting the Agriculture Guestworker Act. This one-sided bill, introduced by House Judiciary Committee Chairman Bob Goodlatte, would roll back farm worker protections that the UFW and other farm worker groups have fought for during the past five decades. The Goodlatte's bill is not good for present or future farm workers.” [United Farm Workers Of America, press release, 6/18/13]

Valadao Opposed The Bill Because It Was Not “Fair And Balanced”

Valadao Said He Opposed The Agricultural Guestworker Act Because It Did Not “Provide A Fair And Balanced Approach For Our Experienced Farm Workers.” “As Representatives of agricultural Congressional Districts in California, we understand the critical importance of the agriculture industry in cultivating our nation's economy. The agricultural labor crisis threatens jobs on and off the farm. It is undermining American food security. We heartily believe it is time for the House of Representatives to act on broad and meaningful immigration reform that includes a balanced solution to the agricultural labor crisis. The House Judiciary Committee is scheduled to consider several immigration measures this week, including Chairman Goodlatte's H.R. 1773, the Agricultural Guest Worker Act. While we believe the Chairmans effort is well-intended, in its current form this bill does not present a solution that addresses the diverse challenges and situations confronting the agriculture industry, nor does it provide a fair and balanced approach for our experienced farm workers.” [United Farm Workers Of America, press release, 6/18/13]
Valadao said he opposed the Agricultural Guestworker Act because “It fails to provide an acceptable market-oriented portable visa option, a concept that is supported by farm employers and farm workers alike.” “It fails to provide an acceptable market-oriented portable visa option, a concept that is supported by farm employers and farm workers alike. Finally, we harbor serious doubts that the program will appeal to many of our current, experienced workers. Without a realistic program structure that includes incentives for these workers to remain in agriculture, legislation will fail to stabilize the farm labor crisis in the near term. Our producers will also face tremendous delays and uncertainty given the challenges of processing hundreds of thousands of needed workers through the limited bandwidth in our consulates abroad.” [United Farm Workers Of America, press release, 6/18/13]

Infrastructure Investment & Jobs Act

Valadao Voted Against The Infrastructure Investment And Jobs Act That Provided Critical Funding For Water And Broadband Infrastructure In California

Valadao Voted Against The Infrastructure Investment And Jobs Act, Providing $550 Billion In New Infrastructure Spending. In November 2021 Valadao voted against: “DeFazio, D-Ore., motion to concur in the Senate amendment to the bill that would provide approximately $550 billion in new infrastructure spending, including for surface transportation, broadband, water and energy infrastructure. In supplemental appropriations and increased contract authority, the bill would provide $110 billion for roads, bridges and major surface transportation projects, including $47.3 for highway infrastructure and $40 billion for bridge construction and repair; $66 billion for rail, including $58 billion for Amtrak; and $39 billion for transit, including $5.3 billion for...”
zero- and low-emission transit buses and $2 billion for accessibility improvements. It would provide $25 billion for airports and approximately $17 billion for ports and waterways, including $3.4 billion to modernize land ports of entry and $2.25 billion for water port upgrades, including resilience and electrification projects. It would provide approximately $11 billion for various transportation safety and research programs. It would provide $7.5 billion for electric vehicle charging infrastructure and $5 billion for zero- and low-emission school bus programs. It would establish requirements for many new and existing surface transportation programs to consider the environmental and equity impacts of funded activities and authorize a range of transportation programs related to emissions reduction and climate change resilience. It would provide $1 billion for activities to reconnect neighborhoods by removing or remediating the effects of transportation infrastructure construction in disadvantaged and underserved communities. The bill would provide approximately $65 billion for broadband, including $42.5 billion for grants to states to increase access in unserved areas and $14.2 billion to extend a program initially authorized in response to the coronavirus pandemic that provides stipends to help low-income families pay for internet services. It would provide approximately $62 billion for the Energy Department, including $21.5 billion for clean energy demonstration projects, $16.3 billion for energy efficiency and renewable energy programs, $8 billion for power grid resilience and other electricity projects, and $7.5 billion for fossil energy and carbon management. It would authorize or expand several programs to incentivize clean energy manufacturing, development and adoption. It would provide approximately $55 billion for water infrastructure and safety, including $30.7 billion for the Drinking Water State Revolving Fund, including $15 billion to replace lead service lines and $4 billion to address per- and polyfluoroalkyl substances and other emerging contaminants; and $12.7 billion for the Clean Water State Revolving Fund. Across various departments, the bill would provide funding for climate change response and environmental remediation, including; $11.3 billion for abandoned mine land and water reclamation projects, approximately $5.75 billion for wildfire management, $3.5 billion for the EPA hazardous substance superfund and $3.5 billion for FEMA flood mitigation. It would also provide more than $1.7 billion for cybersecurity resilience programs. The bill would include a number of provisions intended to offset spending, including by rescinding certain unobligated COVID-19 relief funding and establishing tax reporting requirements for cryptocurrency and other digital assets.” The motion was agreed to by a vote of 228-206. [H.R. 3684, Vote #369, 11/5/21; CQ, 11/5/21]

The Bipartisan Infrastructure Law Provided $8.3 Billion To Fund Water Efficiency, Recycling Programs And Rural Water Projects. “President Biden’s Bipartisan Infrastructure Law provides $8.3 billion to the Bureau of Reclamation over five years to fund water efficiency and recycling programs, rural water projects, and WaterSMART grants to ensure that irrigators, Tribes, and adjoining communities receive adequate assistance and support.” [California Department of Water Resources, 1/25/22]

The California Farm Bureau Applauded The Passage Of The Infrastructure Investment And Jobs Act And Commended The Benefits It Extended To Local Agriculture And Rural Communities. “The California Farm Bureau is applauding Congress for passing the Infrastructure Investment and Jobs Act, commending the benefits it extends to local agriculture and rural communities. The one trillion dollar plan passed by congress late Friday night is set to fund improvement projects across the country and projected to create some 2 million jobs.” [YourCentralValley.com, 11/8/21]

- The $8.3 Billion Provided Opportunities To Fund California Infrastructure Projects Like The Sites Reservoir And The Friant-Kern Canal Subsidence Project. “Erin Huston, California Farm Bureau federal policy consultant, said the $8.3 billion included in the infrastructure legislation ‘provides the opportunity for funding several California infrastructure projects such as Sites Reservoir, the Friant-Kern Canal subsidence project and many others.’ In addition, there’s $3.3 billion in the package that seeks to address the threat of wildfire, she added. ‘We’ll be monitoring implementation very closely to ensure this funding opportunity is allocated smartly and addresses the needs of California's agricultural communities and results in actual, real structures being built in California,' Huston said.” [AgAlert, 11/24/21]

January 2022: Valadao Attended A Ceremony Celebrating The First Phase Of The $187 Million Project To Repair The Friant-Kern Canal. “After years of planning and scrounging for funding, critically needed repairs to the sinking Friant-Kern Canal broke ground near Terra Bella on Tuesday. The $187 million first phase of the project will restore flows to a 10-mile stretch of the canal in eastern Tulare County. Excessive groundwater pumping during California's droughts has caused the ground beneath the canal to sink more than 13 feet — a phenomenon known as subsidence. Subsidence has restricted the waterway's ability to carry water to farms and communities south of the chokepoint by more than half […] The full project is expected to cost $500 million and will be paid for by the federal government and the state as well as Friant-Kern contractors and local groundwater agencies. The federal government owns the 152-mile-long canal but contracts with the Friant Water Authority to operate it […] Congressmen Jim Costa (D-Fresno) and David Valadao (R-Hanford) also attended the ceremony and highlighted the bipartisan nature of the project.” [Visalia Times Delta, 1/26/22]

Valadao Supported Extending The Federal WIIN Act And Said Money Needed To Be Allocated To Make Repairs To The Friant-Kern Canal. “He called for extending the federal WIIN Act, an Obama-administration law promoting investments in water infrastructure. He also said money must be found to make repairs to the Friant-Kern Canal, whose deliveries as far south as Kern County have been severely limited by over-pumping of local groundwater.” [Bakersfield Californian, 5/10/21]

- The Water Infrastructure Improvements For The Nation Act Established Grants To Carry Out Projects To Assist Public Water Systems Meet The Safe Drinking Water Act Requirements. “The 2016 Water Infrastructure Improvements for the Nation Act (WIIN Act) addresses, supports, and improves America's drinking water infrastructure. Included in the WIIN Act are three new drinking water grants that promote public health and the protection of the environment. Section 2104 of the WIIN Act establishes the Small, Underserved, and Disadvantaged Communities Grant Program to provide grants to eligible entities for use in carrying out projects and activities the primary purposes of which are to assist public water systems in meeting Safe Drinking Water Act requirements.” [EPA.gov, accessed 1/2/22]

The EPA Announced Over $600 Million In Water Infrastructure Funding For California Through The Bipartisan Infrastructure Law.

“EPA will allocate $7.4 billion to states, Tribes, and territories for 2022, including over $600 million to assist California address the high SRF demands which have historically exceeded available funding. As of February 2021, the State received applications requesting over $10 billion in funding from its Clean Water and Drinking Water SRFs. The Bipartisan Infrastructure Law provides much-needed financial relief to communities that want to improve their water infrastructure, promote water reuse, increase their drought resilience, and implement proactive wildfire resilience projects.” [U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, 12/2/21]

The Bipartisan Infrastructure Law Allocated $84 Million Towards Protection Against Wildfires In California.

“Protection against wildfires: $84 million. Californians are no strangers to wildfire's devastating impacts, which have displaced residents from Paradise to Tahoe and beyond, costing the state an estimated $50 billion to $100 billion in damages, according to the White House. Newsom's investment strategy also includes $2 billion toward the purchase of new firefighting equipment like air tankers and helicopters, as well as supporting forest and wildfire resilience strategies across the state.” [KQED, 11/8/21]
The Bipartisan Infrastructure Law Allocated $100 Million To Provide Broadband Access In California—Benefiting 31.4% Of Households In Valadao’s District That Lacked Internet Access

California Would Receive $100 Million To Provide Broadband Access From The Infrastructure Bill. “California will receive at least $100 million to expand broadband coverage through the bipartisan Infrastructure Investment and Jobs Act, passed by the U.S. House of Representatives late Friday and awaiting the president’s signature. The funding is aimed at providing broadband access to the at least 545,000 Californians who currently lack it, according to a White House news release in August following the Senate’s passage of the bill. ‘Broadband internet is necessary for Americans to do their jobs, to participate equally in school learning, health care and to stay connected,’ the news release said. The federal funding supplements the state’s $6 billion broadband plan included in the 2021-22 state budget. That blueprint includes plans to expand the state’s internet infrastructure with a particular focus on areas that have historically been unserved or underserved by private internet service providers.” [EdSource, 11/8/21]

Valadao Criticized The Spending Of The Infrastructure Investment & Jobs Act And Accused Those Who Supported The Bill Of “Reckless Spending”

Valadao Criticized The Spending Of The Infrastructure Investment & Jobs Act And Accused Those Who Supported The Bill Of “Reckless Spending.” “Gov. Gavin Newsom praised the passage of President Joe Biden's $1.2 trillion infrastructure bill, calling it a ‘once-in-a-generation’ investment that will modernize California's bridges and roads, create jobs, and reduce emissions. The governor's office expects the Golden State will receive more than $30 billion from the bipartisan bill that Democrats pushed through Congress on Nov. 5 with the help of 13 Republicans […] Congressman David Valadao (R-Hanford), who eked out a victory in the state's embattled 21st District, criticized the legislation's price tag and accused its supporters of 'reckless spending.’ ‘While our nation's infrastructure is in desperate need of repair, I cannot, in good conscience, vote in favor of any part of this multi-trillion dollar package,’ Valadao said in a statement. ‘This could be the largest tax increase and most expensive piece of legislation in American history. The last thing middle-class families need is to carry the burden of paying for this magnitude of reckless spending for years to come.’” [Visalia Times-Delta, 11/9/21]

Valadao Said He Voted Against The Infrastructure Package Because It Constituted The Largest Tax Increase In History. “‘While our nation’s infrastructure is in desperate need of repair, I cannot, in good conscience, vote in favor of any part of this multi-trillion dollar package. Inflation is record-high, consumer prices are rising, and our economy is still recovering from a global pandemic. This could be the largest tax increase and most expensive piece of legislation in American history. The last thing middle class families need is to carry the burden of paying for this magnitude of reckless spending for years to come,’ said Congressman Valadao.” [Rep. David Valadao, Press Release, 11/6/21]

The State Route 41 Corridor Project Led The List Of Infrastructure Funding Projects In The San Joaquin Valley. “The Infrastructure Investment and Jobs Act passed in the House of Representatives in July and in the Senate on Aug. 10. However, because the Senate changed the bill so much, another House vote is needed. A final vote is expected by Sept. 27. ‘There’s a number of ways in which this bill is considerably different. I mean, basically, the size of it is three times what we’ve seen in the past,’ said Robert Phipps, deputy director of the Fresno Council of Governments. July 2021: Valadao Voted Against The INVEST In America Act

Valadao Voted Against The INVEST In America Act, Containing More Than $720 Billion In Surface Transportation And Water Infrastructure Spending. In July 2021, Valadao voted against: “Passage of the bill, as amended, that would authorize more than $720 billion in surface transportation and water infrastructure spending. It would reauthorize federal-aid highway, public transit, rail, and surface transportation safety and research programs for five years, through fiscal 2026, and reauthorize various water infrastructure programs for five or ten years. As amended, the bill would additionally authorize more than $36 billion through fiscal 2026 for activities related to electric vehicle infrastructure, access and manufacturing. It would authorize more than $548 billion through fiscal 2026 for federal surface transportation programs, including $333 billion for federal-aid highway programs; $109 billion for transit programs; and $96 billion for rail programs. It would establish requirements for many new and existing surface transportation programs to consider the environmental and equity impacts of funded activities. It would require the Transportation Department to establish a number of grant programs for project-level investments, including for carbon pollution reduction projects to reduce greenhouse gas emissions from the surface transportation system; development of electric vehicle charging and hydrogen fueling infrastructure; separation or elimination of highway-rail crossings; extreme weather resilience and mitigation improvements; activities to reconnect neighborhoods by removing or remediating the effects of transportation infrastructure construction in disadvantaged and underserved communities. It would authorize $12 billion for a new program to support large highway, transit, and rail projects of national and regional significance. It would modify a transit grant program to require the procurement of zero-emission buses and other vehicles. Within the total for rail funding, it would authorize $32 billion for Amtrak; $25 billion for a new program to fund improvements to major intercity passenger rail bridges, stations, and tunnels grant; $7 billion for passenger and freight rail infrastructure and safety improvement grants; and up to $20 billion annually to establish a university innovation institute to research and develop low- and zero-emission rail technologies. It would establish an independent nonprofit known as the Clean Energy and Sustainability Accelerator to facilitate the deployment of emissions reduction technologies, requiring the Energy Department to transfer $50 billion to the accelerator upon establishment and $10 billion annually for the subsequent five years. The bill would authorize more than $117.5 billion for drinking water infrastructure and $54.4 billion for wastewater treatment infrastructure over ten years. It would authorize $53 billion through 2031 for the EPA Drinking Water State Revolving Fund, which provides grants to states to provide loans and other financial assistance to public water systems, and increase the maximum percentage of such funding states may use to assist disadvantaged communities. It would authorize $4.5 billion annually through fiscal 2031 for grants to states to replace lead service lines; $4 billion available until expended for a low-income drinking water assistance program. It would authorize $40 billion through fiscal 2026 for the EPA Clean Water State Revolving Fund, which provides grants to states to provide loans and other financial assistance related to water treatment infrastructure projects. It would authorize $4 billion for a low-income wastewater assistance program, available until expended. It would authorize $2.6 billion to improve water sanitation facilities funded by the Indian Health Service. It would authorize $500 million annually through fiscal 2031 for community water system PFAS treatment grants. It would require the EPA to set national primary drinking water regulations for contaminants including per- and polyfluoroalkyl substances, microcystin toxin, chromium-6 and 1,4-dioxane.” The bill passed 221 to 201. High-Speed Rail

Valadao Called California’s Bullet-Train Project A Waste Of Taxpayer Money

Valadao Said The California’s Bullet-Train Project Was A Waste Of Taxpayer Money. “Rep. David Valadao, R-Hanford, said Friday that he believes California's bullet-train project ‘has demonstrated itself to be a waste of taxpayers' hard earned money’ ‘Sending more taxpayer dollars to fund an already wasteful project would be irresponsible,” Valadao added. "I encourage the Biden administration to work with Republican lawmakers to ensure this effort actually reflects the infrastructure needs in our districts.”” [Fresno Bee, 4/10/21]

Valadao Wrote A Letter To The CEO Of The California High-Speed Rail Authority And Claimed That The City Of Wasco Faced Socio-Economic And Environmental Challenges Due To The Authority’s Neglect. “Rep. David Valadao is coming to the defense of the city of Wasco. Valadao, R-Hanford, sent a letter Wednesday to California High-Speed Rail Authority CEO Brian P. Kelly communicating the socio-economic and environmental challenges faced by Wasco as a result of the authority's neglect, according to a news release from Valadao's office. The news release stated that the Wasco Farm Labor Housing complex, abandoned to make way for the high-speed rail, has become the site of criminal activity, significantly disrupting surrounding businesses and residents. In his letter, Valadao noted the authority's efforts to evade financial responsibility for the demolition of the site.” [Bakersfield Californian, 4/8/21]

Valadao Was Among 14 California Republicans That Blocked A $647 Million Grant To Electrify Caltrain

Valadao Was Among 14 California Republicans Opposed To High Speed Rail That Caused The Blocking Of A $647 Million Grant To Electrify Caltrain, Halting A Shovel-Ready Project. “Fourteen California Republicans opposed to High Speed Rail sent a letter to the US Department of Transportation on Feb. 17 requesting that the DOT stop federal funding for the Caltrain electrification. In response to this letter, on Friday, newly confirmed Transportation Secretary Elaine Chao blocked a $647 million dollar federal grant for the electrification of Caltrain, thus halting the shovel-ready project. The construction would have started this week. Monday, Caltrain announced it had negotiated a three-month extension with the contractors responsible for the rail line's electrification project, a delay that will cost $20 million. The supporters of Caltrain hope to restore the funding to the project. […] The 14 California legislators who wrote the letter to Elaine Chao opposing the electrification of Caltrain are: Ken Calvert, Paul Cook, Jeff Denham, Duncan D. Hunter, Darrell Issa, Steve Knight, Doug LaMalfa, Kevin McCarthy, Tom McClintock, Devin Nunes, Dana Rohrabacher, Ed Royce, David Valadao and Mimi
Valadao Cosponsored A Bill That Would Require Fewer Mandated Breaks For Truck Drivers, Which Safety Advocates Warned Would “Diminish Truck Safety”

Valadao Introduced A Proposal To Block States From Requiring More Frequent Breaks For Truck Drivers Than Federal Law Called For

• Section 611 Of HR 4441- Said That A State May Not Prohibit “Employees Whose Hours Of Service Are Subject To Regulation By The Secretary Under Section 31502 From Working To The Full Extent Permitted.” “SEC. 611. Federal authority. (a) In general.—Section 14501(c) of title 49, United States Code, is amended— (1) in paragraph (1) by striking ‘paragraphs (2) and (3)’ and inserting ‘paragraphs (3) and (4)’; (2) by redesignating paragraphs (2) through (5) as paragraphs (3) through (6) respectively; (3) by inserting after paragraph (1) the following: ‘(2) ADDITIONAL LIMITATIONS.—(A) A State, political subdivision of a State, or political authority of 2 or more States may not enact or enforce a law, regulation, or other provision having the force and effect of law prohibiting employees whose hours of service are subject to regulation by the Secretary under section 31502 from working to the full extent permitted or at such times as permitted under such section, or imposing any additional obligations on motor carriers if such employees work to the full extent or at such times as permitted under such section, including any related activities regulated under part 395 of title 49, Code of Federal Regulations. (B) A State, political subdivision of a State, or political authority of 2 or more States may not enact or enforce a law, regulation, or other provision having the force and effect of law that requires a motor carrier that compensates employees on a piece-rate basis to pay those employees separate or additional compensation, provided that the motor carrier pays the employee a total sum that when divided by the total number of hours worked during the corresponding work period is equal to or greater than the applicable hourly minimum wage of the State, political subdivision of the State, or political authority of 2 or more States.”” [Congress.gov, HR 4441, Bill Text, accessed 12/19/17]

• Los Angeles Times: “A Provision In A House Appropriations Bill Would Allow Federal Regulations To Exempt Truck Drivers Who Cross California Boundaries From The State’s Strict Meal And Rest Requirements.” “A provision in a House appropriations bill would allow federal regulations to exempt truck drivers who cross California boundaries from the state’s strict meal and rest requirements. California law requires truck drivers — along with other state employees — to take a 30-minute meal break in their first five hours on shift, and another break when five more hours have passed. Employees must also take a paid 10-minute rest break every four hours of working.” [Los Angeles Times, 8/14/17]

• California Law Required Truck Drivers To Take 30 Minute Breaks Every 5 Hours, But Federal Regulation Only Required One 30 Minute Our Break In The First 8 Hours Of Driving. “California law requires truck drivers -- along with state employees -- to take a 30-minute meal break in their first five hours on shift, and another break when five more hours have passed. Employees must also take a paid 10-minute rest break every four hours of working. Several other states, including Colorado and Kentucky, require similar rest breaks of their employees. Federal regulations, on the other hand, require only that drivers take one 30-minute break in their first eight hours of driving. Some officials in California are concerned that fewer breaks under the federal rules would lead to sleepier drivers, who often work exhausting 10-hour shifts. And they fear that could mean more accidents.” [Los Angeles Times, 8/14/17]

Truck Safety Coalition Spokesperson: “They Are Putting In Policy Measures That Ultimately Diminish Truck Safety”

“‘They are putting in policy measures that ultimately diminish truck safety,’ said Harry Adler, a spokesman at the Truck Safety Coalition, a national advocacy organization. ‘In this bill they are going in and trying to preempt states that want to go above and beyond in terms of providing meal and rest breaks.’” Los Angeles County alone saw 8,989 collisions, fatal and nonfatal, involving large trucks in 2016, according to data from the California Highway Patrol. There were about 15,000 big rig crashes in the entire state last year, or 38 collisions per 100,000 people. [Los Angeles Times, 8/14/17]

15,000 Trucking Accidents Happened In CA In 2016, And 4,311 Trucking Accidents Resulted In Fatalities – Some Of Those Were Caused By Drowsy Truck Drivers

15,000 Trucking Accidents Happened In CA In 2016, And 4,311 Trucking Accidents Resulted In Fatalities – Some Of Those Were Caused By Drowsy Truck Drivers. “In California, 15,000 large truck crashes happened in 2016. The California Highway Patrol reports that 8,989 of those collisions happened in Los Angeles. Nationally, the Federal Motor Carrier Safety Administration reports that 87,000 injury crashes happened in 2015, and 4,311 trucks and buses were involved in fatal accidents. The FMCSA reports that 55 fatal truck accidents in 2015 were caused by drowsy or fatigued truck drivers and another 71 were caused by driver inattention with unknown causes. If the proposed law passes in the House and Senate and is signed into law by Trump, many truck drivers may not have to take the rest breaks that they currently have to take. Truck drivers drive for exhaustingly long shifts, and not being able to pull off of the road more frequently may lead them to become exhausted. In Dec. 2016, the AAA Foundation for Traffic Safety found that the crash risk for drivers spikes for every hour of sleep that they lose. Truck drivers who do not get sufficient sleep and who are also not able to take enough rest breaks may have greatly increased risks. For all drivers, AAA found that the risk of accidents doubles for people who get between five and six hours of sleep each night. When they only get four to five hours of sleep, their risks are four times higher of crash involvement than people who are more rested.” [National Law Review, 8/18/17]

Labor & Working Families Issues

Significant Findings

- Valadao voted against reauthorizing and expanding the labor department’s national apprenticeship system.

- Valadao repeatedly voted against ensuring fair wages in the workplace.
  - Valadao voted to block a bill to gradually increase the minimum wage to $15 per hour over seven years.
  - 2013-2017: Valadao voted against raising the minimum wage at least seven times, including to as little as $10.10 per hour.
  - Valadao repeatedly voted against rolling back Davis-Bacon wage protections which ensured fair wages in government contracts for construction and repair of public buildings and public works.

- Valadao repeatedly voted against paid sick leave and undermined the 40-hour work week.
  - Valadao voted for blocking an amendment to allow Americans to earn paid sick leave.
  - Valadao voted for the “Working Families Flexibility Act,” which undermined the 40-hour work week, and did not protect paid sick leave.

- 2013-2014: Valadao voted against extending unemployment insurance seven times.

- Valadao voted to undermine worker protections by allowing private-sector employees to swap overtime pay for “comp time.”

- Valadao voted for nullifying a Department of Labor Rule exempting certain government-administered state retirement savings plans from selecting federal regulations.

- Valadao voted against the PRO Act, expanding authorities of the National Labor Relations board and protecting collective bargaining rights.

- Valadao repeatedly voted against union protections.
  - Valadao voted against requiring union elections to be held electronically and providing whistleblower protections to employees who report labor law violations.
  - Valadao voted for removing provisions to prohibit employers from replacing employees on strike and enforcing unions that require dues from all employees.

- Valadao opposed the Biden administration’s move to set standards to prevent heat-related illnesses in indoor and outdoor workplaces, arguing it was duplicative of a state regulation protecting farmworkers.

Apprenticeships
Valadao Voted Against Reauthorizing And Expanding The Labor Department’s National Apprenticeship System. In February 2021, Valadao voted against: “Passage of the bill, as amended, that would reauthorize and expand programs and activities under the Labor Department national apprenticeship system, authorizing a total of $3.9 billion for program administration and grants to apprenticeship programs. It would largely codify apprenticeship program standards and expand the system to include pre-apprenticeship and youth apprenticeship programs. It would authorize a total of $350 million through fiscal 2026 for the formal establishment of a Labor Department office of apprenticeship to oversee the national apprenticeship system, as well as for program research and evaluation and the establishment of an apprenticeship advisory committee. Through fiscal 2026, it would authorize a total of $70 million for the Labor Department to carry out an agreement with the Education Department to support integration and alignment of the national apprenticeship system with the education system; $475 million for state apprenticeship agencies; and $3 billion for grants and agreements to support apprenticeship programs, including to expand programs in nontraditional apprenticeship industries and high-need social service industries and programs targeting individuals with barriers to employment. It would require state apprenticeship agencies and grant recipients to match 25% of federal funds received. It would establish a number of apprenticeship program quality standards; requirements for registration, planning and implementation of programs by states; and requirements for occupations to be approved as “apprenticeable occupations” within the national apprenticeship system. It would require the national office of apprenticeship to oversee such standards; establish and provide technical assistance to state offices of apprenticeship; and promote diversity within the system through recruitment, employment and retention of nontraditional apprenticeship participants, industries and occupations.” The bill passed 247 to 173. [H. Res. 447, Vote #31, 2/5/21; CQ, 2/5/21]

Valadao Repeatedly Voted Against Rolling Back Davis-Bacon Wage Protections, Which Ensured Fair Wages In Government Contracts For Construction

Valadao Voted Against Defunding Enforcement Of The Davis-Bacon Act, Which Ensures Fair Wages In Government Contracts For Construction And Repair Of Public Buildings And Public Works. In July 2017, Valadao voted against: “King, R-Iowa, amendment that would prohibit funds made available in the bill from being used to implement, administer or enforce prevailing wage requirements associated with the Davis-Bacon Act, which specify the basis for wages paid to employees by companies under contract with the federal government.” The amendment was rejected by a vote of 178-249. Minimum Wage

Valadao Voted To Block A Bill To Increase The Minimum Wage To $15 Per Hour In Seven Years. In June 2017, Valadao voted for a motion to order the previous question. A yes vote would block consideration of “H.R. 15, The Raise The Wage Act., which would give workers the raise they deserve, and increase the federal minimum wage to $15 an hour within 7 years.” The bill passed 235-190. [HR 3003, Vote #331, 6/28/17; CQ, 6/28/17; DemocraticLeader.gov, accessed 9/12/17]

2014: Valadao Voted Against Raising The Minimum Wage Five Times

2014: Valadao Voted To Block Consideration Of The Fair Minimum Wage Act 4 Times. In 2014, Valadao voted 4 times against considering the Fair Minimum Wage Act. The bill would phase in a federal minimum wage increase to $10.10 per hour over two years. Below is a list of Coffman’s votes.

- Vote 1: Valadao voted to block consideration of the Fair Minimum Wage Act of 2013. The previous question passed, 224-192. [H Res 487, Vote #65, 2/26/14; Congressional Record, 2/26/14]

- Vote 2: Valadao voted to block consideration of the Fair Minimum Wage Act of 2013. The previous question passed, 225-192. [H Res 492, Vote #79, 2/27/14; Congressional Record, 2/27/14]

- Vote 3: Valadao voted to block consideration of the Fair Minimum Wage Act of 2013. The previous question passed, 229-194. [H Res 530, Vote #152, 4/2/14; Congressional Record, 4/2/14]

- Vote 4: Valadao voted to block consideration of the Fair Minimum Wage Act of 2013. The previous question passed, 222-193. [H Res 539, Vote #157, 4/4/14; Congressional Record, 4/4/14]

2014: Valadao Voted Against Raising the Minimum Wage to $10.10. In April 2014, Valadao voted against the Democratic budget alternative. The budget would raise the minimum wage to $10.10. Raising the minimum wage to $10.10 would increase earnings for 16.5 million workers. The budget failed, 163-261. [H Con Res 96, Vote #176, 4/10/14; House Democratic Budget Substitute, FY 2015; Politico, 2/25/14; Economic Policy Institute, 12/19/13]

2013: Valadao Voted Against Increasing The Minimum Wage To $10.10 An Hour

2013: Valadao Voted Against Increasing The Minimum Wage To $10.10 An Hour. In March 2013, Valadao voted against: “Miller, D-Calif., motion to recommit the bill to the House Education and the Workforce Committee and report it back immediately with an amendment that would clarify that nothing in the bill would repeal, deny or loosen employment protections, training opportunities or educational benefits for certain seniors, veterans, women or youth. It also would incrementally increase the federal minimum wage to $10.10 within two years of the bill's enactment.” The motion failed 184-233. [CQ, 3/15/13; H R 803, Vote #74, 3/15/13]

Paid Sick Leave
Valadao Voted Repeatedly For Bill That Undermined Overtime Pay And Sick Leave

2017: Valadao Voted For Undermining Worker Protections By Allowing Private-Sector Employees To Swap Overtime Pay For ‘Comp Time’

Valadao Voted For The Working Families Flexibility Act, Allowing Private-Sector Employees To Swap Overtime Pay For ‘Comp Time.’ In May 2017, Valadao voted for: “Passage of the bill that would allow private-sector employers to provide non-exempt employees compensatory time off at a rate of 1.5 hours per hour of overtime work. To be eligible, employees would be required to have worked at least 1,000 hours in a 12-month period. Employees would be limited to 160 hours of compensatory time and employers would be required to provide monetary compensation by Jan. 31, for any unused compensatory time accrued during the preceding year. The bill’s provisions would sunset five years after enactment.” The bill was passed by a vote of 229-197. [HR 1180, Vote #244, 5/2/17; CQ, 5/2/17]

- NBC News: Democrats Opposed The Bill, Saying It Weakened Worker Protections And Could Allow Employers, Who Would Have Final Say On Scheduled Comp Time, To “Kick The Can Down The Road On Money You Earned Putting In Extra Hours.” “The House of Representatives passed a bill Tuesday that would allow employees to swap overtime pay for "comp time," a rules change congressional Republicans have tried to push through for more than two decades. […] Where do the Democrats stand? They really don’t like this bill. Many progressives in the House argue that the proposal would chip away at protections for hardworking Americans and undermine the Fair Labor Standards Act. The measure, among other rules, would give employers the final say on when comp time can be used. In other words, House Dems fear, your boss could conceivably kick the can down the road on money you earned putting in extra hours. Massachusetts Sen. Elizabeth Warren, a fierce advocate for workers’ rights, blasted the bill as a ‘disgrace.’” [NBC News, 5/3/17]

- Valadao Voted Against Blocking Protections From The Bill For Employees Who Receive Seven Or More Sick Days From Their Employers, Which Can Be Used To Seek Care For Pre-Existing Medical Conditions. In May 2017, Valadao voted against: “Scott, D-Va., motion to recommit the bill to the House Education and the Workforce Committee with instructions to report it back immediately with an amendment that would exempt from the bill’s provisions employees who receive seven or more sick days from their employer.” The motion was rejected by a vote of 192-234. [HR 1180, Vote #243, 5/2/17; CQ, 5/2/17]

- Valadao Voted For Waive Certain Rules Making It Easier For The House To Pass A Bill To Allow Employees To Trade Overtime Pay For Comp Time. In May 2017, Valadao voted for: “Adoption of the rule (H Res 299) that would allow private-sector employers to provide non-exempt employees compensatory time off at a rate of 1.5 hours per hour of overtime work. It would waive, through the legislative day of May 5, 2017, the two-thirds vote requirement to consider legislation on the same day it is reported from the House Rules Committee. It also would provide for consideration of measures under suspension of the rules on the legislative days of May 4 and May 5, 2017.” The rule was adopted by a vote of 230-193. [HR 1180 (HRes 299), Vote #241, 5/2/17; CQ, 5/2/17]

2013: Valadao Voted For The “Working Families Flexibility Act,” Which Undermined The 40-Hour Work Week, And Did Not Protect Paid Sick Leave

2013: Valadao Voted For A Bill That Allowed Private-Sector Employees To Take Compensatory Time Off In Lieu Of Overtime Pay. In May 2013, Valadao voted for: “Passage of the bill that would allow private-sector employers to provide non-exempt employees compensatory time off at a rate of 1.5 hours per hour of overtime work. To be eligible, employees must have worked at least 1,000 hours in a 12-month period. Employees would be limited to 160 hours of comp time and employers would be required to provide monetary compensation by Jan. 31, for any unused comp time accrued during the preceding year. The bill’s provisions would sunset five years after enactment. As amended, it would require the Government Accountability Office to periodically report to Congress..."
on the use of comp time allowed under the bill.” The bill passed 223 to 204. [HR 1406, Vote #137, 5/8/13; CQ, 5/8/13]

• Center For Economic And Policy Research: Bill Would “Undermine The 40-Hour Work Week” And Would Provide “Employers With A Powerful Incentive To Increase Workers’ Overtime Hours.” According to the Center for Economic and Policy Research: “The proposed legislation undermines the 40-hour work week that workers have long relied on to give them time to spend with their kids. The flexibility in this comp time bill would have employees working unpaid overtime hours beyond the 40-hour workweek and accruing as many as 160 hours of compensatory time. A low-paid worker making $10 an hour who accrued that much comp time in lieu of overtime pay would effectively give his or her employer an interest-free loan of $1,600 – equal to a month’s pay. That’s a lot to ask of a worker making about $20,000 a year. Indeed, any worker who accrues 160 hours of comp time will in effect have loaned his or her employer a month’s pay. This same arithmetic provides employers with a powerful incentive to increase workers’ overtime hours.” [The Hill, 4/8/13]

• Center for Economic and Policy Research: Proposal Would “Likely Increase Overtime Hours For Those Who Don’t Want Them and Cut Pay For Those Who Do.” In an op-ed submitted to the Huffington Post a senior economist with the Center for Economic and Policy Research wrote: “Touted by Republicans as a new comp time initiative that will give hourly-paid workers the flexibility to meet family responsibilities, it is neither new nor about giving these workers much needed time off to care for their families. The bill rehashes legislation Republicans passed in the House in 1997, some 16 years ago, and that they introduced again in most subsequent Congresses. Its major effect would be to hamstring workers – likely increasing overtime hours for those who don’t want them and cutting pay for those who do.” [Huffington Post, 4/16/13]

• National Partnership For Women And Families: “You Have No Ability to Take That Leave When You Need It. The Employer Can Decide.” “It should be called the Employer Flexibility Act, because at every turn here, the employer gets to decide… It pretends to provide a set of options to employees. But even if they elect to take the comp time instead of wages, when they can take it is fully at the discretion of the employer. You have no ability to take that leave when you need it. The employer can decide.” [Chicago Tribune, 4/22/13]

2013: Valadao Voted Against A Measure That Would Have Prevented Employers From Denying The Use Of Compensatory Time For Family Members Or Medical Purposes. In May 2013, Valadao voted against: a “motion to recommit the bill to the House Education and Workforce Committee and report it back immediately with an amendment that would bar employers from denying the use of compensatory time for certain family or medical purposes. It also would prohibit employers found in violation of equal pay protections for women under the Equal Pay Act of 1963 from replacing monetary overtime compensation with compensatory time.” The motion failed 200 to 227. [HR 1406, Vote #136, 5/8/13; CQ, 5/8/13]

• The Obama Administration Said It Would Veto The Bill Because It Would Not “Provide Sufficient Protections” For Workers Who May Not Want Compensatory Time Off In Lieu Of Overtime Pay. The White House released a statement of policy saying the president’s advisors would recommend a veto of the bill. The White House noted that the bill “would not prevent employers from cutting the overtime hours and reducing the take-home pay of employees who currently have the right to overtime compensation. The legislation does not provide sufficient protections for employees who may not want to receive compensatory time off in lieu of overtime pay.” [Statement of Administration Policy, HR 1406, 5/6/13]

Valadao Voted For Blocking An Amendment To Allow Americans To Earn Paid Sick Leave

Valadao Voted For Blocking An Amendment To Allow Americans To Earn Paid Sick Leave. In May 2017, Valadao voted for: “Buck, R-Colo., motion to order the previous question (thus ending debate and possibility of amendment).” According to the Democratic Leader’s office, the previous question would allow for “consideration of the bill (H.R. 1516) to allow Americans to earn paid sick time so that they can address their own health needs
Unemployment Insurance

2014: Valadao Voted Against Extending Unemployment Insurance. In April 2014, Valadao voted against the Democratic budget alternative. “Van Hollen, D-Md., substitute amendment that would provide for $3.078 trillion in new budget authority in fiscal 2015, not including off-budget accounts. The plan would call for repealing the sequester, including cuts to Medicare. It also would propose eliminating the non-defense discretionary sequester starting in 2016. The substitute would assume an increase of the minimum wage to $10.10 per hour and enactment of the Senate-passed immigration overhaul. It would propose extending expired unemployment benefits for one year and extending the tax credits from the 2012 extension of Bush-era income and other tax cuts due to expire at the end of 2017. It would assume implementation of the 2010 health care overhaul and assume increases in physician fees for primary care services under Medicaid. It would accommodate deficit-neutral legislation to permanently address the Medicare physician reimbursement rate issue known as the "doc fix." The plan would propose expanding tax incentives aimed at encouraging low- and middle-income taxpay ers to attend college and save for retirement. It would call on Congress to raise revenue by ending tax breaks for special interests and the very wealthy.” The budget failed, 163-261. [H Con Res 96, Vote #176, 4/10/14; CQ, 4/10/14]

- Vote 1: Valadao voted to block consideration of a three-month, fully paid-for extension of federal unemployment insurance. The previous question passed, 227-195. [H Res 438, Vote #637, 12/12/13; CQ, 12/12/13; Democratic Leader’s Office, 12/12/13]

- Vote 2: Valadao voted to block consideration of the Emergency Unemployment Compensation Extension Act. The previous question passed, 226-191. [H Res 455, Vote #5, 1/9/14; CQ, 1/9/14; Democratic Leader’s Office, 12/12/13]

- Vote 3: Valadao voted to block consideration of the Emergency Unemployment Compensation Extension Act. The previous question passed, 228-195. [H Res 458, Vote #19, 1/15/14; CQ, 1/15/14; Democratic Leader’s Office, 12/12/13]

- Vote 4: Valadao voted to block consideration of the Emergency Unemployment Compensation Extension Act. The previous question passed, 222-194. [H Res 465, Vote #26, 1/28/14; CQ, 1/28/14; Democratic Leader’s Office, 12/12/13]

- Vote 5: Valadao voted to block consideration of the Emergency Unemployment Compensation Extension Act. The previous question passed, 221-184. [H Res 497, Vote #93, 3/5/14; CQ, 3/5/14; Democratic Leader’s Office, 12/12/13]

- Vote 6: Valadao voted to block consideration of the Emergency Unemployment Compensation Act. The previous question passed, 219-191. [H Res 501, Vote #99, 3/6/14; CQ, 3/6/14; Democratic Leader’s Office, 12/12/13]

- Vote 7: Valadao voted to block consideration of the Emergency Unemployment Compensation Act. The previous question passed, 219-190. [H Res 544, Vote #169, 4/8/14; CQ, 4/8/14; Democratic Leader’s Office, 12/12/13]

Unions
Valadao Voted Against The PRO Act, Which Expanded Authorities Of The National Labor Relations Board And Protecting Collective Bargaining Rights.

In March 2021, Valadao voted against: “Passage of the bill, as amended, that would expand enforcement authorities of the National Labor Relations Board and modify procedures by which employees may unionize and elect representation under federal labor law. The bill would authorize the NLRB to enforce any orders it issues and to impose a number of civil monetary penalties, including penalties of up to $50,000 against employers who prevent or punish organizing activities by employees. It would require the NLRB to seek temporary injunctions against employers charged with engaging in unfair labor practices and allow employees to bring civil action if the board fails to seek an injunction. It would outline a number of procedures by which employees may petition for and elect representation for collective bargaining through an election directed by the NLRB. It would require the NLRB to schedule pre-election hearings within eight days of a petition being filed; prohibit employers from certain interference or participation in such elections; and require the NLRB to certify and order the employer to engage in collective bargaining with an elected labor organization. It would outline procedures for initial collective bargaining between an employer and a union, including to provide for federal mediation services if an agreement is not reached 90 days after the bargaining begins and referral to an arbitration panel if an agreement is not reached in an additional 30 days. Among other provisions, the bill would prohibit employers from taking certain retaliatory actions against employees who participate in a strike, including permanently replacing or discriminating against such employees. It would specify that employees’ right to strike is protected regardless of the duration, scope, frequency, or intermittence of the strike. It would modify definitions of ‘employee’ and ‘supervisor,’ particularly to narrow the classification of independent contractors and supervisors, two categories of employees not eligible for collective bargaining. It would also authorize the use of collective bargaining agreements that require employees to pay fees to a labor organization as a condition of employment.”

The bill passed by a vote of 225-206. [HR 842, Vote #70, 3/9/21; CQ, 3/9/21]

Valadao Voted Against Requiring Union Elections To Be Held Electronically And Providing Whistleblower Protections To Employees Who Report Labor Law Violations.

In March 2021, Valadao voted against: “Scott, D-Va., en bloc amendments no. 1 that would, among other provisions, require the National Labor Relations Board to implement a system and procedures to conduct union representation elections remotely using an electronic voting system; direct the National Labor Relations Board to promulgate regulations requiring employers to provide notices informing each new employee of their employee rights and protections in a language spoken by the employee; provide whistleblower protections to employees, including those employed by labor unions, who report violations of the 1959 federal labor law related to employer relations with labor organizations; and require arbitration panels settling disputes in initial collective bargaining agreements under the bill’s provisions to render a decision ‘as soon as practicable’ and within 120 days, absent ‘extraordinary circumstances’ or agreement of the parties.”

The motion was agreed to by a vote of 227 - 196. [HR 842, Vote #67, 3/9/21; CQ, 3/9/21]

Valadao Voted For Removing Provisions To Prohibit Employers From Replacing Employees On Strike And Enforcing Unions That Require Dues From All Employees.

In March 2021, Valadao voted for: “Scott, D-Va., en bloc amendments no. 2 that would, among provisions, strike a provision providing for the enforcement of collective bargaining agreements that require all employees to contribute fees to a labor organization notwithstanding any state or territorial laws to the contrary; require unions to receive annual written consent from an employee before using his or her union dues for purposes other than collective bargaining; and strike a provision that would make it illegal for employers to permanently replace workers participating in a strike.”

The motion was rejected by a vote of 185 - 243. [HR 842, Vote #68, 3/9/21; CQ, 3/9/21]
Valadao Criticized Biden’s Initiative To Set Workplace Standards On Heat-Related Illnesses And Said California Already Had Standards In Place To Protect Farmworkers

Valadao Criticized Biden’s Initiative To Set Workplace Standards On Heat-Related Illnesses And Said California Already Had Standards In Place To Protect Farmworkers. “June was the hottest it has ever been in the United States this year, with deadly heat waves and wildfires ravaging the West Coast. As hotter temperatures stretched into the fall, the White House sounded the alarm on heat-induced workplace problems. The Occupational Safety and Health Administration will draft a set of workplace standards this month on heat-illness prevention for indoor and outdoor workplaces, the Biden administration announced late last month […] ‘Although made in good faith, President Biden's heat order appears to be duplicative of California state law that already fiercely protects our farmworkers, which would only place more bureaucratic burden on employers,’ Rep. David Valadao, R-Hanford, told The Bee.” [Sacramento Bee, 10/7/21]

Valadao Voted Against Requiring Health Care And Social Service Industry Employers To Implement Comprehensive Workplace Violence Prevention Plans

Valadao Voted Against Requiring Health Care And Social Service Industry Employers To Implement Comprehensive Workplace Violence Prevention Plans. In April 2021, Valadao voted against: “Passage of the bill that would require health care and social service industry employers to develop and implement comprehensive workplace violence prevention plans. It would require the Occupational Safety and Health Administration to issue a final standard for such plans, based on 2015 OSHA guidelines, within 42 months of enactment and require employers to develop and implement such plans within six months of the final standard being issued. It would require workplace violence prevention plans to include certain procedures for reporting, responding to, and mitigating risks of incidents of workplace violence, including for employers to investigate and take corrective actions in response to violent incidents. It would require employers to investigate any workplace violence incident, risk, or hazard ‘as soon as practicable.’ It would also require employers to develop and implement plans with participation from employees and employee representatives; provide annual training to employees exposed to workplace violence hazards and risks; and maintain records related to workplace violence plans, incidents, and response for at least five years. The bill's provisions would apply to employers of individuals working in most health care facilities, including hospitals, nursing homes, and drug abuse treatment centers, as well as employers of individuals providing related services, including home-based health care or social work and emergency services.” The bill passed 254 to 166. [HR 1195, Vote #118, 4/16/21; CQ, 4/16/21]

Equality Act/ENDA

Valadao Voted Against The Passage Of The Equality Act, Which Would Prohibit Discrimination Or Segregation Based On Sex, Sexual Orientation And Gender Identity

Valadao Voted Against Passage Of The Equality Act, Which Would Prohibit Discrimination Or Segregation Based On Sex, Sexual Orientation And Gender Identity. In February 2021, Valadao voted against: “Passage of the bill that would prohibit discrimination or segregation based on sex, sexual orientation and gender identity under 1964 Civil Rights Act protections, including in public facilities, public education, federal assistance programs, employment, jury service and areas of public accommodation. It would expand the definition of "public accommodations" to include transportation services and any establishment providing a good, service or program -- including retailers, health care facilities and legal services. The bill would define "gender identity" as "gender-related identity, appearance, mannerisms or other gender-related characteristics of an individual," regardless of designated sex at birth. It would also allow the Justice Department to intervene in equal protection cases regarding sexual orientation and gender identity.” The bill passed 224-206. [HR 5, Vote #39, 2/25/21; CQ, 2/25/21]

Marriage Equality

Valadao Voted To Authorize $1.5 Million In Taxpayer Dollars To Defend The Defense Of Marriage Act

2013: Valadao Voted To Authorize $1.5 Million Taxpayer Dollars To Defend The Defense Of Marriage Act Against Legal Challenges. In January 2013, Valadao voted for: “Adoption of the resolution that would set the rules for the 113th Congress. The rules would extend many provisions adopted in the 112th Congress as well as expand the rule against nepotism, provide greater authority to reduce floor voting times and broaden members' ability to use private aircraft. The resolution also would authorize the House to continue its legal efforts to defend the Defense of Marriage Act and to force the attorney general to comply with subpoenas related to the Fast and Furious gunwalking operation. It would deactivate provisions of the 2010 health care overhaul that require congressional consideration of recommendations by the Independent Payment Advisory Board, require the annual budget resolution to include details on means-tested and non-means-tested mandatory spending programs and require committees to include in legislative reports the number of federal agency rulemakings that the bill would require and whether the measure duplicates any other federal program. The resolution was adopted by a vote of 228-196. [H Res 5, Vote #6, 1/3/13; CQ, 1/3/13]
Huffington Post In 2013: Lawmakers Gave A Green Light… To Defend The DOMA In Court. “A GOP source told The Huffington Post that, during a closed-door meeting of the House Republican Conference, lawmakers gave a green light to including language in the 113th Congress rules package that authorizes the House legal team, known as the Bipartisan Legal Advisory Group (BLAG), to keep paying outside counsel to defend the Defense of Marriage Act in court. The proposed House rules package also states that BLAG continues to “speak for” the House in its defense of DOMA.” [Huffington Post, 1/2/13]

NDAA/Defense Funding

Valadao Voted For The National Defense Authorization Act Of 2022. In September 2021, Valadao voted for: “Passage of the bill, as amended, that would authorize $768.1 billion in national defense spending, including $739.8 billion for the Defense Department and $28.2 billion for national security programs within the Energy Department. The bill would authorize approximately $147.1 billion for weapons and other procurement, $11.7 billion for F-35 series tactical force aircraft procurement and maintenance and $28.4 billion for shipbuilding. It would authorize $310 million for a hypersonic defense system and $75 million for the development of a new homeland defense radar in Hawaii. Within Energy Department funding, it would authorize $20.3 billion for the National Nuclear Security Administration, primarily for the maintenance of a nuclear weapons stockpile. It would authorize $36.8 billion for the Defense Health Program, including $10 million for a global emerging infectious surveillance program. It would authorize $13.4 billion for military construction. It would authorize a 2.7 percent military pay increase; remove military commanders from decisions related to the prosecution of sexual assault and other special victim crimes; establish a Countering Extremism Office within the Defense Department tasked with countering extremism in the armed forces; and establish a $15 minimum wage for certain department contractors. It would give the mayor of the District of Columbia authority over its National Guard and establish a Space National Guard. It would authorize the president’s requests of $5.1 billion for the Pacific Deterrence Initiative and $3.7 billion for the European Deterrence Initiative, primarily intended to counter aggression by China and Russia, respectively. It would codify the position of assistant secretary of Defense for Indo-Pacific Security Affairs. It would establish a commission to examine the war in Afghanistan and 2021 withdrawal; authorize $500 million for Defense Department relocation assistance for Afghan evacuees; and require the department to submit a security assessment and a number of reports related to Afghanistan. For international assistance and cooperation, the bill would authorize $470 million for cooperative programs with Israel; $345 million for a cooperative threat reduction program assisting former Soviet Union countries; $325 million for the Afghan security forces; and $300 million in security assistance to Ukraine. Among other provisions, the bill would authorize over $1 billion in cybersecurity investments and over $1 billion for artificial intelligence-related initiatives, and require the Homeland Security Department to establish an information collaboration environment to share intelligence and data on cybersecurity risks and threats. It would authorize $9 million for applied research on neuroprotection from brain injury; eliminate restrictions on transferring detainees from Guantanamo Bay; and prohibit federal banking regulators from penalizing financial service institutions for serving state-legal marijuana-related businesses.” The bill passed by a vote of 316-113. [HR 6157, Vote #313, 6/28/18; CQ, 6/28/18]

• Bill Amended To A 15,600 Troop Increase Across The Military And 2.6 Percent Pay Raise For Service Members. “The House’s budget amount includes a 15,600 troop increase across the military, and a 2.6 percent pay raise for service members beginning in January.” [The Hill, 6/28/18]

• Bill Included $9.4 Billion For 93 F-35s – 16 More Than The Trump Administration Requested – And $22.7 Billion For 12 New Navy Ships. “In addition, the bill would provide $9.4 billion for 93 F-35 fighter jets - 16 more jets than the administration requested and four more than Senate appropriators want – as well as $22.7 billion for 12 new Navy ships, and $145.7 billion for equipment purchases and upgrades. House lawmakers had inserted several amendments into the bill leading up to the vote, including a provision to add
Valadao Voted For The 2018 NDAA That Prohibited The Closing Of Guantanamo Bay

Valadao Voted For The National Defense Authorization Act Of 2018 That Authorizes $692.1 Billion For Defense And Prohibits Closing Guantanamo Bay. In November 2017, Valadao voted for: “Adoption of the conference report on the bill that would authorize $692.1 billion for defense programs in fiscal 2018, including $65.7 billion for overseas operations in Afghanistan, Iraq and Syria, and for the general war on terror. It would authorize $241.2 billion for operations and maintenance; $146.2 billion for military personnel; 10.7 billion for military construction and family housing; $15 billion for ballistic-missile defense; and $33.9 billion for defense health care programs, including $396 million from the overseas operations account. It would prohibit the use of funds for a new round of base closures. It would authorize $8 billion for various cybersecurity programs, would require the president to develop a national policy for the United States related to cybersecurity and would withhold certain funds made available for White House staff until the president would submit such national policy to Congress. The bill would authorize a 2.4 percent pay raise for military personnel. It would prohibit detainees at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, from being transferred to U.S. soil, and would prohibit the closing of the main base and detention facility at Guantanamo. It would extend, through 2018, the authority for several bonus and special payments for military members.” The conference report was adopted 356-70. [HR 2810, Vote #631, 11/14/17; CQ, 11/14/17]

Valadao Voted For FY 2016 National Defense Authorization Act That Was Vetoed By President Obama

In October 2015, Valadao voted for: “Adoption of a conference report to accompany the National Defense Authorization Act (HR 1735) that would authorize $604.2 billion for discretionary defense spending, including $515 billion for discretionary spending subject to sequester-reduced spending caps for FY 2016 for the base defense budget and $89.2 billion for the Overseas Contingency Operations (OCO).” The conference report was adopted, 270-156. [HR 1735, Vote #532, 10/1/15; CQ, 10/1/15]

- President Obama Vetoed The Bill Because It Sidestepped Budget Limitations And Restricted Transfer Of Detainees Held At Guantanamo Bay. “President Obama exercised his veto power Thursday for just the fifth time in his presidency, rejecting a defense authorization bill because of the way it would sidestep budget limitations for the military and because it would restrict the transfer of detainees being held at Guantanamo Bay. The White House said that the National Defense Authorization Act (NDAA) would tap an overseas contingency operations account designed for emergencies and war costs and use it as a ‘slush fund’ to avoid budget restrictions. Those restrictions — known as sequestration — would impose offsetting across-the-board cuts if spending passed certain levels.” [Washington Post, 10/22/15]

- Bill Allowed Concealed Carry Of Firearms On Military Installations. “The U.S. House passed the National Defense Authorization Act (NDAA) for the 2016 fiscal year on Friday, including an amendment that would allow military base commanders to authorize the concealed carry of firearms on military installations.” [KVUE, 5/15/15]

- Bill Placed Restrictions On President To Transfer Prisoners From Guantanamo Bay. “The measure would place new restrictions on the ability of the president to transfer prisoners from the Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, detention center to third-party countries and would continue existing prohibitions against transferring such detainees to the United States or its territories.” [CQ Floor Votes, 5/15/15]

Valadao Voted For House Version Of FY 2016 Defense Appropriations Bill

Valadao Voted For The House Version Of The Fiscal Year 2016 $578.6 Billion Defense Appropriations Bill. In June 2015, Valadao voted for: legislation to “provide $578.6 billion in discretionary funding for the Defense department in fiscal 2016. The total would include $490.2 billion in base Defense department funds and $88.4 billion for the Overseas Contingency Operations account, and would provide that $37.5 billion in OCO funding be used in support of base budget requirements. The bill would provide roughly $218.8 billion for operations and maintenance, approximately $116.7 billion for procurement, approximately $67.9 billion for research and development and $133.2 billion for military personnel, including a 2.3 percent pay raise. It also would provide roughly $31.7 billion for the Defense Health Program. The measure would provide $715 million for security assistance to Iraqi forces fighting the Islamic State and at least $600 million to aid Jordan in its fight against that group. It also would provide $600 million to continue training and equipping moderate Syrian opposition forces and would appropriate $200 million for lethal weapons for Ukraine. As amended, the bill would bar use of funds by the National Security Agency or the Central Intelligence Agency to mandate that a company alter products or services to permit electronic surveillance of users, except for mandates or requests authorized under the Communications Assistance for Law Enforcement Act.” The bill passed 278-149. [HR 2685, Vote #358, 6/11/15; CQ Floor Votes, 6/11/15]
Bill Added $38 Billion Above The Budget Caps Created By The Sequester. “The House on Thursday approved this year’s spending bill for the Pentagon in a 278-149 vote. Passage of the $579 billion bill came after the White House threatened a veto of the legislation over insufficient funding levels and controversial policy riders that would prohibit funds from being used to transfer detainees imprisoned at Guantanamo Bay to the United States. It also passed despite heavy opposition among Democrats and some conservatives over the use of a war fund to boost defense spending next year. Republicans added $38 billion to the war fund to give the Pentagon spending above the budget caps created by the sequester, but they left the limits in place for nondefense spending. Democrats and the White House want the sequester lifted in full.” [The Hill, 6/11/15]

Cybersecurity

Valadao Voted For The Trans-Sahara Counterterrorism Partnership Program Act. In June 2021, Valadao voted for: “Meeks, D-N.Y., motion to suspend the rules and pass the bill, as amended, that would state that it is U.S. policy to assist countries and partners in North and West Africa in combating terrorism and violent extremism through a coordinated interagency approach that balances security activities with diplomatic and development efforts. It would require the State Department to formally establish the Trans-Sahara Counterterrorism Partnership Program to coordinate federal activities in North and West Africa, including activities related to enhancing state legitimacy by improving governance and capacity to provide basic services, addressing factors that make individuals and communities vulnerable to terrorist recruitment, strengthening military and law enforcement capacity to cooperate with international partners and respond to extremism and terrorism, and enhancing border security. Among other provisions, it would require the State Department to submit to Congress, within 270 days of enactment, a five-year strategy for coordinated U.S. activities in North and West Africa.” The motion was passed 395 to 15. [HR 567, Vote #192, 6/29/21; CQ, 6/29/21]

Foreign Intelligence Surveillance Act Reauthorization
Valadao Voted For Reauthorizing The Foreign Intelligence Security Act (FISA), Including Section 702, Which Conducts Surveillance On Foreign Targets’ Communications

In January 2018, Valadao voted for: “Passage of the bill that would reauthorize for six years, through 2023, the Foreign Intelligence Surveillance Act, which governs electronic surveillance of foreign terrorism suspects. The bill would reauthorize Section 702 surveillance authorities on foreign targets, and would require the development of procedures for searching the Section 702 database that would protect the Fourth Amendment rights of U.S. citizens. The bill would prohibit the FBI from accessing information without an order from the secret FISA court in certain cases. The measure would increase penalties for the unauthorized removal of classified documents or information.” The bill passed 256 to 164. [S 139, Vote #16, 1/11/18; CQ, 1/11/18]

• HEADLINE: House Extends Surveillance Law, Rejecting New Privacy Safeguards. [New York Times, 1/11/18]

• New York Times: Section 702 Permitted The Government To Conduct Warrantless Surveillance On Communications Of Foreigners Abroad, “Even When They Are Talking To Americans.” “A yearslong debate over National Security Agency surveillance and protections for Americans’ privacy rights will reach a climactic moment on Thursday as the House of Representatives takes up legislation to extend a program of warrantless spying on internet and phone networks that traces back to the Sept. 11 attacks. There is little doubt that Congress will extend an expiring statute, known as Section 702 of the FISA Amendments Act, that permits the government to collect without a warrant from American firms, like Google and AT&T, the emails and other communications of foreigners abroad — even when they are talking to Americans.” [New York Times, 1/10/18]

• Valadao Voted For Consideration Of Reauthorizing The Foreign Intelligence Security Act (FISA), Including Section 702. In January 2018, Valadao voted for: “Adoption of the rule (H Res 682) that would provide for House floor consideration of the bill (S 139) that would reauthorize Title VII of the Foreign Intelligence Surveillance Act through Dec. 31, 2023, and would require the development of procedures for searching the Section 702 database that protect the Fourth Amendment rights of U.S. citizens.” [H Res 682, Vote #8, 1/8/18; CQ, 1/10/18]

Valadao Voted Against An Amendment That Would Require The Government To Obtain A Warrant Before Searching Surveillance Data Collected Through Section 702

Valadao Voted Against An Amendment That Would Require The Government To Obtain A Warrant Before Searching Surveillance Data Collected Through Section 702. In January 2018, Valadao voted against: “Amash R-Mich., amendment that would end NSA collection of communications data that is neither to nor from an approved foreign target, but rather communications "about" a foreign target entirely between American citizens. It would prohibit the FBI and intelligence agencies from searching the Section 702 database for information on U.S. citizens without first obtaining a warrant, except in certain circumstances. The amendment would end the so-called ‘reverse targeting’ practice, in which an American communicating with a foreign target is also subject to surveillance, and would modify oversight of and appointments to the Foreign Intelligence Surveillance Court.” The amendment failed 183 to 233. [S 139, Vote #14, 1/11/18; CQ, 1/11/18]

• Detroit News: The Amendment Would Have “Required Officials To Get Warrants In Most Cases Before Intercepting And Reading Emails And More Of U.S. Citizens.” “Before approving a six-year extension of the law, the House voted 233 to 183 to kill an amendment designed to protect Americans civil liberties. This amendment would have required officials to get warrants in most cases before intercepting and reading emails and more of U.S. citizens. This amendment was proposed by Rep. Justin Amash (R-Mich). The vote was a victory for Republican establishment. House Speaker Paul D. Ryan had blocked the House from considering a compromise bill.” [Forbes, 1/11/18]

- New York Times: The Amendment Would Have Provided “A Series Of New Safeguards” On Officials That Conduct Surveillance On Foreign Communications. “Before voting to extend the law, known as Section 702 of the FISA Amendments Act, the House rejected an amendment that would have imposed a series of new safeguards. That proposal included a requirement that officials obtain warrants in most cases before hunting for, and reading, emails and other messages of Americans that were swept up under the surveillance.” [New York Times, 1/11/18]

Valadao Voted Against Passage Of The American Rescue Plan Act

Valadao Voted Against Concurring In The Senate Amendment To The American Rescue Plan Act. In March 2021, Valadao voted against: “Yarmuth, D-Ky., motion to concur in the Senate amendment to the bill comprising a $1.9 trillion coronavirus relief package to further address the health and economic effects of COVID-19, including approximately $362 billion in direct aid to state and local governments; $47.8 billion for testing and contact tracing; $168 billion to assist educational institutions; and $53.6 billion to assist small businesses. It would extend federal unemployment compensation benefits through Sept. 6, 2021; provide tax rebates of $1,400 for individuals with incomes of $75,000 or less; and extend or expand a number of employer and individual tax credits, including credits to subsidize health insurance premiums. The bill would provide direct assistance of $195.3 billion for states and $130.2 billion for local governments, as well as $10 billion for grants to states to support capital projects, such as broadband access. It would provide $122.8 billion for an Education Department elementary and secondary school emergency relief fund; $39.6 billion for grants to higher education institutions; $3 billion for education programs for individuals with disabilities and $2.75 billion for non-public schools. It would provide $39 billion for child care block grants to states. It would provide $27.8 billion for emergency rental assistance and housing vouchers, $10 billion for homeownership assistance and $5 billion for assistance to individuals experiencing homelessness. It would continue the 15% increase in Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program benefits through September 2021. It would provide over $92 billion for the Health and Human Services Department, including $47.8 billion for COVID-19 testing and contact tracing; $7.5 billion for vaccine administration and distribution; $6.1 billion for vaccine and therapeutic development, manufacturing and procurement; $7.6 billion to expand the public health workforce; $7.6 billion for community health centers; $6.1 billion for Native American health programs; and
$3 billion for substance abuse and mental health block grant programs. It would provide $50 billion for the Federal Emergency Management Agency disaster relief fund; $14.5 billion for veterans' health care services; $10 billion for emergency medical supply production under the Defense Production Act; $8.7 billion for COVID-19 health response efforts overseas; and $200 million for Labor Department worker protection activities, including at least half for the Occupational Safety and Health Administration. It would extend federal unemployment compensation benefits of $300 per week through Sep. 6, 2021. It would provide an additional tax rebate of $1,400 for individuals with incomes of $75,000 or less, increased by $1,400 for each dependent. It would expand eligibility and increase the maximum earned income tax credit for childless adults and increase the child tax credit to $3,000 per child. It would expand and extend through September 2021 paid sick and family leave tax credits for employers. It would require Medicaid and the Children's Health Insurance Program to fully cover the cost of COVID-19 vaccines. It would provide for full federal subsidies of individual COBRA premiums and require the VA to waive health treatment copayments through September 2021. It would expand eligibility in 2021 and 2022 for federal tax subsidies toward Affordable Care Act marketplace insurance premiums, including to fully cover premium costs for individuals earning up to 150% of the federal poverty level and cap premiums at 8.5% of household income. It would provide for temporary increases in federal medical assistance percentages for certain services and eliminate the Medicaid drug rebate cap beginning in 2023. It would provide $50 billion for small business assistance, including $28.6 billion for restaurants and $7.25 billion for the Paycheck Protection Program. It would provide $4 billion for Agriculture Department pandemic-related assistance.” The motion was agreed to by a vote of 220-211. [HR 1319, Vote #72, 3/10/21; CQ, 3/10/21]

In February 2021, Valadao voted against: “Passage of the fiscal 2021 budget reconciliation bill, as amended, comprising a coronavirus relief package that would provide roughly $1.9 trillion in funding to further address the health and economic effects of COVID-19, including approximately $350 billion in direct aid to state and local governments; $47.8 billion for testing and contact tracing; $168 billion to assist educational institutions; and $50 billion to assist small businesses. It would extend and increase federal unemployment compensation benefits for 24 weeks and increase the weekly amount to $400; provide tax rebates of $1,400 for individuals with incomes of $75,000 or less; extend or expand a number of employer and individual tax credits, including credits to subsidize health insurance premiums; and gradually increase the federal minimum wage to $15 per hour. Among other provisions, the bill would provide $195.3 billion for direct assistance to states and $130.2 billion for local governments; $128.6 billion through fiscal 2023 for an Education Department elementary and secondary school emergency relief fund and $39.6 billion for grants to higher education institutions, including to provide emergency financial aid; and continue the 15% increase in Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program benefits through September 2021. It would provide $47.8 billion for COVID-19 testing and contact tracing; $7.5 billion for vaccine administration and distribution; and $6.1 billion for vaccine and therapeutic development, manufacturing and procurement. It would require Medicaid and the Children's Health Insurance Program to fully cover the cost of COVID-19 vaccines. It would expand eligibility in 2021 and 2022 for federal tax subsidies toward Affordable Care Act marketplace insurance premiums, including to fully cover premium costs for individuals earning up to 150% of the federal poverty level and cap premiums at 8.5% of household income. It would provide $50 billion for small business assistance, including $25 billion for restaurants. It would provide $30.5 billion for transit, $18 billion for airline and aviation manufacturing industry payroll support; and $4 billion for Agriculture Department pandemic-related assistance. It would incrementally increase the federal minimum wage annually to reach $15 per hour in 2025, including for tipped workers, teens and workers with disabilities. It would create a program to provide financial assistance to multiemployer pension plans.” The bill passed by a vote of 219-212. [HR 1319, Vote #49, 2/27/21; CQ, 2/27/21]

…Which Provided $350 Billion In State And Local Funding That Could Be Used To Hire Law Enforcement, Pay Overtime For Community Policing, And Restore Law Enforcement To Pre-Pandemic Levels

The American Rescue Plan Provided $350 Billion In State And Local Funding, Which Could Be Used To Hire Law Enforcement Officials, Pay Overtime For Community Policing, And Restore Law Enforcement To Pre-Pandemic Levels. “Today, the Treasury Department is highlighting that communities experiencing a surge in gun violence as a result of the pandemic may use the American Rescue Plan’s $350 billion in state and local funding for purposes such as: Hiring law enforcement officials – even above pre-pandemic levels – or paying overtime where the funds are directly focused on advancing community policing strategies in those communities experiencing an increase in gun violence associated with the pandemic. […] In addition, the Treasury Department is clarifying that any community may use ARP state and local aid for the above strategies and any other public safety programs, up to the level of revenue loss the jurisdiction experienced during the pandemic. And any community may use ARP funds to rehire police officers and other public servants to restore law enforcement and courts to their pre-pandemic levels.” [White House, Press Release, 6/23/21]

Department Of The Treasury: “There Are Many Ways In Which The State And Local Fiscal Recovery Funds […] Can Support Communities Working To Reduce And Respond To Increased Violence.” “Under Treasury’s Interim Final Rule, there are many ways in which the State and Local Fiscal Recovery Funds (“Funds”) under the American Rescue Plan Act can support communities working to reduce and respond to increased violence due to the pandemic. […] In all communities, recipients may use resources to rehire police officers and other public servants to restore law enforcement and courts to their pre-pandemic levels. […] In communities where an increase in violence or increased difficulty in accessing or providing services to respond to or mitigate the effects of violence, is a result of the pandemic they may use funds to address that harm. This spending may include: Hiring law enforcement officials – even above pre-pandemic levels – or paying overtime where the funds are directly focused on advancing community policing strategies in those communities experiencing an increase in gun violence associated with the pandemic or Community Violence Intervention (CVI) programs, including capacity building efforts at CVI programs like funding and training additional intervention workers.” [Department of the Treasury, 7/19/21]

Biden: “The American Rescue Plan, Which We Passed In The First 100 Days Of My Administration, Is Providing Much-Needed, Historic Relief To Bring Back Those Law Enforcement Jobs.” President Biden: “The American Rescue Plan, which we passed in the first 100 days of my administration, is providing much-needed, historic relief to bring back those law enforcement jobs and social service jobs. Much of this relief has already arrived. The rest is on its way. And we’re now providing more guidance on how they can use the $350 billion nationally that the American Rescue Plan has available to help reduce crime and address the root causes. For example, cities experiencing an increase in gun violence were able to use the American Rescue Plan dollars to hire police officers needed for community policing and to pay their overtime. Mayors will also be able to buy crime-fighting technologies, like gunshot detection systems, to better see and stop gun violence in their communities. They can use the funding to scale up wraparound services for the residents as well, including substance abuse and mental health services that we know will make a difference in prevention of crime.” [White House, 6/23/21]

Valadao Voted Against A Bill Funding Emergency And Security Activities In Response To Jan. 6 Attack On U.S. Capitol And Security Upgrades For Future Prevention Of Similar Incidents

Valadao Voted Against A Bill Funding Emergency And Security Activities In Response To Jan. 6 Attack On U.S. Capitol And Security Upgrades For Future Prevention Of Similar Incidents. In May 2021, Valadao voted against: “Passage of the bill that would provide approximately $1.9 billion in emergency supplemental fiscal 2021 appropriations to legislative branch and other federal entities for security activities in response to the Jan. 6, 2021, attack on the U.S. Capitol, including approximately $753 million to reimburse costs associated with responding to the attack and approximately $990 million for legislative and judicial branch security upgrades. Within the total, it would also provide approximately $170 million for legislative branch costs associated with the COVID-19 public health emergency. For expenses related to the Jan. 6 attack and to prevent similar incidents, it would provide $520.9 million for the National Guard and funding for several law enforcement agencies, including the FBI and National Park Service. It would provide $66.8 million to the District of Columbia for public safety expenses related to terrorist threats and federal presence in the district. It would provide $79.3 million for the Capitol Police, including specified funding for employee hazard pay and retention bonuses, the employee wellness program, agreements with state and local law enforcement agencies, protective details for members of Congress, and physical protection barriers.” The bill passed 213 to 212. [H R 3237, Vote #156, 5/20/21; CQ, 5/20/21]
Valadao Cosponsored The Invest To Protect Act

Valadao Cosponsored The Invest To Protect Act. “Rather than defunding the police departments that protect our communities, I'm proud to cosponsor the Invest to Protect Act to invest dollars into giving the men and women who keep our families safe the resources they need to do their job.” [David Valadao Twitter, 1/21/22]

Valadao Cosponsored The Defund Cities That Defund Police Act

Valadao Cosponsored The Defund Cities That Defund Police Act. “Efforts to defund police departments are incredibly dangerous, which is why I cosponsored the Defund Cities That Defund Police Act. Federal taxpayers should not be responsible for supporting these cities that intentionally make their communities less safe.” [Rep. David Valadao Twitter, 5/21/21]

Police Reform

Valadao Voted Against The George Floyd Justice In Policing Act, Overhauling Policing Laws

Valadao Voted Against The George Floyd Justice In Policing Act, Overhauling Policing Laws. In March 2021, Valadao voted against The George Floyd Justice In Policing Act. NPR described the bill: “The [George Floyd Justice in Policing Act] would ban chokeholds and end qualified immunity for law enforcement — the legal protection for police officers that limits victims' ability to sue for misconduct. It would ban no-knock warrants in federal drug cases, mandate data collection on police encounters and create a nationwide police misconduct registry to help hold problematic officers accountable. The bill would also prohibit racial and religious profiling and redirect funding to community-based policing programs.” The motion was agreed to by a vote of 220 - 212. [HR 1280, Vote #60, 3/3/21; CQ, 3/3/21]

Valadao Voted Against An Amendment To Limit The Transfer Of Certain Military Equipment To Local Law Enforcement Including Controlled Firearms, Ammunition And Grenade Launchers

Valadao Voted Against An Amendment To Limit The Transfer Of Certain Military Equipment To Local Law Enforcement Including Controlled Firearms, Ammunition And Grenade Launchers. In September 2021, Valadao voted against: “Johnson, D-Ga., amendment no. 36 that would restrict the Defense Department from transferring certain surplus military equipment, including controlled firearms, ammunition, grenade launchers, explosives, certain vehicles, weaponized drones and long-range acoustic devices, to federal, state or local law enforcement agencies.” The amendment was rejected by a vote of 198 to 231. [HR 4350, Vote #281, 9/23/21; CQ, 9/24/21]

Domestic Violence

Valadao Voted Against The Family Violence Prevention Act
Valadao Voted Against The Family Violence Prevention Act. In October 2021, Valadao voted against: “Passage of the bill, as amended, that would reauthorize and modify programs to address domestic, dating and family violence under the Family Violence Prevention and Services Act. It would authorize $328 million annually through fiscal 2026 for new and existing programs, including $26 million for grants to state coalitions to support local and culturally specific violence prevention efforts; $14 million for the National Domestic Violence Hotline and $4 million for a new National Native American Domestic Violence Hotline; $10 million for new grants to organizations serving underserved populations; and $3.5 million for research and evaluation activities. Among other provisions, it would prohibit discrimination based on sexual orientation or gender identity in programs funded by state formula grants. It would require the Government Accountability Office to conduct a study and issue a report, within two years of enactment, on federal programs for violence survivors, including to analyze gaps in such programs and steps taken to ensure survivors have access to programs that support their financial stability.” The bill passed by a vote of 228 to 200. [HR 1219, Vote #336, 10/26/21; CQ, 10/26/21]

Valadao Voted For Extending Funding For Child Abuse Prevention Programs Through 2027. In March 2021, Valadao voted for: “Scott, D-Va., motion to suspend the rules and pass the bill that would extend through fiscal 2027 the programs and authorities under the Child Abuse Prevention and Treatment Act. For fiscal 2022, it would authorize $270 million for Health and Human Services Department grants to states for development and operations of certain child protective service programs and $270 million for HHS grants for community-based programs to prevent child abuse and neglect. It would authorize such sums as may be necessary through fiscal 2027 for both grant programs and make a number of modifications to grant program requirements and administration. It would also authorize $40 million for fiscal 2022 and such sums as may be necessary through fiscal 2027 for HHS activities to support adoption and foster care programs.” The motion was agreed to by a vote of 345-73. [HR 485, Vote #81, 3/16/21; CQ, 3/16/21]

2015: Valadao Voted Against Motion That Provided Additional Funding For Programs Providing Assistance To Victims In Cases Of Sexual Assault, Violence Against Women And Missing And Exploited Children

Valadao Voted Against Motion That Provided Additional Funding For Programs Providing Assistance To Victims In Cases Of Sexual Assault, Violence Against Women And Missing And Exploited Children. In June 2015, Valadao voted against motion that would provide an additional $3 million for sexual assault victims assistance within the Violence Against Women Prevention and Prosecution Programs account and an additional $3 million for missing and exploited children programs in the Juvenile Justice Programs account. It would decrease funding for the Justice Information Technology Account by $6 million. The amendment failed, 190 to 232. [HR 2578, Vote #296, 6/3/15; CQ, 6/3/15]

Valadao Voted To Reauthorize The Violence Against Women Act But Voted For An Amendment Reducing The Length Of The Reauthorization Of VAWA

2021: Valadao Voted For Reauthorizing The Violence Against Women Act

Valadao Voted For Reauthorizing The Violence Against Women Act. In March 2021, Valadao voted for: “Passage of the bill, as amended, that would reauthorize programs enacted under the Violence Against Women Act through fiscal 2026. It would also expand a number of these programs and other programs and policies aimed at addressing and assisting victims of domestic violence, dating violence, sexual violence, stalking and sex trafficking.” The bill passed 244 to 172. [HR 1620, Vote #86, 3/17/21; CQ, 3/17/21]
2021: Valadao Voted For An Amendment Reducing The Length Of The Reauthorization Of The Violence Against Women Act

Valadao Voted For An Amendment Reducing The Length Of The Reauthorization Of The Violence Against Women Act. In March 2021, Valadao voted for: “Stefanik, R-N.Y., amendment no. 36 that would replace the bill’s provisions with language to reauthorize funding for programs and activities under the Violence Against Women Act through fiscal 2022.” The amendment was rejected by a vote of 177-249. 2013: Valadao Voted To Reauthorize The Violence Against Women Act For Five Years, Which Also Provided Protections Based On Gender Identity And Sexual Orientation

2013: Valadao Voted To Reauthorize The Violence Against Women Act For Five Years, Which Also Provided Protections Based On Gender Identity And Sexual Orientation. In February 2013, Valadao voted for “Passage of the bill that would reauthorize the Violence Against Women Act for five years. The law, which expired in 2011, provides protections and assistance programs to victims of domestic violence, sexual assault and stalking. The bill would authorize funds for law enforcement training programs, prosecution and victim services. It would give American Indian tribal courts additional authority over non-tribal domestic violence offenders. It would make it illegal for victim services organizations that receive grant funding through the law to discriminate on the basis of gender identity or sexual orientation. It also would extend through 2017 a law that provides protections and assistance programs to trafficking victims. It would allow underage sex-trafficking victims to receive assistance under grants provided to help children exposed to violence.” [S 47, Vote #55, 2/28/13; CQ, 2/28/13]

2013: Valadao Voted Against Republican Version Of The Reauthorization Of Violence Against Women Act That Stripped Protections For LGBT Victims And Native American Women On Reservations

- Republicans Refused To Take A Vote On The Senate Approved Version Until The Version Without Protections Failed. “With House Republicans divided, the leadership agreed that it would allow a vote on the Senate bill if the House version could not attract sufficient votes, and it failed on a vote of 257 to 166. Sixty Republicans joined 197 Democrats in opposition; 164 Republicans and 2 Democrats voted for it.” [New York Times, 2/28/13]
State Issues

Significant Findings

✓ Valadao supported the recall of Governor Gavin Newsom, and said the governor mismanaged the state’s water supply, subjected Californians to “economy-crushing” lockdowns, and failed “to prioritize the needs of the Central Valley.”

✓ Assembly Bill 5 required gig economy workers to be reclassified as employees instead of contractors.

Gavin Newsom Recall

Valadao Supported The Recall Of Governor Gavin Newsom, And Said The Governor Mismanaged The State’s Water Supply, Subjected Californians To “Economy-Crushing” Lockdowns, And Failed “To Prioritize The Needs Of The Central Valley.” “Rep. David Valadao, R-Hanford, said ‘I’ll support the effort to recall Governor Newsom. For far too long, Gov. Newsom has subjected Californians to economy-crushing lockdowns, damaging school closures, mismanagement of water supply, refusal to address ravaging wildfires, and a complete failure to prioritize the needs of the Central Valley.’” [Sacramento Bee, 4/22/21]

Assembly Bill 5

Valadao Said It Was “Destructive” To Classify Gig Economy Workers As Employees Instead Of Contractors

Valadao Called The Policies Of AB5 “Destructive.” “CA voters rejected the destructive policies in AB5 by voting for Prop 22. At a time when we should be supporting workers rebounding from the pandemic, the Majority wants to nationalize this policy, shutting off 59 million Americans’ ability to earn when and how they want.” [@RepDavidValadao Twitter, 11/5/21]

- Assembly Bill 5 Required Gig Economy Workers To Be Reclassified As Employees Instead Of Contractors. “AB5 would require gig economy workers to be reclassified as employees instead of contractors. The bill passed in the state Assembly in a 61-16 vote, Assemblywoman Lorena Gonzalez (D-San Diego), the bill’s author, said in a statement. That’s after the bill passed in the state Senate on Tuesday.” [CNBC, 9/11/19]
Seniors’ Issues

Significant Findings

- Between 2013 and 2017, Valadao repeatedly voted for Republican budgets that would gut Medicare and turn it into a “voucher-like” program.
  - As of 2020, 78,640 residents of California’s 21st district received Medicare benefits.
  - Valadao voted against consideration of an amendment to the Regulatory Accountability Act that would lower out-of-pocket drug costs for seniors.
  - Between 2013 and 2017, Valadao voted 11 times to reopen the Medicare Donut Hole, costing seniors more in out-of-pocket prescription costs.
  - 2021: Valadao initially voted for suspending a 2% cut to Medicare under budget sequestration but later voted against preventing the same 2% sequestration cuts to Medicare.
  - 2015: Valadao voted for a provision that blocked congress from redirecting payroll tax revenue from Social Security to the social security disability program to keep the program afloat.
    - The House rules package targeted Social Security’s disability insurance program and threatened a 19% cut in benefits.
  - Valadao voted for the Republican tax scam bill that increased the federal debt which Republicans planned to pay for with cuts to Medicare and Social Security.
  - June 2021: Valadao voted against the Protecting Older Workers Against Discrimination Act of 2021, which provided protections against age discrimination for job applicants.
  - November 2021: Valadao voted against age discrimination protections for job applicants.

  “The House on Thursday passed a $4.1 trillion budget plan that promises deep cuts to social programs while paving the way for Republicans to rewrite the tax code later this year. The 2018 House GOP budget reprises a controversial plan to turn Medicare into a voucher-like program for future retirees as well as the party’s efforts to repeal the "Obamacare" health law. Republicans controlling Congress have no plans to actually implement those cuts while they pursue their tax overhaul.” [Associated Press, 10/5/17]

• National Committee To Preserve Social Security & Medicare: 2015 House GOP Budget Would Leave “Seniors And The Disabled – Some Of Our Most Vulnerable Americans – Hostage To The Whims Of Private Insurance Companies.” “Once again, the House GOP’s budget would privatize Medicare with a voucher plan, leaving seniors and the disabled – some of our most vulnerable Americans – hostage to the whims of private insurance companies. Over time, this will end traditional Medicare and make it harder for seniors to choose their own doctor. Vouchers will not keep up with the increasing cost of health insurance… that is why seniors will pay more.” [National Committee to Preserve Social Security & Medicare, 3/17/15]

• New York Times: 2015 House GOP Budget Would Turn Medicare Into A “Voucher-like” Program.
  “House Budget Committee members previewed their plans in an unusual, campaign-style video on Monday. The plan envisions a remaking of the federal government. Future recipients of Medicare would be offered voucherlike ‘premium support’ to pay for private insurance rather than government-provided health care. Spending on Medicaid would be cut substantially over 10 years, with the money turned into block grants to state governments, which in turn would have much more flexibility in deciding how it is allocated.” [New York Times, 3/17/15]

• AARP: Republican Budget Would Remove The Medicare Guarantee. “Chairman Ryan’s proposed budget fails to address the high costs of health care and instead shifts costs onto seniors and future retirees. Repealing the benefits of the Affordable Care Act ignores the progress we’ve made to improve access to health care and protect against discrimination based on age, gender or medical history. Removing the Medicare guarantee of affordable health coverage for older Americans by implementing a premium support system and asking seniors and future retirees to pay more is not the right direction.” [AARP Press Release, 4/01/14]

• NCPSSM: Republican Budget Would Ultimately Kill Traditional Medicare. “This is a budget that doubles-down on an ideological quest to turn Medicare into “coupon care”, making it harder for seniors to choose their own doctors and ultimately killing traditional Medicare. If the GOP/Ryan budget becomes law, seniors will immediately lose billions in prescription drug savings, free wellness visits and preventative services provided in the ACA, and the Part D donut hole returns.” [National Committee to Preserve Social Security & Medicare, 4/01/14]

• Los Angeles Times: Republican Budget Would Turn Medicare into a “Voucher-Like Program” that “May Not Fully Cover the Cost” of Medicare. “Ryan retained his idea for turning the Medicare health system into a voucher-like program for future seniors, providing a fixed amount of cash that can be applied toward the purchase of private health insurance. The voucher may also be used to enroll in traditional Medicare, but it may not fully cover the cost.” [Los Angeles Times, 4/01/14]

• CBPP: Ryan’s 2015 Budget Would Raise The Medicare Eligibility Age From 65 To 67. “The Medicare proposals in the 2015 budget resolution from House Budget Committee Chairman Paul Ryan (R-WI) are much the same as those in Ryan’s previous budgets. Once again, Chairman Ryan proposes to replace Medicare’s guarantee of health coverage with a premium-support voucher and raise the age of eligibility for Medicare from 65 to 67. Together, these changes would shift costs to Medicare beneficiaries and (with the simultaneous repeal of health reform) leave many 65- and 66-year-olds without health coverage.” [Center On Budget And Policy Priorities, 4/8/14]

• CBPP: Ryan Budget Would Cut Medicare Spending By A Total Of $356 Billion.” According to an analysis of the Ryan budget conducted by the Center on Budget and Policy Priorities: “Over the 2013 to 2023 period, the Ryan budget would cut Medicare spending by a total of $356 billion. His budget would save $129 billion compared to current law from limiting medical malpractice awards, increasing income-tested premiums, and repealing the Medicare benefit improvements in health reform, including closure of the prescription drug ‘donut hole.’ Ryan’s baseline includes $138 billion in scheduled cuts from Medicare’s sustainable growth rate formula for physicians and $89 billion in Medicare cuts from sequestration, bringing his total Medicare reductions to the aforementioned $356 billion.” [Center on Budget and Policy Priorities, 3/12/13]

• CBPP: Ryan’s 2014 Budget Would Raise The Medicare Eligibility Age From 65 To 67. “The Medicare proposals in the 2014 budget resolution developed by House Budget Committee Chairman Paul Ryan (R-WI) are essentially the same as those in last year’s Ryan budget. Once again, Chairman Ryan proposes to replace Medicare’s guarantee of health coverage with a premium-support voucher and raise the age of eligibility for Medicare from 65 to 67. Together, these changes would shift substantial costs to Medicare beneficiaries and (with the simultaneous repeal of health reform) leave many 65- and 66-year-olds without any health coverage.” [Center On Budget And Policy Priorities, 3/15/13]

2017: Valadao Voted Against Consideration Of An Amendment To The Regulatory Accountability Act That Would Lower Out-Of-Pocket Drug Costs For Seniors. In January 2017, Valadao voted against the “Demings, D-Fla., motion to recommit the bill to the House Judiciary Committee with instructions to report back immediately with an amendment that would exempt regulations that significantly lower seniors' out-of-pocket costs for prescription drugs under Medicare Part D. It would remove the bill’s provision that would effectively overturn two Supreme Court decisions that require federal courts to defer to an agency’s interpretation of the underlying law or rule when considering challenges to agency rules.” The motion was rejected by a vote of 190-233. • The Affordable Care Act (ObamaCare), Would Eventually Close Medicare’s Prescription-Drug Program Coverage Gap. “Over time, Obamacare closes the coverage gap, informally referred to as the donut hole, in Medicare’s prescription-drug program (Part D). As originally designed, once Part D beneficiaries reached their (relatively low) deductible, they had to pay 25 percent of their drug costs up to a certain dollar amount; once beneficiaries’ drug costs reached that limit, they then had to pay all of their drug costs. Then, if their total out-of-pocket costs reached an even higher level (called the catastrophic coverage limit, which is currently set at $4,750), then they only had to pay 5 percent of drug costs above that limit. By the year 2020, though, there will no longer be a donut hole. From the moment beneficiaries’ drug costs reach their deductibles until they reach the catastrophic coverage limit, they will only pay 25 percent of their total drug costs.” [National Review, 11/26/13]

Valadao Initially Voted For Suspending A 2% Cut To Medicare Under Budget Sequestration But Later Walked It Back By Voting Against Preventing Sequestration Cuts To Medicare

March 2021: Valadao Voted For Suspending A 2% Cut To Medicare Under Budget Sequestration. In March 2021, Valadao voted for: “Passage of the bill that would exempt the budgetary effects of the fiscal 2021 budget reconciliation bill (HR 1319 / PL 117-2) comprising a $1.9 trillion coronavirus relief package from statutory pay-as-you-go requirements, preventing a number of automatic spending cuts to mandatory programs subject to sequestration. It would also extend from March 31 to Dec. 31, 2021, a temporary suspension of the 2 percent annual sequester of Medicare payments. Among other provisions, it would exclude certain pandemic-related unemployment compensation from being classified as income for the purposes of Medicaid and Children's Health Insurance Program eligibility.” The bill passed 246 to 175. [HR 1868, Vote #96, 3/18/21; CQ, 3/19/21; Home Health Care News, 3/22/21]

Valadao Voted For A Motion To Suspend The Rules And Concur In The Senate Amendment On HR 1868, To Rescind A Scheduled 2% Medicare Cut Under Budget Sequestration. In April 2021, Valadao voted for: “Yarmuth, D-Ky., motion to suspend the rules and concur in the Senate amendment to the bill that would extend from March 31 to Dec. 31, 2021, a temporary suspension of the 2 percent annual sequester of Medicare payments and provide offsets by increasing Medicare sequestration amounts for fiscal 2030. It would also modify a deadline for changes to payments for rural health clinics enrolled in Medicare and restore a transition rule related to determining payment adjustments for disproportionate share hospitals in California.” The motion passed 384-38. [HR 1868, Vote #98, 4/13/21; CQ, 4/13/21]

• Med Page Today: House Voted To Rescind A Scheduled 2% Medicare Cut Under Budget Sequestration. “The House voted 384-38 Tuesday evening to rescind one of two scheduled Medicare cuts, sending the bill on to President Biden for his signature. […] The measure addresses one of the two budget cuts the Medicare program is facing. One cut, part of the normal budget process, is a 2% -- or $18 billion -- cut in the projected Medicare budget under a process known as "sequestration." Sequestration allows for prespecified cuts in projected agency budget increases if Congress can't agree on their own cuts. Medicare's budget had been slated for a 2% sequester cut in fiscal year 2020; however, due to the pandemic and the accompanying increased healthcare needs, Congress passed a moratorium on the 2% cut.” [HR 1868, Vote #98, 4/13/21; CQ, 4/13/21; Med Page Today, 4/14/21]

December 2021: Valadao Voted Against Preventing Sequestration Cuts To Medicare And Providing The Senate With Procedures To Increase The Debt Limit. In December 2021 Valadao voted against: “Passage of the bill, as amended, that would extend from Dec. 31, 2021, to March 31, 2022, a temporary suspension of the 2 percent annual sequester of Medicare payments, and provide for payment reductions of 1 percent for the period of April 1 through June 30, 2022. As an offset, it would increase sequestration percentages above 2 percent in fiscal 2030. It would also require budget year debit for 2022 to be rolled over to the 2033 scorecards under statutory pay-as-you-go requirements, thus delaying spending cuts to Medicare and other mandatory programs subject to sequestration that would otherwise be triggered in January. It would delay a number of other Medicare payment reductions and policies, including to extend a temporary increase in payment amounts for physicians to provide a 3 percent increase for services furnished in 2022; delay for one year a provision that would phase in payment reductions for clinical diagnostic laboratory tests, prohibiting any reductions for 2021 and 2022 and prohibiting reductions greater than 15 percent for 2023 through 2025; and delay through 2022 the implementation of the Medicare radiation oncology model. It would decrease from $165 million to $101 million funding that may be expended from the Medicare Improvement Fund for fiscal 2021. Finally, the bill would establish procedures to expedite Senate consideration of a joint resolution to increase the debt limit by a specific dollar amount. Specifically, it would provide for a non-debatable motion to proceed to the joint resolution and, if the motion is agreed to, up to 10 hours of debate on the measure with no amendments or other motions in order, immediately followed by a vote on passage. Such procedures would be valid for consideration of one joint resolution by Jan. 16, 2022.” Passed by a vote of 222-212. [S 610, Vote #404, 12/07/21; CQ, 12/07/21]

Social Security

Valadao Voted To Jeopardize Social Security. In January 2015, Valadao voted for a House Rules package that contained a provision that could threaten benefit cuts to Social Security. The provision would block Congress from redirecting payroll tax revenue from Social Security to the Social Security disability program to help keep the program afloat. The provision would block a transfer unless it was part of a larger plan to address Social Security’s finances through benefit cuts or tax increases. The resolution passed, 234-172. Valadao Voted Against Protecting Older Workers Against Discrimination Act Of 2021. In June 2021, Valadao Voted Against: “Passage of the bill, as amended, that would specify a that adverse actions by an employer in which age was a motivating factor shall be considered unlawful under federal employment law regarding age discrimination. It would specify that a complaining party under such law would not be required to demonstrate that age was the sole motivating factor of an adverse action, thus effectively reversing the 2009 Supreme Court decision in Gross v. FBL Financial Services, Inc. It would establish the same standard of proof in the case of employment discrimination based on disability or retaliation against an employee who opposes unlawful employment practices or participates in investigations or litigations related to such practices. In age-based employment discrimination cases where a court determines that an adverse action would have been taken in the absence of age-based motivation, the bill would allow courts to grant declaratory or injunctive relief and attorneys fees, but prohibit courts from awarding damages or ordering reparative actions by the respondent. As amended, it would require the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission to submit reports to Congress on the number of age discrimination in employment claims brought under the bill's provisions; disparities faced by individuals with characteristics protected under existing anti-discrimination law in pursuing employment discrimination relief under the mixed-motive evidentiary standard; and the number of pending or filed claims by women impacted by age-based employment discrimination.” The bill passed, 247-178. The Oregonian: The Bill Would “Enact New Protections Against Age Discrimination In The Workplace” And “Give Older Workers The Same Safeguards Other Protected Groups Enjoy.” “The U.S. House of Representatives voted Wednesday to enact new protections against age discrimination in the workplace, approving a bill that supporters say will give older workers the same safeguards other protected groups enjoy. […] The House voted 261 to 155 to approve a bill known as the Protect Older Workers Against Discrimination Act (POWADA). Every Democratic representative who cast a vote supported the bill, joined by 34 Republicans. Supporters say the bill would restore protections older workers lost in a 2009 Supreme Court ruling, which established that older workers must demonstrate the age was the decisive factor – not just a contributing factor – when suing for age discrimination.” [Oregonian, 1/15/20]

November 2021: Valadao Voted Against Protections Against Age Discrimination For Job Applicants

November 2021: Valadao Voted Against Protections Against Age Discrimination For Job Applicants. In November 2021 Valadao voted against: “Passage of the bill, as amended, that would prohibit an employer from discriminating against a job applicant in a way that would deprive the job applicant of employment opportunities or otherwise adversely affect the applicant's status based on the applicant's age.” The bill passed by a vote of 224-200. [H.R.,3992, Vote #358, 11/4/21; CQ, 11/4/21]

Valadao Voted For An Amendment To Conduct A Disparate Impact Claims Study On Job Applicants, Delaying The Effective Date For Age Discrimination Protections. In November 2021 Valadao voted for:
“Keller, R-Pa., amendment no. 2 that would delay the bill's effective date until the Government Accountability Office conducts a study and reports to Congress on whether not allowing job applicants to file disparate impact claims has a negative impact on such applicants. It would stipulate that the bill's provisions would not take effect if the study shows there is not a significant negative impact on such applicants.” The amendment was rejected by a vote of 197-228. [H.R. 3992, Vote #357, 11/4/21; CQ, 11/4/21]

- Valadao Voted Against An Amendment To Conduct A Study On Job Applicants’ Age Discrimination Claims. In November 2021 Valadao voted against: “Pappas, D-N.H., amendment no. 1 that would require the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission to conduct a study, within one enactment, to determine the number of pending or filed claims, including claims in closed cases, by individuals who may have been adversely impacted by age discrimination in the job application process. It would require the commission to submit to Congress and make publicly available a report on study results including recommendations for best practices to address age discrimination in the hiring process.” The amendment was adopted by a vote of 225-201. - Valadao Voted For Final Passage Of The Republican Tax Scam Bill

Valadao Voted For Adopting The Conference Report Of The Tax Cuts And Jobs Act. In December 2017, Valadao voted for: “adoption of the conference report on the bill that would revise the federal income tax system by lowering the corporate tax rate from 35 percent to 21 percent; lowering individual tax rates through 2025; limiting state and local deductions to $10,000 through 2025; decreasing the limit on deductible mortgage debt through 2025; and creating a new system of taxing U.S. corporations with foreign subsidiaries. Specifically, it would repeal personal exemptions and would roughly double the standard deduction through 2025. It would raise the child tax credit to $2,000 through 2025, would repeal the alternative minimum tax for corporations and provide for broader exemptions to the tax for individuals through 2025. It would double individual exemptions to the estate tax and gift tax through 2025, and would establish a new top tax rate for "pass-through" business income through 2025.” The conference report was adopted 227-203. Fresno Bee: Valadao’s 21st Congressional District Would See Net Tax Reductions From The Biden Tax Plan. “The California congressional district that would benefit most next year from President Joe Biden’s tax plan is represented by a Republican, David Valadao of Hanford. And the district in the state that would benefit least is represented by a Democrat, the Los Angeles area’s Ted Lieu. California has 53 congressional districts, 11 represented by Republicans. Taxpayers in eight of those GOP-held districts — including the Bakersfield-based district of House Republican Leader Kevin McCarthy — would see net tax reductions.” [Fresno Bee, 8/23/21]

Washington Post: Final Tax Bill Included A “Significant Tax Break For The Very Wealthy” And “A Massive Tax Cut For Corporations.” “A new tax cut for the rich: The final plan lowers the top tax rate for top earners. Under current law, the highest rate is 39.6 percent for married couples earning over $470,700. The GOP bill would drop that to 37 percent and raise the threshold at which that top rate kicks in, to $500,000 for individuals and $600,000 for married couples. This amounts to a significant tax break for the very wealthy, a departure from repeated claims by Trump and his top officials that the bill would not benefit the rich. […] A massive tax cut for corporations: Starting on Jan. 1, 2018, big businesses’ tax rate would fall from 35 percent to just 21 percent, the largest one-time rate cut in U.S. history for the nation’s largest companies.” [Washington Post, 12/15/17]

Politifact: GOP Tax Bill Would Raise Taxes For The Middle Class After Individual Tax Cut Provisions Expired In 2025. “Gillibrand said the Republican ‘tax [plan] raises middle-class taxes.’ That’s not true during the first years of the new tax provisions. If not for the sunset for the tax changes for individuals, we likely would have rated Gillibrand’s statement False or perhaps Mostly False. Middle-income taxpayers will either benefit or see no change in their tax liability through 2025. But her claim could hold up after the bill’s individual provisions expire that year. There’s no guarantee a future Congress will extend those parts of the bill.” [Politifact, 12/22/17]

Four Dozen Members Of Congress Stood To Benefit From Change In Tax Treatment Of Real Estate Income Under GOP Tax Bill. “The provision, which gives favorable tax treatment to a common form of real estate income, would also create generous tax saving for President Donald Trump, who derives much of his personal fortune from real estate. The measure — added late Friday to the $1.5 trillion package of tax cuts — reduces the tax rate on ‘pass-through’ income derived from real estate. Owners of such businesses are allowed to ‘pass through’ the profits from these enterprises to their individual tax returns, which lowers the amount of tax they owe. Those benefits will now go to roughly four dozen Republican House and Senate members who voted for the bill, according to an analysis of personal financial disclosures for CNBC by the Center for Responsive Politics.” [CNBC, 12/20/17]
